Morgan College Corp. appoints a chaplain

The Board of Trustees of the Morgan College Corporation held its annual meeting on Monday at the Morgan Christian Center.

The board approved the recommendation of the director, the Rev. Howard Cornish, for appointment of a chaplain for the Wesley Club, the Methodist student religious organization.

Creation of this new post sets a precedent. The new chaplain is the Rev. David Andrews, 38, militant white minister who has pastored churches in the South, and who has been active in community groups and integration campaigns.

He comes to Baltimore from Boone, N.C., where he was center director at the Appalachian State Teachers College.

The Rev. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of the University of N.C., and the Duke University School of Divinity. He was ordained in 1950, and has pastored churches in the N.C. and Western N.C. Methodist conferences.

He is married and has four children.

• • •

IN HIS report to the board, The Rev. Mr. Cornish noted that the Christian Center has served the campus community as well as the entire city and race.

Re-elected to the board were the following persons whose terms expired this year: Dr. Mary A. D. Edwards, D.C., the Rev. Kelly Jackson, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, Mrs. Madeline Murphy and the Rev. A. J. Payne, all of Baltimore.

Other members of the board are: Bishop Edgar A. Love, chairman; Dr. Martin Jenkins, Hon. Morris A. Soper, the Revs. B. Franklin Auld, Paul Bohi, Garrett D. Rawlings, Dr. A. Merritt Dieterich., Hon. Joseph L. Carter, treasurer; Dr. D. O. W. Holmes and Dr. Edward N. Wilson, secretary, all of Baltimore.

The Rev. Richard H. Johnson of Washington; Elmer T. Hawkins, Chestertown, Md.; Dr. James S. Thomas, Nashville; James R. Webb, Laurel, Del; the Rev. Howard A. Bailey, Yeadon, Pa.;

The Rev. Charles L. Carrington, Jamaica, N.Y. and the Rev. Levi B. Miller, Jr., Brooklyn, N.Y.

MRS. BEULAH STEPHENS was honoree at a party given by the Senior Choir of Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church. Mrs. Stephens, one of the organizers of the choir, is currently president of the body. Shown above, left to right, standing: Mrs. Mildred Key, Mrs. Josephine Turner, Mrs. Carrie Green, Mrs. Edith Tapscott; seated: Mrs. Beulah Stephens, Wallace Stephens and Mrs. Dorothy Buster.

FIVE GENERATIONS were at the celebration when the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Abrams marked the 28th anniversary of their marriage, recently. Included were, left to right: Lloyd Abrams, son; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Abrams, Mrs. Annie Lewis, mother; Mrs. Frances Webster, sister; Joyce Abrams, daughter; and Mrs. Mary Gore, grandmother. Not shown is an infant great- granddaughter, Sharon Barnes. Women ministers mark anniversary

The United Women Ministers Conference will begin a week's anniversary observance, July 15-22, at Mt. Calvary Star Baptist Church, 1725 Milton Ave.

Scheduled to speak are the Rev. Jesse Williams, Chester, Md.; and the Rev. N. H. Tayer.

Back issues and candidates Mrs. Adams urges ministers

"You may vote for a candidate, but whether you like the candidate or not, you must vote for issues," Mrs. Victorine Q. Adams declared, here, recently.

Mrs. Adams, a recent candidate to the House of Delegates from the Fifth District, was hostess at an appreciation breakfast in honor of members of the clergy.

The breakfast was held in Wilson's Restaurant on last Monday morning, and had as presiding officer, Mrs. Ethel Rich.

• • •

MRS. ADAMS, who pointed to the importance of issues, cited the Bill which will support a new and adequate building to house Provident Hospital.

The passage of the bill is not only important to the health and welfare of the community, but for "the needs of the physicians who will be able to train in the institution, she told the group.

• • •

MRS. RICH had already pointed out that while the community is making no effort to build a segregated institution, it may as well face the fact that Provident will be predominently colored. This, she said, is important for many reasons, including the prestige of the group.

Ministers must provide leadership in keeping politics on a high level, the Rev. H. O. Edwards said. The only way to instill moral and religious responsibility is through the vote, he said. Unless the church becomes involved in all facets of life, what is the church for?, he asked.

"There must be some force to offset political power and I urge each minister to keep each member of his congregation informed on the issues that make for better living, and to educate them to the opportunities open to them," the Rev. Mr. Edwards said.

• • •

AS LONG as someone else controls what you can't live without, you are not free, the Rev. Ernest P. Clark advised the ministers.

He was pleading economic advancement for the group, and this, he told them, was intricately tied in with politics.

