Goal of $2,900 set on Clean Block prizes

Hundreds of prospective Clean Block captains, adult advisers and friends will gather at the Willard Allen Auditorium of the Prince Hall Masonic Temple, Friday, June 21, at 10 a.m. for the 1963 kick - off rally of the AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

The Prince Hall Masonic Temple is located at 1307 Eutaw Pl. near Lanvale St.

A call is going out for contributions to the prize fund. The goal this is $2,900, $100 for each year that the campaign has been in existence.

* * *

THE MONEY will be used to award prizes to youngsters who will be spending most of the summer working in blocks throughout the city.

The contributions in the past have come from civic-minded citizens interested in beautifying Baltimore. Last year some 15,000 youngsters took part in the clean up campaign. It is hoped that this year, a larger number will answer the call.

Mrs. Jeanette Leath, new director of the AFRO Clean Block Campaign, is hopeful that adults will encourage neighborhood youngsters to sign up for the program.

Rules and regulations will be explained June 22. Interested persons are advised to call the Clean Block Office weekdays from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p.m. or listen to WEBB Radio, Saturdays at 9:15 a. m. for AFRO Clean Block News.

The list of contributors to the prize fund so far includes:

Mr. Joseph Paul — $56.25
Pepsi Cola Foundation — $25
Real Estate Board — $25
James W. Rouse and Co. — $25
Joseph E. Seagram — $25

1962 WINNING BLOCK in the AFRO Clean Block campaign was this one, 600 block of Brice St. The block, spruced up under direction of Miss Lula May Jackson of 611 N. Brice St. and Alvin Brown, co-captains. The block took first place over 127 others last year. The judges selected it because of its uniform green and white appearance, its floral arrangements and the original motif designed by the Clean Blockers. Which will be the best block this year? The contest is wide open.

18 Morgan graduates win fellowship, study grants

Fellowships and other grants for graduate study that range from $1,000 up have been fowarded 18 Morgan State College June graduates, President Martin D. Jenkins announced today.

Two Woodrow Wilson Teaching Fellowships, valued in excess of $1,500, a John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowship, a Fulbright Fellowship for study abroad and a $2,000 assistantship at the University of Maryland are among the major awards claimed by Morgan graduates.

Top "scholarship getter" among the Morgan graduates is Nike Roiba, chemistry major from Athens, Greece.

Fearful that she would have difficulty in getting financial assistance for graduate study "because I am not an American," Nike wrote 14 colleges and universities applying for graduate assistance.

ELEVEN OF them responded — all offering scholarships that ranged up to a $2,700 teaching assistanship for nine months.

The scholarship offers came from Boston University, the University of Michigan, Ohio, the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Connecticut, Michigan State University, the University of Illinois, the University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State University, and Wayne State University.

"So you see, it wasn't difficult at all," Nike says.

She has decided to accept the teaching assistantship at Wayne State University where she will "try to work for my Ph.D. degree in organic chemistry."

Miss Robia was graduated with high honor, the fourth ranking student in the June graduating class.

* * *

WINNERS OF Woodrow Wilson Teaching Fellowships, which are awarded as a means of recruiting able persons for teaching careers are Charlotte L. Arbelada, a mathematics major who plans to study at the University of Wisconsin, and Jean E. Wiley, an English major, who plans to study at the University of Michigan. Both are Baltimoreans.

Another Baltimorean, M. Reginald Lewis, won a John Hay Whitney Opportunity Fellowship valued at $1,500 which he will use to study at Boston University next year.

Fulbright Fellowship winner in the class is Melvena L. Green, also of Baltimore, who will study at the University of Hamburg, in Germany next year. Miss Green is a sociology major.

Winner of an assistantship to the University of Maryland is Joe L. Alston, ranking student in the class. A Baltimorean, Mr. Alston will study mathematics.

* * *

OTHER FELLOWSHIP and scholarship winners, their awards and the institutions at which they plan to study are:

Annie Belle Covington of Baltimore, Spanish major, a $2,400 fellowship to Wayne State University;

James G. Dashiell, Jr., Psychology, of Baltimore, a Southern Education Foundation Fellowship to the University of Florida.

