Turner Baptists to march into new tabernacle

The Friendship Baptist Church of Turner Station will move into its newly built church home, 307 Avondale Rd., Sunday.

The march to the new edifice will take place at 9:30 a.m. from the temporary quarters on Oak St. to the new church on Avondale Rd.

There the keys will be presented to the Rev. Dockery Thompson, pastor and founder of the church. There also will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

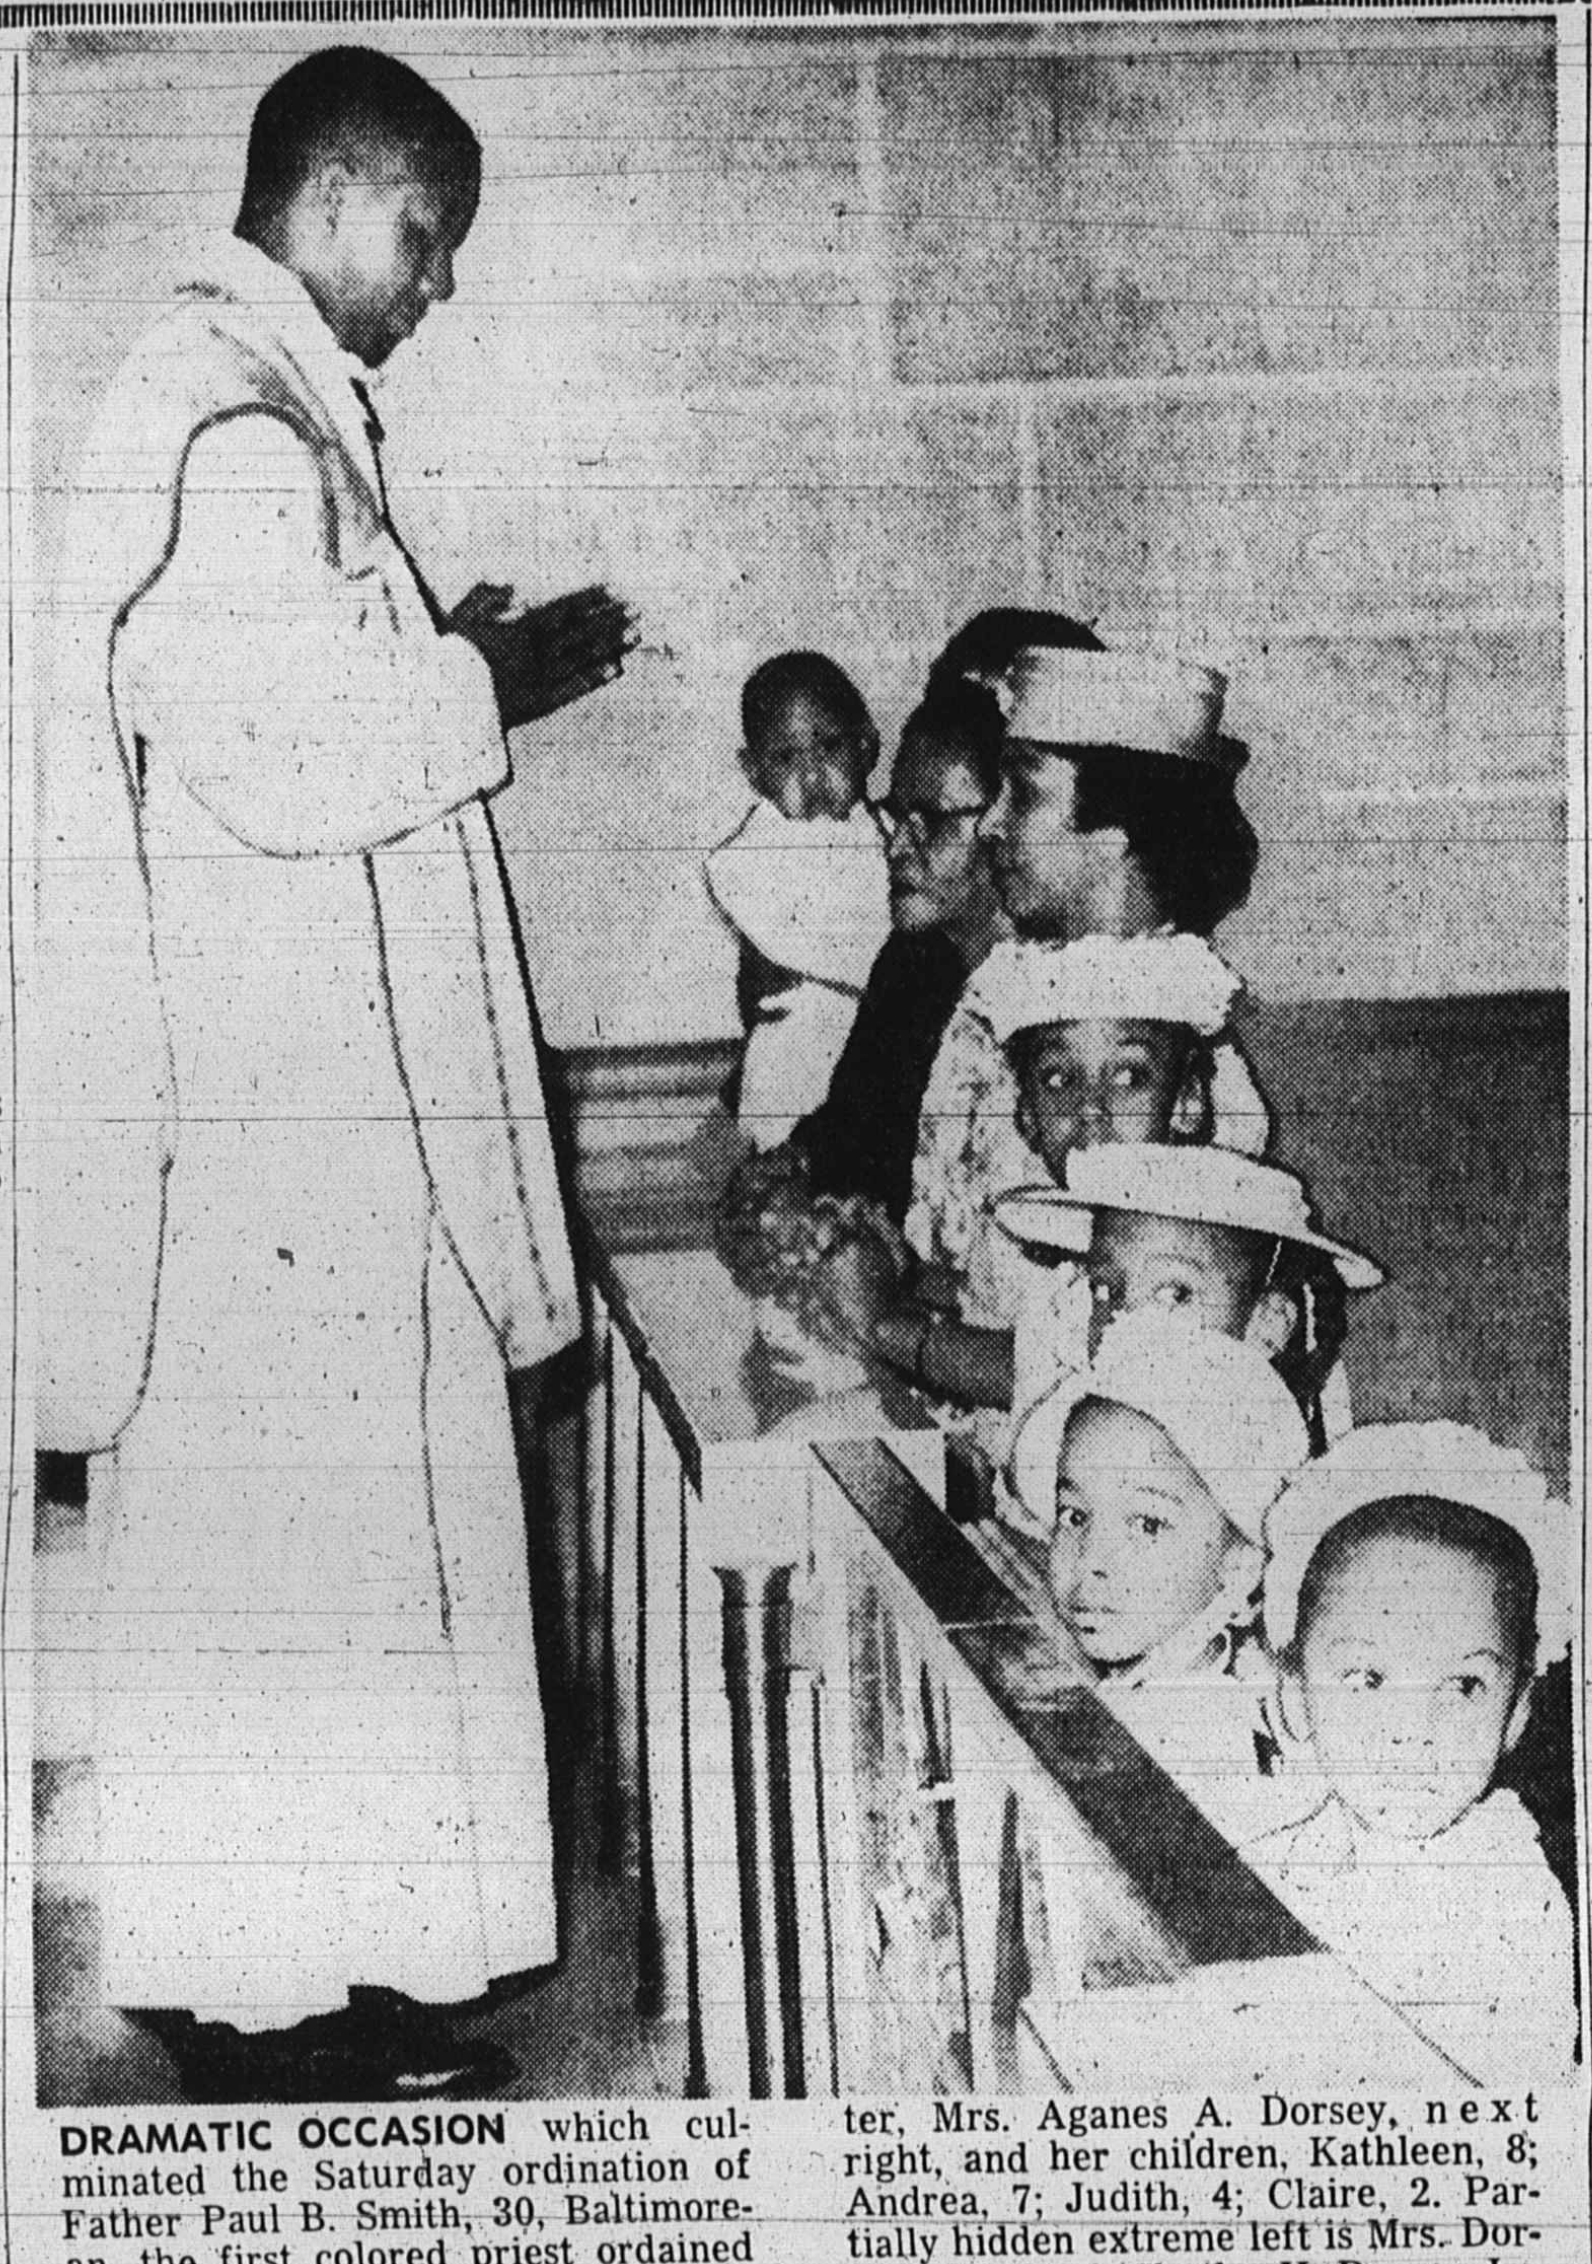
Friendship Baptist was started in 1949 with seven members. It has grown to more than 200 and organizations include a senior choir, Thompson's Gospel Chorus, youth choir and children's choir, Deaconesses, Senior Missionary Society, Pastor's Aid, and Willing Workers, Junior and Senior Usher Boards.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson graduated from the Thompson High Sshool, Lumbeton, N. C., and attended the Maryland Baptist Center for four years.