• • •

ATTENDING THE morning session were:

The Rev. Messrs. O. St. C. Franklin, H. E. Dixon, Jr., C. R. Coleman, Frank Williams, V. T. Key, James H. Wooten, Theodore Jackson, Ward D. Yerby, Ernest P. Clark; Fr. Offer.

Mesdames Gladys Barbour, Hortense Henry, Helen B. Roy, James Murphy, Ruth Turner, Naomi Camper, Ida Holden, Vera Bell, Grace Johnson, Ethel Daniels, Elizabeth Phillips, Lillie Jackson, Helen Ross, Geneva Griffin, Lula Patterson, William Adams and Cortez Puryear.

5 ministers' wives get national offices

Five Maryland ministers' wives were elected to national offices when the National Association of Ministers' Wives held its 22nd annual conference recently on the Shaw University campus in Raleigh, N.C.

They are Mesdames Fellecia Adams, first vice president; Estelle Dobson, state president; Myrtle Lofton and Mary Harrington, both to the Board of Directors; and Louise Smith, public relations committee.

Mrs. Harrington, president of the local organization was the delegate to the convention.

The Minister's Wife of the Year Award was presented to Mrs. Mary Ransome, wife of Dr. W. L. Ransome of Richmond, Va.

PRAYER OF THE WEEK

Dear God, grant us the faith to walk before Thee in newness of life. May the Holy Spirit lead us from strength to strength as we learn to live in daily dependence on Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen (From Strength for Living by Hazel T. Wilson)

Brownie scouts have picnic

Brownie Scout Troop No. 1197, of Mt. Olivet Christian Church, held the closing caravan picnic at Druid Hill Park last Friday.

Assisting with transportation were Miss Emily Peck, Mrs. Claire Parker and N. T. Peck. Mrs. Eunice McGuire is scout leader, Mrs. Mary A. Peck, assistant leader. Mrs. Marion Battle, member of the council, led the devotions.

Brownies at the picnic were Wanda McGuire, Patricia Pleasant, Veronica McDonald, Karen Wheatley, Shirley Knox, Sylvia Henson, Antoinette Wright.

Also Stephanie Evans, Rhonda Marshall, Francine Marshall, Jacquilyn McGuire and Gladys Pleasant.

Jr. Villagers visited

On Wed., July 11th, 250 children from Junior Village set sail on the SS Diplomat Force Base transported the children and Counselors to Pier No. 4 (Wilson Lines) from which they set sail at for the eighth consecutive year as guests of the Continental Society of D.C., Inc.

Church to pay for training

The nurse training for Miss Sylvania Resgisne, St. Marc, Haiti, will be financed by the Providence Baptist Church, which is a member of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Missionary Convention.

A cutline under the picture of Miss Resgisne and the Rev. Marcus Wood, Providence Church pastor in the July 7 AFRO erroneously stated that the Lott Carey convention would finance her training.

SERMON OF THE WEEK

'Only God can help us repent, give us strength for victory'

"Only God can help us repent. Only he can give us the strength for victory over this world," said Rev. Paul Schoeneman, pastor of the Augsburg Evangelical Lutheran Church, 2610 Garrison Blvd.

The Rev. W. Schoeneman's theme, "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time," was taken from 1 Peter 5:6.

"Peter repented," he said, "Peter truly humbled himself.

"Many people are too busy to come to church to pray, to repent. But Satan is never too busy to deceive us.

"The true child of God will resist the devil who is his adversary."

• • •

THE REV. SCHOENEMAN preached that it was up to the church member to keep more people in the church. He emphasized the point that there is great rejoicing when one sinner is saved.

But to save the one, "Jesus does not want us to utterly abandon the 99," he stated.

He also stated that Satan must be understood if he is to be combatted.

• • •

THE AUGSBURG Evangelical Lutheran Church is located on the corner of Garrison Blvd. and Bateman Ave. A tree stands before it, and it is surrounded by some grass.

The Bateman St. side of the church, which is the shady side in the morning, is nearly covered with ivy.

It has a middle-class appearance: modest, plain, venerable, stolid, middle - aged.

A poster near the front door of the church reads:

INTEGRATED
A Cordial Welcome

P. Schoenemen, pastor

There, in the word, "INTEGRATED" lies one of the problems.

According to the Rev. Mr. Schoeneman, church attendance had been declining since 1953 — before the area was integrated.

• • •

THE DECLINING population was one reason that the pastor decided to integrate. Despite integration the church has shown a steady decline in membership.

Sunday fewer than 90 persons attended the 11 a.m. services. Of that number nine were white.

To cover weekly expenses, the church must collect at least two hundred dollars from the congregation. Sunday, approximately $94 was collected.

