fine up to $500, for an employer to fire an employee who complains to the commission about his establishment not complying with the law.

MR. BUSH told the AFRO he is particularly pleased that coverage of nursing homes has cleared this first hurdle.

His office has received complaints from some such employees, he said, where they are paid 52 cents an hour. City law sets the minimum of establishments covered at $1 an hour.

In other business, the Board of Estimates took note of a proposal that city funds be available for counsel fees for indigent defendants appearing in Municipal Courts.

The proposal was directed to Joseph Allen, city solicitor, after be commented such a suggestion should have come from the Bar Association, rather than one individual.

It was presented to the Board Estimates by Jack L. Fox, attorney.

Mr. Allen, presumably, will advise the Bar Association of the proposal and return with that body's reaction.

getting down to negotiation so that the war in the jungles might come to an end.

"I also feel that peace and civil rights, peace and freedom are one and the same issue," she said.

Mrs. King said she was convinced that it would "profit us nothing to get freedom without a world."

Honored to be the wife of a Nobel Peace Prize winner, Mrs. King related her own involvement in the peace movement which includes active membership in a number of organizations dedicated to the principle that war is morally evil.

She said that while growing up in segregated Marion, Ala., she had decided to dedicate herself to bring about a change in the system and was extremely happy to find a man who was interested in the same thing.

There have been frustartions and disappointments in the struggle for peace and freedom, she stated, but they have been outweighed by the rewards.

Mrs. King's concert and speech today are under the sponsorship of a federal sponsored project at Coppin to insure better teachers for inner - city schools.

The program, known by the code name Y-003 and under the direction of Dr. Reddick, is a series of informal lectures, dealing with the early lives of prominent Americans.

dicted for the slaying of Brewster. The victim was mortally wounded by a shot from a passing car as he drove home July 15 from the foundry where he worked.

THE OTHER two men, Lewis Blevins, 26, and Johnny Ira. Defries, will be tried later.

Strange and his attorney, militant segregationist J. B. Stoner, received the verdict in stunned silence. Later, Stoner said "I was surprised that a jury of 12 so-called white men would convict an innocent person on such a flimsy case."

Tears steamed from Stoner's eyes and he said "I feel just like I've been convicted."

CIRCUIT JUDGE Robert Parker will formalize the jury fixed sentence of 10 years tomorrow. Stoner said he would request an appeal bond for Strange at the sentencing.

Before he died, three days after being shot, Brewster said he had never taken part in civil rights activity. Two hours before the shooting, Stoner had addressed a segregationist rally in Anniston.

The attorney charged the jury convicted Strange "entirely on the testimony of a thief, liar and burglar." He referred to the State's star witness, Jimmy Knight.

Knight, formerly a close friend of Strange and Defries, testified that shortly after Brewster was shot, Defries told him that "we got us a n--r."

STONER CHARGED that Strange was convicted by the "so - called blue-ribbon men" on the jury. He said these business and professional men were interested in "the dollar."

They convicted Strange, he said, to "keep things nice and peaceful."

"I would rather have some good black n--s than the white n--s on the jury," Stoner said.

The jury foreman was Brandon Rigney, a typewriter salesman. He read the verdict. The other 11 jurors included factory workers, two famers, a retired fireman, a banker, a civilian employe at the Anniston Army Depot, a telephone repairman, and a telephone service foreman.

THE SOUTHERN Christian Leadership Conference had already printed leaflets denouncing an acquittal of Strange and calling for protest demonstrations. The leaflets never were handed out.

Stoner had expected to gain a mistrial. He said earlier in the day that "They've been in there so long and since the state has no real case there will not be a conviction."

Balto. G & E elects new marketing veep

Directors of the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. have elected Vernon R. Evans to the position of vice president, marketing. He replaces Mason Albrittain, recently deceased.

A native Baltimorean, Mr. Evans attended the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and graduated from Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Evans served in the United States Navy in the Pacific area during World War II and the Korean War. When released to civilian status he carried the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Until his recent election Mr. Evans served as assistant to the marketing vice president.

—Mrs. Santa

wherein confirmed cases of need and want will be published with appropriate case numbers.

Letters for help began flowing in to Mrs. Santa late this summer and the number and frequency have increased until Mrs. Santa is now nearly snowed under with pleas of a helping hand during the holidays.

Their needs are numerous, varied, and even tragic. They range from pitiful requests for food, clothing, lights, heat, and even shelter.

