Isabel Sanford, star of the television comedy "The Jeffersons" has been voted the "1981 Genii Award" winner by the Southern California Chapter of American Women in Radio & Television. The Award will be presented at the 27th annual luncheon April 26 at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

Ms. Sanford joins other distinguished winners including Lucille Ball (1958); Carol Burnett (1968); Mary Tyler Moore (1970); and Lee Meriwether (1980).

Isabel Sanford 'Genii Award' winner

Isabel Sanford's career as an actress began in her hometown of NYC following high school graduation when she joined the American Negro Theatre.

She became associated with a New York YWCA project and appeared off-Broadway in "Shakespeare in Harlem" and "The Egg and I".

After moving to Los Angeles she appeared in "Purlie Victorious", "The Blacks" and "The Amen Corner". She playeo in national touring productions of "Nobody Loves An Albatross" and "Funny Girl". Her movies include "Guess Who's Coming To Dinner" and "Love At First Bite".

Audiences really began to know her when she played Louise Jefferson on "All In the Family". In 1975, the spinoff-comedy "The Jeffersons" became a hit.

Isabel Sanford is a widow with three grown children, Pamela, Eric and Sanford Jr. whom she managed to raise single-handedly while continuing to pursue her career.

"Getting Over" a new movie by John Daniels and his black - owned company Maverick International will premiere April 24 - May 7 at the Warner Beverly Theatre.

The movie which cost a million dollars to put together, features The Love Machine, a group of seven singing, dancing beautiful young women.

The film concerns itself with the dog-eat-dog world of the record business and the evolution of an obscure group and its producer.

John Daniels plays himself, the producer. The Love Machine includes Renee Gentry, Paulette Gibson, Mary Hopkins, Bernice Givens, Sheila Dean, Saundra Sully and Gwen Briscoe.

Other cast members are Mabel King, Andrew "Buzz" Cooper and Floyd "Wildcat" Chatman.

After the world premiere of the film in Los Angeles, the main obstacle standing in the way of the film's success is distribution.

Maverick International is adamant in its demand that the movie play in first-class houses and not in the dirty and decaying houses of many inner cities.

They claim their film has universal appeal, is a family film with no violence and explicit sex.

Sid Smith of Los Angeles has filed a law suit against Players International Publications seeking in excess of $10 million in damages. Filed recently in Los Angeles Superior Court, Smith who for some six years was listed as publisher of Players magazine is seeking damages on the grounds that he was allegedly led to believe that he was an officer of the corporation and he owned one-third of the magazine.

He charges that in 1979 he was dismissed and only then found out he was no more than a "paper officer". He said he was lulled into believing he was a corporate officer.

Night Scene Seen

As the song says, "Another One Bites The Dust," and although it is not completely over, it is failing fast.

Talking about the male go-go-dancer fad which was such a hot property a scant six months ago. Brice's Lounge gave it a try for a few weeks, but it didn't go and was dropped.

Monday nights at The Closet was turned over to the fad and it blazed for a while, then started to subside. Although it still is happening at the club, the bloom has faded.

In fact, it now exists on a more or less week-to-week basis. The original spot which initiated the trend was the Club International, which, our spies report, is still having its Tuesday nights.

They recently sponsored a male go-go contest, which was a roaring success, but the novelty has worn off, and the throngs which once flocked to the place have drastically diminished.

Live entertainment, however, seems to be the name of the game these days, whether it is guitar-vocal groups, fusion, jazz, or just R and B.

The warm weather has made travel a bit more accessible, and Dotson's out on Furnace Branch Rd. in Glen Burnie, is featuring the Transparent Lady this weekend.

Best news of all, to us, is that the barbecue pit on the grounds has officially opened for the season, and we still say this is the best in the State of Maryland.

The Left Bank Jazz Society is presenting vocalist Irene Reid and her quartet, which is just a wee bit of a departure for LBJS.

Must confess that although I am familiar with the singing of Ms. Reid, I have no idea what her quartet consists of, or sounds like.

Can remember about a year ago when Irene had a hot record on the charts that LBJS tried to hire her for the Sunday gig. It didn't happen then, for some of the fringes asked for bordered on the outrageous.

So, we're happy things have been worked out, and we dare say this will be a first appearance for her at a LBJS set—it should be interesting.

At The Bandstand in Fells Pt., tenor saxophonist Scott Hamilton will be the featured artist, and for devotees of swing—this is it!

Scott, is the young phenom who plays in the Ben Webster-Buddy Tate- Lester Young idiom, interspersed with his own ideas, and it is sometimes frightening to hear one so young play in a style of the former greats.