The church has an efficient staff of deacons and trustess. William Reynolds is chairman of the board of deacons and Willie Curbean chairman of the trustees, Mrs. Rosa Heath, church clerk.

Friendship Baptist Church is a member of the Maryland United Baptist Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson and his wife, the former Zenobia Inman of 1738 Normal Ave., have five daughters and two sons.



DRAMATIC OCCASION which culminated the Saturday ordination of Father Paul B. Smith, 30, Baltimorean, the first colored priest ordained in the Archdiocese of Baltimore in 58 years (the first Catholic Diocese in America) came as shown above when the young priest imparted blessings first to his mother, Mrs. Josephine A. Smith, directly in front of him at the Sacred Heart altar rail in the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen. Also receiving blessings were his sister, Mrs. Aganes A. Dorsey, next right, and her children, Kathleen, 8; Andrea, 7; Judith, 4; Claire, 2. Partially hidden extreme left is Mrs. Dorsey's husband, Charles H. Dorsey Jr., Baltimore lawyer, who holds the couple's fifth child, Charles III, age 1, who also received blessings. His Excellency, the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, Archbishop of the Baltimore Diocese officiated at the two-hour ancient rites.

New priest's first Mass at St. Pius this Sunday

Father Paul B. Smith, the newly ordained Catholic priest, will sing the Solemn High Mass at 12:15 p.m. at St. Pius Catholic Church on Sunday.

The event marks the 30-year-old Baltimorean's first Mass here.

Born in Baltimore Sept. 29, 1931, Father Smith was Baptised at the St. Pius Church at the age of six months and received elementary education at the parish school.

* * *

REALIZING A childhood dream, he was ordained in impressive rites at the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen a week ago to become the first colored priest to receive the Sacrament of Ordination in the Archdiocese of Baltimore in 58 years.

