WHEN YOU FINISH READING YOUR AFRO PASS IT ALONG TO A FRIEND

IDENTIFYING THE SUPERIOR STUDENT — Dr. Ruth Brett, Coordinator of Student Personnel Services, counsels freshman honor student Robert M. Bell.

DEPARTMENTAL HONOR SCHOLARS, shown here with members of the Honor Scholarship Committee, produce some creative or research project while serving as Honor Scholars. Dr. Iva G. Jones, center, is chairman of Honor Scholarship Committee.

COUNSELING FULBRIGHT APPLICANTS — Fulbright Adviser Sandye J. McIntyre is shown with the 1963 Fulbright Fellow, Miss Melvena Green.

ADVISING FELLOWSHIP WINNERS — Assistant Dean Eugene Stanley, coordinator of fellowship advisory activities, confers with the 1963 Woodrow Wilson Fellows — Misses Jean Wiley and Charlotte Arbeiada.

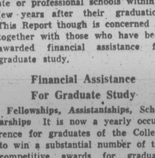

1963 REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF MORGAN STATE COLLEGE

TO THE CITIZENS OF MARYLAND, OUR ALUMNI, AND HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WHO ARE LOOKING TOWARD COLLEGE

These Annual Reports have as their purpose acquainting the general public with various aspects of Morgan State College. The Report this year is concerned with The Products of Superior Scholarship.

This year's Report is concerned in large measure with what we consider to be one of the most significant aspects of our educational program, namely, the success many high achievers here have had in getting financial assistance for graduate study, the fine records they are making at major universities, and the increasing number of our graduates who are continuing their education to the doctoral degree.

A liberal arts college is expected to produce intellectually competent men and women — this is an inherent and essential function of Morgan State College. How well a college is discharging this function may be estimated in a number of ways. One measure certainly is the continuing recognition given its graduates by outstanding universities.

At Morgan State College where we have historically been committed to providing a liberal arts education for students, it is a source of gratification to find we are producing intellectually competent men and women, and that we are preparing our students for the rigorous demands of graduate work.

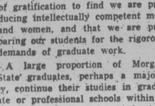

A large proportion of Morgan State' graduates, perhaps a majority, continue their studies in graduate or professional schools within a few years after their graduation. This Report though is concerned altogether with those who have been awarded financial assistance for graduate study.

Financial Assistance For Graduate Study

Fellowships, Assistantships, Scholarships It is now a yearly occurrence for graduates of the College to win a substantial number of top competitive awards for graduate study. These embrace Fulbright Scholarship for study abroad, John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowships, Woodrow Wilson Teaching Fellowships, National Science Foundation Fellowships, teaching and research assistantships, and other fellowships and scholarships.

In the June 1963 class, for example, 18 members are known to have received financial grants of varied types for further study —this number will no doubt be increased before the beginning of the next school year. These grants include two Woodrow Wilson Teaching Fellowships, a Fulbright Fellowship, and a John Hay Whitney Opportunity Award.

These students, their awards and the institutions at which they plan to study are: Joe L. Alston, Mathematics, Assistantship, $2,000, University of Maryland; Charlotte L. Arbeiada, Mathematics, Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, $1,500 plus University of Wisconsin; Annie Belle Covington, Spanish, Fellowship, $2,400, Wayne State University; James G. Dashiell, Jr., Psychology, Southern Education Foundation Fellowship, University of Florida; Katherine Evans, Health Education, Assistantship, $1,800, Hunter College; Ophelia Gilmer, French, Regional Scholarship, $1,000, Atlanta University; Ella J. Grady, Business Education, Scholarship, $1,440, New York University; Melvena L. Green, Sociology, Fulbright Fellowship, (Dollar amount of award not specified), University of Hamburg, Germany; Dorothy Jeffries, French, Regional Scholarship, $1,000, Atlanta University; Malachi Knowles, Geography, Fellowship, $1,800, Pennsylvania State University; Reginald Lewis, History, John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowship, $1,500 plus, Boston University; Demetrius J. Plessas, Economics, Assistantship, $1,900, Wayne State University; Nike Roiba, Chemistry, Assistantship, $1,900, Wayne State University; Robert S. Smith, Mathematics, Assistantship, $1,800, Pennsylvania State University; Jean E. Wiley, English, ASSISTANTSHIP RECIPIENT — Receiving 11 scholarship offers was Miss Nike Roiba of Athens, Greece. The chemistry major accepted an assistantship at Wayne State University.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, $1,500 plus, University of Michigan.

