'Merrill's Marauders' tops bill at Royal

The true-life exploits of Brigadier General Frank D. Merrill and the intrepid battalion he led through the steaming jungles and swamps of Burma to harass the enemy during World War II are brought to the screen in stunning realism in the Technicolor production "Merrill's Marauders," now at the Royal.

Jeff Chandler, Ty Hardin, Peter Brown, Will Hutchins, Andrew Duggan and Claude Akins star.

For eight weeks Director Sam Fuller put his large cast through their paces in jungles and swamps that approximated the terrain over which the Marauders had fought their way.

Second feature "Rome Adventure" stars Troy Donahue and Angie Dickinson.

'Hatari!' at Regent stars John Wayne

Despite the fact that "Hatari!", means 'danger' in Swahili, every moviegoer can look forward to the grandest film entertainment they have ever witnessed in a great many months.

Conclusive assurance of this enjoyment was amply demonstrated last night when Howard Hawks' latest Paramount release "Hatari!" — the big excitement film of the year — was unfolded at the Regent Theatre here.

"Hatari!" was filmed in beautiful color in Tanganyika, East Africa, one of the continent's most prolific game areas, and besides an impressive array of wild animals boasts of a truly international cast headed by John Wayne.

Cooke's Beer gets $1 million policy

Sam Cooke, popular recording star who recently became president of Cooke's Beer, is going all out to guarantee the quality and flavor of his beer.

At his Baltimore office, last week, the youthful president bought a million dollar insurance policy to protect the business against "all damages and losses."

The policy was issued by the Atlas Insurance Company owned by Earl and Gordon Koger, recent subjects of an AFRO feature.

Mr. Cooke also announced that founder of Cooke's Beer, Herbert Cook, has been elected chairman of the board.

The policy is reportedly the largest ever written by firms comparable to Atlas.

Sacred music concert marks 57th anniversary at Mt. Sinai

By ADAH .K JENKINS

Adopting as its theme "The Music in the Church", the Senior Choir of Mt. Sinai Baptist Church celebrated its 57th anniversary last Sunday.

In accordance with the theme, various types of sacred music were programmed. The Young Adult Choir of Grace Memorial Baptist Church, under the direction of Mrs. Goldie Neal, sang very effectively two numbers suitable for formal services - "The Cherubim Song" and an arranged spiritual.

Mrs. Gloria Jones, soprano from Christ Methodist Church, lent her pleasing soprano to a very thoughtful presentation of an aria from "Messiah", a classic solo suitable also for a service. Her rendition of a well known hymn afforded her listeners the opportunity of hearing this vehicle as a solo which can have genuine meaning and at the same time be beautifully sung.

Accompanying the soloist was Mrs. Virgie Lewis, director of Mt. Sinai Senior Choir.

A chant and a hymn from the regular service were the contributions of simplicity and sincerity from Mt. Sinai Gospel Chorus, with Mr. Bagley at the organ.

Your reviewer spoke on the theme of the day, tracing the contributions of sacred music in various periods of the Judaic and Christian religions. Included also was a resume of several successful means for keeping music in the church at a standard that will fulfill the aims of clergyman, congregation and choir.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Coles, of the Senior Choir.

Brief addresses were given by the Rev. Harrett R. Butler, pastor, Mrs. Rita Chainey of First Baptist, Mrs. Ethel Barnes and Mrs. Castella Cannady, president of the Senior Choir.

Presentations were made by Mrs. Gertrude Green to Rev. Butler and Mesdames Cannady and Lewis.

The devotional portion of the celebration was conducted by Mrs. Frencholia Carter and Cephas Broleau, choir chaplain. Mrs. Mattie Walker was mistress of ceremonies.

The Mt. Sinai Senior Choir of 31 members, will resume its appearance on the second and fourth Sunday morning services in the fall.

Members of this group included Frieda Mitchell, Joyce Harmon, Brenda Savage, Cynthia Hawkins, Camilla Russell, Reba Fitchett, Kenneth Barns, Estella Simms, Jean Russell, Stanley Harmon, Griselda Johnson, Edwina Harmon, Betty James and Carolyn McArthur.

Organ students who were heard in selections of a romantic trend were: Eric Smothers, Marcia Henson, Rebecca Sydnor and Noreen Johnson.

Vocal solos were given by Sheila Russell and Joseph Johnson. White's Male Chorus, for which Mrs. Davis is accompanist and coach, sang two anthems and the spiritual "Does Anybody Hear?"

Closing the concert was the Bethel Senior Choir, which presented an arrangement of "Immortal, Invisible," a Welch hymn, two anthems and the favorite "He's Got the Whole World."

The Rev. Harrison J. Bryant, pastor, pronounced the invocation and benediction.
