A good paint job means preparation

Remember that a repainting job does not begin with the application of the paint. It starts with he proper preparation of the surfaces to be painted.

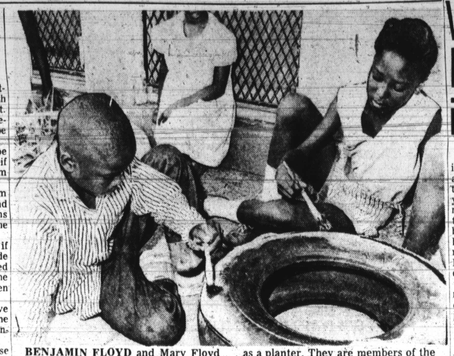
The surfaces should be sound, clean, smooth and if they are metal - free from rust.

Before you pry the lid from a paint can, be sure you read every word of the directions on the label particularly the part about stirring.

Painting chairs is easier if you place the chair upside down on a table protected with newspaper. Paint the legs and rungs first - then the underside of the body.

When these sections have dried thoroughly, put the chair right - side up and finish the job.

Remember to always use a paint paddle for stirring paint - never stir with a brush.



BENJAMIN FLOYD and Mary Floyd paint a tire to be used in their block as a planter. They are members of the 1900 blk. Edmondson Ave.

Winners to be listed in paper

Some 20 blocks representing every section of the city are expected to be placed on the first Honor Roll of this year's Clean Block campaign next Friday.

The announcements of the blocks and their captains will be published on this page next week, Mrs. Jeanette B. Leath, Clean Block director, disclosed.

To achieve Honor Roll rank, captains and workers of a block must have completed at least 90 percent of the work in their blocks, she said.

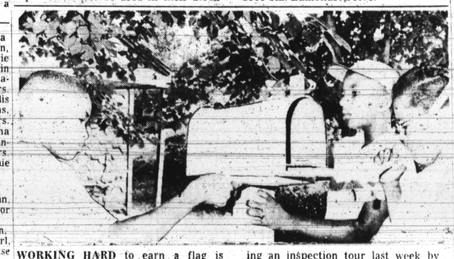
To remain in this preferred class, they must continue their regular sweeping and keep their blocks in a litter-free condition.

Selection of the Honor Roll blocks follows three weeks of inspections by many times, without Clean Blockers being aware that their blocks are being given the once over.

Honor Roll blocks must have completed most of their painting, their alleys must be clean, grass must be neatly trimmed, flowers planted and they must present a uniform overall shining appearance.

For a captain too have his block designated as an Honor Block, he must also have submitted a complete list of his workers and made his first Victory Report, the form of which is found in Clean Blockers Kits.

It was also pointed out that to qualify for top prizes, a block must have been on the Honor Roll at least once during the campaign.



WORKING HARD to earn a flag is Lloyd Keaser, Paula Powell and John Carter, all of Bellegrove Road. They were caught painting mail boxe's during an inspection tour last week by AFRO photographer and Clean Block Director, Jeanette B. Leath.

Pep rallies provide chance for information

Each Friday morning at 10 a.m. during the Clean Block Campaign, Pep Rallies are held in the Willard Allen Auditorium of the Masonic Temple, 1307 Eutaw Pl.

Captains and representatives from each block are present to give their report on the happenings in their block and to gather additional supplies needed, such as posters, window cards, warning slips and whatever forms are needed.

It is important that each block has representation at this meeting.

Clean Block songs are sung. Guest speakers are invited to these meetings to encourage the work of the young people.

There is always a question and answer period whenever there is a guest speaker.

COMING EVENTS are mentioned at this meeting, for instance in August, we will have another ball game to attend.

At these meetings we have roll call; Clean Blockers are marked present or absent.

It is important that each block has representation. This too will help raise the points at the close of the campaign.

Gas-Electric Co. contributes to Block prize fund

A letter and check for $25 from the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company, through Joseph H. Purdy, public relations director, has boosted the AFRO Clean Block Fund.

The letter:

"Dear Mrs. Leath:

"It is a pleasure to enclose our check for $25 which may you use to purchase a prize for the 20th annual AFRO Clean Block Campaign.

"We wish you continued success with this worthwhile project.

"Sincerely,
J. H. Purdy"

ANOTHER CHECK of $15.50 was received this week from the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority.

Another check for $7 came from the principal, Arthur Williams, and faculty, of School No. 101.

HOT HITTER — Lou Jackson, Baltimore Orioles first baseman, is in 6th straight week of leading Pacific Coast League batters. Average of .340 for Spokane enhanced by league-leading 22 doubles as well as 11 homers.

Birds to have bats for Little Leaguers July 24

The Orioles announced, Thursday that "Junior Slugger's Night" will be observed at the twi-night double - header between the Orioles and Washington Senators on July 24 when a genuine Little League bat will be given away free to each youngster under and under who attends the games accompanied by an adult.

The bats, authentic Louisville Sluggers manufactured by the Hillerich and Bradsby Company, will be handed girls alike who enter Memorial Stadium on a paid admission ticket of any kind — box, reserved, general admission or bleacher.

CLUB OFFICIALS emphasized that only one bat will be given in situations where one adult accompanies more than one child.

Anticipating a tremendous response to the promotion, the club has ordered 10,000 bats — ranging in various Little League sizes.

If enough bats are not available to meet the demand the night of the promotion, the Orioles have given assurances that each youngster will receive one eventually.
