GOP reject Demo's plea to postpone re-district plan

The city's Republican leaders on Thursday rejected an appeal by Democratic City Council and State Legislature members that they withhold present plans for redistricting Baltimore's councilmanic districts.

The Republicans are currently collecting signatures to petition their proposal to the November general election ballots.

This proposal would create two new districts out of the Third and Fifth. The Fourth and Sixth Districts would retain present boundaries and the First and Second Districts would be enlarged at the expense of the Third District.

They have until July 23, to gather the necessary 10,000 signatures and have the proposal certified by the Board of Supervisors of Elections for the November ballots.

The City Council and the city delegation of the State Legislature have made no progress on re-districting.

* * *

FOLLOWING THE conference Thursday between Republican and Democratic leaders, Walter E. Black Jr., chairman, Republican City Committee, issued this statement:

"I have conferred with the chairman of the Baltimore City Delegation in the General Assembly (Marvin Mandel, D. 5th D.) and the chairman of the City Council's redistricting committee (George W. Arthur, 3rd D.) in regard to the plans for redistricting of the Baltimore City Council.

"They have suggested to the Republican City Committee that action on re - districting be deferred until the general elections next spring thereby postponing any revision until the 1967 municipal election.

"They have also offered to give the Republican Party representation on a study commission to be appointed.

"While I respect the views which have been presented to me, the Republican City Committee has no alternative but to go forward with its efforts to secure the requisite signatures for presentation of the petition to the Mayor on July 23.

"The drive has already seen the expenditure of countless hours by Republicans workers throughout the city under the direction of our redistricting chairman, Peter Parker.

* * *

"IN ADDITION, the Republican Party has been supported by civic groups such as the Junior Association of Commerce and the NAACP in this effort, and the plan has also received the endorsement or encouragement of the entire Baltimore press.

"Mr. Mandell has indicated that it would be unwise to rush a change through the City Council at this late date, but I would remind him that the Council has had years to redistrict the city and has been aware of the Republican petition drive since it was announced by my predecessor, Samuel Hopkins on March 29.

"Throughout this period, the Republican Party has been ready to support any equitable charter amendment enacted by the City Council.

* * *

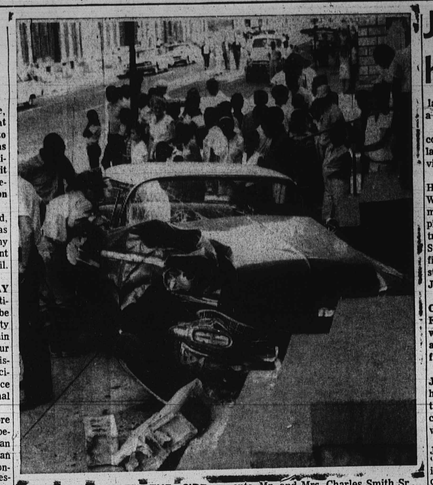
"A FOUR-YEAR DELAY in equal rights for the citizens of Baltimore can not be condoned, nor can the City Council afford to remain vulnerable to attack in our courts for failure to redistrict before the 1963 Municipal Elections, in accordance with sound Constitutional principles.

"The voters of Baltimore are entitled to a choice between the eight-district plan proposed by the Republican City Committee and the continuance to 1967 of the present boundary lines.

"The Republican City Committee calls upon all civic-minded voters of Baltimore City to sign the petition which will afford all of us a choice on redistricting in November.

"At the same time, we call upon the City Council to adopt a fair and equitable redistricting plan before July 23.

"Should the Council perform its duty in this regard, the Republican Party will be glad to examine such a plan on its merits in comparison with our own petition."



THIS CAR JUMPED THE SIDEWALK and smacked into a building after it was struck by another car Tuesday at McCulloh and Gold St. Charles Smith Jr., was thrown from the car, and is now in University Hospital with a head concussion. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith Sr., 2408 Madison Ave., and two other children, Wanda, 1, and Betty, 2, who also was thrown from the car, were treated for minor injuries of the face, head and arms at Provident Hospital and released.

Judge bans secret hearing for lawyer

Janey Foster Tuesday banned a secret hearing on a habeas corpus petition, filed by a lawyer confined to Crownsville Hospital.

The lawyer, Christopher H. Foreman, 36, 3400 block Wabash Ave., was committed to the mental hospital for examination and treatment June 22 after a Supreme Bench medical officer found him unable to stand trial in Traffic Court, June 21.

Through his attorney, Charles P. Howard Jr., Mr. Foreman contended that he was being illegally detained and asked Judge Foster to free him.

Before the hearing began, Judge Foster announced that he had been asked to bear the petition in chambers because members of the press were in the courtroom.

He denied the request, Judge Foster said, because "I do not believe in excluding the press from matters of public interest."

* * *

JUDGE FOSTER also withheld ruling on the petition to await results of further examinations and up-to-date reports dealing with the mental condition of Mr. Foreman.

Mr. Foreman, former bailiff to Chief Judge Emory H. Niles, and a practicing attorney, and Social Security employee, was involved in an accident at the Mondawmin Shopping Center June 20.

He was arrested at home later that night.

When he appeared for trial before Traffic Judge Joseph G. Finnerty, the judge ordered a mental examination.

Dr. Dennis T. Jones, Supreme Bench psychiatrist, said he found the lawyer was mentally incompetent to stand trial and ordered him committed to the hospital.

"His relationship to others was similar to that of a small child," Dr. Jones testified Tuesday.

Reports filed by two Crownsville doctors also showed that Mr. Foreman was mentally disturbed.

She said he left, he said she put him out — she wins divorce

Mrs. Rosie Hammonk of 620 Hill View Ave., divorced Clemmon Hammock on grounds of desertion, despite his protest that he was an affectionate husband who wanted to remain with her, last week.