Fulbright Awards In the face of intense national competition, Morgan State College Fulbright applicants have fared well. Almost every year since 1954, a Morgan student has won one of these fellowships to study abroad. Here are our former Fulbright Fellows and the institutions at which they have studied: Gertrude Ebanks, Class of 1954, French language and literature, University of Besancon, France; Freddie E. M. Hill, Class of 1956, sociology, University of Oslo, Norway; Jack E. Connor, Class of 1957, French language and literature, University of Grenoble, France; J. Tyson Tildon, Class of 1954, chemistry, College of France, France; Marion L. Quarles, Class of 1960, Spanish language and literature, University of Madrid, Spain; Jacqueline C. Wheatley, Class of 1962, Spanish language and literature, University of Madrid, Spain.

Our 1963 Fulbright Fellow, Miss Melvena Green, will study geriatrics at the University of Hamburg in Germany. In addition to these study grants, a Fulbright teaching fellowship to India was won in 1960 by a 1958 graduate, Frederick T. Anderson.

Wilson and Whitney Fellows The success of our graduates over the past few years in winning Woodrow Wilson and John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowships closely parallels the success of our Fulbright applicants.

With two Woodrow Wilson Fellows this year, six Morgan students have now won these awards. Our previous Woodrow Wilson Fellows are: Morris Thrower, Class of 1958, Mathematics, University of Michigan; Richard Grant, Class of 1960, Economics, University of Pennsylvania; George C. Gentry, Class of 1961, Psychology, Howard University; Henry A. Blackwell, Class of 1962, University of Chicago.

And here are the six graduates who have been awarded John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowships over the past five years: Clara Anthony, Class of 1958, the University of Illinois; Robert Wilson, Class of 1958, Music, in Europe; Donald Gwynn, Class of 1960, Art, Yale University; School of Fine Arts; Elaine McCoy, Class of 1960, Business Education, New York University; Ishmael Myers, Class of 1962, Business Administration, American University.

Other Grants When we examine the records of the past nine years, we find that graduates of the College have studied as fellows, scholars and assistants at nearly 70 colleges and universities here and abroad. The list of the United States colleges and universities at which graduates of the College have studied as fellowship or scholarship recipients over a nine - year period is shown in an accompanying box.

Several graduates of the College have been the recipients of unusual awards. Kwabena D. Mensah, a native of Ghana, studied at the University of London on a United Nations Scholarship; Paul Beckham studied in the Master of Arts Teaching Program in 1961 - 62 at The Johns Hopkins University on a tuition scholarship and internship totaling $2,433; Ronald Reddick, a biology major here, is studying in East Africa on a two - year teaching fellowship valued at $8,000 awarded by Columbia University; Victor C. Okwuosa of Nigeria, a history major here who earned the master's degree at the University of Puerto Rico, is studying for the doctoral degree at the New School for Social Research in New York City on a $4500 fellowship.

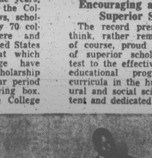

Records In Graduate Schools

The success of Morgan graduates in graduate programs is another source of gratification. Repeatedly, those graduates of the College who have won financial assistance for graduate study on the basis of their outstanding achievements on the graduate level.

Doctoral Degrees Increasingly, graduates of the College are earning doctoral degrees. Historically, the predominantly Negro college has produced a disproportionately small share of the scholars whose formal preparation extends to the maximum level as represented by the doctoral degree. This college is now helping to change this long - established record.

Over the nine - year period, beginning in 1954, 21 graduates of the College are known to have received doctoral degrees in the humanities, the natural and social sciences; our competent and dedicated teachers; and our excellent physical environment.

