Concert Sunday at School No. 85

The Bureau of Music in presenting it summer series of concerts, will feature "Music Appreciation Sunday" by the Park Concert Band, Charles E. Gwynn, conductor, this Sunday, July 8, on the grounss of School 85, Lakewood Ave. and Oliver St., from 7 to 9 p.m.

The programming department of the Breau of Music and Mr. Gwynn have chosen music from a wide selection of composers, and have selected a variety of different kinds of music, and of added interest to the audience will be the baritone horn solo, played by Medford Campbell, "Call of the Sea," a concert polka.

This is an opportunity for everyone to increase their knowledge of good music and the composers by attending these free concerts, and those of all ages are most cordially invited.

'Raisin' in Maine

SHOWHEGAN, Me. — (ANP). — "A Raisin in the Sun," the Lorraine Hansberry prize - winning play starring Claudia McNeil, had a successful one - week run here ending July 2. The play was a big hit on Broadway and in the movies.

FIRST RUN FILMS

Scott, McCrea both in new Harlem film

Randolph Scott and Joel McCrea, two of the screen's most popular out-door-adventure heroes, appear together for the first time in Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer's action - filled drama of California's gold-mining era, "Ride the High County," now playing at the Harlem with the picture's feminine lead played by attractive young actress Mariette Hartley, in her film debut.

Replete with gunplay, barroom brawls and a variety of trigger-quick action (including a unique and exciting race between three horses and a camel in an Old West honky-tonk carnival sequence), the story casts Scott and McCrea as former "town tamers" whom time has passed by.

Now down on their luck, they team as guard for a gold shipment from a mountain mining camp. Then Scott, with the aid of a young drifter, schemes to double-cross his old pal. The romantic angel involves the young adverturer, played by Ron Starr, and Miss Hartley, cast as the rebellious daughter, of a stern and puritanical father.

Disney's 'Big Red' offered at Met

In "Big Red," now playing at the Met Theatre, the warm and poignant story of a grand champion Irish Setter and the boy who wins him in a fantastic series of adventures, Walt Disney has one of his best and most exciting feature motion pictures to date.

Disney has yet to fall short of big boxoffice results with his boy-dog stories and "Big Red," packed with adult appeal, has all the elements of earlier pictures and more.

Gilles (pronounced Jeel) Payant, the son of a struggling French-Canadian couple, is handed his motion picture debut in one of the best teenage roles slated for any Hollywood product in 1962 — a marvelous Disney discovery made in true Disney fashion.

Buying campaign promised for three Eastern Shore cities

Eastern, Cambridge and Chestertown face the possibility of a selective buying campaign on the part of their colored citizens.

The campaign was revealed this week by Clifton Henry, director of "Project - Eastern Shore," a program designed to improve the economic, political and social life on Eastern Shore.

The project is to cover nine weeks and will find the local Civic Interest Group cooperating with the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee.

Manning the project will be volunteer college students.

MOMENTS MUSICAL

Piano and voice pupils show poise in three recitals

By ADAH K. JENKINS

Precision in tempo and rhythm as well as increasing poise and confidence marked the annual presentation by pupils of Mrs. Margaret Rusk Franklin on Sunday afternoon at Sears Auditorium.

In addition to piano solos and duets, there were vocal numbers by Bernetta Nias, Alma Thompson and Rebekah Wilkins.

Pianists were: Hope Williams, Margaret C. Jones, Joel Lyles, Frankie Reed, J. Theodore Jones 3rd, Mrs. Lillian Arnold, Alma Thompson, Eric Harrison, Linda Hawthorne, Luke Shaw, Rebekah Wilkins, David Maxsam, Christine Giles, Mrs. Mary Curtis, Philip M. Parks and Kenneth Adams.

Mrs. Franklin will begin her summer classes June 19th, closing with a studio recital on Aug. 10 and reopening Sept. 10th.

• • •

A CAPACITY audience braved a heavy downpour to attend the piano concert by pupils of Mrs. Mildred Bryant, held at Coppin State Teachers College.

From beginners to advanced members of the class, there was definite musicality displayed, with marked attention to contrast in tone and touch.

As was the case with the majority of this season's piano recitals, all work was played from memory. Since the young pianists seemed to be playing material well within their capacities, there was considerable vitality in the tempo.

