Colts impressed by tan rookies

WESTMINISTER, Md. —Baltimore Colts are pre-Headed by an optimistic pared to take over Western head coach Don Shula, the Maryland College for their annual pre-season training chores here this weekend.

In the character of his breed, Shula is never inclined to be generous in appraising his team's title chances for the upcoming National Football League campaign, but there is little doubt that the sophomore mentor is cheered by developments of the week.

• • •

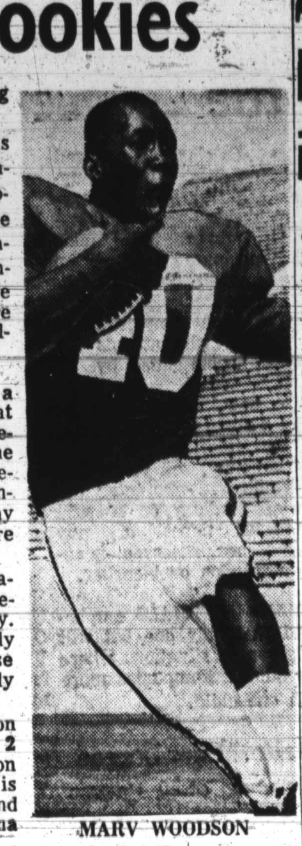
ON THE HEELS of a weekend announcement that Billy Ray Smith will un-retire to lend what service he can to the Colts' porous defense, came a sparkling Monday - through - Wednesday showing of the Baltimore draftees at BrynMawr.

"I hesitate to give evaluations as early as this," declared Shula Wednesday. "But I have been greatly impressed by some of these first-year kids in our early camp."

Attracting special attention were the No. 1 and No. 2 draft choices, Marv Woodson and Tony Lorick. Woodson is a halfback from Indiana and Lorick was a star at Arizona State.

• • •

"WE HAD WOODSON working on both offense and defense," asserted Shula, "with some emphasis on defense. We were told by our scouts that Marv might make a fine contribution to the defensive backfield, and he looks very much as though he may do so.



MARV WOODSON

"The boy has tremendous spring and he's lightning quick. They may be right when they say he can be useful to us either way.

"Tony could be the answer to our runing back problems. He has fine moves, he's big enough and shows a love for mixing. That means wecan expect good blocking from him."

• • •

WOODSON and Lorick were in the early camp for purposes of orientation, and because Shula and his assistants were desirous of getting them started in the pro system before they had to report to Northwestern University where the College All-Star squad begins drills this weekend.

Both are expected to see considerable action in the August 7, classic against the world champion Chicago Bears at Soldiers Field. . . LACY.

Ashe defeated by S. African in Chi tennis

CHICAGO, — (UPI)—Favorites Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston disposed of third round opponents in straight victories in the National Clay Courts Tennis tournament, Wednesday, but Abe Segal, a towering 195-pounder from South Africa, knocked off Arthur Ashe, a 21-year-old United States Davis Cup player by scores of 6-1, 6-4 in a mild upset.

Segal needed only 14 minutes to win the first set against Ashe. The 6-foot-2 African star had to work somewhat harder in the second set, but he moved in front rapidly after his rival had tied the score at 4-4.

..THE MATCH was proof that Ashe meant what he said at Wimbledon when he criticized players from Iron Curtain countries for their withdrawal from matches with Segal. The young Richmond (Va.) racqueter was quoted as saying he would not refuse to meet Segal as a protest against the racial apartheid doc-Africa.

Players from the Soviet Union, Poland, Cychosavakia and Hungary declined to compete in matches with South Africans at Wimbledon and other European tournaments. They pulled out as a means of dramatizing their oppositvn to South Africa's anti-colored attitudes.

Kennedy Fund go for Sugar Ray

EW YORK (UPI) — Sugar Ray Robinson early this week denied Mexican reports that he will fight Ruben Arocha Friday in the Bull Ring at Monterrey, Mexico.

Robinson explained "There had been negotiations for the fight but they Instead, the former welterweight and middleweight champion said he is negotiating for a bout at Omaha, Neb., for July 27.

"After that," said Robinson at his New York office, "I will go to Europe on Aug. 8, for a fight with Mick Leahy at Glasgow, Scotland, on Sept. 3 for the Kennedy Foundation.

Ocean City reports 100% desegregated

Maryland's famous resort, Ocean City, is now 100 per cent desegregated and patrons of all colors are welcome in all places of public accommodation.

The Ocean City Bi-racial Commission recently let CORE representatives know that all areas of the resort are now available on an open policy and that citizens of color need have no fear of embarrassment.

In view of this policy, Baltimore CORE is encouraging colored citizens to make use of these accommodations, in order to show that the effort made in the past was not in vain.

Couple's fight ends in court

A 27 - year - old woman was fined $50 and given probation for shooting a male friend during a street brawl in the 700 block W. Saratoga St., Wednesday night.

Judge Robert B. Watts, in Western Municipal Court, Thursday, ordered the male friend, Charles Woods, 32, of 600 block S. Fremont Ave., to pay a fine of $100.

The woman, Miss Eloise Carter, of the 700 block W. Lexington St. testified that she and Mr. Wiods were engaged in an argument when he began beating her.

"I pulled out the gun and shot him," she said.

• • •

HEARING THE shot, two partolman stated they saw Miss Carter with the gun still in her hand and Mr. Woods holding his right shoulder.

The woman was taken into custody and Mr. Woods was taken to University Hospital where he was treated and released. Police then arrested him and he was charged with assault and striking Miss Carter.

Harry Belafonte continues to break attendance marks

Harry Belafonte, whose new musical show will play at the Civic Center on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 28 and 29, has begun this year's personal appearnace tour following a familiar pattern.

"Belafonte In Person" is setfing new attendance records.

Harry Belafonte is regarded as the foremost concert attraction in the world. Music critics all over the world agree that he is an artist of stature in every sense of the word, yet, three and four year old children respond to his charm, and join him in singing.

"Belafonte In Person" features the magnificent voice of Miriam Makeba, the excellent backing of the Belafonte Folksingers and spotlights two old-timers in jazz Brownie McGhee and Sonny Terry.

• • •

BELAFONTE fans will be interested in two special programs that he taped for Baltimore audiences during his Washington visit.

On Sunday, July 26 at 9:15 p.m., WCBM radio's "Performing Arts" program directed and conducted by Miss Elane Stein, will present an interview in which Harry Belafonte speaks his mind for nearly 45 minutes.

On Monday, July 27, WFBR radio will feature Harry Belafonte, answering questions throughout the day put to him by Joe Knight, Bill Jaeger, Jack Welby and Mike James. There are some interesting answers to be reard here, too!

On July 29, Harry Belafonte will be the guest of Miss Sylvia Scott on HMAR-TV's "The Homan's Angle," at 1:00 p.m.

Woman attacked

Mrs. Dorothy Pleasant, 59, 1200 block Hollins St., reported to Western District police Monday night that her purse containing $10 in currency was stolen by a youth who attacked her from the rear.

The woman stated that the incident occurred at the corner of Baltimore and Arch Sts. She said the youth, about 14 or 15, snatched her purse from under her left arm and fled.

Mrs. Pleasant walked to a nearby fire station where she called police.
