

18 mg. "tar," 1.3 mg. nicotine, av. per cigarette, FTC Report, Feb. '73.

We've Got Our Own Ice Cream Company

By Pam Widgeon

A group of inner city residents, a company known as Business Opportunities For Progress, Inc., has bought the Arundel Ice Cream Company and its 16 store outlets from Fairlanes Inc.

At a press conference Council For Equal Business Opportunity, Inc. office, Samuel T. Daniels executive director, stated, "Young blacks will be able to say it is possible for us to make ice cream and not just operate a liquor store. Every neighborhood grocery store will be selling our own ice cream."

The transfer of ownership of the firm became effective Thursday. The 16 stores also sell bakery goods, sandwiches and fried chicken.

* * *

The manufacturing plant is at 300 N. Smallwood St. The transaction is financed by the Equitable Trust Bank with a guarantee from the Small Business Administration. Fairlanes, the Baltimore Community Investment Company, also gives a portion of financing.

The 11 new owners are persons who have a great deal of out reach the community. They anticipate making ice cream throughout the state and will seek sales to schools, institutions, private industry and super-

(Continued on Page A-2)

PURCHASE ICE CREAM STORES — Among citizens who helped buy Arundel Ice Cream stores from Fairlanes, Inc. are Linwood Ivey, Rick Cummings, Irving Conway, Mrs. Margaret Todd, Mrs. Martha Jackson, Mrs. Dorothy Bishop, Stanley Santos, Tim Conway, Mrs. Esther Morris, Mrs. Laura White, Lee Douglas Jr., and James Watkins. Not shown are Rev. Ellis Young, president and Frank Pettaway, vice president.

LATEST LOTTERY NO. 582522 NOV. 1 DRAW

Baltimore Afro American

FED. WITNESSES FINGER RUFUS JONES IN COURT (SEE INSIDE)

65,216 FAMILIES READ THE AFRO LAST WEEK Founded Aug. 13, 1892

82nd Year, No. 24

Copyright 1973 by the AFRO-AMERICAN Co. for all material previously printed in the current National Edition
BALTIMORE, MD., NOVEMBER 3, 1973 LATE CITY EDITION 40 PAGES 20 CENTS ONE YEAR $9.00

Information Needed To Solve 60 Murders

(SEE STORY IN COLUMN THREE)

Tale Of The Nixon Tapes

"We don't believe it." "We knew they'd be missing." "It's no surprise to us." These are the remarks made in Baltimore and according to news media, all over the country, when the news of the Nixon Tapes came as "missing."

Here is the latest word:

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Watergate prosecutor sought to establish Thursday that one of the tape recordings listed as missing by the White House may have been taken home by former presidential aide H. R. Haldeman and never returned.

But Secret Service agent Raymond C. Zumwalt, a custodian of the tapes, replied "no" when prosecutor lawyer Richard Ben-Veniste asked:

"Do you know whether the tape recording of a conversation between the President of the United States and John W. Dean on April 15, 1973, was given to Mr. Haldeman in July of 1973?"

* * *

The exchange came during a hearing before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica on the White House report, disclosed Wednesday, that neither the Nixon-Dean discussion nor a 1972 telephone conversation between the President and then campaign director John N. Mitchell had been recorded.

* * *

White House Attorney J. Fred Buzhardt opened the session by inviting Sirica to verify by listening to existing tapes and by calling in electronic experts that the recordings "are complete and have not been tampered with."

The two tapes listed as nonexistent were among nine involved in lengthy liti-

(Continued on page A-8)

Saxbe seen 'constructive' top lawyer

WASHINGTON — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, is expected to be a "constructive attorney general on civil rights matters," according to Clarence M. Mitchell Jr.

"He's been with us on about 75 per cent of the issues, said Mitchell, the NAACP Washington bureau chief.

