A CHURCH DETERMINED TO LIVE WITH CHRIST

Says 'must not forget our God'

HAMLET, N.C. — "The black man is on the march, God is on side and with God all things are possible," Bishop R. L. Jones told the closing day audience of the 55th session of West Central Conference of the AME Zion Church, Sunday, Oct. 31.

Bishop Jones told the audience that the colored man must not forget God in this hour of apparent success. He called upon colored Americans to get closer to God and He would open more doors and show the way to better opportunity.

TOMORROW FOR THEM ..IS TODAY!

Give Them the Answers They Need...the Truth They Deserve!

THE NEGRO HERITAGE LIBRARY

The time for dreaming, for patient waiting and impatient hoping are long past. Their real future is here now, today. Are we giving our children the tools and weapons they must have to go forward?

They deserve to know . . . they MUST know the complete, glorious story of their past and and their heritage. And here at last, in the NEGRO HERITAGE LIBRARY, are the missing pages of history . . . the long-hidden, long-suppressed pages . . . the amazing story of the Negro's contributions to culture and history.

Yes, here at last are the towering men, the heroic women, the whole inspiring saga of the Negro's remarkable contributions to history. And here at last is the truth . . . the answers to the falsehoods . . . the real hope for a more glorious tomorrow.

What they're saying about THE NEGRO HERITAGE LIBRARY

"The idea of the Negro Heritage Library is a tremendous one. I can think of no venture in the world of ideas that is going to be more critical to the Negro community. In a real sense it is the next frontier in our struggle." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

"The Negro Heritage Library will make readily available, to both Negro and White readers, the facts needed to set the record straight. It should be a continuing source of enlightenment and inspiration to people." Roy Wilkins

"I am pleased to know of the development of the Negro Heritage Library. It is eminently important that the Negro direct his attention to the realm of ideas, the book, and the mind, for it is here alone that he will find the creative resources to consolidate gains of the Civil Rights Revolution." A. Philip Randolph

". . . too little is known about the Negro heritage in the United States—especially about the history of the Negro in this country . . .
"Recognizing the need for developing the presentation of the history of the Negro as an integral part of the whole history of the United States, a Yonkers, N.Y., publishing firm, Educational Heritage, Inc., has taken steps to broaden the whole concept of heritage studies . . ." (excerpted and reprinted from the Congressional Record, Sept. 14, 1964). Senator Jacob Javits
