SCHOOL BOARD SESSION on Wednesday was highlighted by appearance of representatives of Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance. They charged school administration with discrimination in appointments. Sherwood, Mrs. Maree Farring. Behind her Superintendent George Brain. Eli Frank Jr.; president of the Board; Dr. William D. McElroy, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Phillips and J. Percy Bond. Frank Williams, president of the Alliance, who also spoke; No. 3, Howard H. Murphy, co-chairman, Americans For Democratic Action; No. 4, the Rev. C. R. Coleman and No. 5, Mrs. Dorothy Sykes, one of 35 parents who prepared a report of school desegregation and presented it at a meeting last month.

—Discrimination in schools

sioners also voted Dr. Bard full professorial tenure.

DURING THE regular School Board meeting which followed, Superintendent George Brain was also voted a salary raise, not to exceed $30,000 a year. He presently receives $25,000.

This was considered an expression of the Board's confidence in him.

Commissioner William D. McElroy said in his travels and examination of other school system in the country, he had seen no administrator who "met up to Dr. Brain."

FOR WEDNESDAY'S third discussion of race and schools, the speakers were the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, Frank Williams Metropolitan Methodist.

The two ministers presented two formal statements on behalf of the 200 churches they represent.

They contained a blistering and documented study of specific instances where they alleged qualified colored school workers were not given promotions in line with their abilities.

The ministers used explanation attributed to Superintendent Brain and Dr. Houston R. Jackson assistant superintendent, as the basis for their contentions that the school superintendents had used criteria not "authorized" by the School Board in picking whites to hold key jobs at the expense of qualified colored workers.

THE MINISTERS' charges marked the first time that any critics of the school systems racial policies had specifically mentioned the names and compared the qualifications of white and colored professionals.

The Rev. Mr. Bascom set the tone of the Board's meeting when he firmly and angrily silenced School Commissioner John J. Sweeney, before beginning his presentation.

Mr. Sweeney, a lawyer, had asked Dr. Bascom the size of the Ministerial Alliance.

Dr Bascom answered "I would suggest 100 or 200 churches."

MR. SWEENEY then wanted to know if the Ministerial Alliance was a racially mixed organization.

The Rev. Mr. Bascom's "No it is not and I" might add it is not because they (white ministers) have not been invited."

Laughingly, Mr. Sweeney, then said, "It's just de facto segregation, is that it?"

The minister looked sternly at the commissioner. "Don't put words in my mouth."

Mr. Sweeney mumbled inaudibly. Dr. Bascom, again warned him. "Do not put words in my mouth."

BEFORE THIS exchange Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Phillips, school commissioner had taken issue with Board Chairman Eli M. Frank Jr., when further personnel changes were under consideration.

Mrs. Phillips, who broke with tradition a week earlier by voting against the job list, voted "no" again when it was presented.

"I feel compelled to vote no." She said and as she had done at the previous meeting, read a written statement explaining her vote, and asked that same become a part of the minutes.

"Let's stick to the subject," said Chairman Frank to Mrs. Phillips "Your remarks about segregation do not meet with a favorable response with many members of the Board."

"I did not say segregation." Mrs. Phillips explained, passing to Mr. Frank a second copy of her statement, "I said desegregation. They are not the same thing."

MRS. PHILLIPS' formal remarks stated, in part: "I feel compelled to vote no on the personnel recommendations submitted for our approval today. I feel very strongly that we must move faster in desegregation of teacher assignment, promotion and transfer, as well as pupil transfer and assignment and elimination of districting before the reopening of schools.

"In my opinion, we can not afford to fall back on past laurels. There has been much progress. We need more progress and we need it now."

CHAIRMAN FRANK sought to interrupt and advised Mrs. Phillips "now wait a minute, you're getting on to something else — that's not assignment and transfer."

Mrs. Phillips inquired, whether she was being denied an opportunity to continue reading her 83 - word statement, reminding Mr. Frank that a 340-word statement to his fellow board members had been read from Dr. William S. Stone.

Dr. Stone was absent to attend a University of Maryland Medical School Faculty Board meeting.

She continued reading her statement.

IN HIS STATEMENT Dr. Stone expressed concern that "the School Board has allowed its program to become almost exclusively involved with problems of race during the last three months.

"Because of this situation we have forced the Baltimore City School Administration to devote its time to answering questions on race and its social implications to the extent that very little time has been available to consider the educational needs of the students."

He called this a "regrettable situation" and stated his confidence in the public school system and felt the School Board's policies were being followed carefully by administrators.

EVEN AS the Board meeting began with some 35 persons occupying the public seating section, the Board was in receipt of a telegram from Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell urging Mr. Frank to set a date for a conference with NAACP officials.

Mrs. Mitchell reminded the Board that at her June 9th appearance before the Commissioners she had outlined continuing segregation in public schools here.

She noted that she had offered the services of Miss June Shagaloff, NAACP educational expert, to work out speeded up desegregation procedures. (Miss Shagaloff had also appeared before the Board on June 9).

So far, said Mrs. Mitchell, there had been no response from the Board.

After the meeting, Mr. Frank told newsmen that he hoped to call a meeting with NAACP representatives upon his return from Europe in July.

BASCOM CHARGES

Dr. Bascom took issue with Department of Education officials on reasons advanced for promoting certain white school workers.

At a conference on June 6, the ministers say Dr. Brain and Dr. Jackson stated at least one white educator had been promoted to principal termed "post - segregation" promotions of recent years that have operated to exclude" colored workers from advancing in the school system.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The main portions of the statements by Rev. Williams and Bascom are included at the because of his "participation in community affairs."

Another reason given for the promotions the ministers questioned was that workers appointed had "writing" published in connection with their professional interests.

