Another reader interpreted: "This mother has not forsaken her son or condemned him in any way. She said only two visits a week are allowed. She believes in Justice and looks farther ahead to show special. You know, of course, there is only so much he is allowed to have," she said.

Mrs. Ruffin said her son attended Sabbath School at Berean Temple Seventh-day Adventist Church, Madison and Rockrest St.

She is a member of the East Baltimore Sheron Temple Adventist congregation.

AT THE TUESDAY arraignment in Criminal Court, Ruffin was represented by Joseph Rosenthal, and Sedgewick by Michael Freedman.

The state had bypassed the usual Municipal Court hearing and sent the case directly to the grand jury, which returned an indictment last week.

Both boys appeared to be impassive at Tuesday's arraignment.

Ruffin is slender and over six feet tall. Sedgewick is shorter, broadly built, of fairer complexion and wears glasses.

Ruffin and Sedgewick sat side by side on a front bench provided in the center aisle for prisoners to be arraigned before the court.

Presiding was Judge Michael J. Manley.

Sedgewick was dressed in an open - neck, summer - weight, cotton shirt and tan, kaiki trousers. Ruffin wore a dark suit, tieless shirt, open at the neck.

As other persons were arraigned, the youths seemed intrigued with procedure in the large marble courtroom. Sedgewick nudged Ruffin and pointed to the Court Stenographer rapidly recording events.

He smiled broadly and forming softly with his lips, "Look at that, will you."

Ruffin remained silent, looked momentarily and then became interested in the busy courtroom.

WHEN CALLED for arraignment, they stood between their two attorneys and faced the judge.

Ruffin adjusted his suit neatly and stood tall.

When Sedgewick was asked his age by the Court Clerk, he replied "16" in a firm voice.

As their attorneys answered to plead them "not guilty," they looked calmly from one lawyer to the other and then attentively at the state's attorney.

Later, when a humorous remark was made from the bench, both youths joined courtroom spectators in audible laughter.

Mr. Freedman requested that court psychiatrists and psychologists examine Sedgewick.

Both attorneys reserved choice of jury or court trial until later.

THE BODY of Mrs. Selby Lemmel Junior High School teacher, was discovered by two young hunters in a shallow grave in the woods near Pottstown, Pa. July 24.

Sedgewick was arrested at his home while Ruffin was taken into custody in Pennsylvania and extradited to Baltimore.

Sedgewick's mother, Mrs. Kathyrn Frederick, a School 181 teacher, was out of town on a western vacation trip with other teachers.

Mrs. Selby, who resided in the North Ave. home with Sedgewick and his mother, had been left in charge of the home.

professional help available at the same time.

BUT DESPITE this and other efforts through schools, ministers and so on, Mr. Steiner concedes "one of the problems is in the area of communications.

"We still are not adequately communicating with all the people. If they don't come in for help and get into trouble we're sorry."

Another big problem, Mr. Steiner said, "is to get FHA to make the loan process work the way the Congress intended it to work."

BURHA aims at having a property owner make all repairs required improvements at one time rather than piecemeal and to that end has worked with FHA on a plan which will allow the mortgage on a home and the costs of improvements to be consolidated, Mr. Steiner disclosed.

Harlem Park, bounded by Lafayette Ave., Fremont Ave., Franklin St. and Monroe St., had 4,111 occupied dwelling units when renewal operations began, 872 by owners and 3,239 by renters.

MR. COOKE and Mrs. Campbell both commmented on what they described as the "rough manner" of the police, and as Mr. Cooke said:

"They treated us like dirt under their feet."

Mrs. Campbell seconded this remark, and added:

"There wasn't any kind treatment at all."

While the search was going on, several spectators passed by and on being informed what was going on, said such things as:

"It's a shame, that a person can't operate a business without the police doing something like this."

After finishing their search the police left the same way they had come — empty handed.

Mr. Cooke has already announced that he intends to file a complaint about the incident, and will pursue the matter further.

Both the Burroughs Realty Co. and Cook's Beer are respected business firms, operated by persons of color. President of Cook's Beer, Inc., is Sam Cooke, internationally known singer.

up Worthy's original landing card and that his supervisor had filled in another before it was stamped "admitted."

"WHAT DOES 'ADMITTED' MEAN?" Kunstler asked the witness.

"It means the arriving passenger has satisfied me he is a citizen of the United States."

'And that you have granted him admission into the United States?"

"Yes."

"Was it the birth certificate that satisfied you?"

"It was his statement under oath that he had not been employed by the Cuban Government and had done nothing else while abroad to expatriate himself."

"Did Mr. Worthy cooperate with you?"

"He was a little annoyed at being held so long, but he cooperated."

"How long was he held?"

"Approximately two hours. We had no trouble with him. He answered everything fully. He was not in custody. He was undergoing primary inspection."

