Miss Johnson Weds Mr. Wilkes At St. Katherine's Church

Beautifully attired in a Juliet-style fitted gown with low neckline and long fitted sleeves and an elbow length train was Miss Dianne B. Johnson on Saturday when she repeated vows with James A. Wilkes in the setting of the St. Katherine's Church in Baltimore.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C Johnson of Round Rd., the bride is a former student of the Community College of Baltimore.

The bridegroom formerly of N.C. is employed with the Metropolitan Transportation Association of Maryland.

Beautiful Floral Setting For Peaks-Mitchell Rites

Mrs. Eula Mitchell became the wife of Benjamin E. Peaks on Saturday in the beautiful floral setting of the bride's home at N. Payson St. in Baltimore.

The Rev. Charles Scott presided over the double ring ceremony when the bride's father, Howard P. Jackson gave her away in marriage.

The bride was attired in a lovely long-sleeved polyester knit white dress with beads running throughout the fabric. Her headpiece was of white silver with pearl beads with a chiffon veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

• • •

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bertina Ayers from New York City and best-man was Joseph T. Montgomery of Lennox St. in Baltimore.

The couple was feted at a reception at the Madison Avenue YWCA which was attended by nearly a hundred relatives and friends.

The bride is a former employee of the Baltimore City Health Department. The bridegroom is employed by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

THE BALTIMORE AFRO-AMERICAN,

Columbia Capers

By Pinnie L. Ross

About 200 of the New City residents danced until 1:30 a.m. last Friday night. The scene was The Other Barn where a swinging cabaret was given in honor of Douglas Sands, prominent resident of Columbia.

Mrs. Barbara Sands, Morgan State instructor and wife of the honoree, greeted the many guests in a two-piece evening skirt and blouse. The navy blue top had a scoop neckline with long sleeves. Complementing the blouse was a blue and white minute check skirt with red piping around the band of the skirt which continued down the front, accenting the deep split to the hemline.

A beautiful hostess was Mrs. Sands, going from table to table to make the many guests comfortable.

Each table had a beautiful centerpiece made up of finger pick up sandwiches with a decorative bowl of potato chips in the center.

At the intermission the honoree, Mr. Sands, made his announcement of his candidacy for Congress. Standing before a very attentive audience of well-wishers, he had this to say: "I will be running for a political office in 1974. I have a big job ahead of me, but in order to turn the tides, you should turn the cash."

• • •

He said he would speak on issues that we are concerned about and felt that he can represent the Sixth District of Maryland, which includes Howard, Prince Georges, Allegheny and Frederick Counties. He feels there are new ways of doing things, and he plans to "shake up the system." He further said, "I expect to spend the rest of my life doing political things. There are many people who would like to defeat me, but I am not going to give them a chance."

The Howard Countian, civil rights worker's impressive credentials include former employment with the Department of State International Development. He has done consultant work with the Labor Department and has worked with the U.S. Civil Service Commission for many years.

I spoke with James Workman, who is chairman for the Committee to Elect "Doug" Sands. Mr. Workman feels that Mr. Sands should be the first black politician to come out of Columbia. Mr. Werkman is president of the Columbia Chapter of Black Social Workers, a ten-member chapter.

• • •

The handsome Mr. Sands never failed to mention Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, who has struggled for civil rights all of her life, and some of the areas she has helped to open for us gave this writer time to observe the (Cuff note: Black Brothers and Sisters, one must stick behind leaders like Mr. Sands, who are paving the way for young black Americans and finding a "new way to shake up the system)."

Beautiful people continued to dance to the music by The Hilton Felton Band out of Washington, D.C., which gave this writer time to observe the marvelous fashions, such as the gorgeous yellow brocade long gown and evening jacket to match worn by Dottie Moore. It was one of her own creations. Doris Bright, the genius who went to Africa for two years to study (she is an author and playwright), wore a long African figured gown with tan colored pearls accenting the front of the neckline and sleeves — with matching handmade sandals and turban.

(More about Mrs. Bright's exciting experience in Africa in a future column).

Pretty Dianne Gayle, owner of the Dianne Gayle Shop For the Distinctive Woman, looked very sporty in a white wool pants suit. The shirt-type blouse had a deep pleat in the back that opened down to the hem of the shirt. She chose colorful fashionable beads for her jewelry. Shiny metallic was seen worn by many fashionable young ladies. Wearing a smart crisscross strapped gown with wide palazzo pants was Howard University professor, Ethel Parker.

