Houston church open to all

DR. K. OWEN WHITE, pastor of First Baptist Church, and Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of First Methodist Church, announced in Houston, Texas, last week their churches are open to all. A total of eight colored worshippers attended the two downtown churches Sunday.

* * *

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. of Atlanta, on the nationally televised "Washington Conversation" Sunday, accused President Kennedy of not providing adequate leadership in the racial problems, but predicted an end to segregation "in my lifetime." He believes legal barriers in the South will be erased by 1972.

* * *

DR. JOHN M. KRUMM, Columbia University chaplain, declared in a sermon at St. Paul's Chapel last week that "a segregated church says in effect that Christ's cross was wasted effort."

* * *

THE VERY REV. PATRICK H. E. BARRON, Anglican dean of Johannesburg, warned last week the new government bill calling for the death penalty for numerous offenses under the heading of "sabotage" could easily stifle free speech and writing in South Africa.

* * *

THEODORE CHAMBERS, 21, Morehouse College student, was shot in the right groin last Friday night while parked on Willis Mill Rd. with his date. He told police, who took him to Grady Hospital, he couldn't identify the man who shot him.

* * *

DR. HARRY D. RIDDLE, 44, of Gastonia, N.C., appearing in Superior Court, pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder in the death of Leonard M. Patton, 27, on March 9. The white physician claims he killed Patton in self-defense during a visit to see Patton's mother.

* * *

MRS. RIDDLE WOODWARD, 80, who carried large sums of money, was found dead last week about a mile and a half from her Winnsboro, S.C., home from which she had been missing for 17 days. She had $470 on her person when found. Death was due to natural causes.

"Worse than 60 years ago..."

McNEILL SMITH of Greensboro, chairman of the North Carolina Civil Rights Advisory Committee, reported last week there's greater segregation in housing in the state today than there was 60 years ago.

* * *

THE REV. B. ELTON COX state secretary of CORE, last week led demonstrations at the administration offices of High Point (N.C.) city schools in protest of segregation in the classrooms. He also led a parade downtown in protest against discrimination.

* * *

DEAN LESLIE L. MARTIN reported last week a gang of whites attacked an integrated group from the University of Kentucky and Georgetown College at a Lexington drive-in cafe. The students included four whites and three colored—Kenneth Kennedy of Louisville and William Spaudling of Springfield and Arthur Smith, visiting from Georgetown.

* * *

MORRIS PRICE, 20, and Shelva Williams, 39, among six who came to NYC from Louisiana on tickets paid for by the New Orleans White Citizens Council, have accepted Harry Golden's offer to pay for their return home. The author-lecturer paid a third member's fare home last week.

* * *

SEN. HERMAN TALMADGE of Georgia, writing in a recent issue of the national Citizens Council magazine, declared the U.S. Supreme Court school desegregation decision of 1954 was handed down on the basis of distorted historical truths.

* * *

MISS LYNN PFUHUL, 18, CORE member, beat a disorderly conduct rap in Louisville (Ky.) Police Court last Tuesday when the arresting officer testified she wasn't causing a disturbance.

* * *

DR. ROBERT C. WEAVER, administrator, Home Housing and Finance Agency, declared in Washington last week "I am not planning to run for the Senate, and I am not interested in doing so." Earlier reports popped up that he might seek the Democratic nomination for the seat held by Sen. Jacob K. Javitts, a New York Republican.

* * *

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy last week promised President Felix Houphouet - Boigney of the Ivory Coast that the United States would shortly increase its aid commitment. The Ivory Coast president left after a three-day visit here.

* * *

RICHARD M. NIXON, former Vice President and a gubernatorial candidate in California, last week refused a request by Evariste Kimba, minister of foreign affairs of Katanga, to mediate a conference between Prime Minister Adoula of the Central Congo Government and President Tshombe of Katanga — saying he is too busy with his own campaign.

On international advisory panel

HONOLULU (ANP) — Nobel Peace prize winner and United Nations Under-Secretary Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, was one of eight persons, named here last week to the first international panel of advisors to the East-West Center, University of Hawaii regents announced.

* * *

RALEIGH, N.C. —Three new members were elected to Shaw University board of trustees last week. They are Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; J. W. Goodloe, senior vice president and secretary of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Mrs. Mary T. Semans, a member of the Duke Foundation, the latter two of Durham.

* * *

AMBASSADOR RAYMOND L. THURSTON and his deputy, Philip R. Williams, of the U.S. were among diplomats boycotting Haitian President Francois Duvalier's celebration of the anniversary of his re-election last year.

