than it must be in effect at 1974."

"Presently the 9th grade general mathematics class the system for some years is doing extensive work in the metric system. We have done it in the past, but without such great emphasis. There will be no conversion. Metric measurements will be taught as a system unto itself as well as the English System," said Donald L. Knox of Rock Glen Junior High School.

Both 7th and 8th graders are spending more time with metrics. As they advance, more and more emphasis will be placed upon it. Our mathematics department head is working with teachers on the system."

Maurice Wells, principal of Northwestern Senior High School stated, "At present time, the mathematics science departments have included the metric system as part of the curriculum. The science department has been involved because scientific data requires it.

"We have received a directive from Central Office asking that methods in metric measurements be emphasized where applicable."
