The Norman Luboff choir of 28 voices, famous for its RCA recordings, radio and television appearances, and programs in the United States and abroad, was in concert at the Pullen Auditorium at Coppin State College Monday.

Conducting the ensemble was Norman Luboff, himself.

The attraction came to Coppin campus under the sponsorship of the Assembly and Special Events Committee of the College, an evening of pure enchantment.

HUNDREDS of guests joined the Les Douze Amies at their harvest jamboree, a Barn Dance and Cabaret, at Forest Manor recently. The setting was complete with pumpkins and members who served as hostesses froliced about in costumes.

Evelyn Gail is president of the smart set that includes Natalie Bundey, Josephine Brown, Catherine Coleman, Frances Gardner, Octavia Jones, Dolores Puryear, Annabell Ruffin, Delia Saunders and Jeanne Tyler.

DRESSED beautifully in Belgian linen was baby Leslie Ann McAllister, daughter of Assistant States Attorney James and Ann McAllister on her christening day at Douglas Memorial Church.

The Rev. Marion Bascom, pastor of Douglas, presided and standing very proudly holding Leslie was her Godmother, Mrs. Esther Morris. Godfather was Reid Abney. Following the services Ann and Mack invited friends and relatives to the christening party.

Out of towners included Mr. and Mrs. Erman (Blanche Hillen) Jones, and their daughters. From about town were Lorenzo Handy, Catherine Wilson, Geneva Hillen, Gwendolyn Thomas, Cynthia Abney, Benjamin and Sarah Browne, Carl Browne, Blanch Hughes, Charles Morris, Sing and Donna McAllister.

THE NINE and ten-year-olds of Jack and Jill had a grand time when they combined their Halloween Party with their Splash Party a few Saturdays ago at Morgan State College.

After rollicking in the pool, the group went across the campus to the College Canteen where a delightful party table awaited them. Delicious ginger bread made by Mrs. Grace Burkett topped off the affair.

Children having fun were: Angela Griggs, Harry Carpenter, Keith Neal, Illona Sheffey, Fern Flanagan, Robert Burkett, Lloyd Davis, Yancy Whattaker, Michael Carter, Robert Harris, Daryl Jones, Rodney Alston, Jose Boston, Thyais Young, Emery, and Rachael Phillips. Adult sponsors for the affair were Grace Burkett, Kay Carter, Viola Taliaferro and Leona Carpenter.

THE MONDAWMIN Child Study Group has a fine start this year with Ruby Couch as president; Alease Lockley as vice president; Magdalene Rice, secretary; Loraine Green, assistant secretary, and Joyce Neal as treasurer. Plans include many interesting activities for children, and husbands and mothers.

There will be speakers on pertinent topics; a fund raising project for Provident Hospital; skiing, and other recreational activities for the children, a dinner and party for husbands as well as trips and picnics for the whole group.

Dr. Louis Randall was the speaker for the October meeting. Members were delighted with his informative and interesting handling of their questions on diseases and tensions in women. Present were: Fannie Alston, Carolyn Boston, Ruby Couch, Naketah Gregory, Ruth Glenn, Vivian Bruce, Maggie Rice, Dorothy George, Bettina Baker, Lorraine Green, Joyce Neal, Willa Bouldin, Gladys Brockington and Leona Carpenter. Guests were Gordine Chisolm and Charolette Martin.

THE CARDIGANS enjoyed a most delightful time a Sunday ago when they dined with Lt. and Mrs. Jim Edwards (Louise) at the officers club at Ft. Meade. No special occasion. The girls just didn't feel like cookin,' as they put it. So, they and husbands and friends converged upon the club, and what a festive occasion it turned out to be!

Those enjoying the scrumptious buffet were: Jim and Louise; Bill and Ruth Tonkins; Rose and Jesse Hawkins; Charles and Cardy Collins; Walker and Margaret Evans; Nathaniel and Bernice Hall; Lollie and Albert Hockaday; Maime and Dennis Jackson; Harriet and Tom Morton; Margaret and Edward Peck; Mary and Alfred Williams; Janie and Roland Wright; Beulah Wescott; Jimmie Bowyer, and Erica Fry.

ALTHOUGH the Ladies of the Day Club met in a beauteous and colorful autumn setting at hostess Esther Morris' home last week, their plans were for their Christmas Social Affair and a Spring Provident Hospital Benefit. Hortense Hall was co-hostess. Included in the long look ahead for 1966 was the Beach Ball for their youth group, the Puerretis, net summer.

Present were new officers, Vicki Jones, president; Esther Morris, secretary; Mildred Johnson, treasurer; Margaret Single, secretary-treasurer; Lucretia Datcher, editor; and members, Marie Baker, Hattie Green, Ann Blair, Sara Redmond.

THE NO. 18 N. Ashburton residence of Mr. and Mrs. Langston Staples will be aglow Friday night and scores of guests will arrive throughout the evening.

The affair is a dinner party celebrating Mr. Staples' retirement. He is 68. He and his wife, Emma Staples, were married 49 years May 17. They've read the AFRO both Tuesday and Friday since they came to Baltimore in 1917 and before then "since they started printing at Mr. Staples, home in Richmond Va. where he was born, 130 W. 9th St.

Mr. Staples is Past Deputy Grand Master of the Ancient Free Accepted Scottish Rite Masons and has been for 11 years the official of Eureka No. 1 Lodge. He was foreman over 11 men at Montgomery Ward Co. five years; receiving clerk at McCormack Co. and Industrial Laboratory.

Mr. Staples' burning ambition now that he's retiring is to be an AFRO reporter.

"I really know some people in this town," he states with enthusiasm such as we've never heard and adds, news just comes to me."

THE URBAN LEAGUE staff gave a surprise bon voyage party Wednesday night for Cortez Puryear, their Health and Welfare Director who leaves today (Friday) to take a post with the US Department of the Navy.

The gift not only included an attache case but all the fixin's for the swank affair held at his home on Colbourne Rd.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Puryear and son, Cortez Jr., present were Dr. Furman Templeton, director, and Mrs. Templeton; Messrs. and Mesdames Lawrence Johnson, Earl Pyle; Mrs. Vendetta Wagner; Mrs. Edward Shipley Jr.; Messrs. George Best, Arthur Weddington Lloyd Mitchner, Ralph Williams (all staff) and Misses Sue Farrington and Jessie Oberdick, the Notre Dame College students who are with the League on six-months basis as part of their Sociology studies.
