Student scores in recital at Immaculata Hi School

Sixteen - year - old Philippa Smith was the featured pianist on the annual recital given by the Music Department of Immaculata High School on Sunday, May 12, in Regina Hall.

This is the second year that the young musician, who graduates from Immaculata this year, has been the only representative of her race to appear on the program, and both years has received a resounding ovation.

Outstanding feature of the evening was her closing solo-rendition of the "Brazeliera" (from Scaramouche) by Milhond, accompanied on the second piano by Anne Suter, also a graduating senior of Immaculata.

Miss Smith will be presented in full recital by Nu Chapter, Tau Gamma Delta Sorority in Goldsboro, North Carolina on June 23, at which time she will play selections from Beethoven, Mozart, Schumann, Debussy, and Chopin.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith. Mr. Smith is an employee of the State Department, and Mrs. Smith a D.C. public school teacher.

ELIZABETH CITY, N.J.— The annual meeting of Elizabeth City State Teachers College Alumni Association will be held in the Science Building on campus May 25. Gov. Terry Sanford will deliver the commencement address the following day.

Gadabouting

Members of the Sensational Seven are John C. Richardson, John E. Heath, Sam Featherstone, James R. Seibles, Pinkey Jones, Jesse W. Beurnett and Eugene Seibles.

Mrs. Cynthia Harvey introduced the main speaker Mrs. Naomi Camper. Invocation and benediction done by Rev. Mrs. Bright.

The Baltimore Epicureans attended the 12th annual conclave in Washington, D.C. on last weekend. It was truly a gala affair with almost a 100 percent turnout.

Following the executive meeting on Friday night, a formal dance was held at the Grand Ballroom of the Presidential Arms. Breakfast followed this affair.

Despite the partying throughout the night, Saturday's business meeting was attended by a large number of smiling faces, beautiful hats and gorgeous spring outfits.

Sadie Jenkins wore a pink open weave suit of light weight wool and matching accessories. Claire Parker wore weave wool suit with a leopard collar. Bernadine Harrison's with her black imported French suit was offset with beige patent accessories.

While the Eppies held their business meeting, the Eppas were being entertained at a stag given by the Washington Eppos.

The Saturday night black tie affair as magnificent with an equal array of beauty. After Brunch on Sunday, the various chapters departed for their own homes — tired, but happy!

Epicureans from here attending were:

Shirley Wood, Claire Parker, Nikki Randolph, Dorothy Johnston, Phyllis Diggs, Sadie Jenkins, Gwendolyn Parker, Barbara Bennett, Zerita Stakes, Bernadine Harrison, Vonzella Murray and Elva Matthews.

With them were Carter Wood, Cecil Johnston, Robert Diggs, Armstead Jenkins, William Parker, Orlando Bennett, John Stokes, Myl[illegible] Harrison, Arthur Murray, Harry Adams and Randolph Edwards.

THE BON-BONS (that club of delightful daughters who annually honor their mothers at luncheon) feasted in the Dixie Room of the Sheraton Belvedere, Saturday.

Their third annual luncheon began with cocktails which were followed by a delectable meal of shrimp stuffed with crab and the accompaniments...served at a horses roe - shaped table which boasted the cutest original place cards designed by member Patricia Bennett (she's the wife of Fr. Robert Bennett of St. James Episcopal Church).

Henrietta Edmonds composed the original poem dedicated to the mothers, and Sara Gray, president of the club presided and gave the the affair.

Mothers honored at the affair were Mesdames Helen King, Juliette Bragg, Blanche Hughes, Charlotte Shervington, Rubye Walker, Dixie Lightfoot and Addie Young, all mothers of members;

Also Mrs. Phyliss Bracy of Lorain, Ohio, a former Bon Bon; Mesdames Agnes Patterson, Rachael Scott, Lelia Powell, Naomi Stewart, Annette Johnson and Mazie Gray.