Arrie Davis, English, Baltimore, an $1,800 assistantship at Hunter College;

Katherine Evans of East Elmhurst, L.I., N.Y., an $1,800 assistantship in health education at Hunter College;

Ophelia Gilmer, French, of Annapolis, Md., a Regional Scholarship valued at $1,000 to Atlanta University;

Ella J. Grady, of Baltimore, a Business Education major, a scholarship of $1,440 to New York University;

* * *

IRENE JEFFERS, of Millington, Md., Physical Education, a $1,600 assistantship, Kent State College;

Dorothy Jeffries, Baltimore, a French major, a Regional Scholarship valued at $1,000 to Atlanta University;

Jewel Fierce, Brooklyn, N.Y., Sociology, a $1,000 Fellowship at Bank Street College;

Malachi Knowles, Riviera Beach, Fla., Georgraphy, an $1,800 fellowship to Pennsylvania State University;

Demetrius J. Plessas, of Athens, Greece, Economics, a $1,900 assistantship to Wayne State University; and Robert S. Smith, of Baltimore, an $1,800 assistantship in mathematics at Pennsylvania State University.

For all his trouble, he got $1.60

Wednesday morning a 20-year-old woman was threatened at gun point, and a cab driver robbed of his money, then his cab. Police said, all three crimes were committed by the same man.

According to Western district police, it all started at about 5:30 a.m., as Miss Barbara Parker, 2000 W. North Ave., sat on her front steps waiting for her mother to awaken.

She stated that a man came up to her and pointed a .22 Cal. pistol at her stomach. "Do you want to live, come with me," she told police he said.

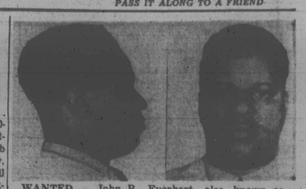
And as she preceded him down the street, another man appeared, and her capturer apparently fearful crossed the street and hailed an approaching taxi-cab.

* * *

THE TAXI-DRIVER, Ernest L. Bailey, 50, 300 block N. Gay St., later told police that the man, said to be about 25-years-old, asked to be taken to North and Pennsylvania Aves.

Mr. Bailey stated that at North Ave., and Carey St., the man told him to stop, demanded, at gun point, his money ($1.60), and ordered him from the cab.

He said the man then drove off. The cab was recovered five hours later, at Fort and Bird Sts. The suspect is still free.



WANTED — John B. Everhart, also known as James B. Everhart, Harold Everhart, John B. Everhart and Slick, is wanted by the FBI for fleeing the state of Georgia to avoid confinement after being sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1956 killing of a love rival. After the slaying he shot an officer four times. He escaped on July 14, 1958 and has vowed he will not be taken alive. Born June 24, 1922 in Atlanta, he is 5'6" to 5'6½", weighs 175 to 187. Everhart has a small scar outer side left eye, scar back of left hand, scar upper right forearm and scar on right middle finger and may be wearing a mustache. Everhart should be considered extremely dangerous. Anyone who comes into information about him should contact the nearest FBI Office.

Waxter-type director backed for welfare job

The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare has approved a resolution calling for the appointment of someone to the position as director of Public Welfare for the State of Maryland who would continue "to carry out the philosophy of the late Thomas J. S. Waxter".

In the resolution introduced by Dr. Aubrey Richardson and approved by the Conference Tuesday, it is stated that "the interests of all citizens of Maryland who are concerned with welfare needs of the under privileged, who cannot speak for themselves, were so ably served by the late Mr. Waxter's competent and humane administration."

The resolution calls Governor to appoint a man who will continue "Mr. Waxter's social philosophy and affirmative faith in the capacity of people to make constructive use of public assistance and social services in rehabilitating themselves to become respective and contributing members of our society."

Soft Whiskey, explained.

Or, rather, partially explained. (To protect all our years of hard work, there are certain things about the distilling and blending of Soft Whiskey that we can't reveal.)

To begin with, Soft Whiskey is as whiskey a whiskey as any whiskey you can buy.

But it's the first hard liquor that isn't "hard."

That means no "hard" edge to sting-bite-burn you on the way down. (One of the revealable ways we take off that "hard" edge is by doing some of our distilling in small batches, instead of the usual large batch method.)

It's a pleasure to drink this 86 proof whiskey straight—there's no heat in it to detract from your enjoyment. Just warmth. The flavor is rich and full, yet it swallows easy. In mixed drinks, it doesn't fight the mixer. It blends smoothly, yet doesn't lose itself. (You might call it the ideal whiskey.)