As he returns to the St. Pius Church Sunday, present will be his mother, Mrs. Josephine A. Smith; his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dorsey, nieces and nephews, to whom he gave first blessings the day he was ordained.

On June 10, Father Smith leaves the city for New Orleans, La., where he will say Mass at 10 a.m. at St. Paul's Catholic Church in the New Orleans Archdiocese on June 16.

The Mass is being said for friends and associates during the period he studied at the New Orleans Notre Dame Seminary from 1956 to 1962.

Immediately after the Mass, he will leave for the Diocese of Alexandria, also in Louisiana, where Bishop Charles P. Greco will assign him to a parish church.

YOUTH SPEAKER for the Baltimore Chapter of the NAACP's Human Dolls on Parade for Freedom on Sunday at Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church at 2 p.m. is Lemmel Mosley. The public is invited.

Medicare to 9,000

More than 9,000 persons in Maryland 65 years and older received medical care last month under the Medical Assistance to the Aged program.

The MAA was set up in June last year as a result of Maryland's adoption of the Kerr-Mills program.

In a summary of statistics provided by the State to the Faculty of Maryland, Baltimore city headed the enrollment with 3,863.

Baltimore County has an enrollment of 969 and the total enrollment for all counties is 5,462.

Archbishop Shehan receives the Pallium

Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan was invested Tuesday with the pallium, a circular band of white wool embroidered with six crosses which is symbolic of his authority over the arch diocese of Baltimore and the dioceses of Wilmington, Del., Wheeling, W. Va. and Richmond, Va.

The pallium is necessary for a newly installed metropolitan bishop. His powers are extremely limited until he asks for and receives his pallium.

He is bound to ask for it from the Pope three months after his consecration as archsbishop, or if he is already a bishop, from his appointment.

* * *

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE Egidio Vagnozzi was celebrant of the Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving and formally bestowed the pallium on Archbishop Shehan in a special service at Cathedral of Mary Our Queen.

Archbishop Shehan knelt at the altar of the "Baldichino," an open - houue arrangement topped with a cross, where the sacraments are placed, as Archbishop Vagnozzi placed the pallium on his shoulders. The pallium was bestowed at 12:20 p.m.

The pallium was venerated by 30 elder clergymen who kneeled before the altar where it was placed and kissed it.

In his response Archbishop Shehan promised to follow in the footsteps of the late Archbishop John Carroll, first archbishop of Baltimore and first of the nation, and the late Archbishop James Cardinal Gibbons, who he termed one of the great archbishops.

* * *

SOME 2,500 persons including priests, Monsignori, bishops and 25 visiting archbishops, attended the impressive and colorful two and a half hour ceremony. Included were clergymen who had fled Cuba with the coming of Fidel Castro and communism.

Mayor Grady and Mrs. Grady also attended.

* * *

WITH THE blare of horns and the playing of "Behold the High Priest" the processional began at 10:30 a.m. First came the priests, then the Monsignori, the bishops, the archbishops and laymen who had received papal honors.

Archbishop Shehan and Archbishop Vagnozzi were seated on thrones on either side of the expansive stage leading to the altar.

Each archbishop was provided with an assistant priest and two deacons of honor.

Archbishop Vagnozzi removed his "cappmagna," a red robe with a long trailing end, and put on garments symbolic of a deacon, a priest and a bishop before the Mass began.

Following the Mass, the Most Rev. John J. Russell, bishop for Richmond, and former pastor of St. Ursula's parish, Parkville, delivered the sermon.

Monsignor Russell addressed himself to the history of the pallium in relation to the Catholic Church, and to the authority of the archbishop which has come down from the chair of Peter.

Archbishop Shehan and Bishop Russell studied together at St. Charles College, North American College and St. Mary's Seminary. They were both ordained in Rome.

After the Cathedral ceremonies a luncheon in honor held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

CHURCHMEN IN THE NEWS

The ordination of 30 - year old Father Paul B. Smith, first to received the sacred Catholic Sacrament in 58 years in the Archdiocese of Baltimore, has many interesting sidelights.

The Archdiocese of Baltimore, with its more than 400,000 members, is the oldest in the United States, was established as a diocese, with a bishop as head prelate in Nov., 1789.

It was raised to an Archdiocese and an Archbishop was assigned in April, 1808.

The first Diocese in the world was the Diocese of Rome, established during the time of Christ with St. Peter as first bishop and Pope.

* * *

FATHER SMITH was ordained for the Diocese of Alexandria in Louiisiana and will be assigned to parish duties there by its Bishop Charles P. Greco.

Answer to the question, is this the diocese where Catholic members were excommunicated for views on integration, is "No."

That particular diocese is the Archdiocese of New Orleans, which has an Archbishop as its head.

* * *

FATHER SMITH cites an incident which happened when he was a student at Loyola College as "a moment of decision."

