ment, three local chain store outlets in Princess Anne—A. and P. Food Store, Acme Market and Silco Store, all on Main St., are seeking colored applicants and have promised to employ one colored worker, in each of the stores within two weeks.

"I'm telling you that I was the one who met with the various groups involved, not to give myself credit for what has happened, but to point out a fact.

"At those meetings I was carrying out the conclusions of the the bi - racial committee," Mr. Jones pointed out.

He also noted that local officials and businessmen have congratulated him and the commission on its accomplishments.

Mr. Jones expressed the appreciation of the bi - racial commission to certain faculty members and Maryland State College officials, particularly two students at the college, John Wilson, a native of Princess Anne, and James Boardley, of Annapolis.

"These persons are genuinely interested in the future of Princess Anne and largely through their efforts and cooperation we have been able to approach these problems in an atmosphere of calmness and re- " said.

PRINCESS ANNE, the county seat of Governor J. Millard Tawes' home county, is the site of Maryland State College with an approximate enrollment of 650 students. Dr. J. T. Williams is president.

The College which is a branch of the University of Maryland, is mostly colored. But recently local white applicants have made their bids to enter the school this fall.

Mahlon Price, president of the town commissioners, in expressing the approval and appreciation of the commissioners of the action taken, urged local citizens to support it.

Commissioner Price has also stated that the 14 member bi - racial committee will continue to function and "will serve as a clearing house and advisary group in future negotiation.

There are four colored members of the bi - racial committee. They are, Mrs. Erenein Jackson, a teacher; Dr. E. G. Marksman, the Rev. Richard H. Thomas, a local minister; and Scott Dennis, a shoe repairman.

"Restaurant owners here should get a lot of the credit," Mr. Jones asserted. "They put their livelihood on the line."

Married, and the father of three children, Mr. Jones, practices law with his father. He met his wife in England while studying English Literature there.

His attitude toward race relations underwent a significant transformation when he left this isolated Eastern Shore community to go to college, serve in the Army, to travel and to study law.

He told this reporter that a man, ". . . who has more than a nodding acquaintance with the constitution and takes the moral and religious teaching of Christianity seriously can only come to one conclusion" about desegregation.

Mr. Jones' conclusion and firm belief is that "integration, is right." He and others in Princess Anne are shying away from publicity and sensationalism because the community doesn't want to upset the progress made.

Joint announcement was made Wednesday morning by the Somerset County Board of Education, the five largest churches, eight of the nine restaurants and three local chain stores that racial discrimination is now eliminated, as a matter of policy in the fields of education, religion, public accommodations and employment.

The official statement of the Somerset County Board of Education reads:

The present policies of the Somerset County Board of Education is as follows:

(1) The Schools of the county are legally desegregated as a result of the actions of the United States Supreme Court, the Maryland State Board of Education and the Somerset County Board of Education.

(2) Applications for entrance or transfer of bonafide residents of the county will be considered by the school staff without consideration of race."

School Superintendent John Bond said the statement followed unanimous agreement by School Board members.

THE CHURCH statement reads as follows: The Princess Anne Ministerial Association releases the following statement.

Whereas the Christian church seeks to minister to the needs of all mankind and to impart the saving grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ under the guidance and direction of Holy Spirit, and

Whereas the church is the outward and visible sign of the inner spiritual bond, and,

Whereas the church is where the word of God is let it therefore be known that all the Christian churches of Princess Anne are open to all people."

THE CHURCH statement is signed by Omro Todd, Antioch Methodist; B. J. Ferguson, First Baptist; R. D. Simmons, Manokin Presbyterian; Samuel Tatum, Metropolitan Methodist; Robert Isnay, St. Andrews Episcopal.

THE LOCAL restaurant owners followed the desegregation of the town's only movie theatre which was announced several weeks past.

Mr. Jones expresses appreciation of the bi-racial committee to certain faculty members, church officials and particularly to two students of Maryland State College.

The two students, John Wilson, a native of Princess Anne, and James Boardley of Annapolis.

—Girls beaten

ing of 21 workers for the Student Non - Violent Co-ordinating Committee and 24-hour police harassment have turned Albany into a near concentration camp.

The latest incident of police brutality — the beating of a 15 year old girl and a 13 year old girl in jail — appears to be the spark that has touched off deep resentment in the colored community.

Jean Wheeler of Detroit, a Howard University senior and one of the jailed SNICK workers, is now in the sixth day of a hunger strike.

"PLEASE let the public know how desperate the situation has become," said Joyce Barrett, SNICK field worker, in a telephone conversation from Albany with the Washington AFRO.

