Thomas and Alma Harris were hosts to the ladies' sister, Dr. Anna Julian of Oak Park, Ill., this week. Dr. Julian and daughter, Faith, had been attending the 50th anniversary sessions of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in New York. Joining the family union were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley of Wilberforce.

Mrs. Carrie Gross spent the week in Pittsburgh, Pa., attending the Shriners convention. Mrs. Gross is recordress of the Daughters of Isis of Jerusalem Court. With her was her sister, Mrs. Mamie E. Kennard.

Recent guest of Mrs. Ida Wroten was Helene Slater, newly elected national epistoleus of Lambda Kappa Mu Sorority. Miss Slater is now charge d' affairs of LKM's official publication, the Acorn. The purpose of her visit here was to confer with former National Epistoleus Wroten, so as to effect a smooth change of hands, tie up loose ends and plan for the coming year. Helene also visited her aunt, Mrs. Polly Meyers of Littleton Road and was entertained by Iola Chapter basileus Susie Myles and Soror Zerita Skates.

Incidentally, after the LKM conclave recently, Mrs. Wroten, Dorothy Pollard and Louise Turks motored to Montreal, Canada. From there they launched out on a ten-day tour of that area.

THE GALAXY ROOM of Friendship Airport was the setting for an exciting party on Thursday. The occasion was the birthdays of Mrs. Ruby Tinsley Owings and her grandson, six - year - old Cornelius, 3rd.

They used the incident of Charlotte Tinsley Davenport's flying to Chicago to join her husband, George, to draw the honoree to the Airport. Mr. Davenport has been attending Chicago University this summer.

The table was beautifully decorated with flowers under soft candlelight . . . and the menu ranged from pablum for the littlest ones to steaks and lobster for the elders, according to individual taste.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Tinsley, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fauntleroy, Mr. and Mrs. George Harding, Mrs. Audrey Stokes, Mrs. Norma Faulkner, Mrs. Charlotte Davenport;

Misses Norma Fauntleroy, Elaine Fauntleroy, Kathryn Davenport, Jo Ann Faulkner, Pamela Davenport, Evelyn Harding, Debbie Tinsley, Patricia Tinsley;

Cornelius Tinsley, 3rd., George Davenport, John Faulkner, 2nd., and Wendell Tinsley, Ronald and Ernest Stokes who were not present sent gifts.

WHEN ESTELLENA BIRCHE SHOWES came down from Cleveland to visit the family, last week, friends, colleagues and former students gave her a most unique surprise.

Each hour throughout the day, until one ayem, someone dropped into the home of her mother, Mrs. Eula Birche, to say adieu and to leave a gift.

Estellena, former dance instructor at Douglass High School, resigned this year to join her husband, Richard, now in the insurance business in Cleveland, Ohio.

And no gift came in more handily than the "crying towel" put together by Mildred Belcher, a former coworker.

There were gifts from Douglass students, a gift certificate from the physical education department, and one, of course, from the school.

Others came from Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer, Joseph Goldman, Dennis Crosby, Milton Belcher, Vernice Matthews, Alice Stubbs, Iola Thomas, Doris B. White, Genesta Lane, Laura Jones and Howard Page.

Miss Gloria McCrea, James Clark married

Miss Gloria Ann McCrea, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lee McCrea, Sr., and James Edward Clark of Elizabeth, N. J., son of Mrs. Lillian Clark and the late Edward Clark, exchanged marriage vows here recently.

The double - ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Elijah Holmes of Roselle, N. J.

Miss Josephine Bowens of Philadelphia, Pa., provided the organ music and Miss Hannah Nicholason of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cannon of Washington, D. C., were soloists.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantelly lace over white silk organza, made with a squared neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. Her finger - tip veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a Bible topped with yellow gardenias and orchids.

Miss Patricia McCrea, maid of honor, and Mrs. Shirlene Snowden, matron of honor, wore dresses of yellow satin with chiffon capes.

The bridesmaids, whose dresses were identical to that of the honor attendant, wore from the deepest shades of lilac to the lightest shades. They carried bouquets match-

The bridesmaids were ing their dresses.

Misses Carolyn Austin, Mrs. Marian McCrea and Mrs. Sylvia Hamlin of this city, Miss Vera Evans, Mrs. Mildred Evans and Mrs. Dorothy Holmes, of N. J.