AS NEAR as possible Mrs. Santa tries to help these unfortunate families at least live through one day —Christmas — unmindful of the desperate need which plagues them.

To date she has enjoyed great success.

This has been possible in the past because of the generosity of big hearted AFRO readers.

This year is no exception. Again Mrs. Santa needs your help and needs it desperatly —now!

To expedite the chore of raising sufficient funds to bring a bit of joy to the destitute at Yuletide, Mrs. Santa has joined hands with the battling Baltimore Bullets, whose stars will face the tough San Francisco Warriors in a "Mrs. Santa Benefit Game" 8:30 p.m. Dec. 10 at the Civic Center.

Proceeds from the game will be shared with Mrs. Santa which will enable her to continue the heart - warming gladness she had been able to spread each Christmas for the past eight years.

Here's where you — our readers — come in.

Mrs. Santa has bales and bales of tickets she must sell. She must do it and give a full accounting by Dec. 9.

As of today that gives her just six days — including Sunday — to do her share to assure the success of the benefit game.

How can you help?

By picking up the telephone and dialing MUlberry 5-6015 and order your tickets now.

Make sure your relatives and friends do the same. Don't delay another moment, time is extremely short.

Call Mrs. Santa from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily and 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

A SPECIAL appeal is being sent to religious, community, fraternal, and children's organizatioss to make this an eventful and memorable evening by giving a helping hand to a worthy cause and enjoying big league basketball as only the professionals can play it.

Representatives of clubs, fraternities, sororieties, and individuals are urged to call Mrs. Santa now, or come in and pick up their tickers.

As a bonus feature, Mrs. Santa will have a "V.I.P. Section" reserved for all her helpers who buy $5 tickets. This "Very Important People Section" will be located in a choice spot of the Civic Center.

Guests in this section — as in other — will make possible desperately needed funds.

Other tickets available and just waiting to be bought are $3.50, $3, and $2.

Call now for yours and some for your friends, relatives and helpers of the poor.

—Legal aid

charged more openly, however, that the $500,000 cost of the program was far too much for an undetailed plan.

Yet, the same Council some months ago gave its approval to the Community Action Agency setup, which included the establishment of free legal aid services to the poor.

While this was done on a broad basis, this City Council is noted for having strong elements against welfare services for the needy, full human rights for all citizens.

Parren J. Mitchell, CAA executive director, had these comments for the AFRO on deletion of the legal aid services from his agency's budget:

"THE LEGAL service program is an absolute essential in the war against poverty. Every day poor people are penalized in many different ways because they have not had access to legal consultations.

"Each day poor people sign purchase contracts without benefit of legal advice and often end up losing their money and the commodity they sought to own."

In voicing his opposition to free legal aid to the poor through a CAA program, Councilman Dixon took the position that the proposed $500,000 was too much to spend on a project that was not needed.

Here is how he said it:

"I think that the entire community will be benefited by the Council vote taken last night (Tuesday) $500,000 is too much money, whether it be Federal, state or city, to be floating around nebulously without any definite point of fixation.

"I have absolute confidence in the CAA program and in Parren Mitchell. But I am concerned about the operation of the CAA Commission, so far as people living in the target area being included on it.

"My understanding is welfare clients who find it necessary to have legal services rendered to them get it for no charge at all.

"Since this is the case, there is no need for CAA to establish a free legal aid program."

REPORTS THAT the Monumental Bar Association is also strongly opposed to the proposed CAA project were clarified for the AFRO by Harry A. Cole, president.

"The Monumental Bar Association," said Mr. Cole, "by no means is opposed to free legal aid for the poor. We are opposed to the plan as submitted to the Council by the Baltimore Bar Association."

He charged this plan was scaled too high (to include a worker earning $55 a week, plus $15 allowance for each dependent), that it is unimaginative and even unpalatable to a host of the association's own members.

His own Monumental Bar Association, Mr. Cole told the AFRO, would be in favor of any free legal aid project that "satisfied the needs of the poor and yet was not unethical."

A delegation from this association was not heard at Tuesday's hassle over the CAA budget.

"A Plan For Action, the publication which spells out areas of activities for this agency states: "The need for legal consultation and services among poor families has been pointed up time and time again —if the attitudes and aspirations of the poor are to change, it is necessary that legal consultation be provided in an easily acceptable manner."

Mr. Mitchell concluded that the Council's action in killing the free legal aid program "had made it almost impossible for CAA personnel to induce a favorable change in attitudes of the poor toward our system of law."