Judge Choate continued Worthy in $5,000 bail until a motion for a new trial is argued. Sentencing will be deferred until a ruling on the motion, probably in mid-September. Maximum penalty under the McCarran act is five years in prison, $5,000 fine or both.

NAACP prexy's father dies here

The father of the Rev. Dr. E. Franklin Jackson, president of the D. C. NAACP, died—Thursday in the family residence at 1736 Webster St., NW, after a long illness.

Charles W. Jackson, the father, 76, was a native of Pensacola, Fla. His health had been poor for several years.

Other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Nobel—and four grandchildren, all of Washington.

THAT WOULD leave Mr. and Mrs. Mills around $190 for medical care, heat, gas, lights, telephone, food, clothing, insurances and other costs—but it does not end there.

BURHA is insisting that more improvements be made.

"They want the front and back painted, the porch fixed and rat - proofing done right away. We are supposed to keep doing and borrowing a little bit at a time. How can we?" Mrs. Mills asked.

"My husband doesn't make a whole lot of money. It will cost $400 - $500."

ON AUGUST 3 they were summonsed into court and fined $25 and costs for failing to rat - proof the home.

"We had no money to ratproof," said Mrs. Mills. "Besides, we have never had rats.

"We can't get any money to fix this house up and we can't keep paying fines. We have got to move."

Even If Mr. and Mrs. Mills worked regularly and could keep renters in their home, they would be burdened. But they have not had the best luck with renters and both have had considerable illness.

"We have been in and out of bed," Mrs. Mills said. "He gets in, I get out; I get in, he gets out."

• • •

MR. MILLS lost 10 weeks in 1954 for an appendectomy, 20 weeks in 1955 after being hit by a bulldozer, 6 weeks in 1956 by a car accident, 10 weeks in 1957 due to a slipped disc. He averages about four weeks out ill annually.

Mrs Mills lost a year after an operation and in 1960 was out eight weeks for a thyroid gland disorder.

"It's just been tough, the last six or seven years," she summed up.

Mr and Mrs. Mills are members of the Eastern Methodist Church, 20th and Wolfe Sts.

Mr. Mills' affiliations there include vice president of Methodist Men and membership on the board of trustees while Mrs. Mills' affiliations include president of the Male and Female Usher Board and chairman of membership and evangelism. They have a daughter, Mrs. Floria Holmes, 26, Baltimore.

being carried to the District Jail for isolation.

"We don't expect any startling revelation to come from the hearings, because there were so many witnesses to the whole disturbance," Mr. Clemmer told AFRO. "It will be a matter of simply admitting to their participation in the outbreak."

The outbreak, with its alleged religious origins, has been complicated by the July 10 court order of District Court Judge Burnita S. Mathews which gives the Muslim sect the right to practice their religion and protects them against being transferred from one correctional institution to another because of their faith.

The District's Corporation Counsel's office filed a motion to suspend Judge Mathew's order until the city can appeal the decision. The deadline for the appeal was Thursday.

A Saturday afternoon event which attracted an interesting group of Baltimoreans was the For-Win-Ash Garden Club annual closing party.

It was held at the Powhatan Ave. home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Camper Sr.

Mrs. Camper (Naomi), club president, has done perfectly marvelous things with her lawn. It was aglow with flowers.

Here is a living proof that you can, if you have the talent and the time, make a beautyland anywhere. Go and see her handiwork for yourself.

A Saturday evening event was the cookout (featuring delicious hot crabs), given by Herb Cook at his Elsinore Ave. residence.

Mr. Cook, you know, is chairman of the board of Cook's Beer Co., which also has as affiliates, J. Burroughs Realty Co., and a public service firm. The enterprises employ 32 persons. They're going places!

And, since the above was written, you'll find on another page in this newspaper, a report about how Baltimore police invaded the Cook headquarters on Fulton Ave., on Thursday in search for numbers, which they did not find.

What gives? Can you operate a legitimate business in this town, or can't you?

All right you business and professional men. Listen to this: The Baltimore Junior Association of Commerce welcomes all young men between 21 and 36 years old.

All you have to do is write the Association at 22 Light St., for an application. You are part of this community.

YOU should be happy to join with other young men in planning the future of the city where your children and maybe grandchildren will live.

There are presently 400 members who work on 20 committees which study such topics as civic affairs, legislation, youth and safety activities, etc.

If you are young, and believe there is a future in your city, and if you want the opportunity to meet with other young men, here's your chance. Join now.

Dr. Daniel A. Brooks, the 82-year-old retired Philadelphia principal, who was buried here today (Friday) once taught in the Baltimore high schools.

He retired from the principalship of Philly's Reynolds High in 1946, after 30 years service.

A native of D.C., he finished high school there, went on to the U. of Pa., where he earned his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. in education.

