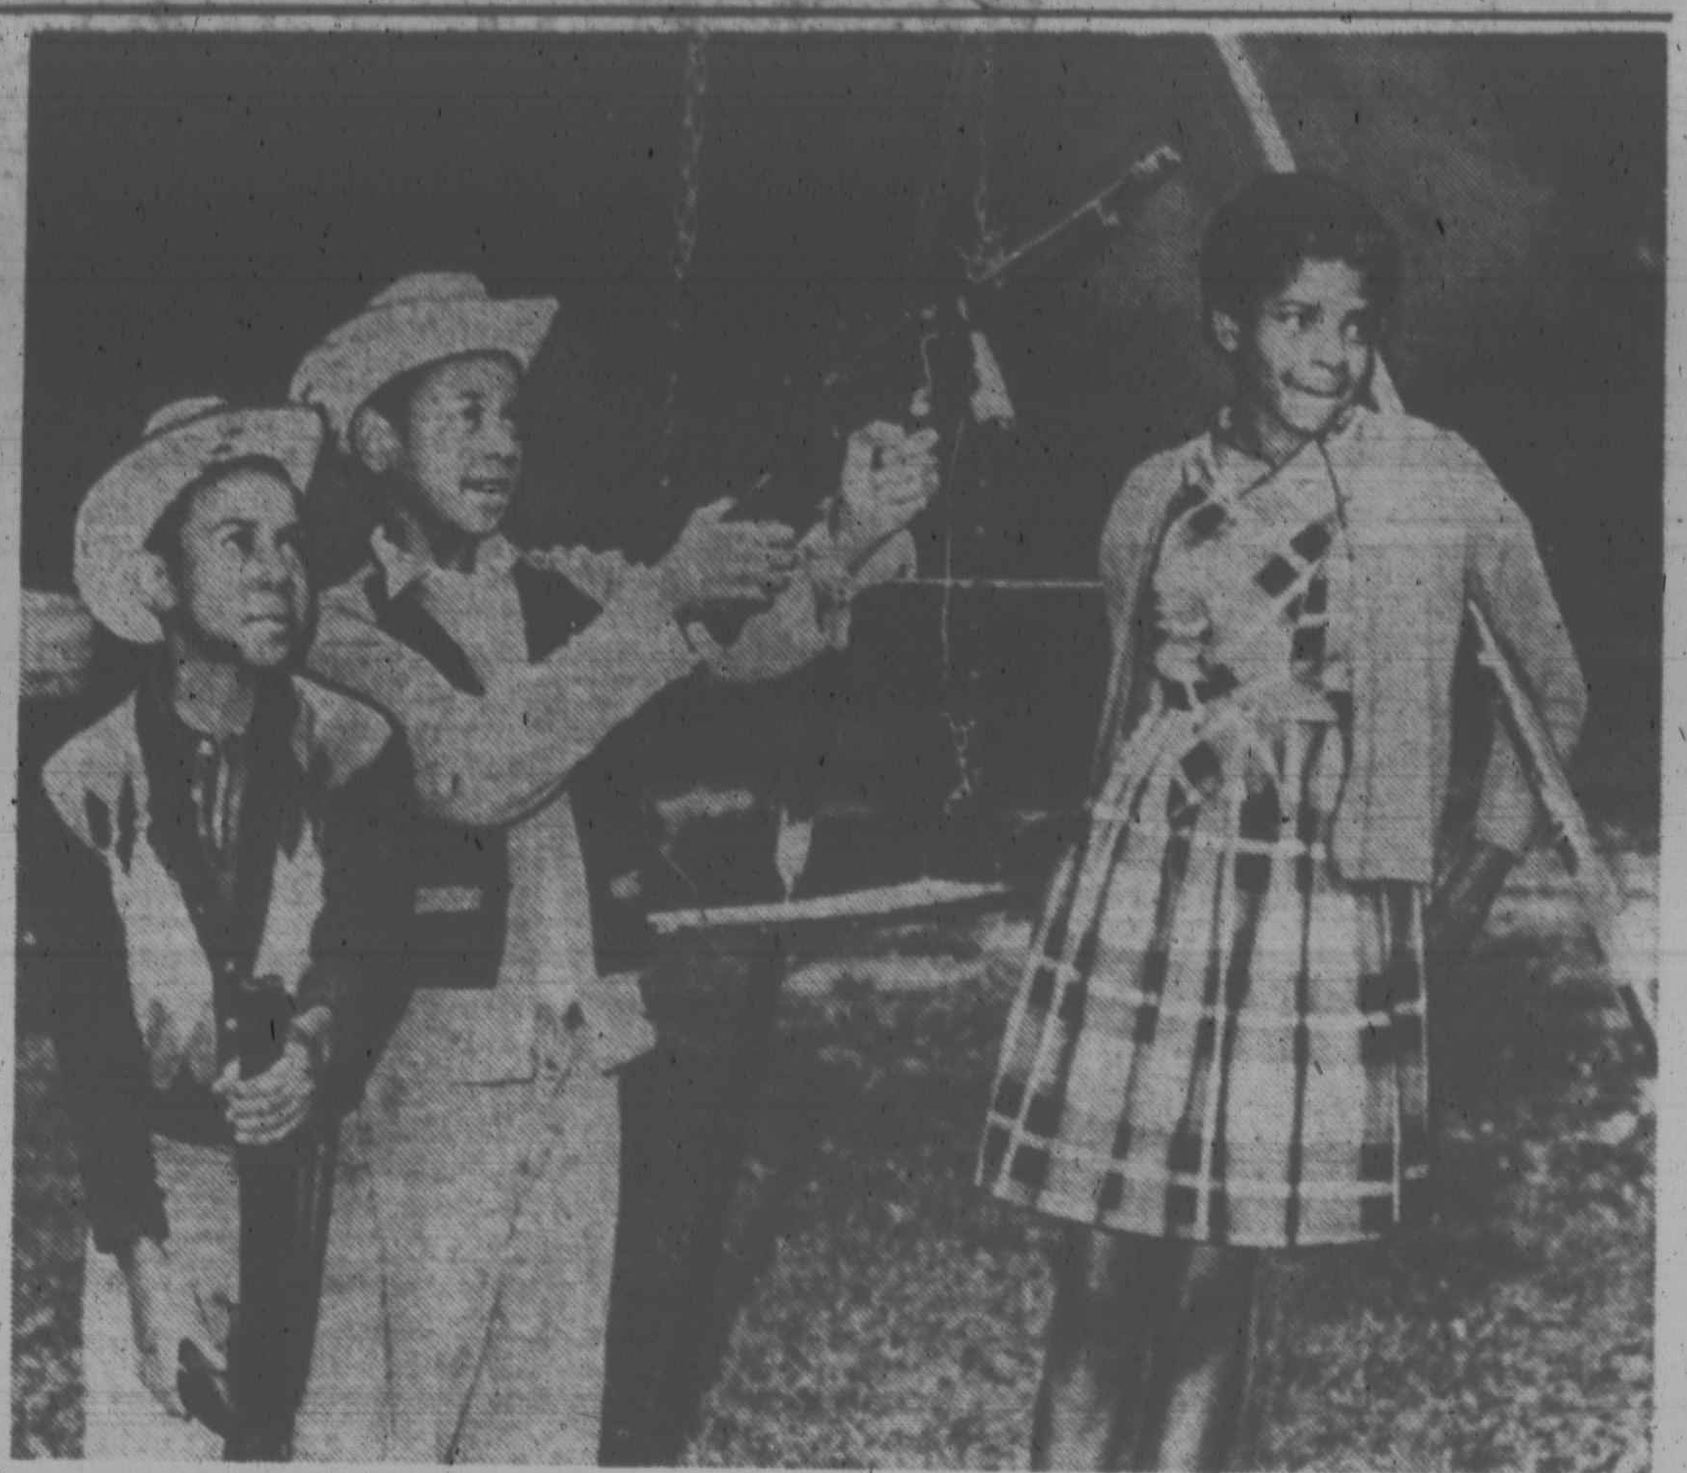
JUST ONE OF SEVERAL BULLET HOLES — John Chesley indicates the damage his car suffered when nightraiders shot up his house, his car and the car of a boarder. Twice the same night, three men returned to shot at the Sokesleys. Most of the bullets entered the downstairs kitchen of the house at 1340 River Road. These in the house escaped unharmed.