Thomas D'Alesandero 3rd, Council president, told Mr. Mitchell following the decisive hearing Tuesday that slicing the legal aid services would be a deterent to further cuts in the CAA budget.

Among the councilmen present voting against the CAA's proposed free legal aid program for the poor was Walter T. Dixon (4th D.)

Bev Gayhardt to head up Camp Fire, Inc.

Mrs. Beverly L. Gayhardt has been appointed executive director of the Baltimore Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., the president, Herbert D. Hammond, announced today. Mrs. Gayhardt succeeds Mrs. Margaret W. Sparrow, who is leaving the city.

Coming to Maryland ten years ago, Mrs. Gayhardt taught three years in the Baltimore County school system. Her husband, James C. Gayhardt is Baltimore sales representative with Johnson and Johnson.

They have two children, Patrick, 9, and Anne, 7. They live at 1307 Kenton Rd.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

CHAIRMAN of the Baltimore Guardsmen weekend affairs which attracted members from associate chapters along the Eastern Seaboard, was Joel Newton, standing left. At right, Clarence Coleman Jr., a guest. Mrs. Newton, and Mrs. Coleman are seated front.

GA. GUEST — Raleigh Bryant Jr., was among Savannah Guardsmen who hired bus to Baltimore for the weekend events. He is pictured here with Mrs. Paul Chester, wife of his Baltimore host. (AFRO STAFF PHOTOS BY I. HENRY PHILLIPS)

Guardsmen shine at week-end gala

By BETTYE MOSS

Pin a shiny star on Baltimore Guardsmen Charles Brown, John (Junky) Wood and Joel Newton.

Charlie is president and Junky and Joel handled arrangements for the gala weekend affairs the group held over the Thanksgiving holiday.

In attendance were members of twelve associate chapters who came from as far north as Boston, and as far south as Savannah.

THE THREE-DAY gala opened Friday with a formal at the Emerald Gardens, where Bobby Felder's music kept things jumping until way past 2.

The out - of - towners and their wives were joined by some 500 or more localites who proclaimed this year's event, 'the best yet.'

And, the ladies looked lovely as usual. For example, Mrs. William Hall (Mildred), who wore a fabulous white sequin with gold beads with a four - inch gold fringe at the ankle line.

And, Mrs. Theodore Phifer (Etta), whose green gown featured sequins.

SPECIAL EVENT for members and out - of - town guests only came Saturday afternoon where Guardsmen took over a section of the Pimilico Club House for an afternoon.

There, they enjoyed buffet lunch, watched the races over closed - circuit television and listened to music by Charlie Pace, the talented pianist who makes an electric piano sound like an organ.

HIGHLIGHT OF the afternoon was the seventh race dubbed the 'National Guardsmen Purse'. A score of guests took the hint (seventh race, No. 7 horse), and had the winning ticket on Tudor Manor. (He returned $15, $6.80 and $3.60).

Guardsman President Brown and Mrs. Brown (Dot), were in the winner's circle to congratulate jockey Walter Blum.

AND, THEN came Saturday evening, again at Emerald Gardens, where famed organist Wild Bill Davis and his orchestra, provided the music for dancing and the breakfast hour which followed.

There were short and long ball gowns. Baltimore's Mrs. David Driver (Margaret) wore an outstanding long one.

It was a black hand - beaded brocade with accents of red set off with rhinestones, which she designed and made with material she picked up last summer in Nassau. Her shoes were covered to match her gown.

Mrs. Waldo Falkener, (Margaret), wife of the Greensboro, N.C. city councilman, selected an unusual floor - length green gown, silk crepe with sequins.

Mrs. Paul Chester (Georgianna) of Baltimore, was a picture in a modrian style frock—white with black broders and a touch of red and green.

THERE WERE, of course a number of after gatherings —at the Box Harrises, Cecil Johnstons, the David Wrights —to name a few.

But, perhaps the 'after - after' gathering was the Sunday afternoon brunch at the Charles Hillens (Gwen), which attracted a score of guests who had been here for the Guardsmen and over in D.C. for the weekend parties sponsored by that other well-known men's group, the Characters Club.

About were: the Rodger Wilsons, Leonard Bryant, Joe Porter, Ernestine Garriest, Frances Lazurus, all of Phily; the Carl Hansberrys and Woody Smith, of D.C., and the Royal Weavers, Dave Wrights of Batimore.