Lemuel Hynson, fomerly a pupil with Mrs. Bryant and now doing collegiate study, was guest pianist playing a Brahms "Cappriccio."

Wayne Dorsey, winner of the Baltimore Music Guild scholarship of $100, was presented and played the audition composition, Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C sharp minor.."

Also programmed from the interracial class were: Mendell Bryant, Adrienne Taylor, Gerris Bruzin, Sydney and Stephanie Burnett, Roslyn Taylor, Gilbert Holland, Roslyn Lansdowne, Jennifer Caroll Jr., Dianne Smith, Evelyn Thomas, Patrice Myers, Edward Watson, Taswell Henderson, Wanda Johnson, Sarah Foster, Lance Dorsey, Maxine Gregory, Merle Rodkovitz,

• • •

THE MOTHER - DAUGHTER music teaching team, comprised of Mrs. Emma E. Poulson and Miss Florine L. Poulson sponsored their annual recital of "Stars of tomorrow" at Sears Auditorium.

Dedicated to the late Mrs. Lovy Husketh, one of Baltimore's best known music instructors, the concert was a very creditable presentation. There were a number of ensemble pieces, duets, and trios on two pianos played by the pupils and their teachers.

A demonstration in msuic theory was given by Barbara Drake, Joan Love, Pamela Gardener, Debra Spencel Linda McKnight and Zane Bailey. Sylvia Wright, a former senior student with Mrs. Poulson, was guest performer, playing the first movement of Beethoven's "Pathetique Sonata."

Other participants included: Patrich Preston, Calvin Davenport, Faye and Gail Morton, Estelle Cavanaugh, Linda Poulson, Angela Johnson, Vernon Lynch, Renne Byrd, Pamela Johnson, Michele Byrd, Michael Barnes, Eleanor Lane, Alma Lynch, Beatrice Brown, Zenia Coln and Colbert Woodland.

Awards for meritorious study were presented at the conclusion of the recital.

• • •

JESSYE COSTIN, graduate of City College and the Peabody Preparatory Department, was recipient of a $1,700 scholarship at Westminster Choir School, for his sophomore year there.

The Chamber Music Society of Baltimpre, through its president, Randolph B. Botschild, has commissioned Hugo Weisgal to write a work for voice and instruments, based on "Eden Retold", a series of poems by the Baltimore-born poet, Karl Shapiro.

Mr. Weisgall, who is one of the founders of the Society is best known for his four operas, especially "The Tenor" and "The Stronger". He has conducted choral groups in the city and presented Verdi's "Requim" with a chorus from the Institute of Musical Art.

THE 1962-63 season of the society will include four regular concerts plus a study performance of a Schoenberg work, with reciter and instruments.

At the opening concert Dec. 9, the Julilliard Spring Conecrt will perform, with Vincent er-pianist. On January 6th Persichetti, composer - speak-Robert Gerle, noted violinist, will be the artist. On January 27th Robert Lewis, contemporary composer will speak and the Lenox String Quartet will play a work written by him and dedicated to the society.

For the March program the Krainis Baroque Ensemble will present a program of works for soprano, recorder, oboe, violin, viola de gamba, basson and harpsichord. Tickets for the series are $10, available at the Music Centre Bureau, 1123 N. Charles Street.

• • •

CALENDAR: Sunday, from 7 to 9 p.m. on the grounds of School No. 35, Lakewood Ave. and Oliver St., Charles E. Gwynn will conduct the Park Concert Band in a "Music Appreciation Day" program.

The concert, which is free, is under the auspices of the Bureau of Music, J. Irving Gray, superintendent.

Medford Campbell will play a baritone horn solo. "Call of the Sea" a concert polka. The band will play also selections from the musical Comedy "Louise"; "Fugue Modernistic" and "Blue Moon".

Cancer crusade short $7,200 of '62 goal

Col. William Ogletree today reported that the American Cancer Society's 1962 Crusade in Baltimore County is $7,200 short of its $80,000 goal. Contributions now total $72,800.

The Women's Division, under the leadership of Mrs. James A. Pine, chairman, was responsible for collecting $47,831 of this total," Col. Ogletree said.

Contributions may be mailed to County Crusade, Box 6722, Towson 4, Maryland.
