Senator Welcome's Cocktailer Sunday opens exciting season

By Lula Jones Garrett

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER (Substituting for Lula Jones Garrett who is on vacation)

State Senator Verda Welcome has set up her booth on the political fairgrounds and she's in the running for 1966, away out in front and wisely so.

Come Sunday, all Baltimore will attend one of the many smart and ultra- pre-election affairs to be given in her honor and to see that all her supporters, past and present, near and far, get together.

The event, a 5 to 10 p.m. cocktailer, is scheduled for Maceo's, 1926 Monroe, where glamour will prevail with touches of mink and sable. The scene promises to be the one to set pace for the gay season ahead.

Senator Welcome, a radiant example of the modern woman legislator, will wear an elegant pale blue cocktail frock of imported satin, sculptured to the vogue and topped with Emba mink, head to toe.

Hostesses are the Valiant Women, that fantastic group of lovely ladies who have so successfully campaigned, they have re-elected her every time since 1958. Co-chairmen are Mesdames Alberta Bowie, the appointed state Beauty Board official and Nellie Bowie, wife of the retired Army major.

They'll head the receiving line, Alberta in turquois chiffon with jeweled bodice; Nellie in black Spanish lace. Also receiving with Senator Welcome are Miss Nina Scott in wintergreen and sable; Mesdames Christine Anderson, in a Chinese red off the shoulder creation. Anne Green will wear an oyster white original; Fanny Hampton, beige brocaid; Evelyn White, black imported silk; Napoleon Dobson, blue sapphire; Myrtle Scott, rose and pink; Rosabelle Robinson, white, gold and yellow.

Late autumn colors will be reflected in a delightful touch of luxury created by Maceo himself, a great silver bowl of grapes. To complete the prevue of the what the Valiant Women will be doing this year, there's the menu of Maryland gourmet dishes.

ANOTHER GLIMPSE of what's to come during a dazzeling Winter shows the Delphi Society's annual Benefit Snowflake Ball clearly to be a stellar event.

This and the Yuletide Gala were announced at the meeting the young women held last week with Hattie Turner, the new president as hostess. The Maryland School for the Blind is the pet project for which she and other newly elected officials, Gwendolyn Culbreath, vice - president; Del-Rio Armstrong, secretary; Gerandine Batsfield, treasurer and Dorothy Tate, business manager, will design their plans.

MR. AND MRS. Calvin Johnson Davenport of Towson Md. celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary on Oct. 30.

The Davenports who have been outstanding members of the Towson community and prominent in civic and church affairs for 28 years.

Mr. Davenport has been Scout Master 14 years while Mrs. Davenport has served as soloist at the church and public events on many ocassions. Their only son is Calvin Jr.

Their anniversary fete was held at St. James A.U.M.P. Church in Towson and Mrs. Davenport wore a gold and white brocaid frock with matching accessories.

The program was led by the church pastor, the Rev. McManus and Walter Mack and had as participants, Mrs. Catherine Madden, principal of Perry Hall Elementary School, Mrs. Arabella Ross, Mrs. Clara Green, Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, Joseph Diggs, Mrs. Sarah Mack and Mrs. Lillie Frazier.

A reception was held immediately after the program. Present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Oliver Beard, Clarence Frazier, William Bishop, Roosevelt Austin, George Johnson, Herbert Butler, William Jones, James Lee, Joseph Diggs, John Fields, William Harvey, Walter Mack, William Hatmon, Russell Daughton, William Taylor.

Mesdames, Mollie Richardson, Zelma Gardner, Clara Green, Margaret Green, Catherine Madden, Elizabeth Baylor, Virginia Dixon, Doris Randolph, Arabell Ross, Anne Johnston, Regina Johnson, Lillian Lewis, Ruth Dorsey, Catherine Downs, Beulah Turner, Doris Dorham, Frank Johnson; Messers Louis Frazier, Raymond Causion, West Hall.

The first birthday party for Kevin Marcel Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. (Edna) Griffin, came Saturday evening at his parents home from 3 to 6, and brought the handsome youngster many gifts.

The perfect host even at his age, Kevin had as guests members o his own set, Pamila, John Dale, Gregory and David Lee; Sherri Dyson, Angie, Denise, and Charles Griffin II; Charles Hill, Todd Gross Mark Booker Anthony Carr, Maurice Young Jr.

Also there were Mesdames Rosalie Griffin, Loretta Hill, Florence Lee, Constance Young, Margaret Carr; There Young, Margaret Carr; Theresa Booker and Anna Lee; Misses Beverly Dyson, Carolence Lee and Hodges Dyson Jr.

MRS. BLANCHE G. WATTERS, the Bel Air, Md. first citizen and retired teacher, so fondly known among Baltimoreans as 'Honey', is busy penning her "Thoughts for Impatient Children." And, if the volume is as witty and bubbling as Honey's magic personality, it'll be good.

For example, says Honey Watters, "the world, youngsters must prepare for by getting a diploma, has nothing a 'numbskull' can do. "Want to be successful?" she goes on, "Then work, study, save, be fair, temperate, get all the learning you can stuff in your noggins."