"There is a great potential for violence here which we are trying to prevent," she said. "But the police have aggravated the colored community to the point where something serious will happen unless the Federal government steps in or something is done."

Miss Barrett said SNICK had come to Albany to initiate a voter registration campaign and to mobilize the colored community to demonstrate against segregation in the town of 56,000.

However, the police began jailing the SNICK workers on Monday, June 17. Presently, 10 SNICK girls and 11 SNICK boys are in jail.

The remaining five SNICK workers, according to Miss Barrett who happens to be white and a member of the predominantly colored Delta Sigma Theta sorority, are holed up in the Shiloh Baptist Church at Jefferson and Whitney Streets.

Asked how they were eating, Miss Barrett said the townspeople had been bringing them food. "We're sleeping on the floor of the church," "Rev. H. C. Boyd, the pastor of the church, has been very good to us," she said.

Despite the obviously grim nature of her plight, Miss Barrett still hadn't lost her sense of humor. How do you feel, this reporter asked her.

"I feel like I want to get out of here and talk to some people," she said with just a trace of a laugh in her voice.

As Miss Barrett was talking, she described how the police were constantly patrolling the church. "Two squad cars just passed," she said.

Police surrounded the church Tuesday, she said, "their excsuse being a search for an alleged fugitive."

There have been a series of bomb threat calls to the church, according to Miss Barrett.

THE NATIONAL Council of Negro Women issued a statement Tuesday on the critical situation in Albany.

A REPORT prepared by Roslyn Cheagle, Youth Organizer for NCNW, for the board of directors was made public. "Police brutality and harassment in Albany are extremely cruel," said the report.

"A 16 year old girl was picked up bodily by the police and thrown to the sidewalk three times. After kicking the police, she was beaten and jailed.

"A seventy-year--old woman while standing on her porch reacted to the police beating a demonstator. The woman in turn was pulled from her porch, beaten and left in the street in a semi-conscious state," said the NCNW report.

ONE OBSERVER pointed out that the Albany police obviously didn't fear Federal intervention with the President out of the country and appeared to be acting from the conviction that the Attorney General also would refuse to act, no matter how desperate the situation became.

CORE to demonstrate; target Westminster and Gwynn Oak

The local chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality announced this week plans for massive demonstrations, with more than 500 participants, in Westminster and Gwynn Oak Park.

The demonstration, scheduled for July 4, Independence Day, was announced by the organization's vice chairman, John C. Roemer III, following the approval of the plans at a meeting Wednesday night.

"Unless there is substantial progress made in these areas toward integration before the fourth, 37 statewide and national groups, will stage one of the largest demonstrations, sponsored by CORE," said Mr. Roemer.

WALTER CARTER, former chairman of the interracial organization told the AFRO Thursday.

"The authorities in Westminster and Gwynn Oak, leave us with no other choice but to demonstrate. They have flatly refused to cooperate with us in our attempts to settle this problem without demonstrations."

He continued, "We have written them letters, and we have telegrams seeking to negotiate, but they have refused to even talk with us.

"CORE is determined, that on Independence Day we will all go to jail if immediate action is not taken by Westminster and Gwynn Oak authorities to bring an end to segregation and discrimination."

MR. ROEMER also stated to the AFRO, "The owner of the Park and the officials of the town are adamantly supporting the evils of segregation and their attitudes have created a situation where only equally determined massive demonstrations are likely to guarantee full human rights to everyone.

The demonstration groups plan to meet at the Metropolitan Methodist Church, Carrollton Ave., and Lanvale St., at 10 a.m., and will proceed to Westminster and Gwynn Oak Park by bus and cars.

'Good cop' for six, judge gives him ten

Richard T. Shields, 36, a good cop for six years, was sentenced to 10 years in the House of Correction Wednesday for armed robbery of an East Baltimore sandwich shop.

The ex-policeman, father of six, who gave an address in the 2000 block of Ashland Ave., was found guilty in Criminal Court by Judge Edward D. E. Rollins.

He was convicted of armed robbery of an E. 22nd St. restaurant that netted him $116.

Shields, who left the police force in 1957, told the court that the robbery was unplanned and came to him after he entered the shop for hamburgers and saw only two people inside.

Victims were Mrs. Mary Disney and Edith Lloyd, a private detective, of the 5100 block Roland Ave.

ROBBERY OF MR. LLOYD, defense attorney Joseph Rosenthal was able to convince the court, was not armed since Shields had not displayed a gun until he later robbed Mrs. Disney of $83.

James W. McAllister, assistant states attorney, showed that Shields had borrowed both the car and gun he used in the robbery.

Shields told Judge Harlan the death of his wife in February had made him despondent and that he had been drinking heavily since then.

