VOICE Hello, I want to start using colored entertainers.

CRAWLER That's no big thing.

VOICE — I know, but I don't know any and I want you to recommend a good outfit.

CRAWLER — I know of plenty good outfits, but I'd like to know what I'm recommending them for.

VOICE — Well, it's like this, I don't know how the transition will be accepted, I haven't tried it before.

CRAWLER — Oh, I gather that you are integrating your club?

VOICE — No, no!

CRAWLER — Then what's with the transition bit?

VOICE — I've decided to try colored entertainers for a change, I've been using only white ones, so you see it's a transition.

CRAWLER — You must be kidding!

VOICE — No, I'm serious. I don't know how my customers will receive colored entertainers and I want one of the best groups around.

• • •

CRAWLER — WHERE is your place and what type of entertainers have you been using?

VOICE — I'm at...Washington Blvd. and I have a rock and roll house.

CRAWLER — Now I know you're kidding!

ENFORCEMENT of the B-Girls Bill, if it ever becomes law, will be interesting.

If they have half as much trouble enforcing it as they have coming up with one that satisfies all concerned, mass confusion will result.

City Solicitor Francis B. Burch had to revise a section of the proposed bill which made musicians liable to arrest if they accepted tips.

Saul A. Harris, state's attorney, and Police Commissioner Bernard Schmidt, say there is no need for new laws. Strict enforcement of existing ones is required, they argue.

On the other side of the coin, the city administration has approved a new bill that has the blessings of Mayor Grady.

Frank X Gallagher, Third District councilman, disagrees with both sides. He has authored a measure which he claims is "stronger" than the one supported by the mayor.

• • •

EFFORTS TO combine the two were still underway when the Crawler went to bed.

When it becomes law it should be used on the evil it was created to fight—The Block.

But knowing the people charged with enforcing it, don't be surprised if other operators and patrons, never involved with the sordid carryings-on in the Block, will be victimized.

HOWARD DIOXN, having tried every trick in the book to keep things moving at Comedy Club, has come up with still another.

Currently he's renovating the house to accommodate wedding receptions, cocktail parties, class reunions and what have you.

The place seats 400 and Howard has promised to remedy the need for sponsors of various events to get one-day liquid licenses.

Tony Major's All-Star Revue and the Avalons open there this week.

The Casino has added a new wrinkle. This is the introduction of "lunchtime" live entertainment. From noon to 4 p.m., Dave Ross Trio and guest artists play while you eat. It swings, too!

Frank Reddish, chef's hat and all, has moved out into the wide open spaces, down Dotson's way. It's summer you know and that is the usual signal for Frank to preside over the bar-b-cue pit. And that's just what he's done.

• • •

HAVE YOU seen anybody change the color of their hair as often as they change outfits? We haven't — not until we stopped in at Jones Cocktail Lounge and saw Dusty's purple shock. Before then it was alternately brown, red, white, and...you name it and she's had it. Dukie started it all, but got chicken.

ETHEL ENNIS is still sounding pretty at Red Fox, just as she has been for endless darks. Without doubt, Jimmy Wells' Continentals must be the coolest jazzmen around. They back her, ya know.

Among the neatest and quietest spots on the stroll is the Carnival Lounge where Norris Richmond accents atmosphere. And it has a lot, too.

Ditto for the Tall Man and the Kleeco. By the by, Walter is no slouch of an investigator; like he knows his way around!

Maceo is a rebel. To prove it, he's going to throw a "stag" birthday party in a couple of sevens. Why stag?

"The fellows need a chance to let off steam without having the weaker sex around for a change."

Chick's Lounge is blowing as hot as the weather. But what could you expect with Flink Johnson at center stage?

Knotty Pine, Lucky Number and Alpine Villa should be on your list of must "stops" when you make the rounds.

Tourists file $100,000 suit

CHICAGO — (ANP) — A $100,000 civil rights suit was filed last week by a mother and her school-teaching daughter against the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and a vacation tour agency.

Miss Evelyn Wright said she and her mother contracted in May of 1960 to go on a 15-day vacation tour through the West in July of the same year.

The suit alleges that after the departure date, the agency, Vanderbilt Better Tours, discovered the pair was colored and began to exert pressure to make the brother and daughter travel alone or cancel the tour.

Colt Corral 954 to present banner

Colt Corral 954, comprised entirely of pententiary inmates, will present the Baltimore Colts football team a banner Monday at 1 p.m., thus being the first group to give the pro gridders a send-off for the 1962 season.

Captain Gino Marchetti will accept the presentation for the Colts at the brief ceremony.

Wills steals show in NL 3-1 victory

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

WASHINGTON

Maury Wills, basking in the sunlight of an all-star show in his hometown, sparked the National League to a 3-1 triumph over the American League here Tuesday at D.C. Stadium.

A throng of 45,480 spectators, comprising the largest baseball turnout in history for the nation's capital, left the scene buzzing about the fleet feet of the former Cardozo High School star.