These products of superior scholarship also reflect our continuing efforts to motivate students to high academic achievement through both informal and formal experiences.

Here the student finds a multiplicity of activities and associations that encourage superior scholarship.

There are the Freshman Honors Program to provide accelerated courses of study promising entering students and a freshman honor society to offer complementing motivation. For upperclassmen, the Departmental Honors Program, now a decade old, continues to serve as a prime motivator of outstanding academic achievement. Through this program, students of junior and senior standing are awarded scholarships and provided the opportunity to engage in scholarly and creative work in close association with senior faculty members. Here the student finds 11 honor societies, all of which are affiliates of national organizations, to reward and encourage the scholar.

We actively encourage superior students to continue their formal education after graduation from Morgan State. This is the work of many individuals — of our counselors, faculty members, heads of departments, of special advisers such as Assistant Professor Sandye McIntyre, the Fulbright Adviser, and of the Assistant Dean of the College, Mr. Eugene Stanley, who coordinates a great part of this program.

Potentially talented students are identified as early as the freshman year and counseled throughout their careers here to prepare and to apply for graduate study. Students are given experience in taking the types of standardized examinations required for admission to many graduate schools and professional programs. Students are also advised of graduate programs best suited for their prospective areas of specialization and given information on how to qualify and apply for these programs.

The rather remarkable record presented in this Report is the result of adequate preparation and intense motivation — raising the level of aspiration of students.

We are determined to build upon this record. Today, the demand for educated persons with specialized knowledge and skills is great. Yet many high school graduates of great potential are not continuing their education beyond the secondary level; many who do go to college drop out for various reasons after the first or second year; and too many able graduates do not go on to graduate and professional schools. These constitute waste of a precious resource.

A Tribute to the Secondary Schools

Morgan State does not of course claim full credit for the achievement of these graduates. Many gained their initial inspiration from their parents and from the elementary and secondary schools they attended. Although we have not attempted to compile a complete record, typically the high Morgan State achievers I have discussed here are products of the following Maryland high schools.

Baltimore City College, Baltimore
Banneker High School, Catonsville
Bates High School, Annapolis
Brooks High School, Prince Frederick
Douglass High School, Baltimore

Morgan State College Graduates Earning Academic Doctorates 1954-1962

Nancy E. Arnez, Ed D., 1958; Education; Teachers College, Columbia University

George E. Crawford, Ed D., 1962; Education; Teachers College, Columbia University

Elaine C. Davis, Ph.D., 1958; Education, Johns Hopkins University

Joseph T. Durham, Ed.D., 1962; Education; Teachers College, Columbia University

Alfred L. Farrow, Ph.D., 1959; Sociology; University of Chicago

John P. Hall, Ph.D., 1955; Biochemistry; Northwestern University

Delores L. Hunt, Ph.D., 1958; Education; University of Pennsylvania

Roy J. Jones, Ph.D., 1961; Psychology; American University

Lemuel C. Looper, Ph.D., 1958; Biochemistry; Georgetown University

William V. Lockwood, Ph.D., 1957; Education; Johns Hopkins University

Theodore W. Mack, Ph.D., 1962; Botany; Pennsylvania State University

Susie M. Sharpe, Ph.D., 1956; Psychology; New York University

Rutha Turner Sheffey, Ph.D., 1959; English; University of Pennsylvania

Charles W. Thomas, Ph.D., 1960; Psychology; Western Reserve University

Lancelot C. Thompson, Ph.D., 1962; Chemistry; Wayne State University

Harriet Pratt Tredwell, D.S.W., 1960; Social Work; University of Pennsylvania

Harold L. Trigg, Ed.D., 1959; Education; Teachers College, Columbia University

Waters E. Turpin, Ed.D., 1960; Education; Teachers College Columbia University

Gilbert Ware, Ph.D., 1962; Political Science; Princeton University

Alfred G. Waters, Ed.D., 1956; Education; Temple University

Jerusa C. Wilson, Ph.D., 1961; Psychology; University of Maryland

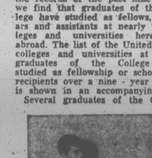

Dunbar High, Baltimore
Forest Park High, Baltimore
Kenwood Senior High, Baltimore
Lincoln High School, Frederick
Lockerman High, Denton
Mace's Lane, Cambridge
North Street High, Hagerstown
Nolan High, Easton
Polytechnic High, Baltimore
Salisbury High, Salisbury
Sellers Point High School, Baltimore County
Southern High, Baltimore
St. Francis Academy, Baltimore

I am sure that teachers and parents, especially, and all Maryland citizens will want to see this record extended.