Mrs. Hammock told the court that she and Mr. Hammock were married on May 30, 1959 and separated a day less than a month later.

"When I came from work he and all of his clothes were gone. When I talked to him he said that he didn't want the responsibility of marriage", the wife said.

Mr. Hammock filed a cross bill charging that his wife put him out.

He said that he was a devoted husband, but that she harrassed and abused him, and taunted him because he was 15 years older. She also refused to cook for him or even talk to him, he added.

Finally, said he, Mrs. Hammock told him that in which they were living, he should get out.

His bill, however, was dismissed and the decree went to the wife.

JAMES ALBERT COOK of 806 N. Parrish St. and Mrs. Clara Catherine Cook of 13 N. Fulton Ave. were divorced on grounds of voluntary separation.

They were wed on Nov. 6, 1943 and ended the union on March, 1947.

* * *

MRS. SHIRLEY ANN LANE of 303 Lynhurst Ave. who testified that she and Ralph Lane of 125 Colvin St. agreed to end their marriage, was granted a divorce.

She was given custody of their two-year-old daughter and he charged, generally, with the child's support.

The Lanes, who were married on Oct. 28, 1958, separated on Jan. 15, 1959, she said.

RUFUS PURDIE, electrician I/c, U. S. Navy, charged that Mrs. Gloria Purdie has refused to live with him at bases where he has been stationed.

He added that when he came to this city, she still refused to live with him. He was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion.

The couple was married on Jan. 23, 1955. The husband said that they maintained the union until Oct. 1, 1959.

At that time, he said, he obtained accommodations for her at Long Beach, Calif., but she turned down his request to leave Baltimore.

Screams bring help for woman

A 29-year-old Cherry Hill man was ordered held without bail for grand jury action in the attempted rape of a 33-year-old Cherry Hill housewife Tuesday at Southern District Police Station.

The woman reported that a man, whom she later identified as Louis E. Jones, 2900 block Spelman Rd., had grabbed her at the corner of Bridgeview Rd. and Cherry St., about 11:30 a.m. Sunday as she left a friend's home.

The woman said Jones called three other men standing on the corner and the four dragged her to the schoolyard of School 159 in the 800 block of Bridgeview Rd.

When another man came running across the schoolyard, apparently in answer to her screams, the four ran off, the woman reported.

ADC fathers seen staying in home

"The Aid to Dependent Children Program has made it possible for unemployed men to remain in the home and get aid for their children.

"I consider it a very helpful program."

Mrs. Roberta Finkbinder, assistant director of the Baltimore Welfare Department, was summing up the federal - backed ADC program which ran out July 1 after a year.

The regular ADC program is not affected by this special coverage for unemployed household heads.

Federal regulation forbids an unemployed man who receives ADC for his children, to be put on any federal - works project.

However, many of these men, instead of deserting their families, have gone out to look for work, Mrs. Finkbinder said.

THE DEPARTMENT hopes Congress will vote appropriations to continue the program.

It is being carried on this month with money from the state general fund. Without the federal money, it is feared the program will be curtailed, Mrs. Finkbinder said.

Despite resentment of the program by many taxpayers, Mrs. Finkbinder termed it "very helpful."

"Somebody's got to take care of these children," she added.

In its year of operation the program produced these statistics:

About 50 families have been getting continuous assistance since the program began.

There have been some 400 applicants each month.

March, 1962, had the highest enrollment with 534 persons.

In April, 185 went off the program, either to work or elsewhere.

That same month, 104 came on the rolls.

Police-citizens group hail request for confab

The Police-Community Relations Committee of the Western Police District approved the action of the Baltimore NAACP in requesting Gov. J. Millard Tawes to appoint a commission to investigate complaints of police brutality.

In a unanimous vote some 45 members present at Wednesday's meeting at the Western Police Station went on record in favor of such a group.

The resolution followed a talk by Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, secretary of the Baltimore NAACP's Legal Redress Committee. She discussed police brutality and the need for cooperation between police and private citizens.

* * *

MRS. MITCHELL cited recent cases she termed mis-use of police powers and stad that the "conduct of a few bad eggs causes resentment and ill-will toward the whole force."

She said that the group, which is composed of 3 police officers and civic leaders throughout the police district, could be effective in providing leadership in solving the problem.

The NAACP telegram, sent June 22, requested conference of ministers and civic leaders with the Governor to discuss complaints against policemen.

The Governor's answer, dated June 25, said that he would confer with the Baltimore Police Commissioner on the matter:

"As soon as I have an opportunity to discuss these matters with him, we will arrange a conference with the ministers and civic leaders in compliance with your request," the Governor said.

Seek more inspectors in Weights, Measures Dept.

The board of directors of the Maryland Crime Investigating Committee urged Mayor J. Harold Grady this week to increase the number of inspectors in the division of Weights and Measures, Bureau of Tests, Dept. of Public Works.

In a letter to Mayor Grady, Alvin J. T. Zumbrun, executive director of the committee, stated:

"National standards for similar positions call for one inspector for each 50,000 persons.

"The eight men in Baltimore cannot possibly do the job in a city of almost one million persons."

Mr. Zumbrun's committee also asked for a review of the salary scale for these inspectors, and stated:

"Good men cannot be employed and retained on a salary scale of $3,300 to $4,400 a year."

* * *

MR. ZUMBRUN'S letter to Mayor Grady offered this basis for the increase in salaries and personnel:

"The major reason centers around the fact that every citizen must rely on honest scales and meters when purchasing needs from food to fuel.

"We are concerned about unscrupulous dealers who must be checked constantly, or else the poor, weak and underprivileged are continuous victims of those dealers."