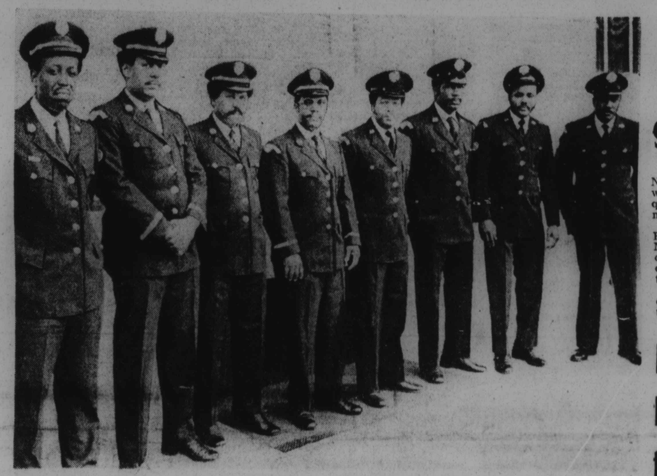

Leon Jaworski, the Texas Democrat who prosecuted former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett in the James Meredith case, was named Watergate prosecutor Thursday, succeeding Archibald Cox.

Saxbe, Mitchell said, has backed equal employment, opposed the filibuster and voted against Judge Clement Haynesworth for the Supreme Court.

* * *

Saxbe, Nixon's fourth attorney general said the president "understands the times and the crisis of leadership."

Gov. John Gilligan is expected to name a Democrat to replace Saxbe. Cleveland millionaire Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn had announced they would seek his seat when he retired next year.

FIRST IN HISTORY — Battalion Chief Clyde J. Smith, first of his race to occupy that position in the Baltimore City Fire Department poses with fellow fire officers after their promotions were announced earlier this week. The newly promoted officers are (from left): Chief Clyde Smith, Lieutenants John O. Fryer, George L. Greene, Bernard Williams, Edward Pitts; Captains Calvin Johnson, George McKnight, Carl McDonald; Captain McDonald was one of the four firemen responsible for filing suit against the Fire Department.

(AFRO staff photo by Roman Hankewycz)

Gigantic NAACP gala set Nov. 30

The Baltimore Branch NAACP is still on the case working to improve the quality of life for all Baltimoreans.

The climax of the Annual Fall Freedom Festival and Membership Drive will be one of the most exciting cultural experiences ever to take place in this city.

The NAACP $100,000 Bicentennial Benefit featuring the gala premiere of the film "Save the Children" is at the Lyric Theatre, on Nov. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The goal is to raise $100,000 from the city's Business Community to support this Branch's community oriented Positive Action Program, a program which deals with issues and problems vitally important to all.

One quarter of whatever sum is raised will be presented in the name of the city of Baltimore as grants to support the following projects:

I. $5,000 — Directly to the community

A. $1,000 — Committee for the Preservation of Orchard Street Church.

B. $1,000 — Young Audiences, Inc. to assist in bringing the Dance Theatre of Harlem back to Baltimore.

C. $1,000 — to the Maryland Academy of Science to aid in the development of the planned Sickle Cell Anemia permanent exhibit.

D. $1,000 — Art Department of Morgan State College to develop a Bicentennial project.

E. $1,000 — Cultural Enrichment Program in Public Schools.

II. $5,000 — Baltimore-Gbarnga Liberia Sister-City Cross-Cultural Exchange Program sponsored by the Maryland Commission on Negro History and Culture in conjunction with the Baltimore City Public Schools.

III. $5,000 — Baltimore Bicentennial Committee to

(Continued on page A-8)

Mrs. Chissell leaves estate to mate's kin

By Bettye Moss

Mrs. Augusta T. (Gussie) Chissell, longtime Baltimore city clubwoman and civic leader, left the bulk of her estate to her husband's nephew, according to the will filed in Orphans' Court.

Dr. H. Garland Chissell and his wife, Robbie, of Powhatan Ave., were bequeathed 54 per cent "of all my estate and property, real, personal and mixed."

Dr. Chissell, who is a nephew of Mrs Chissell's husband, was also named "my personal representa-

(Continued on page A-2)

More Needed On Unsolved Murders

Included among more than 60 unsolved murders Jan. 1, 1972 to October 1973, are those of Joseph Perry, Emerson Knox, Del. James A. (Turk) Scott and George Evans.

AFRO readers often ask, "What are they doing about" the varous homicides which attracted widespread attention. Relatives and friends complain either no suspect has been apprehended or suspects indicted have not yet gone to trial.

For example, police are still searching for the alleged suspect in the case of the Jan. 11, 1973 murder of Joseph Perry.

Perry was gunned down at 11:23 p.m. outside a bar in the 1800 block Lorman St. A warrant is outstanding for Earl Mauldsby, 35, address is unknown.