* * *

PATRICK DUNCAN, editor of the weekly Contact and a staunch opponent of apartheid in South Africa, has been confined to the Cape Peninsula —30 miles long by five miles wide—for five years by the Government. He said he would defy the order "irrespective of the consequences."

Atlanta hotel sets precedent

MRS. RUBY HUREY, Southeast Regional secretary of the NAACP, last week announced it was regrettable that other Atlanta hotels have not followed the example of Peachtree Manor which desegregated without fanfare. The hotel has agreed to house out-of-town ball clubs.

* * *

ATTY. GEN. LOUIS J. LEFKOWITZ last week obtained a court order to dissolve International Maid Service, Ltd., to bring women from South America to work in Westchester, N.Y., homes as maids. The agency was accused of violating labor laws.

* * *

MAGISTRATE MANUEL A GOMEZ last week ordered a probation report on Peter Mills, Harlem landlord jailed three times in two years for building violations. He was released on $200 bail for sentencing June 14.

Probe second poisoning death

JOHNNIE M. WIGGINS, 61, Norfolk, Va., gardener, last week was accused of the May 4 arsenic death of his landlady, Miss Louise Bailey. He was also questioned in the death of Mrs. Ozella Hall 59, a neighbor who died of poisoning. Mrs. Hall's husband is in the hospital recovering from poisoning.

* * *

NATHANIEL E. HARGETT SR. of Greensboro, N.C., will be notified within 90 days whether his embalming and funeral directors licenses will be revoked. The state board is investigating a "misconduct" charge against him.

* * *

MRS. G. C. HAHN, state president, announced following a meeting in Savannah, the Georgia division of University Women has called for the elimination of the death sentence for youthful offenders. The group was moved by the death sentence facing Preston Cobb Jr., 15, for shooting a 70-year-old white farmer.

* * *

NEW YORK — Dr. Joachim Prinz, president of the American Jewish Congress, will be honored on his sixtieth birthday and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his arrival in the U.S. at a testimonial dinner here next week (Tuesday, June 5).

* * *

JUSTICE JOHN J. FRANCIS, writing the opinion for the New Jersey State Supreme Court in Trenton, ordered Haridor Realty Co. of NYC to sell Mr. and Mrs. Ermon K. Jones of Neptune a $20,000 home in the Asbury Gables development. The state law bars discrimination in the sale of publicly financed housing.

* * *

GEORGE H. FOWLER, newly installed chairman of the New York State Commission for Human Rights, last week sharply criticized the television and motion picture industries for not presenting the colored man in a true "image as an American citizen." He said the problem was serious enough to warrant a Commission investigation.

Mississippi's Colored Candidate For Congress Symbolizes Political Change

By SAMUEL HOSKINS

WASHINGTON

NEWS ANALYSIS

Post-Reconstruction political history will be made in Mississippi on June 5.

On this date, a small cloud is destined to appear on the heretofore all-white horizon of the state Democratic primary.

It's a cloud destined to grow both in size and strength.

By 1964, maybe, and certainly by 1966 or 1968, the cloud will become a high wind of political change and sweep at least two, and perhaps three colored Mississippians into Congress.

* * *

THE CURRENT "cloud" in Mississippi politics is Robert L. T. Smith of Jackson, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the fourth district.

He is running on a platform of racial goodwill and cooperation between colored and whites to solve the state's problems.

His plea is "Pull down the red flag of hatred and bigotry."

To prove he means what he advocates, candidate Smith has a white campaign manager, William Higgs, a young attorney of Jackson.

* * *

HIGGS AND the candidate's son are co-complainants in a federal suit to stop the Administration of Gov. Ross Barnett from giving $54,000 a year of state funds to the White Citizens Councils to maintain segregation.

The young attorney is counsel for the state advisory committee of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

Asked to comment on the candidacy of Smith, Rep. John Bell Williams, incombent, said: —

"I don't think the people of Mississippi will vote for a candidate who has no experience."

* * *

THE CONGRESSMAN, who has opposed every civil rights bill to come up in the House since the 80th Congress, carefully avoided the racial issue.

Expressing confidence that he will be nominated and, consequently, reelected, Rep. Williams said he will not campaign.

He estimated that there are approximately 100,000 voters in his district.

Asked how many colored voters are in the district, Rep. William said: "Oh, I don't know; I don't have the slightest idea."

* * *

THE 1960 REPORT on voting by the Civil Rights Commission shows that the Fourth Congressional District in Mississippi has a colored voting age population of 101,700, or 40.5 per cent of the total voting age population.