"THEY WERE PLAYING IN THE YARD WHEN IT BEGAN" — The children were playing cowboys when three men in a white 1949 or 1950 Plymouth stopped and molested them with vile racial remarks. When chased away by a family friend the men drove off. The children (l to r) are Larry, Gregory and their sister Barbara Chesley.

—Night riders

Mrs. Chelsey said. The car drove away only to return again.

• • •

AT THAT POINT, Costello Jackson, who boards with the Chesley family came out of the house and wanted to know what the men in the car wanted.

The men in the car drove off after additional insults.

Mrs. Chesley called the police, described the car as a 1949 or 1950 white Plymouth, and gave the license number of the car.

The police took no action.

After the 3 a.m. shooting, the Ferndale Police finally showed up.

They looked around the place, investigated the damage and explained to Mrs. Chesley that "whoever did the shooting wouldn't be back." They left shortly before 4 a.m.

The clock at the Chesley house showed 5:30 a.m. Again shots rang out.

Bullets hit the two cars parked in front of the house, the kitchen door and wall, a stove, and a medicine cabin

This time there was no doubt who was doing the shooting.

"At 5:30 we knew it was the white Plymouth," Mrs. Chesley said. "We all knew it."

"I ran out after them," Mr. Jackson, the roomer stated. He was the first to get out of the house.

"They did not shoot at me," Mr. Jackson explained. "But they did try to run me off the road."

• • •

AGAIN THE POLICE were called. Again they made an appearance. They told the family not to touch anything in the house. Everything was to be left as it was for a further investigation.

Fourty-eight hours went by. The police did nothing.

Even though the police had the license number of the car on Sunday, it was not until Tuesday that they picked up the man to whom the car was listed.

He was questioned and released.

Police also said they had questioned three men but they too had been released for lack of evidence.

Chief Edward C. King has denied that race had anything to do with the slow manner in which the complaint was processed and he explained it was due to the lack of personnel and other important cases at hand.

• • •

MRS. CHESLEY is understandably upset over the way the police had left the case.

"Police told me that they got a hold of the three. They said they had three men, but they had to let them go. There was not enough evidence.

"Well, nobody here was asked to come down and look the men over."

FLASH

CAMBRIDGE, Md. — The home of Joseph McCrady, located 3 miles from heart of Cambridge, was shot full of rifle bullet holes shortly after mid-night Thursday.

Sheriff Crayton said investigation will be made.

One shot went over head of sleeping youngster, reported [illegible] in bedroom wall. Mother and other children were home. Mr. McCrady, not a demonstrator, was in town during incident.

OVER 200 marchers set to picket, pray tonight (Friday) on Court House lawn. Demonstrations are scheduled to continue following 6:30 p.m. Mass Meeting at Bethel AME Church, 169 High St. Expected is capacity group of citizens who overflowed Mt. Sinai Baptist Mass Meet Thursday night.

Total of over 70 jailed demonstrators divided between Easton, Md. jail and Cambridge's Dorchester County Jail. Any additional in custody tonight, may go to other county jails.

Wednesday night's Freedom Songs from Cambridge Jail caused Sheriff to move family out of living quarters, couldn't sleep. Jail only holds 24 but demonstrators are 9 and 10 to a cell. Parents not allowed to bring food.