Perry was shot twice, once in the brain, the bullet entering through the left side of the skull near the temple and also once in the stomach, according to homicide investigators.

George Evans was slain July 18, 1973 on a lawn in front of his 4915 Chalgrove Ave. home. Police claim Black October leaflets were left on his lawn where his body lay riddled with bullets.

Homicide police are still searching for suspects in the early morning slaying.

Black October is also claimed by police to have some connection with the Friday, July 13, 1973 murder of Del. Scott in the underground parking garage at the plush Sutton Place Apartments. Shrman Dobson, 20, of a prominent family of ministers, has been at City Jail awaiting trial since his July 17 arrest.

* *

Police are still investigating July 12, 1972, death of Emerson Knox, 19, found dead, apparently from overdose at about 10:15 p.m. in a 12th floor apartment of a highrise in the 1000 block Argyle Ave.

Many of young Knox's friends called the AFRO to say they felt he had been poisioned or shot full of heroin by an unknown person.

Dr. Russell Fisher, medical examiner, who performed the autopsy stated traces of a drug, sacanol, generally called "Red Devils" were not enough to cause death.

* * *

The following is a list of some other unsolved homicides as listed by the Police

(Continued on Page A-2)

EMERSON L. KNOX
died March 12, 1972

GEORGE EVANS
died Jan. 11, 1973

Fight over Mt. Moriah Cornerstone

(From the Annapolis Evening Capital, by Kathy Schmick)

It was just a skirmish in the long civil war between the city and the county over Mt. Moriah AME Church this morning, but Mayor John C. Apostol came prepared to wage war.

At the peak of the confrontation between city officials and four county laborers in front of the 100-year-old church, the city police threatened to make arrests and the mayor promised to take the County to court.

Meanwhile, one of the laborers threw up his hands and said that all he had been told to do was "to come here and take the cornerstone out."

It was just one more incident between the city and the county over the county's desire to tear down the building for a Courthouse annex and parking lot and, the city's desire to keep it up for historical preservation.

All the county wanted to do, claimed Robert R. Strott, the director of administration, was to take out the cornerstone for safekeeping because it was being "chipped away every day by vandals. I guess,"

(Continued on Page A-2)

MT. MORIAH AME CHURCH
100-year-old church still suffering under longest battle in Annapolis history

DR. PERCY JULIAN

TALKS POSTPONED,

Dr. Julian suffers heart-upset

Dr. Percy Julian, a world-famed scientist scheduled to give a talk at Coppin State College Nov. 9, has sustained heart-upset and is admitted to the West Suburban Hospital, Oak Park, Ill.

He was due to be honored by Mayor William Donald Schaefer on his scheduled appearance. He is brother of Dr. Emerson Julian, Baltimore's City Councilman.

His secretary, Mrs. Joan

(Continued on Page A-2)

INSIDE

- AGNEW pays $10,000 fine
- SOUTHERN HIGH students at work
- WHAT'S HAPPENING in Baltimore
- 10 DAYS in the Soviet Union
- MODEL OF THE YEAR contest
- YWCA YULE DECORATION classes
- NO ARREST IN Provident Hospitol theft
- ST. MARTIN'S CENTER dedication
- SCHOOLS CUTBACK heat and light

Beauties Take Leading Role In Medea

Miss Mandy Bynum will play the role of Medea when the Inscape Theatre of Villa Julie College opens its 1973-74 season with the Greek tragedy of the same name.

The play centers around a barbarian soceress queen and her brutal reaction to her Greek hero husband's adultery. It was written in the fifth century by Euripides.

Mark Hunt will play the role of her husband, Jason. Others in the cast include Miss Karen Busch, John Crimy, Tim Kennard, Jack Quingert and Paul Stein.

* * *

Those in the chorus are: Sally Hankin, Sandra Howard, Jo-Ann Munderloh, Corine O'Connor, Sheila Semply, Deborah Shields, Susan Smith and Shirley Will.

Mrs. Sally Harris, chairman of the drama department at Villa Julie is the director of the performance; Dennis Jelallian, technical supervisor; Sally Hankin, stage manager; and Barbara Cleaves, choreographer.

* * *

Music for the show has been written by Michell Maciejeski, a music major at Catholic University.

Three performances will be given beginning Friday evening, Nov. 9, through Sunday, Nov. 11. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

MISS MANDY BYNUM

MISS SANDRA HOWARD