The report also shows that only 9,277, or 9.1 per cent of the potential colored electorate is registered as voters.

The number of white voters is not available as registration officials refused to give this information to the civil rights commission.

However, census figures show that in at least one Mississippi congressional district a majority of the population is colored.

This is the third district, which is 59.2 per cent colored.

* * *

THE PERCENTAGE of colored in the other four districts is: first, 26.3; second, 41.3; fifth, 34.4 and sixth, 20.8.

When colored voters become registered to their full potential, they are certain to elect the representative from the third and perhaps the fourth, as well as determine who will be elected in the remaining four districts.

In four of the six Mississippi districts the Kennedy Administration has filed voting rights suits in federal courts. These are the second, fourth, fifth and sixth.

Such suits, plus the intense voter registration campaign in the South, sponsored by a number of civil rights groups, are destined soon to change the character of Mississippi's congressional delegation.

* * *

SMITH, PROPRIETOR of a grocery store, filed for Congress last December.

He delivered a television address, Dec. 29, in which he appealed to both colored and white voters to forget the race issue in politics and join in solving the state's problems.

"Voters should ignore the houting of outworn slogans and the screaming epithets of bigotry," he declared.

Mississippians should realize, he said, that we cannot live in the past. He added: —

* * *

"THE TIME IS far spent when men of insight and ability can afford to remain silent while unscrupulous politicians get themselves elected by waving the red flag of hatred and bigotry, thus confusing the minds of people who are inherently good.

"They use time-worn slogans of the past to detract the people away from a sensible and workable solution to the many problems that beset us.

"Mississippi needs a positive approach to its problems. If we do not solve these problems, the blame will, in a large part, be due to the short-sighted planning by men holding high elective offices in our state government and by cunning men and predatory organizations who peddle hate with the use of our tax money."

* * *

THIS WAS A reference to the $4,500 monthly contributions the state sovereignty commission makes to the radio and television forum sponsored by the White Citizens Councils.

The candidate's son, Robert L. T. Smith, was one of four persons who filed suit in federal court to stop the group.

Smith's candidacy not only is significant, but is symptomatic of the rising wind of political change beginning to beat against the shaky walls of the one-party South.

YWCA lists summer day camps, activities for teen-agers

The Young Women's Christian Association has announced its summer day camp program for children age 4 to 14 and its teen activities for June and July, according to Mrs. Carl W. Wheelock, president of the Y.W.C.A.

Day Camp Y-Ho-Wa, now in its fifth year in Druid Hill Park is accepting registrations for girls age 7 to 14 for any of three camp periods. Camp will be held daily from 9:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. from June 25 to July 6; July 9 to July 20; July 23 to July 27.

* * *

Y-HO-WA OFFERS girls swimming, tennis, arts and crafts, nature lore, Indian lore, story hours, cook outs, trips, creative dance, hiking, golf, dramatics and gymnastics.

Because the Y.W.C.A. is a Community Chest agency, fees can be kept low to make a camping experience possible for all girls. Y-Ho-Wa fee is only $6 weekly and cost includes bus transportation.

The Madison Avenue Branch Y.W.C.A. will have day camp in Gwynns Falls Park for boys and girls age through July 26 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Bus service will be provided to and from the camp. The fee is $4 weekly.

* * *

KIDDY KAMP-US, a day camp project of the North Area Y.W.C.A. again will be held on the grounds of Groucher College for boys and girls age 4 to 6.

Kiddy Kamp-Us will be held June 18 through July 26, Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Featured in this program are creative dance, dramtics, arts and crafts, nature lore, games, and story hours. Fee for this day camp is $7 weekly.

At the Central Branch Y.W.C.A. a co-ed program for teen-agers is scheduled to begin June 25 through July 25 with classes on Mondays and Wednesdays. Included in this program are trampoline, swimming, ballroom dance, cooking, dressmaking, oil painting, charm, and kintting. Tennis and golf classes will be formed also if there is sufficient demand.

* * *

TEEN-AGERS of the East Baltimore Y.W.C.A. are being offered a new series of activities slated to begin in June. It will include auto mechanics for boys as well as girls. Cooking, baby sitting classes, and sewing are also being offered. Opening date has not yet been announced.

To encourage teen-age boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 17 to explore creatively the areas of art, music, drama, and dance the Madison Avenue Y.W.C.A. will offer a summer "Lively Arts" program.