The Jr., bridesmaids were La Donna Durham of this city and Beverly Charles of Elizabeth, N. J. who wore dresses of mint green chiffon.

WATSON STEWART was best man. Ushers were John L. Holmes, George Holmes and Richard Clark, of N. J., also Charles D. McCrea, Grover L. McCrea Jr., and 1st Lt., Rufus J. McCrea, of this city.

Billy Evans, N. J., and Thomas Forbes, this city, were ushers.

Daryl McCrea was ring bearer. Vanessa L. McCrea and Renae Hamlin, whose dresses were white chiffon, were flower girls.

The mother of the bride wore a blue satin sheath with laced bodice and a side drape with matching blue hat and shoes. Her corsage was a blue orchid.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a pink lace sheath with matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was a pink orchid.

A RECEPTION was held in the church following the ceremony. Hostess was Mrs. Flora Forbes, of this city.

Following their wedding trip, the newlyweds will reside in Roselle, N. J.

The bride is a graduate of Dunbar High School and was employed at the State Office Building as a secretary.

JAMES E. CLARK of Elizabeth, N.J. and his bride, the former Gloria Ann McCrea, leave Bethel Holy Tabernacle following their marriage in Baltimore, Sunday.

Mr., Mrs. Ronald O. Williams celebrate 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roland O. Williams celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage in their home at 119 N. Gay St., Saturday.

Mrs. Williams is the former Miss Naomi Chester. She and Mr. Williams are parents of five sons: Clayton, Jeremiah, Ellwood, Samuel and Leonard, all adopted.

A program of music and remarks featured the celebration, with the main address by Bishop T. R. Young.

• • •

HOSTS FOR the affair included Elder and Mrs. J.E. Wills, Mrs. Victoria Young and members of Mt. Moriah Church of God in Christ.

A dinner was served.

Guests included:

Bishop and Mrs. Young, Mesdames Florence Williams, Mary O'Brien, Jessie Perry, Edity Young, Carrie Mae Johnson, Mae Williams.

Policeman's son hurt during row

An argument between two teen-age boys Tuesday afternoon climaxed with a stabbing which sent one of them, a policeman's son, to the hospital, and the other to jail.

In fair condition at Provident Hospital is James H. Watkins Jr., 19, who is being treated for knife wounds of the chest, thigh and stomach. Watkins is of the 1000 block Poplar Grove St.

Charged with the offense on Wednesday was Robert Rich, 17, 600 block Glen Alden Ave.

In Northern Municipal Court, a hearing in the case was postponed until August 31. Bail was set at $2,500.

According to the police, the apparent reportedly about money, took place in front of a food store in the 2300 block Reisterstown Rd.

The owner of the store, Sherman Crawford, told police the accused youth ran into his store, told him to call police, then returned to the street and continued the argument with Watkins.

Mr. Crawford said that a few minutes later he returned and asked if he could use the telephone, grabbed a four - inch boing knife from behind the counter and ran outside again.

"When I ran out after him, it was too late. The other boy was lying on the sidewalk bleeding," Mr. Crawford said.

He said he took the knife from the youth and awaited the arrival of the police.

Watkins son of newly appointed Northern District police Sergeant, James H. Watkins Sr., is an employee at Lutheran Hospital.

Club group tours East

The Modern Modiste Club returned, this week, from their annual summer sightseeing tour.

They visited in New York, sailed up the Hudson, visited Hyde Park, West Point and Bear Mountains.

From that area they went to New Bedford, Mass., thence to Cape Cod, Hyannis Port, Plymouth Rock, Buzzards Bay, and Rutland, Vern., before trturning to Baltimore.

Club members are Mesdames Violetta Wade, E. Irene Matthews, Virginia Tabb, Alethia Cook, Bernice Mitchell, Minnie Cain, Lillian Trottman, Ada News and Florence Kelly.

Their guests were:

Mesdames Wynona Cook, Letitia Agard, Susie Johnson, Gladys Allen, Particia Scott, Bessie Smith, Mary Savage, Jessie Hawkins, Florence Howard.

Mesdames Regina Brown, Bessie Lowman, Mary Williams, Diane Williams, Indiana Young, Amy Hill, Ethel Weems, Mary Sanders, Bertha Harden;

William H. Tabb, Joshua Mitchell, Earnest Matthews, Nelson Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Whye, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jackson, and Miss Virginia Moore.

