Lieutenants find romance in Germany

with Lula Jones Garrett

A romantic meeting in Germany, two wedding ceremonies and a honeymoon in Switzerland, Bavaria and Paris, adds up to something pretty special for 1st. Lt. John W. Turner of this town and 1st. Lt. Doris Butler of Washington.

Both are in the Medical Service Corps and stationed at Landstubl, Germany.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Turner of Baltimore, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butler of Washington. Mr. Butler is on the advertising staff of the Washington AFRO-AMERICAN.

Their first ceremony was performed by the German Bargamaster in Landstubl.

The second was a gala affair in the Post chapel, the bride in white satin and veil of illusion, carrying a bouquet of white carnations, and radiant as she and her bridegroom swept under a shelter of traditional swords.

Lt. Butler had one attendant, 1st. Lt Marsh Cohen of Philadelphia, also stationed in Germany.

300 guests attended the reception which followed the ceremony.

The bride, who graduated from Dunbar High School, Washington, also graduated from Bellevue Hospital School of Nursing in New York City. Lt. Turner received his degree from Morgan State College in 1960. He was a biology major.

They will be in Germany at least 18 months longer.

Flying over for the ceremony was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary E. Turner of this city.

PEREGRINATORS: Bettye Murphy Phillips, in chic black knit, elegant azure mink jacket, enplaned for St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday night.

She will be there until Saturday, representing the Board of Education (Baltimore) at the annual National School Board Association.

Didn't leave town, however, until after the party Gwendolyn Hillen was having to mark husband Granville's birthday. In fact, the party parked BMP on the plane. Included were Cliff and Ethel Murray, the Hillens, Howard Tofey and Bettye.

John and Gwendolon DeCecilio (she an eye-catcher in black silk opera suit and raspberry accessories) rolled off from their Ferndale (Glen Burnie) place for Washington Friday night.

They were en route to the Liberian Embassy, where Ambassador S. Edward Peal and Madam Peal were entertaining at a reception in honor of the Chicago, Detroit, New York and Washington members of the American Friends of Liberia Club.

The affair, of course, was oh-so-beautifully done . . . the Embassy's French chef offering an African-Euro-pean — American cuisine.

POT-POURRI: Ted and Shirley McRae are out on Cloud Nine . . . with their new seven-and-a-half pound baby daughter, Linda Christine, who bowed in at Provident Hospital, last week.

Mrs. Margie A. Smith and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Shirley Smith are on a T-V show kick. They saw "Price is Right" in New York on Tuesday night . . . and while there garnered tickets for "Camouflage."

Add to folks with new addresses, the James E. Branches to 3400 Grantley Road.

And to Dr. and Mrs. John Chissell (Carolyn King) twin daughters, born Wednesday at 3:30 and 4 p.m. respectively. They are ensconsed in Sinai Hospital, and positively blooming!

BALTIMORE ALPHAS were kept busy at New York's Hotel Astor over the weekend accepting congratulations for cancelling the Eastern Regional Convention.

The cancellation was in protest of the refusal of many downtown restaurants to serve everybody.

But graduate members of Delta Lambda and undergraduate brothers of Beta Alpha performed other functions than beam over the accolades coming from the 250 delegates registered for the session.

Frank Ellis, who serves as Eastern regional director, brought the convention to its feet with a stirring fraternal address.

Not to be outdone, Beresford Swan of Beta Alpha, Morgan State College, delivered a challenging undergraduate address, urging adoption of a national purpose.

Dr. Clifton Jones, as national education director, gave a full report on the scholarship situation, and also served on the resolutions committee.

Cliff Mackay served as cochairman of the resolutions committee and was named by Eastern Vice President Alfred C. Fentress of Norfolk, as convention parliamentarian.

Edward Young, Lawrence Willis, Frank Veney, Delta Lambda's president; Gregory Hawkins of the graduate chapter played active roles in the four workshops, as did Reginald Lewis, Alvin Thomas, Warren Jones and Calvin Allyson of the Morgan chapter.

Only two Alpha Wives from this town were on the scene. They were Mrs. Ed-

THE FIRESIDE Friends met at the home of Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, Auchentroloy Terrace, on Friday. Their Charity Project for the month was a well stocked box of wash dresses contributed by each member to be donated to Crownsville State Hospital. The box was turned over to Mrs. Della Meyers.

Plans were continued for the Club's Spring Cabaret Dance on May 19th. The evening was then turned into a social session. Games were played and a surprise Notion's Shower was given for Mrs. Anita Scott to mark her birthday, which was on April 8th.

OUT TO THE Frank Bucks' beautiful place in Catonsville went Tennessee University Alumni members, Monday evening, to wrap up plans for attending the Eastern Regional Alumni Conference in Philadelphia on May 5.

In the offing at the Quaker City meet will be workshops, luncheon and a banquet for the alumni who will come from Washington, Maryland, West Virginia and Philadelphia.

This town's Harriet Jones is eastern region vice president. Incidentally, Mrs. Jones will be in Nashville on the 24th to be speaker on the University's Woman's Day program.

Two local alumni, Mesdames Datie Russell and Flozella Clark, will receive citations at the University's anniversary, this spring.

Attending the meeting here were Mr. and Mrs. James McGlothern, Eddie Armstrong, Allyn Dungee, Mrs. Mary Ervin, Mrs. Mary Dameron, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Clark, who is chapter president.

THE PIERIANS gathered in the lovely confines of Pearl Brackett's apartment for a call meeting, Monday. 'Twas strictly a business session . . . . that is, except the lovely coffee and dessert service Pearl offered. Edythe Smith presided.

Tonight (Friday), they go to Lydia Mussenden's for an evening of music, plus.

OTHER CLUB gatherings, this week, included that of the Chit Chats, in the home of Mary McCray. Joint hostess with Mrs. McCray was Elaine Taylor.

Dorothy Tilghman took the first pinochle (which the group concentrates on) prize. Second prize went to Beatrice Brown, third to Mary Jones and fourth to Morphelia Winston.

Other members playing were Iola Minson, Aubrey Williamson, Lendora Houston and Marie Murphy.

Guests were Evelyn Taylor (to whom the guest prize went) Dorothy Gladden, Shirley Briscoe, and George Williamson . . . who played in the place of Absentees Alice Nixon, Cora Meredith, Mary Holmes and Emma Jones.

The lone gentleman, Mr. Williamson, husband of Aubrey, was up from Texas. He's a career Army man and now stationed in the Lone Star State.

IMPROVING at home is Miss Marsha Rose Hood, Windsor Court Apartments who suffered injuries in a recent automobile accident. Miss Hood, daughter of AFRO special writer, Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver Hood Abney and Marshall K. Hood of Washington, is admittance officer at Crownsville State Hospital.

League of Women to hear candidates

Congressional candidates running at-large and from the Third, Fourth and Seventh Congressional Districts are to be luncheon guests of the League of Women Voters Tuesday at the Sheraton Inn, Broadway and Orleans St.

The candidates will discuss issues in the campaign, during a telecast of the luncheon from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

The occasion will mark the League's annual meeting, beginning with a business session at 9:45 a.m. The luncheon is scheduled to start at 12:15 p.m.