Beginning July 2 and ending August 2 the program will feature a series of one hour workshops on these subjects, Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

'Friendship' on in the summer

The campaign of Columbus Elementary School to rid the neighborhood of after-school fighting has grown to include a television program. Other facets of the program will be carried on during the summer months.

Mayor Grady declared the week of May 13-18, Friendship Week and a television program of the school committee that worked on the project was shown.

In addition to the Mayor, Dr. George B. Brain, superintendent of schools, and Gov. J. Millard Tawes, have shown interest in the program.

During the summer the activities include block campaigns by parents, guidance to children by the YMCA, a list of recreational facilities and the formation of Mohawk Clubs under the guidance of the Druid Hill Avenue YMCA.

In the fall a leadership program for parents will be explained by Alonso Moss, associate executive, community extension branch of the YMCA.

IN THE MONTHS since the program began in January, other schools have requested visits to the school to view the program in operation.

Ministers have talked at the school and representatives from various social agencies have addressed the school, panel discussions have been conducted, consultants from the department of education have visited the school and both teachers and pupils have been active in programs designed to foster good citizenship and mutual understanding.

UNITED NATION'S REPORT

Tshombe's pawn colonialists used to bar African freedom

By CHARLES P. HOWARD, Sr. (Special to AFRO)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. The cause of independence south of the Sahara has come to a dead-end.

The event that marked the turning point was the death of Patrice Lumumba, first prime minister of the Congo Republic. The colonial powers at that point discovered that they had devised the "formula." They had found the key to getting the job done.

Prior to that point the independence band wagon in Africa seemed unstoppable. It had been on the move since Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana stepped out of one of His Majesty's prisons in Accra to head the first government of black ministers, presided over by a black prime minister, south of the Sahara.

Of course there are a few areas in the transition stage with independence dates set or to be set, or at least in the offing like Kenya, Uganda, Ruanda and Urundi. But the "big push" is over.

* * *

LET IT BE crystal clear that for this state of affairs, the Africans have no one to blame nearly so much as themselves.

The enemies of African independence have drawn a line roughly between five and 10 degrees south of the Equator.

The line runs from west to east through Northern Angola, Katanga Province in the Congo, Northern Rhodesia and takes off a tip of the southern end of Tanganyika.

Push this line up a few degrees at the western end and down a few degrees at the eastern end and you have it. Surprising as it may seem the "base" of this "halting" line is Katanga.

So long as Katanga remains a "wheeling ground" for the anti - independence forces, independence for the states in Southern Africa will remain bogged down. That bottleneck must first be removed.

* * *

SOUTHERN AFRICA, for this purpose, includes Angola, the Rhodesian and Nyasaland Federation (Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland), Mozambiue, South West Africa, Bechuanaland, Swaziland, Swaziland, Basutoland and the Republic of South Africa.

The estimated population of this area is some 37,565,000 of which less than 3,500,000 are Europans (whites). Thus the African population is something like 12 to 1, yet the European minority rules everywhere in Southern Africa.

Not one of these States is under United Nations supervision. Angola and Mozambique are described as "overseas provinces" of Portugal.

The Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland are a "self governing federation" under Britain as a Protectorate or Colony.

Basutoland is listed by Britain as a "high commission territory." Bechuanaland is listed by Britain as a "protectorate and high commission territory."

* * *

BRITAIN ALSO lists Swaziland as a "high commissionary territory."

South West Africa was mandated to the Union of South Africa after World War 1 and successive South African Governments have refused to accept UN supervision, or acknowledge any other authority since the collapse of the League of Nations. South Africa has annexed South West Africa. South Africa is now an independent Republic.

The facts of life are: Southern Africa is the last bastion of colonial domination in Africa. Colonial powers are making their last stand there. The white minority is firmly in control. It does not intend to give up.

* * *

PORTUGAL HAS no intention of relinquishing domination over Angola and Mozambique. Only bloody revolution on even a larger scale than is now going on anywhere will accomplish the task.

The South African Government believes that it has some God-given mandate to keep "white domination" in existence over South African and South West Africa.

Sir Roy Welensky long ago announced that "he would halt the advance of African nationalism if it is within his power to do so."

The British Government is under tremendous pressure from South Africa, Portugal and the Federation leaders "not to break the wall."

Obviously, the British are trying to find a formula for keeping the Rhodesian Federation a going concern. The Africans hate the Federation and recognized it as the vehicle that is used to halt independence and African aspirations.

As to Basutoland, Bechuanaland and Swaziland, they are hopelessly bottled up.