A proven authority who needs no sanction, Mrs. Watters taught 45 years and she's still young at heart. Her country home, lawns and gardens are an autumn poem this time of year, just the setting for writing.

Blackwell family holds its 14th annual reunion here

WASHINGTON

The 14th annual Blackwell family reunion was held on Saturday, at the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA from 1 - 12 midnight with family members traveling from Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania and other far away places.

This reunion idea originated in Richmond, Va. 15 years ago at the home of Miss Estelle Blackwell after the funeral of a member of the family. She suggested that the family should get together annually for a happy occasion.

VOLUNTEERING to contact the members in order that they might meet and become acquainted with the many other relatives was Hammett Blackwell of Baltimore.

The interest has grown and the attendance at these reunions has increased from 24 in 1951 to 210 to date.

One of the main attractions of the family gathering now is a six by seven foot oil painting on canvas, a reproduction of the "Family Tree."

On the tree, the roots represent Peggy Blackwell and her union, the first known relative from which the family sprang.

RESEARCH FOR this family tree was compiled by Mrs. Thelma Doswell formerly of Warfield, Va., now of D.C. from sources in Lunenburgh, Va. and Brunswich County Court House, Laurenceville, Va.

The other attraction is the festive board which includes some special recipes of certain members of the family — for example the lamb stew by Hammett and sweet potatoe pudding by Estelle Blackwell.

The oldest known living relative is Mrs. Cordelia Blackwell Stokes of Bridgeport, Conn., whose age is 103. Mrs. Stokes was herself a recent recipient of a citation from the city of Bridgeport on her long life.

Movies were shown of the previous reunion held in Bridgeport, Conn.

RALEIGH, N.C. — The fifth annual Fall Convocation for the official opening of the 101st academic year at Shaw University was held Friday, Oct. 29, in the C. C. Spaulding Gymnasium. Dr. James E. Cheek, president, delivered the convocation address.

NOV. 19 E. B. Whitten, director of the National Rehabilitation Association, will be the guest luncheon speaker at the Fall Institute of the Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

Woman Power lauded for accomplishments

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

The 8th annual Woman Power, Inc. luncheon Sunday revealed such astounding facts and fingures and accomplishments that the organization is now established as the top women's group in the state of Maryland.

An audited financial statement printed in the 15 - page luncheon program book showed that Woman Power has raised a total of $113,677.70 for the New Provident Hospital Building Fund Drive.

In addition, the Sunday affair at Emerald Gardens netted more than $500 in cash memberships for their pet project; the Provident Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Victorine Adams, president and founder of Woman Power, and Mrs. Beatrice Avery, vice-president, made the presentation to Mrs. Mae Moody, representatives of the Provident Auxiliary.

THE WORSHIP hour was devoted to planning ways to strengthen the Provident auxiliary and implement its work. Mrs. Samuel K. Himmelrich, president of the Women's Auxiliary of Sinai Hospital, and an authority in the field, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Himmelrich placed accent on women volunteers leading their services to supplement trained, paid personnel so desperately needed in all hospitals today.

She also stated that citizens auxiliary members make a vital contribution by linking the community to the hospital and interpreting its services to the public.

Mrs. Adams was toastmaster during the luncheon that was attended by 500 persons. She was assisted by Mrs. Bernice S. White, Mrs. Erla McKinnon, luncheon chairman.

As many prominent civic, community, church and political leaders spoke, the occasion became a toast to the accomplishments of the fantastic group of women, their vivacious and resourceful leader, Mrs. Adams' and Mrs. Ethel Rich, charter members, important figure through the years.

The $1,000 given Provident Hospital, in cooperation with Woman Power, by P. Ballantine and Sons, was officially recognized with the presentation being made by Norman Shelton, district sales manager.

THE GIFT was accepted by George Russell, co-chairman of the Provident Hospital Development Program and Charles Tildon, director. Mr. Russell revealed that the total Ballantine contribution is $5,000.

Also speaking on behalf of the hospital were George Whyte, Provident administrator; City Councilman Henry Parks, member of the Provident trustee board; Mrs. Martha L. Holmes, president of the Provident Auxiliary.

Dr. Delores Hunt, principal of School 95 and co-chairman of the Woman Power Provident Hospital Extension Plan, summarized the workshop. State's Attorney Charles D. Moylan summaried the Woman Power Provident Hospital contributions.

Miss Pauline Blanchard, the organization's eldest member and a charter singer, said grace.

A special guest presented at the luncheon was A. D. Anderson, read of Anderson Cheverlet, who gave Woman Power the automobile for the 1964 Raffle that netted along with Ballatine's contributions, a total of $10,365.50.

TOPPING a long list of leaders who spoke were Dr. Lillie Mae Jackson, NAACP president and Mrs. Mildred Stansbury, Havre de Grace, who is the first City Councilwoman of her race.

Others were Senator Verda Welcome (D - 4) Baltimore City Council president, Thomas D'Alesandro III; State Comptroller Louis Goldstein, Congressman George H. Fallon, (D-4); Mesdames Walter T.