I do urge able high school graduates who are looking toward college to consider Morgan State College as an institution which provides its students a sound liberal arts education, encourages and develops superior scholarship, and prepares its products to successfully meet the competition for and the demands of graduate education.

Martin D. Jenkins

*Additional awards since the preparation of this article: Arrie Davis, English, Assistantship, $1,800, Hunter College; Irene Jeffers, Physical Education, Assistantship, $1,800, Kent State College; Jewel Pierce, Sociology, Fellowship, $1,000, Bank Street College.

THE PRODUCTS OF SUPERIOR SCHOLARSHIP — Here are some of the June 1963 graduates of Morgan State College who have received financial assistance for graduate study. Shown here with President Martin D. Jenkins are left to right: Demetrius Plessas, Misses Charlotte Arbeiada, Nike Roiba, and Melvena Green, Robert S. Smith, Malachi Knowles.

MOTIVATING THE BEGINNER — Here are members of Promethean Kappa Tau, Freshman Honor Society.

American Colleges and Universities Which Have Awarded Graduate Financial Aid to Graduates of Morgan State College

American University
Atlanta University
Boston University
Bryn Mawr
Carnegie Institute
Catholic University
Chicago, University of Cincinnati, University of
Columbia University
Connecticut, University of
Cornell University
Detroit, University of
Drexel Institute of Technology
Hardwick University
Howard University
Hunter College
Illinois, University of Indiana, University of Iowa State College
Iowa, University of
Johns Hopkins University
Johnson C. Smith University
Kansas, University of Maryland, University of Massachusetts, University of
Meharry Medical College
Maine, University of Michigan State University
Michigan, University of Montana State University
New Mexico College of A. and M. Arts
New Mexico State University
New School of Social Research
New York University
North Carolina College
North Carolina State University
Northwestern University
Ohio, University of Oklahoma, University of Pennsylvania School of Social Work
Pennsylvania State University
Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, University of Pratt Institute
Princeton Institute
Rensselaer Institute
Rutgers University
Smith College
Springfield College
Syracuse, University of Utah, University of Virginia Theological Seminary
Wayne State University
Western Michigan University
Western Reserve University
Wisconsin, University of
Yale University

REGISTRATION DATES

Summer Session	June 24
REGULAR SESSION
Freshmen	September 9
Upperclassmen	September 19

For Information, write The Registrar

MORGAN STATE COLLEGE
BALTIMORE 12, MARYLAND

GIFT FOR PROVIDENT — Ladies of Art, a women's social club, presents Provident Hospital director Theodore D. Perkins with $100 contribution to the Provident Rebuilding Fund. Presenting check is Mrs. Cleopatra Carter. Giving smiling approval are Mrs. Mae Daniels, president; Mrs. Irene Maddox, Mrs. Bertha Snowden, and Mrs. Catherine Henry.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

And now there's a Gadabouting Club

By Lula Jones Garrett

They've done it again, formed another club, that is, in a town already surfeit with them. But who cares? Those Cape May House Party gals met with Mary C. Allen last week and named themselves "The Gadabouters" with Mary as prexy.

They also came up with more ambitious travel plans than Cape Mary. But for this summer they settled for a week in Cape May, maybe, brief trips in and out of town, and a picnic or two. Meanwhile they will consult travel folders toward a long range travel program. Present plans include a weekend in New York, summer theatre parties ad other cultural activities.

Beside Mary the club includes Mary N. Brooks, Rebecca Brown, Veronica Campher, Minnie Davis, Ethel J. Day, Mattie Gawthrop, M. Margaret Johnson, Marie Lassiter, Mildred Noble; Elvera Richardson, Lillian Watty and Juanita Young.

