Philomathians, Escoffier

Baltimore's noted Philomathian Club (the name means lovers of learning) was as this year's theme, "Problems, Possibilities and Challenges of the Nineteen Sixties.' Mrs. Warren Peck is president.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. John Hampton hosted the group at the Sheraton Inn.

Dr. Richard Long of the Morgan State College faculty who has recently returned from abroad discussed 'Christmas In Other Lands.'

He told of Yule celebrations in Haiti, Spain, Puerto Rico, France, Portugal. This year, he'll be in Barbados.

* * *

Cuff notes: The first Christmas cards came in the 1840's in England . . . Martin Luther claimed the distinction of the first Christmas tree . . . Christmas first became a legal holiday in the U.S. in 1836 . . . In 1659, Christmas was outlawed by the Puritans in New England . . .

* * *

After 13 months abroad, Dr. Long confides he returns to the U.S. to find a 'great improvement' in race relations . . . he sees a development of more pride among colored people.

What's the most economical place to visit in the Western Hemisphere? He sees Puerto Rico and Mexico, if you're on a budget.

Oh, la, la!-the unusual costume worn by Philomathian member, Dr. Irene Diggs. It was black lace over satin with high neckline and long sleeves. She carried a matching bag. She purchased the beautiful material while in Vienna.

With her costume she wore an unusual pin presented her by women of the Soviet Union.

* * *

At the Suburban Club on Tuesday evening, the Md. Committee for Day Care of Children held a black tie affair which they called an Escoffier Dinner.

For your $20 per, you dined on a variety of dishes —like La Couronne d'Agneau de Pre-Sala accompagne des petites tomatoes farcies a la russe (it was fish-sole, with a small stuffed tomato).

In between the six courses, ('eme assiette), there was dancing, if you liked, and special cocktails and wines, Pouilly-Vinceles 1962, for example.

Members of the Culinary Arts Association of Baltimore donated their time and prepared the dinner.

At our table No. 10 hosted by Member Ann Miller were Mrs. Roland Henson, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Elizabeth Hirsh, Jerry and Elsie Shuger (both delightful table companions), Dr. J. L. Pitts, and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hirsh (she's with the Baltimore Council for International Visitors.)

Also there: Judge Robert Watts and Senator Verda Welcome.

She was a doll in white sequin, a most becoming dinner frock.

Mrs. Alan Wurtzburger and Mrs. G. Cheston Carey Jr., co-chaired the dinner committee. Mrs. Richard N. Lansburgh is president of the Day Care Committee.

Civic Center and Bullets

Civic Center Commission, of which George Russell is a member, hosted a number of localites at cocktails and dinner on Wednesday evening at the Center.

There, we met the Bullets' new director, friendly Martin Kiely and his wife; Mona, who tells me she has already garnered a teaching post here. They hail from New York.

Host was Harry Cummings, chairman of the Center Commission . . . With him his bride, who radiated happiness. She's a Texas girl.

* * *

Seen at the dinner: The Rufus Hackett's, John Murphys, 3rd; Mrs. Victorine Adams, City Councilman and Mrs. Walter Dixon, the Russells, of course, and Harold Jemmer, the Center's assistant director.

At the game which followed, we saw our Bullets give fans heart trouble—they waited until closing minutes to let the Philadelphia 76ers (With Chamberlain and Co.) catch up with them.

Consolation—we won 129-127. Whew!

Halftime feature was a terrific performance by the drill team of Spingarn High School of Washington.

The teenage fans who came over to see Spingarn beat Calvin Coolidge (97-66) in the preliminary wildly cheered their performance.

* * *

Cuff note: We'll be back at the Civic Center tonight. The AFRO's Mrs. Santa is sponsoring the game between the Bullets and San Francisco Warriors.

You'll help a worthy cause—help to make children happy, if you come out tonight (Friday).

More people and things

Doing better: — The Rev. Richard H. Johnson, the popular Methodist Church district superintendent who has been so ill in Lutheran Hospital, is reported somewhat improved this week. He was in a coma for some days.

And, have people been kind —they have kept the family's spirits up with phone calls, letters and cards —over 300 of them, says his daughter, Mrs. Beverly Kelly, the D.C. government worker.

* * *

Baltimore - born Sunny Goodman, the Howard University public relations chief, is out of the hospital and back on his job.

* * *

Cuff note: Mel Bolden, the well - known artist, phoned our desk this week from Concord, New Hampshire, where he is active on that township's community relations program.

He says there has been no snow there so far, but it is cold brr, brrr.

* * *

People being kind to other people:— Mrs. Rosa T. Gaskins, 2923 Gwynns Falls Parkway, will be hostess to the Senior Citizens Committee of the Baltimore Club, National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, at their wrapping party next Saturday.