Pretty Ossie Clay, Harper's Choice Homemaking teacher, was absolutely stunning in a three-piece ensemble. For her black crepe long skirt, topped with a sporty white blouse and a metallic stripe evening jacket, she chose silver for her accessories. Vera Wilson, National Council president, also chose a metallic evening jump suit. While Rutenna Blake sported a black metallic, long-sleeve blouse over a brown and black metallic skirt.

Dolores Harper was very smart as usual in velvet. She wore a hot pink, long-sleeve, satin blouse over a long, slinky, green velvet skirt.

Congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. William Rice. The Rices celebrated their first wedding anniversary last Sunday.

Walter Lewis, a resident of Columbia and former Baltimore City policeman, has been named jail deputy security warden for City Jail.

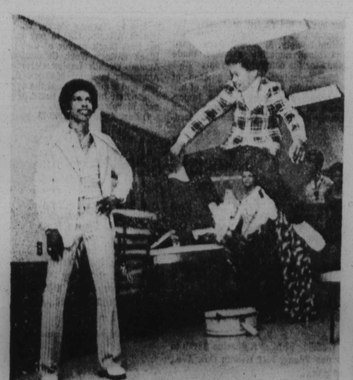
According to Mr. Lewis' charming wife, Vasti, who is an administrative assistant at Antioch College and very elated over her husband's new position, she feels that this high position was not given to him on a silver platter. With sincerity she said, "Walter took a Civil Service exam and passed it with a score of 97." She continued to say, "When you reach 50 years old and score that high on a test, no one has given you anything — you have simply earned it. Mr. Lewis is a native of Baltimore but has lived in Columbia almost five years.

The Lewises have two beautiful daughters by his previous marriage: Wanda is employed at the C and P Telephone Co.; Karen, the second daughter, works at Social Security.

• • •

Mr. Lewis is a 22 - year veteran with the Police Department and is a Morgan State graduate. He is a member of the Kapno Alpha Psi Fraternity. He is a member of the governor's Commission on Law Enforcement. He has worked on the Police Department's Vice Squad and Criminal Investigation Division and has been program director for public safety and justice with the model cities Agency. He coordinated the Legal Aid Bureau and coordinated the Public Defender's project. At present he is pursuing his master's degree in the administration of justice at the American University.

Mr. Lewis will assume his new duties in November.



MRS. HOWARD L. FREEMAN
(former Miss Flora A. Kitchen)

Freeman - Kitchen

The Friendship Baptist Church in Baltimore was the setting of the wedding of Miss Flora Ann Kitchen and Howard L. Freeman. The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. William McCoy Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Kitchen of W. Saratoga St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Freeman of Cole Rain, N.C.

Matron of honor was Miss Loretta Kitchen along with bridesmaids Misses Linda McClyre, Dandra Yorkshirl, Elaine Urquhart, LaRue Garnes, Janie Griffin, Carrie Gibson, Joann Henry. Flowergirl was Tonya Daniels.

Ushers were Frederick Lawrence, Milton Kitchen, Solomon Cherry, Harrison Mitchell, James Robinson and Harlan Allen. Best man was David Freeman while ringbearer was Master John Wilder.

Coppin State College Alumni held a benefit fashion show and cocktail sip two Fridays ago in the College Center. Proceeds from the affair went to the Baltimore Chapter of the United Negro College Fund. Guest models came from the Travis Winkey Modeling Studio. At left is Miss Florella Mitchell. At right are Mr. Winkey and 10-year-old Robert Scott (in the air).

Mrs. Green Feted

The banquet room of the S and R Restaurant was the recent setting of a gala dinner in honor of Mrs. Roma Hall Greene, a longtime member of Union Baptist Church.

Mrs. Green has been president of the Queen Esther Circle since its inception 43 years ago and members of the Circle showed their appreciation for her unselfish leadership.

A capacity crowd was present to salute Mrs. Greene who is described as "everything to us .... she is consolation in the time of sorrow, hope in the time of grief, power in moments of weakness, she is the fountainhead of compassion, forbearance, and forgiveness".

An air of congeniality, good fellowship and true affection was evident throughout the evening. Music was provided by Miss Rebecca Sydnor, William Sydnor and Isador Oglesby. Both the Rev. Vernon Dobson and the Rev. Baxter L. Matthews were lavish in their praise of Mrs. Greene. Glowing tributes were paid by individual members of the Circle.

Mrs. Marian B. Rodwell was a lovely hostess for the occasion and the honoree was her usual gracious and charming self.