County reports four TB cases

Four cases of tuberculosis were reported in Baltimore County during the week of August 16, three less than were reported a year ago.

There were no other cases of acute communicable diseases reported that same week as compared with two cases reported the previous week. This included one case of chickenpox and one of whooping cough.

Quality of egg not judged by the size

Like a diamond, the quality of an egg is not be judged by size.

If you've ever thought "Look at those big eggs! They must be the very best you can buy," you were confusing SIZE with QUALITY. The fact is, a big egg can be of lowest or highest quality. And so can a small egg, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

• • •

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service has set up official terms both for egg quality and egg size.

They're widely used all over the country. There are six different official sizes of eggs, each with an exact range of weights per dozen. These sizes tell nothing about quality. To tell quality or freshness, USDA has set up three grades of eggs acceptable for consumer use.

You can see both size and quality of eggs by the USDA shield on a carton of eggs.

The shield means the eggs have been officially checked for quality and weight by USDA's supervision.

• • •

THE TOP of the shield bears the letters "USDA" and just under this are the letter grade denoting the quality level, and the size. The grade and size may be printed on the carton also.

Highest quality eggs are Grade AA or fresh fancy. Grade A is also of top quality. Grade B eggs are still good, nutritious eggs, but not as high quality as the others. Graders judge the eggs by "candling"—holding them up to a bright light. But you can also judge the quality by giving them a break-out test at home.

• • •

GRADES AA and A both have thick, high whites and firm, high yolks. But the whites of Grade A spread out a bit more than Grade AA. Use both these grades for frying, poaching or soft-cooking in the shell—where appearance is important. Grade B has wide-spreading whites, and flattish yolks.

These eggs are good for scrambling, omelets, in baking, mixed with other foods, for thickening custards, pie fillings, sauces and salad dressings — where appearance is unimportnat.

• • •

ON SOME PACKS of very fince eggs, you may see the words, "Fresh Fancy Quality" inside the USDA shield. These eggs are produced under a special quality-control USDA.

The six official USDA size classe of eggs are based on weight per dozen. From largest to smallest, they are Jumbo, Extra Large, Large, Medium, Small and Peewee.

• • •

MOST OFTEN found in the retail stores are Extra Large, Large and Medium. Extra Large eggs must average 27 ounces to the dozen or more. Large—24 ounces or more per dozen. And Medium—21 ounces or more per dozen.

Buy any size eggs that suits you, but be sure they're also the grade you want. All grades have virtually the same nutritional value. The important thing to remember is that size alone does not indicate quality—and that grade alone does not indicate size.

Harlem Ave. residents win praise for honesty

An unattended grocery store which sent residents of the 2000 block of Harlem Ave. to the telephone, brought praise this week from the store owner.

Mrs. Beatrice James, whose husband owns the store in the block told the AFRO her husband left it open Monday for four hours.

"The first one to call us was Mrs. Henry Middleton and then Mrs. Lena McDowell and the phone rang constantly.

"I really want to thank these neighbors for looking after us. I didn't know the store was open.", she said.

HARRY BOWSER, 1635 N. Washington St., a budding artist, brought a sample of his talents to the AFRO, recently. His ambition is to be an illustrator and he is a graduate of the Maryland Institute of Art.

Bowdler appointed to Cuban desk

The State Department recently announced the appointment of William G. Bowdler as Deputy Coordinator for Cuban Affairs. He succeeds Robert A. Hurwitch, who has been assigned to the Department's Foreign Service Institute for a year of advanced study and training. Mr. Bowdler, a 39-year-old career Foreign Service Officer, was formerly in charge of Special Political Matters in the Office of Inter-American Regional Political Affairs.

Seek freedom for Cambridge youths

ANNAPOLIS—In a brief filed on behalf of two minors, jailed as a result of demonstrations in Cambridge, the NAACP has charged that their imprisonment was denial of due process and equal protection of the law.

The NAACP made its claim in a brief filed with the Court of Appeals by Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell and TuckerR. Dearinf of Baltimore, and Jack Greenberh of New York.

It asked that the decision classifying the children as delenquent be set aside.

The case in question involves Dwight Cromwall and Reva Dinez White, both 15, who were adjudged delinquent by the juneville court in Cambridge, and committed to training schools without bail.

Both of the children were arrested four times in the course of anti-segregation demonstrations in Cambridge.