Backing him will be Reuben Brown on piano, along with Dude Brown, drums and J. J. Wiggins, bass. Those who shy away from the avant garde type music need have no fear with this group—it is mainstream all the way.

The Sportsmen's Lounge is presenting Earl May, bassist, with vocalist Eva Smith. Earl, who is a mainstay on the New York jazz scene is one of those rare lefthanded bass players.

He has been on display in Baltimore on several occasions, but this will mark his first time heading a group in a nightclub setting.

I didn't get a line on the backup group, but we suspect Charlie Covington will be in the lineup on acoustic piano—a new acquisition at The Sportsmen's Lounge.

The Saturday afternoon jazz jam will feature the Dennis Fisher trio along with vocalist Jennifer Jones. Note too that a Sunday night has been added to the roster of the club with Essense featured from 8 p.m. 'til 1.

By now, you know that the special fund raiser for the benefit of the Atlanta children scheduled for tonight at the 20 Grand, has been cancelled.

If you wonder why, it is at the request of Atlanta mayor Maynard Jackson, who asked that no funds be sent to Atlanta until the fiscal situation is cleared up. There have been reputed reports of hanky-panky with the funds.

Have been keeping a wary eye on the 2 for 1 policy established at The Garrison Lounge. It is in effect there from 4 to 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. to 2 a.m. every day.

Chatted with club manager Perdy, who smiles broadly whenever the new policy is mentioned. Have to concur, for the last time we dropped in, all of the seats were taken and that hum that takes place when people are having a good time, was plainly audible.

Another idea that is catching on at the local pubberies is Bartender's night. We'll bring you up to date in a later column, but check The Red Rooster and Pat's Lounge—it's happening for them.

Tea and Fashion Show

Geon Floyd delighted the audience when he took off his new topcoat and flung it over his shoulder. He's wearing his new 3-piece Easter suit.

Community Neighborhood Association of West Baltimore

The Community Neighborhood Association of West Baltimore composed of eight AFRO Clean Blocks held their annual tea and fashion show at Enon Baptist Church Saturday.

Mrs. Grace Adams is president; Mrs. Mildred Ridges, chairperson; Mrs. Delores Williams, Mrs. Queen E. Logan, co-chairpersons; Mrs. Julia Murray, secretary.

The eight blocks, who have won regularly through the years in AFRO Clean Block Campaign are 600 Monroe, 600 N. Appleton, 600 Payson, 600 Brice, 600 Pulaski, 1900 and 2000 Harlem Avenue and 1900 Edmondson Avenue.

The association was formed in February 1966 by Mrs. Adams to help keep the neighborhood clean. Money raised is used to buy trash cans, brooms, flowers, paint and trash bags. Every year they give tokeus to persons who help clean yards. They also help Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind, AFRO Mrs. Santa, various churches in the area and burned out families.

A beautiful luncheon was served which included turkey, ham, dressing, string beans, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, hot rolls, home-made cake, nuts and mints.

The prayer and blessing of food was by Mrs. Caroline Mason, Mesdames Odessa Troy and Gertrude Baskerville, narrators of fashions.

Mrs. Artelia Holman displayed hats and Miss Veronica Green, jewelry. Mrs. Julia Calloway provided incidental music throughout the afternoon.

The dedication to founder-president Mrs. Adams was by Mrs. Queen E. Logan.

Models included the mother-son team of Mrs. Christine Smith and son, Eric Smith. Also little Miss Marjueida Gaskins and Geon Floyd.

Others were Mesdames Mary E. Downs, Carolyn D. Martin, Evelyn Wallace, Evelyn McCallum and Christine Smith.

Also Jerry Glover, Douglass K. Johnson, Roy Adams and Claude Lamon.

Roy Adams who modeled with his wife, Mrs. Gracie Adams, founder and president of the neighborhood association.

A delicious luncheon of turkey and trimmings was cooked and served by members.

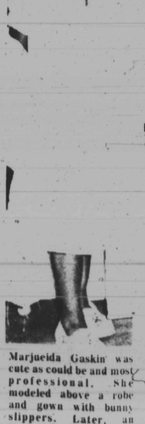
Mrs. Evelyn McCallum modeled outfits from casual to evening wear.

Mrs. Artelia Holman, hat designer, exhibited her collection of spring hats.

Mrs. Elsie Brown modeled her own hand - crocheted cape with mink collar, hat and dress.



Marjueida Gaskin was cute as could be and most professional. She modeled above a robe and gown with bunny slippers. Later, an Easter outfit complete with white gloves and black patent shoes.

Mrs. Odessa Troy, commentator, was a symphony in black and white print with matching straw.