BACKYARD FUN — Sylvia Cockrell, 11, and Jack Wells, 13, were 2 of the 10 youngsters taking part in a lawn party Tuesday at 3219 Powhatan Ave. for pupils of the Mt. Royal renewal area attending Intermediate Opportunity Classes of Mt. Royal Elementary School No. 66 at 121 McMechen St. The home is that of Mrs. Mary K. Pool, teacher at No. 66, back to camera; president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, sponsors of the affair which caps their Mental Health Program for the year. Mrs. Lucille Venture, facing camera, teacher at Sollers Point High School, is the sorority's outgoing president.

Sorority sponsors a party for pupils of renewal area

Winding up its Mental Health Program for the year, the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority threw a lawn party Tuesday for 10 children living in the Mt. Royal-Fremont Renewal area and attending Intermediate Opportunity Classes at School No. 66, 121 McMechen St.

The party was at the home of Mrs. Mary K. Pool, 3218 Powhatan Ave., a teacher at No. 66 for three years.

Mrs. Lucille Venture, outgoing president and teacher at Sollers Point High School, was among participants.

Mrs. Pool said the idea for the party was to expose the pupils to additional cultural patterns, encourage good citizenship and better understanding.

Of the sorority's 200 plus members in the city, Mrs. Pool said some 100 have participated in the program.

Others present were Misses Esther, Sylvia, Nellie and Joan Cockrell; Howard, Robert, Jack and Lewis Wells; Misses Diane and Myrtle Wells.

Teachers can deduct summer school expenses

Summer expenses for education, Director of Internal Revenue Irving Machiz for Baltimore District told teachers today, are deductible if the couse or courses are for improving skills required by the person in his job, or in meeting requirements set by the employer.

But expenses are not deductible if the education or training is undertaken to obtain a new position, or to attain general educational improvement he said.

If you travel as a form of education, your expenditures will generally be considered as primarily personal in nature and not deductible. This includes travel as a form of education while on sabbatical leave.

The cost of travel, meals, and lodging while away from home overnight for education are allowable as a deduction, and may be claimed whether or not the standard deduction is used.

4,642 students at U. of Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — A total of 4,642 students were enrolled in the University of Maryland summer session at the end of the first week of classes on June 29, university officials announced today.

This year enrollment is 4.2 per cent greater than the previous year when 4,454 students were enrolled. There is a 6.9 per cent increase in graduate registrations and a 2.9 per cent increase in under graduate registrations over the previous year.

In addition to the regular summer session program, there are 460 precollege students registered. These students must successfully pass two freshman courses before they are admitted to the university in the fall.

Fund for children of clergy gets gifts

The Summerfield Baldwin Jr. Foundation this week presented the first gift to the scholarship fund for children of clergy, the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, Episcopal Bishop of Maryland, announced.

The fund, will be administered by a special board headed by Bishop Powell, and including the Rt. Rev. Harry L. Doll and Edward G. Stapleton. One layman and one clergyman will also be selected to serve on the board.

Teacher at Colgate

Mrs. Vaccuntess E. Payne, teacher at Clifton Park Junior High School No. 90, Harford Rd. near 25th St., is one of the 30 guidance counselors at Colgate University this summer taking courses to improve her skills in counseling gifted children and reducing brain power waste in the nation.

Morgan College to offer TV course in economics

ROBBED IN OWN BEDROOM — Mrs. Vivian Pendleton, who with her husband, Dr. George Pendleton, were robbed of about $350 on cash Monday by a partially masked bandit who forced them at gun point to remain in bed. In bottom photo, arrow points to the open window through which the blond medium - sized bandit entered. The Pendletons live in a one and one-half story cottage at 3100 Dorchester Rd. Mrs. Pendleton has been ill at home since July 5, and had gotten up to take medicine when she encountered the robber.

Morgan State College will participate in a nationally televised, two - semester, six - credit course on the American economy to be carried locally over Station WMAR - TV, Channel 2, beginning in September.

Weekly reviews and summaries of the course, scheduled Mondays through Thurdays from 6:30 to 7 a.m., will be given on campus at 10 a.m.

Morgan Professor Samuel L. Myers, one of the nation's foremost authorities on consumer interests and problems, will conduct the campus sessions.

Dr. Myers, a native Baltimorean and Morgan alumnus, holds the Ph.D. degree from Harvard University. He has taught economics at Morgan since 1950.

• • •

DEVELOPED BY the Learning Resources Institute in New York and coordinated by the Council on Economic Education in Maryland, the course will serve the fourfold purpose of helping high school teachers, citizens, college students and educational agencies understand economic issues as they relate to public policies in the American economy.

Dr. W. O. Bryson, Jr., head of the department of business and economics at Morgan, has indicated that the Video-campus course may be taken as a satisfactory substitute for Introduction to Economics.