The committee will wrap gifts for each resident of the Carver Nursing Home, to be presented at the Christmas Party on Dec. 19.

Mrs. Jeannetta P. Wilson, is chairman of the Senior Citizens Committee. Mrs. Rosalie McGowan is president of the club.

* * *

Greetings to City Councilman and Mrs. Walter Dixon (Olivia). It was their 24th wedding anniversary on Sunday (Dec. 5).

And, it was in their honor that Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Freedlander entertained at their Rogers Ave. home.

Also there were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Levin and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lane.

* * *

Ready birthday cards for one of our town's senior citizens — Miss Pauline Blanchard, 1428 N. Parrish. It's Dec. 12.

* * *

Thought of the week: 'A friendship that like love is warm, a love like friendship steady.' — Thomas Moore.

A bit about this and that

The other morning when this writer walked into her office, there was wide-eyed Charles Edward Ward, age 6, sitting in a chair, waiting for his grandmother to finish her business with an editor.

We asked Charles about school, gave him a chance to use our typewriter and took him on a tour of the plant.

CHARLES EDWARD WARD

More about our young visitor:—His first grade teacher at Belmont Elementary School is Miss Ross whom he describes as 'a nice lady. . . she teaches us how to make our letters . . . how to walk down the hall, not to hit people.' (Principal Pearl Brackett, take note: this teacher is getting her message across.)

* * *

When Charles grows up he wants to be a football player . . . he says, 'I watch Lenny Moore'. . . He has a brother, Anthony, 16, who plays basketball at Forest Park High.

For Christmas, the youngster would like a 'bike with no training wheels.' (Santa Claus, please take note.).

Charles is not only a bright-eyed youngster, he's an unusual one. He tells me he 'likes' spinach. And he also goes for milk, Rice Crispies, Cheerios and Corn Flakes.

He goes to Sunday school at Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church where the teacher is Miss Barber. 'She teaches us to be kind to other people, I like people.'

That's pretty good for a six-year-old.

Note to his grandmother, Mrs. Edna Ward of 3219 Brighton St.—you have a grandson who shows promise. Remember you read it here first.

Blue Sunday and jinx?

If you live in a town like Baltimore, where everybody, or nearly everybody, is mad about the hometown football team, you're likely to get fired up too, sooner or later.

In this writer's case, it was later. All season, we've watched in amusement as friends abruptly emptied a meeting or pleaded business of importance when you called.

And, we've laughed as they broke their necks to get in front of a television set to watch the Colts when they were playing away.

* * *

And, when a social club meeting was turned into a television party to watch the team, we had it.

Soooo, in self defense, we scampered around and bought two tickets to this past Sunday's Colt game, and that was a mistake.

All week, friends have been calling or leaving smart notes in the mail box, asking why we went in the first place, inferring that if we'd stayed home, the beloved hometowners would not have been slaughtered 13-0 by Gale Sayers and his Chicago Bears teammates.

But, alas, we've caught the Colt fever too. Win or lose, we're with the hometowners and we're hunting tickets for Sunday's match against the Green Bay Packers.

Once you get this Colt fever, you can't stop—and that means making 7 a.m. Mass instead of 9 a.m.-mass!

Seen in the partisan football crowd: Henry and Connie Neal (in look - alike trench coats); Warren Shaw and his two small sons.

Ticket note: When you wait until season's end to hunt tickets, you'll likely end up in the end zone, but with a transistor radio, you have it made.

* * *

Sunday's game featured fights in the stands as well as among players on the field.

Humor: Loudspeaker urged a Mr. Thompson to call home. Quipped one smart aleck, 'Yeh, dinner's ready!'

* * *

P. S. — Wanna know how partisan Colt fans are? When we were into the last minutes of the fourth quarter and our boys were trying to get some yardage, you could have heard a pin drop.

And that's a marvel, with over 62,000 fans in the stands.

Yep, las! Sunday was a blue one for our Colts, but look out Green Bay, we're gunning for you this Sunday. This Johnny - Come - Lately - fan will be out there to see the action.

Go, go, Colts!!

People, Places

Doing better, thank you, is the next two weeks at Hopkins Hospital (Halsted 817), where he had successful leg surgery.

* * *

AFRO Women's Editor Lena Jones Garrett (Mrs. C. W. Mackay), was in Hopkins Hospital for a week, is up and about but not yet at her desk. She's still vacationing.

* * *

Mrs. Cyril E. Ashby (Winifred), wife of the dentist, is out of Sinai, recuperating at home, 1113 W. Lanvale.

* * *

Get well cards to Mrs. Lillie Mills, the nurse. She is ill in Provident.

Also on the mend is Ernest Dennis, 3022 Gwynns Falls.

He's the retired postal employee who is known for his active interest in NAACP and other civic groups.