* * *

DR. AND MRS. I. Bradshaw Higgins had a gay informal party, Sunday evening, for Dr. C. C. Wedderburn, one of a series that have introduced the Deputy Director of Medical Services of Jamaica, W. I. to townsfolk, here.

Dr. Wedderburn has been in the States for the past eight weeks participting in a study seminar on public health sponsored by AID at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Mrs. Higgins, pretty as ever, in a predominently red silk sprigged print, who has a positive knack of getting her parties off the ground at the beginning, took guests to their chairs room for cocktails and hors deouvres, dips, breaking beginning at six, etc. and an hour of ice-

Then to the dining room of the Higgins' elegant town house for anelaborate buffet.

Incidently, if the beauty of the table caught your eye 'twas all a family production. The flowers were from the Doctor's garden (his a prize winner at this hobby. The arrangement was by daughter, Aidlyn and, of course, friends are aware of Hilda's gourmet ability. Aidlyn had received her parents' guests throughout the evening, looking as cute as a button in long tapered pants, an over bouse sweater and high gold boots.

To meet Dr. Wedderburn brought for the prospective travelers.

Joining in the surprise were the James Murphys, Natnaniel Proctors, William Proctors, Thomas McPhersons, Marshall Brights, Leste Norrises, George Spauldings, Lillian Ross, Lula Patterson, Elizabeth Phillips.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. Thomas Russell entertained for the sisters of Mrs. Minnie Booker at a dinner party.

The honorees cwere \Mesdames Pattie Cummings of Atlantic City, Bernice Short of Orange, N.J., Elizabeth Scott of Philadelphia, Mary Crowder of Farmville, Va., and Cornelia White of Chester, Pa.

Guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Watkins, Sanderfield Watkins, Mrs. Thelma Johnson, Mrs. Grace Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Scott and James A. Johnson.

THAT WAS A GAY, and chic, party given by the Chesapeake Club in the Winchester Armory, Saturday night, in itinerest of the Provident Hospital Development plan.

Soft lighting, the lilting music of the Tune Toppers, the Meredith Birch Latin - ground music for dance sets by Gwendolyn Biddle, Lady Denise and Tony Marvin, the Fire Dancer. Then there was the sensational voice of Carol Riley, who will liberate fate left by Milford Jefferson, a member.

J. Advin Jones is president of the club, and other officers are Ollie Wise, first vice president; William Gardner, second vice president; Eugene Hughes, third vice president;

Augustus Adams, treasurer; Melvin Roy, financial secretary; Leroy Flanagan, recording secretary; Arthur Bragg, assistant, assistant financial secretary; Daniel Matthews, recording secretary; and Hezekiah Spencer, chaplain.

Members of the dance committee included Maceo Paysour, chairman; Dr. Alian Forte, co - chairman; Daniel Matthews, director; John Widgeon, treasurer; Melvin Roy, speaker; Walter Marshall, Samuel Young and Elmer Travis.

Hosts also included:

Shirley Diggs, Lee Shipley, Frank Veney, Bernard Morton, George Gibson, James Jefferson, Arlington Phillips, Roland Curtis, William Dorsey, George Kelson;

John Triplett, Nicholas Rice, Lewis Harris, Walter Burke, Charles Tilghman, Charles Dorsey, Randolph Aubrey Briscoe and C. Reed Stanley.

Probably the most surprise and happiest person of A Sunday ago was Mrs. Elroy (Lillian) Wilson . . .with the surprize being by the family.

Thinking that her husband was taking her to visit friends, she donned the prettiest of white suitsm . .stopped to say hello to one of his There, to her surprise had gathered most of her family and a few friends to pay tribute to her.

I know it's hard to believe but Lillian was actually speechless(for once) especially whn the group began to shower her with gifts. During Mr. Wilson's other daughter, Lucy and her husband, Jerry, called from Las Vegas to wish her happiness.