DR. BASCOM then told the Commissioners that such standards as cited by the superintendents were outside the School Board's own policy concerning promotion and hiring of professionals.

"All of these arguments," Dr. Bascom asserted, "point up the fact that the Board of School Superintendents has been utilizing criteria that they have not been empowered to use by the Board of School Commissioners."

"Again we call for the recision of all appointments made by the operation of the 'community participation' criterion."

BOARD president Frank who had introduced the Rev. Mr. Bascom as a fine person, was apparently miffed when the minister concluded his remarks, and then requested that a statement from the Rev. Mr. Williams also be heard.

"It's a shame," said Mr. Frank, "that you don't come or take the time allotted to you." (The presentation set for 15 minutes, took 20 minutes).

This was Mr. Frank's reference to the failure of the ministers to appear the week before as announced. The Rev. Mr. Bascom explained later that there was a misunderstanding, as the Board had met Wednesday instead of its regular Thursday time.

MR. FRANK said he preferred that the Rev. Mr. Williams statement be accepted, but not read as the ministers' delegation had exceeded the time allowed.

Dr. Bascom answered that he would "certainly insist lovingly" that his fellow ministers be permitted to read his statement also. Mr. Frank yielded, commenting, "All right I certainly won't refuse the cloth."

The Rev. Mr. Williams, president of the Ministerial Alliance, then presented his statement, a ten-minute reading.

HE SAID: "... some members of the Board were dissatisfied with the extent of promotion of colored persons.

"We submit that we too are deeply disturbed at the promotions with regard to the secondary school assignments of colored. They are all of a minor nature and they have continued the obvious policy of assigning colored to minor positions only in the secondary schools.

"... we view these appointments as token only and they most certainly are not accepted able to the population that we represent.

"Another factor that must be taken into account is that colored who are "promotionally qualified" are still continued in minor positions while whites get major assignments. The tragedy is that you are continuing a policy that has been in force for years and setting the stage for its maintenance for years to come."

Then Rev. Mr. Williams

Jewish Council shocked by Medgar Evers murder

Medgar Evers' death should serve as a source of renewed determination to bring all Americans full justice and equality of opportunity, the Washington NAACP was told.

In a letter to the Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, president of the local NAACP, the Jewish Council of Greater Washington and its 121 member organizations, expressed shock and outrage at the murder.

"We are profoundly saddened b this brutal act and together with you and with his bereaved family, we mourn the tragic and untimely death of this good man," the Council stated.

"Evers is a true martyr, a hero who fell in the holy struggle for justice.

"In the real and significant sense his death is no dier-end of this news story.

COMMISSIONER McElroy had a question for the Rev. Mr. Bascom at the conclusion of the ministers' statements. He inquired whether he would agree to an outside, impartial committee's study of Department of Education hiring policies.

Commissioner John Sherwood then touched off another word battle when he leaned forward and shouted to the minister, "Answer yes or no."

The minister cautioned Mr. Sherwood not to tell him how to respond to a question. Board President Frank advised, "Now wait a minute, John . . .

Mr. Sherwood: — "I'm sorry."

Dr. Bascom: — "You've been sorry all afternoon." This referred to Mr. Sherwood's previous interruptions of speakers. After a few ing points clarified, he stated "I'm sorry."

DR. McELROY also told the minister that his statement was "exactly the kind of information we need to know."

Dr. Bascom answered: — "We are not trying to make whipping boys out of anybody. Our problem is to find out how we can overcome the 100 years of inequities that have prevailed.

"If every colored person in the system were promoted, we still would not have caught up.

WHEN ASKED by Dr. McElroy what suggestions he could make, Dr. Bascom said that he was confident that the Department of Education staff had skill and ability enough to solve problems he had just aired.

"With a superintendent who had just received a raise in salary," he said, gesturing toward Dr. Brain, "Then I say by golly, he'd better get busy."

Board Commissioner, Mrs. Maree Farring, then read a statement which said in part:

"As a result of the various statements being made in the community to the effect that assignment and promotion of staff members be on the basis of race, many teachers and citizens have expressed their alarm to me.

"These statements do serious damage to the morale of the staff at the very time when the Board must call upon the staff for added effort to meet the present challenge. In my judgment promotion can only be on the basis of merit.

THIS LIVELY meeting marked Dr. Brain's first public response to critics of school racial policies.

He took exception to the statements of the Reverends Bascom and Williams, saying that the discussion they alluded to had been with two ministers.

He said also that he would prepare a public statement on the ministers' charges, "to set the record straight."

IN THE audience during this meeting was the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, who along with the Rev. S. T. Wooten, had previously talked with Superintendents Brain and Jackson.

Also present was Mrs. Zena Sykes, one of the parents who compiled and presented to the Board the first report on desegregation in public schools which originally touched off the racial controversy.

Howard H. Murphy of Americans for Democratic Action was also an observer, as was the Rev. Clinton Coleman, Pennsylvania Ave. AME.Z.

A curious sidelight was a confidential letter issued to Board Members during the ministers' presentations.

The Rev. Mr. Coleman handed them to the Commissioners but neither Alliance spokesmen nor Board members would comment on the contents of the letter.

The meeting began promptly at 4 p.m. and lasted an hour and a half.

It was comfortable beside the air - conditioned School Board room, despite the 93 - 95 degree temperature. Occasionally, the noise of the air condition drowned out speakers' voices.

Commissioner Sidney H. Tinley Jr., was the only other Board member besides Dr. Stone not present.

The seven commissioners present were Eli Frank Jr., J. Percy Bond, Mrs. Maree Farring, Dr. William D. McElroy, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy Phillips, John R. Sherwood and John J. Sweeney Jr.
