changing needs of society.

The CCB campus would not be an ivy-league college, but would be designed to provide practical training for a technological age.

Her essay helped to arouse the interest of AFRO readers and swell the vote which put the campus loan across on November 3.

Mrs. Winborne is a laboratory scientist in the Hematology (blood) lab of the State Health Department.

She became interested in the junior college's downtown branch 10 years ago when it was first proposed by the new head of the Liberty Campus, Dr. Bard.

The plan was rejected at the time, but President Bard and Dr. William V. Lockwood, now vice president, revived the plan a few years ago, and began to develop plans for the downtown college branch.

When the campaign started again in September, 1970, Mrs. Winborne's interest in the college for East and South Baltimoreans and those who work in the downtown area was renewed.

• • •

"I saw the essay contest in the AFRO," she explained, "And I decided to express my ideas on the value of the Harbor Campus. I am surprised and very happy I won. I hope I contributed something to the success of the campaign," she said.

White House Fellows are directly involved in the work of their respective agencies and offices; special assignments given them can result in important program decisions.

In addition to their jobs, the Fellows participate in an education program that includes informal discussions with top Government officials, scholars and journalists, and leaders from other segments of private life.

The 103 young men and women who have, to date been selected as White House Fellows have included lawyers, scientists, engineers, corporate business executives and independent entrepreneurs scholars and academic administrators, writers and journalists, medical doctors, social workers, city officials and local public officials.

Leadership, intellectual and professional ability, and a commitment to community and nation are the broad criteria employed in the selection process.

Applications for next year's program will be accepted until December 1, 1970. Application forms and additional information can be obtained from the President's Commission on Whit House Fellows, The White House, Washington, D.C.

FOR PHYSICAL FITNESS:

Take the family on a hike this Suunday

Harry Lawrence, Chairman of Hiking Activities for the Maryland Commission on Physical Fitness, announced today that the State Commission will sponsor a Family Participation Hike to which the public is invited.

It will be held on Saturday, November 21, at the McKeldin Area, Grove "C" of the Patapsco State Park at 2 p.m. The hike will cover five miles through Maryland countryside.

Participants will be organized in groups to be led over the trail by experts and to prevent persons from getting lost. Free parking facilities for over rinced leaders. Rangers from the State Park will be available to answer questions along the way.

One of the features of the nature trail in this section of the Patapsco State Paark is that persons may switch-back to the starting area if they do not wish to complete the entire distance.

Picnic tables, grills, playgrounds and open spaces are in abundance for those who wish a real day of outdoor enjoyment.

Mr. Lawrence stated that the hike will be held regardless of weather conditions. A troop of Boy Scouts will be established with walkie-talkies to maintain contact throughout the entire length of the hike

15 Panthers indicted

DETROIT (UPI) — A Wayne County grand jury last Thursday indicted 15 young blacks who barricaded themselves inside a Black Panther headquarters after a policeman was killed Oct. 9 on charges of first degree murder and conspiracy to commit first degree murder.

The indictments precluded a preliminary examination scheduled for the same day as well as further preliminary hearings and the 15 were ordered to stand trial.

Wayne County prosecutor William Cahalan said the grand jury also charged that from Oct. 13 through Oct. 25 the 15 had "conspired and agreed together to kill and murder Detroit policeman." He would not elaborate.

The suspects who were arrested following a nine-hour standoff during which black community leaders talked most of them into surrendering, were charged in the death of Glenn E. Smith, a black plainclothes police officer was imposed at the second trial.

Dyson was sent to work on one of the minimum security camps on the Eastern Shore 13 months ago and he is considered by prison authorities "to be well adjusted and not likely to be dangerous to anyone."

Police officials have echoed that opinion in their fugitive bulletins which indicate the words "fugitive is considered unarmed and not dangerous."

torney of Baltimore during the Nov. 3 election.

Mr. Allen explained that although the white community will not be present physically in the city, the power in money necessary to run the city will be in the hands of institutions outside of the city.

For example, he said, voters will no longer be able to select their own judges under the two amendments to the Md. Constitution approved in the Nov. 7 election. They give that power to the Governor to act with approval of the State Senate.

Furthermore, he noted, there is a plan under discussion to consolidate all of the civil courts of Baltimore city under one clerk who will be appointed by the Supreme Bench.

The voters, therefore, will not be able to vote for clerks as they did in the Primary when they elected Paul L. Chester, clerk of Court of Common Pleas.

Mr. Allen asserted further that some politicans want the State Board of Education to completely finance the local school system although the schools will theoretically remain under local control.

He said, "however, we all know that he who pays the Piper, calls the tune."

In another instance, Mr. Allen described plans to sell Friendship Airport to the state and transfer control of the water supply system to the state.

He urged members of the club to be on the alert for more such power transfers," to tell others about them and to notify black representatives in the Maryland Assembly to be watchdogs for the benefit of the total city."

Further, he urged members to play an active role in the 1971 city election; pointing out that "many of these changes cannot be effectuated without the concurrence of the local government."

Mrs. A. Paul Moss, president of the club presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Allen as a young man with a purpose whose philosophy was one of activism ... "If you want things done, do them yourselves; you can't sit idly by and expect things to happen."

A new member of the club present for the first time was Mrs. Calvin W. Burnett, wife of the new president of Coppin State College. She has recently assumed a post as assistant director of nurses at the new Provident Hospital.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins and Mrs. Florence J. Wright.

Other members present were: Dr. Irene Diggs, Mesdames Ralph V. Cook, Howard L. Howard Cornish, Frank A. DeCosta, Carol Diggs, Charles W. Fletcher, John Hampton, Frances Henderson, Charles J. King, Carl Murphy, Warren Peck, Roger K. Williams, Ida M. Smith, and Dr. Ruth Brett Quarles.