On hand for the festivities and dinner were Neslie and Nathaniel Harrison, Twilah, Tama and Elroy Harrison, Bobby, Jerry and Bobby Harrison Jr., Thomas Wallace, Mabel Smith, Hilda Thomas, Emile and Mae Cornish, and of course, Elroy.

* * *

WE GIRLS, a newly organized group of young professional women, entertained their mothers at luncheon in the Candlelight room of the Garrison Lounge, Saturday.

Introduced by the president, Beatrice L. Brasewell, each mother was pinned with a beautiful corsage by her daughter, or daughter - in - law. Special tribute in song was paid the honorees by Patelle M. Green. After cocktails and luncheon there was a period for the mothers to become acquainted.

In addition to Mrs. Brasewell, officers are Joan Young, secretary, Sylvia Barnes, treasurer, Marie M. Coleman, business manager. Other members are Patelle Green, Frederick Jenkins, Doris Newton, Sandra J. Oliver, Gloria K. Paster, Marjorie Rawlings, Vickie Shipley, Cynthia O. Thomas, Sarvillia Thomas and Frances Wilson.

Mothers honored were Mesdamés Dixie Lightfoot, Elizabeth Miller, Mayfield Green, Cordelia Oliver, Catherine Rawlings and Bertha Crawford.

* * *

AN ALUMNI group of Lutherville elementary school gave a testimonial, Saturday in honor of their beloved former teacher, Mrs. Beatrice Thompson Brown, who after 46 years of teaching in Baltimore County will retire, this month.

Mrs. Brown taught in the Lutherville School, in Carver at Towson and recently, in Bragg Elementary Scrool at Sparrows Point.

A hundred and sixty persons attended the affair at the Sheraton - Baltimore Inn, with guests at the honoree's table including Edward T. Stapleton, former superintendent, Baltimore County; Miss Eliza Merritt, former attendance officer; both now retired; Roland Harris, Mrs. Arabella Ross and Mrs. Catherine Madden, former principals under whom she served; Mrs. Pauline J. Hobbs, supervisor; and the Rev. Edgar Hall, former minister of the Lutherville Methodist Church; and the present minister, the Rev. Raymond White.

"Mighty like a rose" was the honoree, in a rubycoured chiffon sheath with chantilly lace cape collar, matching shoes and gold accessories.

There were a number of relatives and guests from out-of-town, including Mrs. Brown's aunts, Mrs. Cassie Dobbins, Mrs. Ethel Warren, Mrs. Margaret Johns; her nieces and nephews, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson (Louise) Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Evelyn) from Philadelphia. Also from Philly were former students, Georgia Scott White and her husband, from Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Nettie Butler; and from Washington, John Reid.

The alumni group which arranged the testimonial included:

Walter Brown, president; Leon Brown, vice president; Mrs. Gladys Sembly Dixon, secretary; Joseph Beasley, treasurer; Mesdames Lula Beasley Davis, Elizabeth Johnson Crawley, Mrs. Margaret Brandon Yates, Wilson Cockey, Jr., Wilson Cockey, Sr. Leroy Cockey, Jimmy Smith, Samuel Beasley, Elmer Sembly and Earl Minor.

* * *

THE FRANCIS SCOTT KEY HOTEL was the place and Founders Day the occasion Sunday afternoon when the Frederick Club of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs held its second awards dinner.

Marian Bryant, national first vice president, was the speaker on the subject, "Business and Professional Women Meet the Challenge of a Changing World." She was introduced by Emma Hilson Brown, first vice president of the Baltimore Club, who as state governor, set up the Frederick Club three years ago.

This occasion, their second founder's day dinner, saw the awarding of citations, first to Mrs. Maude Smith, humanitarian, who for many years has cared for many children beside her own family, given aid to the aged, to travelers, and has been an ardent church worker. Her philosophy is, since it was not trained in a profession I render service in other ways.

The second citation went to John (Jack) T. Griffin, for his work in the training of youth. He is the coach, who trained Debbie Thompson and Tammie Davis, track champions, who have won national and international fame for their track achievements.

He told of his teaching and coaching experiences and his travels from coast to coast with his teams. But the audience loved best his telling of his cultural development and that of his charges, saying "You know what I mean."

