Board approves Rodman school

The School Board on Thursday approved the awarding of the contract to build the new Mary E. Rodman Elementary School, Grantley and Mulberry Sts., to relieve overcrowding in nearby schools.

Estimated to cost $973,000, the school will have a pupil capacity of 820, will have 24 rooms, a library, a cafeteria and is scheduled to open in 1963.

* * *

Dr. George Brain, school superintendent, said he had asked Mayor Grady to speed up the process asking the state for $2,000,000 to add to the present Baltimore Junior College.

The board sat as trustees of the college as this resolution was presented by Dr. Harry Bard, college president. The grant is part of a $10,000,000 authorization by the state Legislature, and would be made to the city treasurer.

* * *

DR. HOUSTON R. JACKSON, assistant superintendent of schools, reporting on the School Civil Defense Committee, said the state requires cooperation of all departments of government with civil defense officials.

Dr. Brain noted that 30 schools had been selected as shelter areas in case of attack. Each shelter is supplied with food, water, radiolgical instruments and sanitation supplies for two weeks, he added.

Some observers objected that teachers' activities such as building miniature shelters — was going beyond the requirements.

A motion to instrcct teachers not to introduce material about nuclear warfare into the class was dismissed when Dr. Brain intervened to point out that such a directive wuld be a violation of academic freedom.

THE BOARD approved the following elementary teachers: Dorothy Alevizatos, Barbara Applegate, Gwendolyn Bennett, Helen Bevans, Doris Cameron, Margaret F. Cortezi, Loretta E. Cottrill, Marilyn Katzen, Harriet Dalinsky; Marion Fonte, Phyllis S. Levin, Elaine Schwartz, Jeanette A. Smires, Barbara A. Starkey, Meride White, Joane D. Wilner.

Mrs. Frances Cunningham was approved as an elementary opportunity class teacher; Mrs. Margaret S. Fitzgerald, as a secondary teacher-librian, Mrs. Loraine Brown, art teacher; Mrs. Pearl Risser, business education.

Mrs. Marjorie Burney, now head of the department of mathemaitcs at Francis Scott Key Junior High School No. 76, was approved to return to teaching at Pimlico Junior High School.

* *

THE BOARD also approved leaves of absence for Mrs. Nancy Arnez, Mrs. Elizabeth Gerald, Mrs. Eva Goff, Mrs. Marion Graff, Mrs. Catherine W. Richardson, Mrs. Vera Wilson, Mrs. Norma Moore, Paul Hammond, Laurence Hutchins, George Ness and J. Donald Wilson.

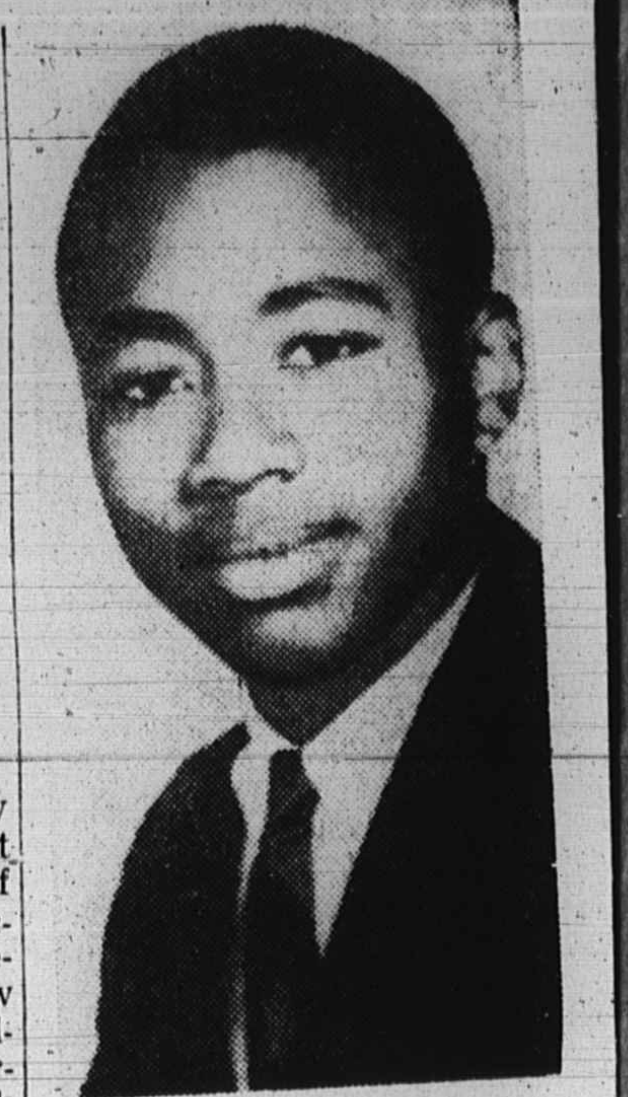
Resignations were accepted from Mesdames Jewel Switky, and Vivian Krawitz.

Pupils tour United Nations

To wind up its unit study on "The United Nation at Work", the sixth grade of Frances Ellen Harper Elementary School No. 111, recently took a trip to New York, tured the UN building, saw the Statue of Liberty and dined at a New York restaurant.

The class was accompanied by their teachers Mesdames Ann Taylor and Georgianna Polston, and their principal, Mrs. Edith Thomas.

A three-act play put on by the pupils starred Gordon Dillard, Albert Brown, Bernard Hudnall, Frederick Wood, David Jones, James Brumson, Misses Thomasina English, Flecia Clarke, Debora Bailey, Ramona Henderson, Sharon Smith, and the entire student body.



GRADUATE — Seventeen-year - old Ivan Higgins, son of Dr. and Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins of Baltimore, was graduated from Phillips Academy preparatory school at Andover, Mass. on Friday. He received scholastic and special awards. This summer he will tour Europe with a Harvard faculty and children's group. In September, he will enter Rutgers University as a pre - medical student.

Coppin Teachers holds graduation

Before an audience that packed the College gym and spilled out over the campus, Coppin State Teachers College rung down the curtain on the current academic year with impressive exercises Thursday night.

The commencement speaker, Dr. Cornelius V. Troup, president, Fort Valley State College, Fort Valley, Ga., admonished the students to appreciate the cultural heritage that had come to them "without any effort on their part.'

He charged them with the responsibility to add to this cultural accumulation by social as well a individual advancement.

What Can We Do?
1. Tell our friends how dangerous it is to hop on the backs of buses
2. Obey our parents and teachers and follow good safety habits
3. Encourage adults police men and bus drivers to be on the lookout for bus hoppers
4. Encourage the bus company, newspapers, and teachers to publish safety signs and stories for children

HELP US HELP OURSELVES — Third graders at School No. 116 pondered what they could do to influence and stop kids from hitching rides on moving vehicles, and came up with the above suggestion listed on the poster. The story appeared in the May 22 edition of the AFRO following the death of John Eley, 11, who was run over when he fell from the bus on which he was hitching a ride. From left to right are Juan Lewis, Wayne Brooks, Wendell Moore, Wanda Bomar, Rose Torison, Patricia Thomas.