Maury's electric base-running, Roberto Clemente's consistent hitting, a spectacular catch by Willie Mays and the tight four-hit pitching of Don Drysdale, Juan Marichal, Bob Purkey and Bob Shaw was the collaboration trick that gave the Nationals their fifth victory in the last six games.

• • •

BY PARAPHRASING the magician's forte, Wills gave a sleight-of-foot performance that virtually stole the contest from the league which puts small stock in base running.

In the sixth, Wills stole second to be in position to race home with the game's first run as Dick Groat punched a single up the middle. And in the eighth, he hoodwinked leftfielder Rocky Colavito into throwing behind his big turn at second on a single by Jim Davenport.

As Colavito—famed for his rifle-like arm — pegged to second, Maury scrambled for third, sliding in safely under the frantic relay by Bobby Richardson.

With the crowd still abuzz, the speedy Los Angeles shortstop then defied Leon Wagner's arm by tagging up on Felipe Alou's shallow fly to right. As Maury slid in ahead of the throw, even dyed-in-the-wool AL fans joined in the ovation.

• • •

THE NL utilized both of its most talked-about weappons, speed and power, to take a 2-0 lead in the sixth.

Stan Musial batted for Marichal and singled to right. Wills, the Majors' leading base stealer, ran for Stan and stole second on Pascual's second pitch to Dick Groat.

The theft of second enabled him to score on Groat's single up the middle. Clemente then connected for his third straight hit to move Groat to second.

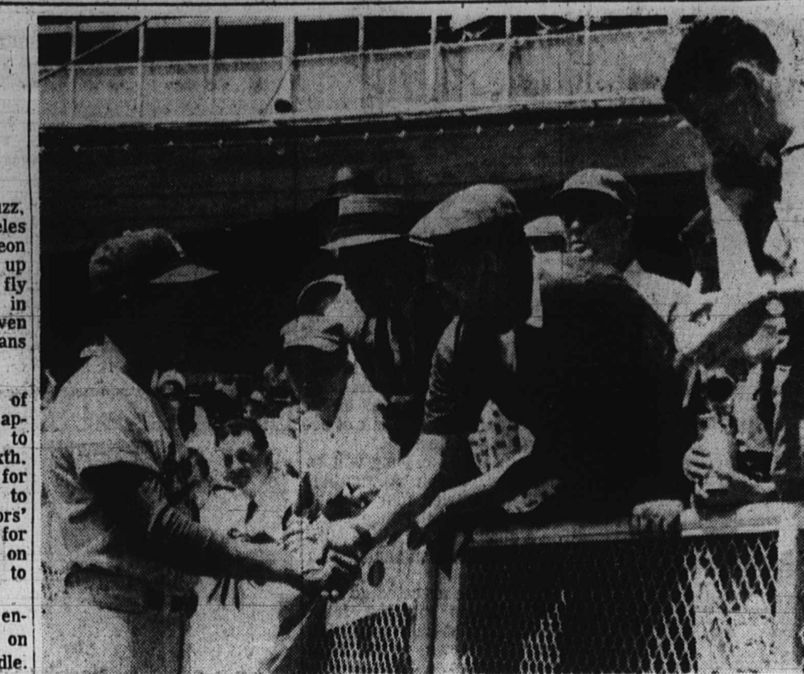
Then Mays displayed his muscles by belting a pitch that sent centerfielder Roger Maris so far back that both runners could advance — Groat from second to third, and Clemente from first to second.

Groat scored a moment later as Orlando Cepeda grounded out.

• • •

THE AMERICANS got back one run in their half of the inning, but further damage was averted by Mays' leaping, one-hand catch of Maris' drive against the fence in deep center.

The blast got Rich Rollins in from third, but that was it. Had the ball eluded Mays, it is highly probable the AL might have been in for a big inning.



CHERRY WELCOME — Maury Wills, former Cardozo High School star athlete and now shortstop for the Los Angeles Dodgers, received the glad hand everywhere he went as he played shortstop for the National League against the American League All Stars at D.C. Stadium Tuesday. Wills, baseball's leading base-stealer gave the Americans an excellent sample of his speed on the base paths as the Nationals won, 3-1.

Pulliam aims for Baltimore Orioles

Joe Pulliam, 22, of the Elmira Pioneers of the Eastern League, is a former Baltimorean, who is looking for the day he will be running down fly balls with ease in Memorial Stadium as a Baltimore Oriole.

In the farm club system, the International League Rochester Redwings is the next step up for the Dunbar grad.

Pulliam, known as "Catfish," "Pepe" or "Pep," is now rated by Pioneer followers as the most consistent hitter and fielder on the team.

In the field he chases down fly balls with speed that makes it appear easy to onlookers.

• • •

SWITCHED FROM centerfield to left when Ray Youngdahl was sent down to bolster the club, Pulliam said:

"I like playing in left better than center. I can't seem to put my finger on a good reason why, but it seems that I just like being in left."

At the plate Pulliam is hitting a healthy .320, tops for the team.

"I think the reason I'm hitting consistently is because I'm meeting the ball," he said.

But I'll tell you one thing. I go for the line drive hits.

"I would rather hit four singles any day than one home run," he declared.