—Tension mounts

2. Open up equal job opportunities for all residents, regardless of race.

3. Set up machinery that will bring about equal housing opportunities for Second Ward residents, and

4. Integrate all public accommodations immediately.

Reginald L. Robinson, field representative for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, who has assumed command in the absence of Mrs. Gloria Richardson, who is in Dorchester County Jail, explained:

"City officials have agreed to meet with us and discuss the proposals, but they want us to halt the demonstrations first.

"This, we cannot do. We are committed to demonstrate until we can enjoy some of the fruits of a so-called free society."

MAYOR MOWBRAY in turn, said that "We have no jurisdiction in any of the areas they are asking us to take action.

"Either the county or state government has control of all agencies that have the power to meet their proposals.

"The city has no authority or intention to ask these agencies to take action."

Mr. Robinson said their demands were presented to the City Council March 25. They were greeted with "laughs," said the young demonstration leader.

• • •

IN AN effort to break the deadlock, Dorchester County Chief Circuit Court Judge W. Laird Henry offered to call a meeting of demonstration leaders, businessmen and prominent citizens over the weekend.

He had one condition:

"Halt the demonstrations while the groups are being called together," according to Mr. Robinson, who added:

"We can't do it. The last time we stopped demonstrating in order for the town's leaders to take action, the truce lasted for 18 months and nothing happened."

While demonstration leaders awaited an 8 p.m. mass meeting at Sinai Baptist Church Thursday night to determine the shape of their next protest, Cambridge bristled with local police, sheriff deputies and state police.

Tension mounted as the clock neared 2 p.m. and freedom-fighters, spectators and the curious descended on the area of the Courthouse, police magistrate court and the ancient and incredibly overcrowded county jail.

• • •

WAITING THERE were 55 demonstrators of all ages for a hearing in Magistrate's Court. Another 15 had been transferred to Eastern when the gloomy, condemned county jail here became overcrowded.

At 2 p.m. C. B. Mace, state's attorney, announced the trials were moved back until 3 p.m. to allow others cases to be disposed of.

As the new trial time approached, newsmen from as far away as New York converged on the scene, as did relatives and friends of the jailed freedom fighters.

At the appointed time, Sheriff Calvert Creighton announced the trials were postponed indefinitely.

While relaying the message to Mr. Mace, the sheriff said the postponement was granted at the request of Mrs. Richardson, who was spokesmen for the group of 'prisoners.'

Skepticism and doubt drifted throughout the throng of newsmen and spectators when Messrs. Mace and Creighton refused to allow reporters to talk to Mrs. Richardson to confirm the report.

HOWEVER, Mr. Robinson was permitted to confer with Mrs. Richardson while newsmen looked on. He later confirmed the fact that she had asked for a postponement when she was unable to reach their attorney by trial time.

The cases were reset for 2 p.m. Monday.

Monday has become somewhat of D-Day in Cambridge.

That's when demonstration leaders will know if the jailed persons will ask for jury or court trials, and whether Judge Henry will arrange the meeting, despite their refusal to halt the protests.

They'll know Monday, too, if the magistrate will follow the lead of Judge Henry, who last week fined freedom fighters one cent on disorderly conduct charges.

• • •

IN THE EVENT stiffer sentences are meted out, or the demonstrators choose jury instead of court trials; and if the opposing groups refuse to relent in their demands Cambridge is in for a long, hard seige.

As long and as hard as the one in Birmingham, Ala. — if, indeed not harder.

Like Alabama, colored residents here are determined to continue the protest until "something gives."

Unlike Alabama, however —and this is not the wish of leaders — local residents are not as dedicated to the philosophy of non-violence as are followers of Dr. Martin L. King.

Herbert M. St. Clair, funeral director and lifelong capsuled the attitude of Second Ward citizens — "the progressive, not the conservative go-slowers," he described them.