Hitch - hiking from the suburban Catholic institution, he was picked up by Dr. Carl Murphy, AFRO publisher, after many cars had passed him by.

The young priest told this reporter: "I was grateful to Dr. Murphy for the ride but most of all for the kindly encouragement he gave me as a struggling student.

"I decided then how important it is to be kind and friendly to others and I kept him in mind as the kind of person I would like to be all these years—one who has the wisdom to say the very thing which inspires."

* * *

PRESENT AT the Saturday rites at the Cathedral was Sister Eileen, OSP, of St. Francis Xavier in East Baltimore who is the sister of the Rev. Eugene Marino of Biloxi, Miss. He is to be ordained in Washington on Saturday at the Mt. St. Joseph Seminary.

Among the 250 Catholic clergymen taking part in the sacred services was Father Charles L. Jackson, born in Baltimore, who was ordained in 1955 at Fort de France, Martinique.

* * *

HARVEY R. JOHNSON, buried Monday, exhibited devotion to his church, Union Baptist Church, through the magnificient decorations he planned for holidays and special occasions.

The Yuletide, 1960 season's decorations were the most elaborate he had ever directed, included evergreens like maypole ribbons from the center of the tall ceiling.

As Mr. Johnson fell in taking them down, he sustained injuries which proved fatal.

Never thinking he would not recover, the AFRO talked with Mr. Johnson a few days after the tragic fall.

The animated manner in which he described the process of perfecting the decorations revealed his heartfelt pride in making the church festive and inspirational.

* * *

ANOTHER DEDICATED churchman is the Rev. Harvey E. Walden, pastor of Grant Memorial AME Church, Chicago, who pastored at Ebenezer and Waters AME Churches in Baltimore over 20 years.

Possessed with the idea that Chicago's under - privileged children should have a church - sponsored Community Center, he instilled the idea in his 2,500 members.

As a result, a $350,000 modern building, adjacent to the church, was dedicated early in May and now children by the hundreds are enrolling for wholesome recreation they have never before known.

The Rev. Mr. Walden, a lifelong friend of our family, is a member of the Lost Creek, Vigo Cocnty, Indiana Waldens still residing on the land 9 miles from my birthplace, Brazi, Ind.

Owners of most of the whole township, the Waldens built the school, the church and laid out the cemetery which still stands after more than a century.

My daughter, Marsha, and I journeyed to the Chicago dedication services by jet plane, left Friendship Airport at 12 noon that Sunday and arrived in the Windy City at 1:20 p.m.

During the 7-hour stay we met folks from Indiana and Illinois I had not seen in more than 20 years. Leaving Chicago at 9 p.m., we arrived in Baltimore at 10:20 p.m.