Mr. Griffin now has a team of ten girls eleven years old, who have lowered the junior Olympic record. He credited the assistance given by Mrs. Griffin, also a physical instructor, and their combined efforts to give the pupils in their charge opportunities for cultural experience in their travels.

Miss Edith M. Addison was soloist for the occasion accompanied Mrs. Charles Henson. Mrs. Brown was accompanied by Baltimore club members Ethel J. Day, president, Charlotte Swan, Lillian S. Wity, and also by her husband, Bill, who is much improved after his winter bouts with illness.

BALTIMORE GIRL Friends were back from the Chicago Conclave, this week and limping from the organizational meetings and social program and the extra-curricula entertaining by

MRS. JUANITA J. MITCHELL, named "Mother of the Year" by Theta Sigma Nu Sorors in Baltimore, recently, is shown with Miss Margaret Mitchell, left, chairman of the breakfast at which the plaque was awarded, and Mrs. Sarah S. Sterling, basileus of the chapter.

Theta Nu Sigma honors attorney

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, mother of three sons, civil rights fighter and an attorney, was cited as "Mother of the Year" by Theta Nu Sigma National Sorority, here, recently.

The citation was made at breakfast, held this year, in the Sheraton Baltimore Inn.

MISS SARAH F. STERLING

retatives and friends.

Eliza Robinson, who has just relinquished presidency of the Baltimore chapter, was named chairman of the national budget committee. She was house guest of her cousin, Ruth Cummings Mason, who hosted a dinner for the Baltimoreans.

Mae Williams was this town's chapter's delegate, and she and Olga Parker enjoyed reunion with relatives and friends, the Earl Parkers, the Herbert Jones and the Sammie Waters. The Parkers had a sight-seeing jaunt for the visitors. The Joneses entertained at dinner.

Elizabeth Stewart had fun with her, many relatives. And Agnes Patterson and husband, Elmer, joined the conclave after having attended the sessions of National Association of Physical of Plant administrators of Universities and Colleges.

LOT - POURRI: Juanita Jackson Mitchell was in Cleveland, Sunday, to speak at the second annual, breakfast of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the Ohio city. The affair was held in the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel, and the dynaNAACP head not only drew the applause of the 900 (Continued on Page 8)

Zeta's P.Z. group honors Miss Ross

The P. Z. Youth Group of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority celebrated its eighth anniversary with a tea in Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, Sunday.

Special tribute was paid to Miss Lillie A. Ross, organizer and advisor for the group, to whom a tribute was written by Past Basileus Ruth Cleaver and read by Soror Katharine O. Johnson, associate director.

"Chiefly," said the tribute "we pay tribute for your loyalty to a cause greater than self; for your untiring determination to stand with, by and for youth of the land; for your continuous service in fostering and encouraging juvenile competency."

They then presented flowers in the sorority colors, blue and white, to Miss Ross, and she was crowned by Miss Mary Ann Lassiter, president of the P.Z.'s.

* * *

MISS VIRGINIA F. PURVIANCE provided the music for the march of the young people in whom the sorors show special interest, and who include members of Alpha Zeta Gamma undergraduate chapter, the Auchonians, the Pre-AC's, the PZ's, the Youth Service Corps and special out-of-town week-end guests.

The latter included members of the Junior Missionary Society of Second Baptist Church, Roselle, N.J., who were:

Misses Carol Laural, Shona White, Linda White, Linda Hayes, Jacqueline White, Joanne White, Janet White, Lorraine Middleton, Charlotte Sims, Winifred Bryant, Joan Johnson, Gwendolyn Bradley and Lamar Brazil.

The New Jersey group, sponsored by the grand basileus of Zeta Phi Beta, Dr. Deborah P. Wolfe, was chaperoned by Mrs. Fannie Johnson and Mrs. Florie Baldwin.

