'Pop' concert at Mondawmin

The first of four outdoor "pop" concerts will be held 8:45 p.m. Saturday at the upper level parking lot of the Mondawmin Shopping Center.

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Edmund Cooke, will play selections from Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" and the Broadway musical, "Carousel."

'King of Kings' for, about young people

The life of Christ, as it is depicted in Samuel Bronston's spectacular production of "King of Kings," now playing at the Harlem, by Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer, is essentially a story about and for young people.

This statement has become a stock answer for Director Nicholas Ray to interviewers who feel that "King of Kings" is a striking departure from his early films, such as "Rebel Without a Cause" and "Knock On Any Door," which dealt sensitively with the problems of young people.

"Jesus was just 33 years old when he died on the Cross," Ray says. "Most of his followers were in their twenties and early thirties and young John was still a teenager. Salome, according to history, was only sixteen years old when she performed her famed dance for the head of John the Baptist."

'Bon Voyage!' new funny show at Met

Moviegoers who like their screenfare light and breezy and loaded with laughs have a real entertainment treat in store for them when Walt Disney's rollicking new Technicolor romantic - comedy, "Bon Voyage!" opens at the Met Friday (today).

Based on the delightful Marrijane and Joseph Hayes best-seller, this story of a typical American family's misadventures on their first European "dream vacation" tops even Disney's recent comedy - smashes, "The Absent Minded Professor" and "The Parent Trap" for sheer laughter and fun.

A glittering array of talent comprises the cast headed by Fred MacMurray and Jane Wyman.

SEES 'DARK DAYS' AHEAD FOR KENYA

NAIROBI —(NNPA) — A bleak picture for the immediate future of Kenya was drawn Wednesday by Reginald Maulding, Britain's Colonial Secretary, here to discuss elections for internal self-government next year.

He predicted that, with the rapid departure of the whites, the economy of the country would go from bad to worse.

MOMENTS MUSICAL

Arena Players outstanding in first summer performance

By ADAR R. JENKINS

To the delight of their many patrons, the Arena Players elected this year to add a Strawhat Series. Judging by the enthusiasm of those who attended the first show, a musical variety offering entitled "Bards, Bongas and Ballard, "this project promises to be as successful as their winter seasons.

The Three - B performance was stated cleverly, as a dress rehearsal of a variety show. With Sam Wilson, founder of the Arena Players emcing and Joe Wilson directing, the action was well paced.

The cast, most of whom specialize in heavy drama, revamped into the new vehicle, executing the interpretive and folk dances as well as the modern jazz in high style.

Realism marked the Caribbean ritual dance, with June Thorne and Joe Wilson leading.

With Bill Huggins, Gary Logan, Bobby Lloyd and Bob Taylor presiding on the handsome set of bongo drums and Victor Myrick coaxing music out of a typical rehearsal hall piano, the instrumental music was in capable hands.

* * *

AFFORDING THE more serious moments, Mary Carter Smith was warmly applauded for the reading of her original poems.

Clearness of diction and well modulated voices added much to the enjoyment of this and of Earlyn Moir's reading of a prayer for freedom.

One of the novelties of the evening was Sam Wilsons' "marriage of Old World Rhythms and New World Melodies" in which he recited the words of spirituals rhythmically accompanied by the drums and the interpretive dancers.

Iantha Lake and Marcus Wood, talented newcomers to the Arena boards, lent a humorous touch, minus the usual slapstick, in their rendition of the Caribbean ballad "There's A Hole in the Bucket." Young Wood also did an appealing solo with the chorus, of the Old English ballad "Greensleeves."

* * *

ANOTHER REFRESHING note was the unaccompanied singing of Earl Burton, with June Thorne and Irvin Turner dancing. Yvonne Stokes, who made a habit of stopping shows at two of the local strawhat theatres for several seasons, did two Appalachian mountain songs with fine effect.

The show was given three eveninrs at the Arena Playhouse Downtown (406 Orchard St). "Champagne Complex," a delightful 3-act comedy started last night, and will run through Saturday night.

All summer shows are at special reduced rates.

TWO YOUNG vocalists of definite merit were heard by a large audience at Emmanuel Christian Community Church last Sunday, under the auspices of the Purveyor's Social Club, Inc.

The afternoon concert offered an assortment of arias, as well as art songs, folk music and the popularly known "gospel" songs. Syvil Cook, lyric soprano, who is a student at Peabody, has a voice of mellow, smooth quality in its lower register and appropriate placement in the upper reaches.

Eleanor Bryant, mezzo soprano, offered an interesting contrast with considerable dramatic intensity.

The voice has power and quite a range, altho there were some 21 problems in accuracy of pitch in the high tones. A number of the songs seemed in keys that offered strain for a mezzo soprano.

Clearer diction on the part of both young artists would have enhanced the enjoyment of a very interesting concert. Musicianly support was given at the piano by Clara Green and Hansonia Caldwell.

During the intermission, Atty. Harry Cole presented each soloist with a $100 scholarship. Miss Bryant will enter Howard University this fall and Miss Cook, who plans a musical career, will continue at Peabody.

Sybil, who is 15 year-old and a student at Sollers Point High School, is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Carlton O. Cook. Eleanor, whose parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Harrison J. Bryant, graduated from Eastern High School this year.

The Purveyor's club members, who were observing their 16th anniversary, were hostesses at a reception in the church hall following the concert.