Distillers have been working on the Soft Whiskey Idea for years. But until recently it was only a pipe-dream. Nobody was able to produce it. At our distillery alone, there were more than 22,000 experiments before we hit it. That's a lot of trial and error. (Anybody who wants to reproduce Soft Whiskey is welcome to try. Lots of luck.)

To sum up—Soft Whiskey can do anything "hard" liquor can do. It just does it softer.

Before you sample Calvert Extra, the Soft Whiskey, there's something you ought to know: you may never touch a drop of "hard" liquor again.

NAFAD chapter holds annual Designers Show

The Blue Room in the Alcazar Hotel was filled to capacity a Sunday ago, when the Baltimore Chapter of NAFAD displayed original fashion to an appreciative audience.

Fashion from "sun and fun" casuals to formal wear were designed by Maxine Bdyd, Dorothy Stokes, June Lockett, Gwendolyn Biddle, Edna Smith, Marian Ross, and Bernice Watson.

Original jewelry by Edith LeBeach and hats by Nell Sheridan rounded out the show.

OTHER MEMBERS of the chapter are Connie Johnson, Dazee Rawlings and Ohrea Mitchell. Mazie Odelle Rea narrated.

Guest model was Andy Byron, native of B. W. I. now resident of Palmyra, N.J., who modeled a riding habit, smoking jacket, rain wear and business suit. To top his wardrobe was a smoke grey formal suit, all designed and made by Lucille Stewart of the Camden, N.J., chapter of NAFAD.

The judges were Mrs. Anne Wilson of Douglass High School and Mrs. Elsie Lappe of a downtown department store. They selected pieces to be modeled in the National Convention show in the Sheraton Hotel in Chicago July 17-21.

The models were Patrica Press, Gwendolyn Conway, Mable Burton, Melinee Yerrell, Barbara Sullivan, Joyce Taylor, Gwendolyn Biddle and Benita Bentley.

Murphys celebrate; Sheila Shields wed

By Lula Jones Garrett

The James H. (Yvette) Murphys chalked up 25 years of happy marriage, this week, and marked the achievement with open house on Sunday.

Said Yvette "You know, I'd always said I was going to 'hire a band' on this anniversary...but oh well, then I thought how nice it would be to have a few friends around."

But they practically did "hire a band," what with the "few intimates around" turning out to be some 32 couples, plus a score or more of unattched friends . . . who began dropping in around four in the afternoon, and finally cleared the domain past midnight...and who in the interim dined from an elaborate buffet, sipped punch or stayed with the champagne.

Two of the original wedding party were there...Howard H. Murphy, who had been his brother's best man and Bayonne Jones, who was a bridesmaid. Special addition was Mrs. Jones' daughter, Joyce Hopkins, who had been an undetected part of the wedding party. Another bridesmaid, Thelma Whitlow, phoned from Tulsa, Okla.

Others there included:

Messrs. and Mesdames William Gosnell, Leroy Taylor, Harold Kent, Hirac Butler, John Rich, Charles Hicks, Charles Law, Medford Reynolds.

Messrs and Mesdames Tom Warrington, Benjamin Foreman, William Stanford, Lonnie Green, Arnett Frisby, D. Arnett Murphy, Rudolph Wheeler, Howard H. Murphy, William Murphy,

Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Garvin, Albert Moore, John Murphy III, Robert Williams, Theodore Hythe, John Richardsons, Edgar Ewings, Edward Shipley, Hubert Spelman,

Messrs. and Mesdames Sheton Coles, Lester Norris, P. D. G. Pennington, Maurice Jones, Drs. and Mesdames Cecil Gloster, Albert Burwell, Maurice Adams, Fred Adams, Josiah Henry, Theodore Phifer, Lonnie Greene, W. Leroy Berry, Saul Perdue,

Mesdames Irma Dixon, Elizabeth Phillips, Lydia Mussenden, Pearl Brackett, Lula Patterson, Lillian Murphy, Gertrude Urquhart, Olga Chambers, Rose Davidson, Emily Jones;

Misses Brenda Hythe, who presided at the punch bowl, Elizabeth Johnson; Dr. Garland Chissell and Cliff Mackay.