He was the last surviving member of his family. His wife, Mrs. Mary Anderson Brooks, also a pioneer Baltimore teacher, survives. Send sympathy cards to her at 331 W. Earlham St. Germantown, Pa.

The YMCA Camp Mohawk down in Huntingtown, Md. has added water skiing to its list of activities.

With Alonzo Moss, camp director at the helm of the speed boat and Marvin Mutton holding the tow line, visitors thrilled on Sunday as the young campers skimmed gracefully down the river.

Three who won their skiing badges this summer were Tony Cole, Alfred Bates and Jimmy Wood.

VIP visitors in our town this week: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Speers of Charlotte, where he is in charge of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank branch there. He is also vice president of the company, and a member of the board of directors of N.C. Mutual Life Insurance Co.

They guested with the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Davidson (Frances), went on to N.Y., will return next week, where they go to Capahouic, Va.

Up in clouds is Marjorie Shelton, the Morgan State College senior, who has an audition with the Ted Mack Amateur Show at the CBS studio in NYC on Wednesday.

Marjorie, you'll remember, is the talented singer, who has done just grand after that near - fatal accident a year back. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Shelton (Betty) of W. Saratoga St., who have been vacationing in Miami.

Also auditioning on Wednesday will be Marjorie's cousin, Richard Evans Jr., an eighth grader at Garrison Junior High. He is a member of the Children's Theatre Association. His mother is Mrs. Bertcal Leake of the Windsor Ct. Apartments.

Willie Coleman Sr., of Philadelphia, was here on Wednesday visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Howard Payne Sr. (Marie).

It was reunion time at the N. Hilton St. home of Mrs. Eula M. Birche this week.

Her niece, Mrs. Murray B. Davis (Gwendolyn Peterson), wife of the High Point, N. C. physician, was here with her daughter Gwendell.

They brought along with them Mrs. Birche's brother-in-law, Leon Peterson and Mrs. Peterson, Thomasville, N.C., whom she hasn't seen for years, so it was just like old home week.

Which reminds me to mention that Mr. Birche had a birthday on July-30. Her son, W. Meredith Birche, the music specialist, birthdays on Aug. 10.

Speaking of the Petersons calls to mind that when Warner Lawson was head of music at A. and T. College, the leading soloists were Margaret Tynes, now an opera star in Italy; Marjorie Jones Kearse, now the wife of the Rev. Logan Kearse, pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church here; and Gwendolyn Peterson Davis, wife of physician, and a science teacher in High Point. Remember??

Love that Gwen Hillen. She can have a pretty party at the drop of a hat. On Thursday, she invited in a group of CO - workers and friends for "a little lunch".

But, it turned out to be swellegent cream chicken in patty shells, tiny peas, tossed salad, pie etc., all in a pretty setting. Guests were served at tables set in the clubroom.

About were Mesdames Rexi Brown, Sarah W. Johnson, Bea Wright, Madeline Boyd, Joyce Quimby, Ethel Murray, Connie Neal, Lavada Hobson and Gwen Cunningham who is visiting here from Charlotte, N.C.

Mrs. Hobson, by the by, has a teenage guest who is creating quite a stir among the youngsters. He is Renell Neeley, Chicago, nephew of Mr. Hobson (Richard).

Don't forget to lock up your house, ask the police and your neighbors to keep an eye on it when you leave on your vacation.

Don't leave parked cars unlocked.

If you are a woman, don't go alone even to a well - lit parking lot.

Don't pick up hitchhikers you don't know.

Reason for all this: FBI's Hoover says the crime rate goes up 12 per cent about this season of the year.

Most of all, know where your children are if they are roaming around unsupervised.

Notice of the week: The U.S. Department of Agriculture's stabilization and conservation service at College Park, Md., reports as follows:—

"Black shank disease on Maryland tobacco farms continues to spread and has been reported on a total of 225 farms. Seventy-one of these first reported the disease in 1961.

"ASCS farm reporters have been advised to use extreme care in treating their shoes etc. to avoid carrying this disease from farm to farm."

Also from the same bulletin: this thought for the period: Have you ever noticed that a knocker is always outside the door? How true!

Fracas with police nets man jail term

A fracas with a couple of policemen resulted in a two-year and three months House of Correction sentence in Western Municipal Court Thursday for Richard A. Sykes, 34, 1600 block Sarah Ann St.

Lady Luck with boy, 2, in fall out home window
Lady Luck was with two-year - old Donald Smith Tuesday morning, when he fell from a second floor window of his home at 624 N. Arlington Ave.
A neighbor rushed him to Franklin Square Hospital where he was treated for a cut lip.
Physicians could find no other injuries.
George Smith, his father, told Patrolmen Ollie Bryant and Joseph Brown, investigating Western District policemen, he had left Donald and two other small children in the apartment to go to the store about 10 a.m.
The mishap occurred during his brief absence, police were told.