Rev. David H. Thomas injured in accident

By MELVINA EDWARDS

On the sick list is the Rev. David H. Thomas who has been in Calvert County Hospital for several weeks as the result of an automobile accident.

The Rev Frank Chambers formerly pastor of Ward's Church is ill at his home in Chesapeake Beach, Md.

Four young people joined St. Edmonds church after the Sunday services. They are Misses Maxine Coates, Miss Vera Brown, Mrs Mary Mason and Mrs. Gladys Coates.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Warren Gorman. His funeral was held Sunday at the St. Edmonds Methodist Church. Burial was in the church cemetery. The eulogy was delivered by the Rev. William Edwards.

Mrs. Annie Chandler of 916 Carrollton Ave., is recovering from an illness.

Valarie and Sharon, granddaughters of the Rev. and Mrs. Hilton A. Parker of Denlyn Rd., are visiting them on vacation.

CD changes go in effect on July 1

The Central Center Organization of the Western District Volunteer Civil Defense Organization, along with that of eight other CD centers, have been ordered to cease operations on July 1.

Charles N. Perry, district coordinator for the Western District, was informed of the action by Richard G. Prather, CD director for Baltimore City.

In a memorandum to volunteers of the district Mr. Perry, who turned their CD organization the finest in the city, expressed his appreciation to them as "dedicated workers who carried out their duties as duty, devoted, untiring and unselfish volunteers.

STARTING MONDAY the police commanders in each district will be in charge of the CD operations within his area and a military reserve officer will be placed in charge of the volunteers in a liaison capacity.

The volunteers have fought this plan because they feel that in the case of nuclear attack the police district commanders and military personnel will have their hands full with other duties.

Mr. Perry noted that although the Western District has had one, the best organization in the city, personnel wise, it was only through the support of AFRO stories and editorials that they recently received necessary communications equipment.

Other volunteer leaders in the Western CD district which took in the area of Baltimore St. on the south, Gwynns Falls on the West, North Ave. on the north and Paca St. to the east, included:

WILLIAM A. (BOX) Harris, operations; Floyd Owen intelligence; Albert B. Holley, executive; Mrs. Cora K. Lane, administrative; Mrs. Marie E. Hagner, personnel; Richard G. Perkins radiological, and Mrs. Rebecca Y. Thomas, control center chief.

Area coordinators serving the district were James E. Wheeler, Lindsay Alexander, area one; Miss Theodosia D. Baker, area two; John J. Sterrett, Mrs. Bernice McCullers, William Hall, area three; Ether P. Hill Sr., area four; Louis Corbin, area five; Mrs. Daisy Jackson, Vernon M. Young, area six; William Richardson, Mrs. Anne E. Wells, area seven, and Irvin K. Lindsay Sr., Jerome A. A. Walker, area eight.

Gambling stamps must be purchased

Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, reminds liquor dealers, proprietary gamblers, bowling alley, billiard parlor and pool room operators, establishments having coin operated gaming or amusement devices on their premises and certain businesses, that they must register with and purchase occupational tax stamps from the Internal Revenue Service.

The necessary forms have already been mailed to taxpayers who purchased occupational tax stamps in previous years, Machiz said.

On or before July 1, 1963, gamblers, businesses manufacturing, dealing in or maintaining for use gaming devices, narcotics, marihuana, firearms, stills, distilled spirits, wine or beer must register and pay for their occupational tax stamps.

Man shot taking pistol from assailant

A man was shot in the leg Monday evening when he attempted to wrestle a revolver away from one of three assailants who attacked him in the 1700 block Guilford Ave.

The victim, James J. Thompson, 25, reportedly told police that as he was sitting on his front steps he was approached by three men. One of the men allegedly accused him of having threatened him and said to the other two men, "Let's get him."

Thompson said that at this point one of the men started to pull a revolver but he grabbed him before he could get it from his belt. He said that during the struggle the pistol was discharged twice. The second shot hitting him in the left leg.

HE REPORTED that he eventually got the pistol, a 38 Cal. revolver, away from his assailant, but was then jumped by the other two men, at which time the gun discharged again.

One of the men, he stated, had a 10 - inch butcher knife and cut him in the back of his head, while the third man beat him with his fist.

Thompson stated that he managed to free himself again and the men fled.

When officers Robert Costin and Robert Dorsch arrived at the scene, after having called by a neighbor, they found Thompson sitting on his steps bleeding from his leg and head.

THE POLICE said that the victim turned over to them the revolver which he took from his assailants and the butcher knife the thugs left at the scene.

Thompson was taken to Mercy Hospital where he was admitted in satisfactory condition.
