'Jitterbugs' turn out to be policemen

Western District Lt. Joseph Judd and his band of five racketbusters have been labeled a "bunch of rotten . . . . . ," by Arnold B. Siggers, 25, of Severn, Anne Arundel County.

Arnold, 23, told Municipal Court Judge H. Sewell Lamdin Tuesday that this is the description be hung on Judd's men May 10 when they arrested him, his brother and brother-in-law in the 400 block Pearl St.

Under questioning from Henry Frankel, their attorney, Arnold testified that the plainclothesmen jailed him, David T. Siggers, 17, his brother, and David A. Washington, 21, 900 block Newington, his brother-in-law, after beating them.

ACCORDING TO the older man, he was sitting in a car waiting for his brother and brother-in-law, who went up Pearl St. seeking a relief station.

"I heard somebody yell for 'Tank,' and only my brother calls me Tank," Siggers declared.

He said he ran up the ground and an unidentified man had his foot in David's back.

"I started swinging and somebody struck me from behind," according to Siggers.

Seeing they were outnumbered, the older brother said he ran back to the corner and yelled, "Police some jitterbugs are beating up my brother in the alley!"

WHEN HE returned to the scene with uniformed policemen, Siggers told Judge Lamdin, the "jitterbugs," who, in reality were Judd and his men, they were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and assaulting Pl. Raymond Smith, a member of the squad.

"You are all a bunch of rotten . . . . ," Arnold said he told the policemen.

In reply to a query from Lt. Judd who asked him to tell the court what he said about the "Good Ole U. S.," Siggers said emphatically:

"Yes, I said if I could I would leave this country because a colored man doesn't have a chance here."

THE YOUNGER brother and David Washington testified that while they were relieving themselves in the alley, the plainclothesmen swooped down on them without identifying themselves.

When they fought back, the strange men roughed them up, only identifying themselves as police officers after the melee was well under way.

Arnold testified that he did hear someone say "police" when he first arrived at the scene, but thought the men were "jitterbugs" trying to lure him into the darkened street.

"Why didn't you wait and demand to see their identification, before wading in swinging?" Judge Lamdin asked?

"That was my brother, he was on the ground, this man had his foot in his back and if I had waited it might have been too late," declared Arnold. "How did I know they were policemen?" he asked.

SIGGERS SAID due to the poor lighting he was unable to see if the men were white or colored. Judd testified that they identified themselves and had flashlights when they accosted the youths.

One of the plainclothesmen stated he had a flashlight, but threw it at one of the youths during the struggle.

Judge Lamdin ruled the older Siggers brother and his brother - in - law Washington were guilty of assaulting an officer and disorderly conduct. They were fined a total of $300 and given 6 months suspended sentences.

Younger Siggers was convicted of disorderly conduct and fined $50 and cost. fines, Judge Lamdin said he has a standard policy that all cop fighters go to jail, but since this case "worried me, I didn't want to send them to jail."

To avod imprisonment, he ordered the fines be paid through the probation department.

"The only reason I found EXPLAINING THE stiff them guilty is because the older man said he heard somebody yell 'police' when he entered the alley.

Reminded that Siggers testified it was dark and he was excited by seeing his brother on the ground, Judge Lamdin said, "You could have a point there, but I don't know.

"Everybody in this district knows Judd and his crew," the judge added, "but since they go around looking like a bums, I suppose it is easy for a stranger to mistake them for jitterbugs."