He admits to trying harder for a hit when there are men on base because "A hit means a run."

What bothers him most, he said, "Is when I get on a good streak, getting two or three hits in three or four games, then drop off and not get a hit in three or four games."

• • •

PULLIAM HAD one of his best days in the league recently, getting six hits in a twin-bill against the York team.

His speed on the base paths has counted for seven stolen bases this year. Last year he stole 22 for the season.

Pulliam feels the league is as tough as any other.

"Besides," he quips, "any league is tough if you aren't hitting and fielding right."

Pulliam rates the Pioneers a good ball club.

• • •

PULLIAM MARRIED the former Miss Ann Rice of Baltimore. They have a son, Joe Jr., 19 months old and a daughter, Denise, 4 months.

Pulliam played for the Class C Aberdeen where he hit .305. At Stockton in 1960, he hit .300, and the same year jumped to Tri - Cities in the Northern League where he batted around .300.

Last season, he hit .265 with Class B Fox Cities.

Tan players in AL and NL lead at All Star break

Tan players were leading or tied for leadership in five offensive departments in the American League and leading in five in the National League at the major leagues All Star game break this week.

Manny Jimenze, the rookie outfielder for the Kansas City Athletics, appeared that he was going to be a serious contender for the AL batting title. He was sporting a .350 mark, giving him a 14 - percentage point edge on his closest rival.

Leon Wagner, rightfielder of the surprising Los Angeles Angeles, led in both home runs and runs batted in, with 24 and 63, respectively.

• • •

FLOYD ROBINSON with 26 doubles led in that department. Robinson was batting .308, putting him among the leaders, and was tied for the leadership in triples with teammate Nelson Fox. Each had 7. Floyd also had 61 RBI's, putting him in the runner-up spot behind Wagner.

Tied for the lead in stolen bases was Jake Wood, Detroit second baseman.

Lennie Green, Minnesota, with 21, was among the leaders in doubles, and Bill Bruton, Detroit, with 10, was among the leaders in stolen bases.

• • •

THE FIVE LEADING batters in the National League were tan players. Tommy Davis, Los Angeles, with .344, was followed by Felipe Alou, San Francisco, .332; Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh, .327, and Henry Aaron, Milwaukee, and Frank Robinson, Cincinnati, each with .325.

Davis also was the leader in RBI's with 87. He was followed by Willie Mays San Francisco, with 80; H. Aaron, with 68; Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco, 67, and Robinson, 62.

Mays was the home run leader with 25. Trailing him were Ernie Banks, Chicago, 22; Roman Mejias, Houston, and H. Aaron, 19, and Cepeda, 18.

THE BIGGEST base stealer was Maury Wills, of the Dodgers with his 44 more than twice the total of his nearest rival. Willie Davis, a teammate, who had 17. Tony Taylor, Philadelphia, with 14, and Mays, 13, were other leaders.

In triples, T. Davis had seven, a tie for second place, and Lou Brock and Billy Williams, of Chicago, and Wills each had six.

In pitching, Earl Wilson, the Boston Red Sox righthander, was among the Al leaders with a 6-2 mark and a .750 percentage. Wilson is one of three major league pitchers who have hurled no-hitters this season.

Yankees' $35,000 bonus bid lures Chet Trail

TOLEDO, Ohio (ANP) —A slender high school athlete, who had been sought by some 50 colleges on his basketball ability, last week received the largest baseball bonus ever given a tan prospect by the New York Yankees.

Chet Trail, who sported a .514 batting average for his final high school season, received an estimated $35,000 and will report to the Yankees' rookie camp next spring in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

• • •

IN ADDITION to his bonus, Trail received a guarantee of college tuition.

This was probably the deciding factor in his decision to accept the bonus. He had earlier signed a grant-in aid at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University.

Trail, who was perhaps better known as a basketball player, was offered $25,000 by the Cleveland Indians, after the close of the basketball season. He also had a feeler from the Detroit Tigers, but no specific money figure had been mentioned.

• • •

A SHORTSTOP, Trail also can play the outfield and first base. He had worked out with the Yankees in Detroit and later in Yankee Stadium before the club announced the bonus had been given him.

Trail, one of nine children, said the fact that his parents were in need of financial aid at this time also influenced his decision to accept the Yankee offer.

Ted Rhodes third in golf comeback

CHICAGO (ANP) —Falling only shortly off the championship mark, Chicagoan Ted Rhodes made an amazing comeback $fter a prolonged illness to finish third behind Booker Blair. Pete Brown and Wally Kolodziej in the men's pro division of the Chicago Women's Golf Club tournament at the Burnham Woods Golf Course here Sunday.

Blair, also a Chicagoan, carded rounds of 71 and 72 for a total of 143 points to take top honors in the two-day tournament. Brown was runner-up with 75-70 and a 145 total. Kolodiej finished a stroke ahead of Rhodes, who carded rounds of 71-76 and a 147 total.

Rhodes' comeback performance in the tournament here was both amazing and impressive because it was his first major competition after the long layoff. His tee shots were especially good.