"We are not going to initiate violence. But if we are attacked, we are not going to turn the other cheek."

If violence comes, Mr. St. Clair feels, it will be caused by trigger-happy policemen or white segregationists who "haven't learned we aren't afraid anymore."

• • •

COMMENTING ON the near-tragic incident where two white cops — William Thomas and Ernest Weber — trained their guns on demonstrators Wednesday night, Mr. St. Clair declared:

"If they had pulled those triggers, it would have been lawful. You see, our people aren't going to run anymore."

The entire family of Mr. St. Clair, it seems, is counted among the "progressive" citizens of Cambridge.

Mrs. Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Non-Violent Action Committee, is his niece.

His wife, Mrs. Ruth St. St. Clair, has opened her home to lend a hand to the strators who find food, shelter, and comfort while aiding in the war against segregation.

His sister, Mrs. Mable S. Booth, left her New Jersey rome to lend a hand to the local fight by commanding "operations headquarters" while Mrs. Richardson is in prison.

The Muir St. headquarters are located in Mrs. Richardson's home.

• • •

THURSDAY Mrs. Booth, who was freed from jail without bail Wednesday, was busy feeding, and lodging demonstration leaders.

The CNAC executive committee is headed by Mrs. Richardson and includes Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, Rudell Jews, William (Skip) Downs.

It was Mr. Downs who debunked city officials' claims that the protests are the work of "outsiders" who have stirred up colored citizens who have been "satisfied until now."

"Hell, I have never been satisfied," declared Mr. Downs, who said he has been fighting the race war since the thirties when published reports condemned him "to hang by sundown."

MRS. BOOTH, who left Cambridge to go with her husband, the Rev. T. M. Booth who pastors the St. Johns Methodist Church, said she will stay in Cambridge until "this thing is resolved one way or another."

"I have never seen this place stirred up like this. It has always been quiet. But I'm glad, it was only quiet then because the white man was having his way about things."

His son, Frederick, professional bondsman, is also caught up in the movement. He provides bail for jailed demonstrators who want to be released.

Like the St. Clairs, there are other old line Cambridge families no longer afraid.

The chief concern of demonstration leaders is that white foes of equality will make the mistake of not believing that colored citizens are serious when they demand, "All, now!"

"There's no Martin Luther King here," said one. "If our people are attacked, who can persuade them to remain nonviolent? I hope no

DOWNING — In loving memory of my dear husband, SAMUEL M., who passed away May 18, 1952.

GARNETT — In memory of our beloved pastor, DR. GEORGE JACOB GARNETT, who departed this life May 17, 1949:

But we remember and will never forget.
MINISTER, OFFICERS

GATES — In loving memory of our dear daughter, ELISE A. WADE who passed away May 16, 1959:
We do not forget her, we loved her too dearly

When our hearts mourn sincerely
For grief often dwells where it's seldom seen.
Loving Father and mother,
JAMES and
ANNIE WADE

MORTON — In memory of our dear son, WILLIAM, who passed away May 15, 1945:

PARSONS — In loving memory of our loved one, MARGARET L., who passed away May 20, 1962:
A light is from our household gone,

Though on earth you are no more;
But in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
MOTHER and DAD,

Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place;
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
Wife MATTIE
Son JUNIOUS E. SMITH.

STEWART and WHITE — In loving memory of my dear mother, ESTELLA O., who passed away May 18, 1958 and my aunt, AMELIA A., who passed away December 13, 1960:

Only just away upon a journey,
To a land that is bright and fair.

BESSIE A. HOLBROOK.

THOMAS — In loving memory of our daughter and mother, FRIEDA JOHNSTON THOMAS, who passed away six years ago, May 19, 1957:
We often sit and think of her when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;

Our love for her will still keep green, and never fade away.
Loving Mother, Father
MR. and MRS.
FRED M. JOHNSTON
Son, CHARLES F. THOMAS