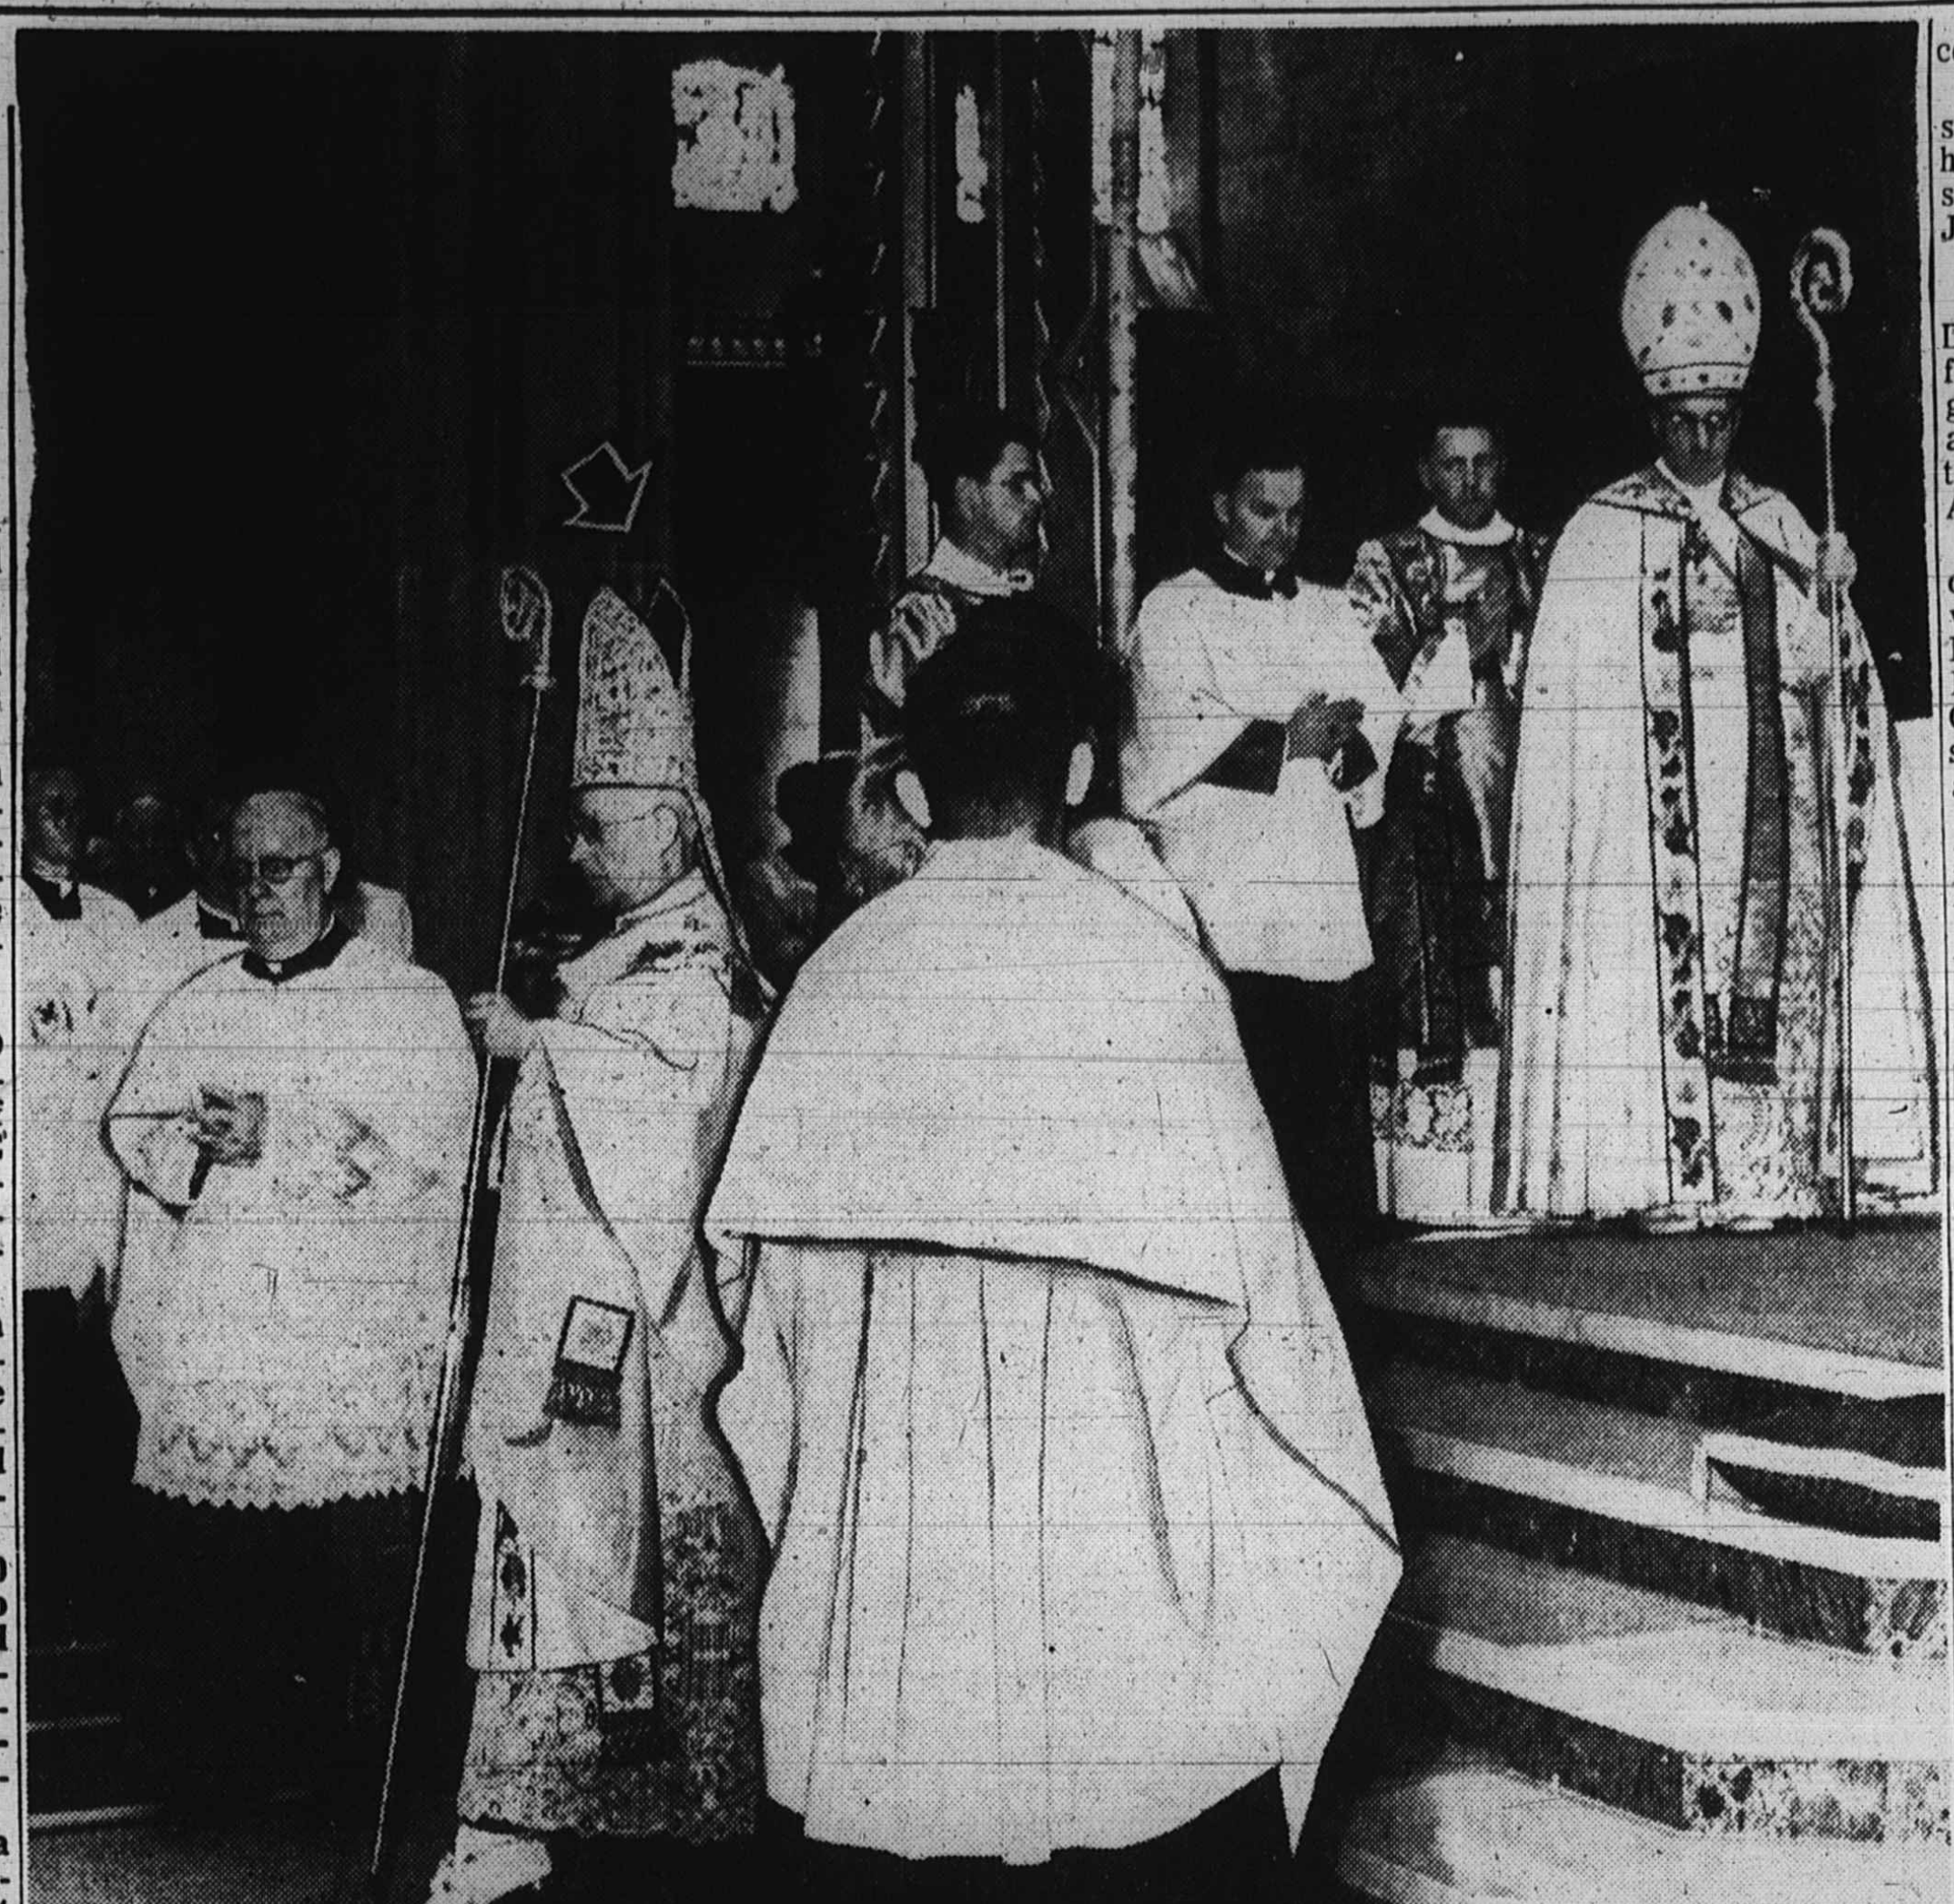
Our seat companion was Jim Grant, Cleveland Indians pitcher.