The lesson schedule for the video series provides for 160 half - hour sessions, 32 of which will be for direct communication to secondary school teachers on how best to present the content of economics to their students.

The TV sessions will be steered by Dr. John Coleman, head of the department of economics, Carnegie Institute of Technology. A representative number of the nation's most distinguished economists will appear during the two - semester period.

Nursing degree to Mrs. Winston

Mrs. Lorraine M. Winston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Minor Jr. of Ashburton St., recently received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from Wayne University, Detroit.

Mrs. Winston, a native of Baltimore, is a graduate of Douglass High Schoo. She attended Howard University and was graduated from Freedmen's Hospital School of Nursing in 1952.

She is a certified public health nurse and field teacher in the Detroit Department of Health where she has been employed since 1955. She is married to Wilbert Winston of Detroit, also a Wayne alumnus.

Clear JHU med school

Johns Hopkins University's failure to admit an African student to its medical school was not an act of discrimination the Maryland Inter-Racial Commission ruled Wednesday.

Olatungi Sodipo, 27, of Nigeria, had charged that he was turned down by the university because of his color. The commission ruled however that this was not the case although Hopkins has never had a colored medical school student.

Dr. Samuel P. Asper, chairman of the Hopkins medical school admissions committee, claimed that Mr. Sodipo did not have the qualifications for admission to the medical school.

A do-it-at-home program blooms on Hilton Rd. for pre-school tots

Mrs. Geraldine Waters, 4030 Hilton Rd., who teaches at Chase Elementary School No. 135, Chase and McDonogh Sts., wanted to give her five-year - old daughter, Kay, lessons in social habits before she entered Coppin Lab School in the fall. That's the way it started.

But after a canvass of the neighborhood to see if other parents were interested in the training, Mrs. Waters now is teaching 13 other pre-school children along with her daughter.

And a class of eight elementary school children ages 3-11 has also been added to her schedule.

• • •

MRS. WATERS, who receives no pay for this, explained she thought it would be a good idea to take her daughter on a train trip to Washington to make her aware of the world around her.

She also planned lessons in rote counting, telling time and getting along with others.

"Before I knew it, my idea grew into summer school for the neighborhood children," she said.

"The mothers thought it was a good idea and the children are very interested."

• • •

FOUR DAYS weekly, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 12-2 p.m., in the basement of her home, Mrs. Waters instructs the children in social habits as well as picture reading and arts and crafts.

On Tuesday and Friday, 2-4 p.m., Mrs. Waters works with the older children on book reports, cutting, pasting and painting.

Recently, the group toured the Baltimore Art Museum. Future trips are planned to the Zoo, a hike to Druid Hill Park and a cook-out.

• • •

THE SUMMER program has proved a valuable experience to her because she teaches the third grade, and it gives her an opportunity to work with pre - school children as well, Mrs. Waters confided.

Mrs. Waters has three sisters who teach in the public schools and her youngest sister, Miss Alma Roberts, 14, who now helps her, says she also might enter the profession.

Mrs. Edwards new alliance president

The Interdenominational Ministers' Wives Alliance of Baltimore and Vicinity met recently on the lawn of Union Baptist Church as guest of Mrs. Carolton Cooke.

Highlights from the National Association of Ministers' Wives convention were given by Mrs. Mary Harrington, president.

New officers installed for a two-year period were:

Mesdames Esther Edwards, president; Emma Daniels, first vice president; Evelyn Byrd, recording secretary; Pearl Williams, corresponding secretary; Hyla Franklin, financial secretary and Myrtle Stamper, reporter.

Following the meeting, members and their minister husbands enjoyed a picnic supper.

• • •

VISITING MINISTERS were the Revs. Carlton Cooke, Spencer G. Dobson, James H. Smith, James H. Johnson and O. St. Clair Franklin.

Members present included Mesdames Mary Harrington, Estelle Dobson, Esther Edwards, Pearl Williams, Joyce Stone, Myrtle Johnson, Louise Smith, Hyla Franklin, Mary Winn, Emma Daniels.

Mesdames Amanda Marcus, Myrtle Stamper, Felicia Adams, Esther Taylor, Marie Taylor, Irene McFarline, Goldie Green, Veola Coleman, and M. Williams.

Lutherans set human relations workshop

VALPARAISO, Ind., The Lutheran Human Relations Association of Americr will hold a workshop for professional church workers at Valparaiso university, July 23 - 27.

The conference is supported by a $1,650 grant from the benevolence committee of Lutheran Brotherhood Life Insurance, Minneapolis.

Most of the funds will be used to provide scholarships for the more than 40 pastors, deacons, and teachers from various Lutheran synods and from other denominations who are expected to attend the workshop.