* * *

PARTICIPANTS on the program included the Rev. Reginald Daniels, minister at Madison Avenue Church; Miss Janice Tillman, Miss Beatrice Mayo, former Zeta basileus under whose administration the P.Z.'s were organized;

Misses Janet White and Jacqueline White from New Jersey, the P.Z. Youth Group Chorus, Misses Janice and Donna Tillman, Mrs. Katharine O. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Hurt, basileus of Alpha Zeta chapter; Miss Elaine Murphy, basileus of Gamma chapter; Miss Brenda Thompson and Miss Sadie Grier, of the Archonians;

Miss Avonnet Burdge of the Youth Service Corps; Miss Shona White, Mrs. Estella Keyser, Mrs. Margaret Lassiter, Mrs. Mary Frazier and Dr. Deborah P. Wolfe.

Among The Clubs

KING AND QUEEN Mrs. Ethel Clay was hostess to the club at her home, 1901 N. Fulton Avenue, Tuesday.

Plans were made for an excursion to Longwood Gardens in Delaware on July 21. Mrs. Henriette Scott is chairman of this project.

At cards, first prize went to Mrs. Eliza Carpenter, second to Mrs. Sarah Brown and third to Mrs. Gertrude Patterson.

Milton Dorsey is president of the club and Mrs. Theresa Fonseca is financial secretary. Other members include Mrs. Henrietta Woods, and John Johnson.

* * *

SUNFLOWER — Plans were made for a tea on July 7th, when the club was entertained by Mrs. Mamie Allen of 234 Whittier Avenue, recently.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Myrtle Cockrell, Mary Scott, Margaret Simms, Blanche White, Mamie Allen and Isable Taylor.

Mrs. Cockrell is president of the group and Mrs. Scott is reporter.

BRIDGEVIEW — Mrs. Ethel D. Johnson was re-elected president of this 11-year-old neighborhood club, at its recent meeting.

Other officers inducted were:

Louis Frazier, first vice president; M. Doule, second vice president; Mrs. Goldie Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Laurie Parker, treasurer; and Mrs. Berea G. Manns, business manager and program chairman.

ECLIPSE — The club met with Mrs. Louise Harris of N. Caroline St., recently.

At cards, which followed the business session, prizes went to Mrs. Mary Smith, first; Mrs. Esther Thomas, second; and Mrs. Annie Willis, third.

Mrs. Viola Randolph was a guest. Mrs. Thomas is president.

TULIPS — The club members were entertained by Mrs. Martha Stewart of 2123 Walbrook Avenue, last week. Plans for a fall tea at the YWCA were discussed. Mrs. Othella Brown will entertain the club at the next meeting. Mrs. Mildred Brown heads the group.

FOR OUTSTANDING achievement in international shorthand contests, these four Cortez Peters Business School coeds won the Order of Greg Artists award. They are Misses Carroll, Henrietta Davis, Grace Caesar and Joyce Carroll.

ARUNDEL
IS THE QUALITY ICE CREAM WITH THAT OLD FASHIONED FLAVOR

THIS WEEK'S FOUNTAIN SPECIAL!
DOUBLE DIP ICE CREAM SODA
REG. 25¢
19¢

FLAVOR OF THE MONTH ARUNDEL-ICIOUS
ORANGE PINEAPPLE ICE CREAM
½ GAL.
99¢
REG. $1.10

18 ARUNDEL-ELICIOUS FLAVORS
Orange Pineapple
Pineapple Royale
Chocolate Marshmallow
Black Walnut
Vanilla
Peach
Cherry Vanilla
Vanilla Fudge
Butter Pecan
Pineapple
Strawberry
Chocolate
Banana Nut
Orange Sherbet
Pineapple Sherbet
Raspberry Sherbet
Lime Sherbet
Lemon Sherbet

THE SCALE TELLS THE TALE
Every Arundel hand-packed pint gives you 16 ozs. by weight. Machine filled pints weigh far less. Make your own by-by the Arundel hand-packed way.

DO YOU KNOW . . .
ARUNDEL WILL DELIVER

Arundel-Icious ice cream comes individually wrapped.
Tinted ice cream molds, in 200 assorted forms.
Ice cream, party favors, jelly beans, cookies.
CALL CE. 3-5100
Or Order at Your Arundel Store
ARUNDEL ICE CREAM STORES
EVERYWHERE IN BALTIMORE