* * *

ON TUESDAY morning, the Rev. Mr. Walden called to say his wedding is Saturday (tomorrow) at 12 noon. They will honeymoon in Wisconsin.

He states: "When I want to save, I eat hot dogs. When I want to do things up right, best — this time, the best honeymoon lodge in all Wisconsin."

His bride - to - be has been a friend of the family 40 years. Her mother, he states, was gracious to him and his first wife, the late Mrs. Minnie Walden, when he was a struggling young preacher.



ARCHBISHOP LAWRENCE J. SHERHAN, arrow, returns to his special throne after receiving the pallium, a symbol of his authority, from Apostolic delegate Achbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, far right, at special services Tuesday at the Catholic Church Mary Our Queen. The pallium, which is requested from the Pope after an archbishop has been in office for three months, gives Archbishop Shehan authority over Baltimore, Wilmington, Delaware, Wheeling, West Va. and Richmond, Va.

THE REV. Mr. Walden also disclosed that Bishop S. A. Greene, presiding bishop of the AME Florida Episcopal District, was married Tuesday with great fanfare at Winter Springs, Fla.

A 100 - car motorcade escorted the newly weds on a 140 mile trip to his home to prepare for the extended honeymoon in Europe.

* * *

ANOTHER CHURCHMAN, a layman, is Joseph Thompson, Topeka, Kans., who arrived in Baltimore Saturday in a foreign sports car after the motor trip of three days.

Enroute to New York for an annual convention of psychiatrists, he disclosed his first stop in the Manhattan city would be St. Luke's Episcopal Church for 11 a.m. services. He is reluctant to miss a Sunday.

At home in Topeka, Mr. Thompson is member of nearly every division of his Episcopal church and has held all offices except the pastorage.

An officer in the U.S. Army invasion of Italy in World War II, Mr. Thompson was interviewed by the AFRO's Max Johnson, then our war correspondent.

The story appeared in an AFRO 1942 edition along with Major Thompson's photograph taken in Italy as Mr. Johnson talked to him beside a foxhole.

We met Mr. Thompson when he was on official duty at the Pentagon in Washington in 1960. I had met his mother, Mrs. Fanny Thompson, at the 1960 Los Angeles AME Conference.

His sister, Barbara, is a Los Angeles daily reporter. A widower and eligible bachelor, Mr. Thompson has been Clinical Social Worker at the U.S. Disiplinary Barracks, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans for 20 years.

IN THE AFRO Dunbar Evening School feature, a line of type, left out, contained the neames of two faculty members, Miss Anna G. Bennett and William Britt.

Miss Bennett has been the night school office practice teacher eight years, continues to send the AFRO news of the students almost daily. She has been Sharp Street Methodist Church secretary 20 years.

Described as "on the ball," Miss Bennett puts into practice what she teaches, is the perfect example of a first-rate secretary, efficient, courteous, ever helpful.

Mr. Britt has been a night school teacher six years, has been named summer school principal at Lemmel Junior High School.

* * *

NOTED AS an historian, David Hume, an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor, who conducted an admirable campaign, is author of books on Matthew A. Henson.

Mr. Henson was the colored Charles County citizen who accompanied Admiral Richard Perry to the North Pole. Mr. Hume, also a Charles Countian, did extensive research on Mr. Henson as a fellow citizen.

A favorite newstipper is Mrs. Charlotte Marshall Perry, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall, and the late Cyrus Marshall Sr.

She points out in an interesting letter, the work of Boy Scout Cub Pack 580 with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tutman as cub master and den mother.

At the Scoutorama last week-end, the Cub pack's adult leaders and youngsters reproduced Noah's Ark as an exhibit.

The 36 - foot long boat had on its deck pairs of animals as described in the Old Testament story.

All was the product of many hours of interesting handicraft.

Music students to do recital

Students of Mrs. Adah K. Jenkins will give their annual recital series at Coppin State Teachers College, 2500 W. North Ave., Saturday, June 2 and Friday, June 8 at 8:45 p.m.

Pupils at advanced, intermediate and elemenary levels will perform solo and piano numbers. Vocal presentations and dramatic readngs with music are among the special features.

Certificates and pins won in the 1962 National Piano Guild auditions will be presented, including the high school diploma to Miss Hansonia Caldwell.
