Choices favor Skins, not Colts

Oddsmakers viewing upcoming games in the National Football League favor Washington and make Baltimore the underdog.

The Colts, visiting the Dolphins in the Miami Orange Bowl, are rated 7½ points off the home team.

3 Trojan runners

Three Virginia State cross - country runners have qualified for national championships in Wisconsin next month.

Reuben Clark, sophomore from Norfolk, became the first Trojan to win the NAIA District 19 championships with a tie of 27 minutes and 10 seconds for the 5.2 mile course.

Nickoll Waters, a freshman from Philadelphia, returned home to win the women's competition with a time of 19:13 for the 3.2 mile course.

Linda Thomas, another freshman from Upper Marlboro, Md., came in second, just 28 seconds behind Waters.

Bears face Aggies in traditional homecoming

It is that time of year when Morgan football reaches its crossroads.

The Bears stage their annual homecoming extravaganza this weekend, meeting traditional rival North Carolina A and T as the focal point of weekend activities.

No matter the previous records — Morgan is 4 - 2, A and T is 2 - 5 — coaches Tom Morris of Morgan and Jim McKinley of A and T look upon this upcoming contest as a major yardstick for them.

Tom Morris' first homecoming

Jim McKinley has 2-1 mark

Although his current eleven has endured some rough times, as witness the two wins in seven outings, McKinley enjoys a 2-1 slate against the Bears.

The Aggies scored, 28 - 0, in 1977, and 22-21 last year, though losing at Morgan 29 - 9, in 1979.

Morris, in his first year as head coach, has steered his Bears to a .667 winning percentage, boasting victories over Towson State, Cheyney State, NC Central and Virginia State.

The success of the Morgan offense will hinge on the efforts of quarterback Darrell Coulter, running backs Phoenix Dinkins and Angelo Proctor, and receivers Al Johnson and Steve Smith.

Coulter, a 2 - time all - MEAC choice, shows a 42 percent completion record with 477 yards and three touchdowns. Dinkins has gained 202 yards on 39 carries and a fine 5.1 average. Proctor's 178 yards have produced a 3.5 average and three touchdowns.

Johnson has made 11 catches and Smith nine for gains of 235 and 199 yards, respectively.

Defensively, the Bears appear to be quite potent, having surrendered but 67 points in six games, 41 of the 67 to powerful South Carolina State in an embarrassing 41 - 0 setback.

Stalwarts in the defense are senior linebackers Dexter Cox and John Day, and freshman Lester Speight.

Cox is credited with 34 initial tackles and 31 assists. Day has 32 and 38 for 60 total.

Speight leads the team in quarterback sacks with six, followed by Cox and sophomore tackle Vince Coles with five apiece.

The Aggies, on the other hand, figure to rely on the passing of sophomores Keith James and Tom Johnson, and the running of fullback Charlie Sutton and tailback Danny Thomas.

Sutton and Thomas tallied touchdowns in last week's Aggie loss to Howard at Greensboro.

Morgan should also be wary of the A and T kicking game. In sophomore Aaron Herring, the visitors have a youngster who hit on 32 of 35 conversions last year and nine of 18 field goals.

Herring hit one field goal last Saturday against the Bison and negotiated both his team's extra - point conversions successfully . . . SAM LACY.

NBA Nets sign ex-Terp King

The New Jersey Nets Wednesday signed Albert King, a 6-6 forward from Maryland, to a multi-year contract, estimated at $235,000 per season.

King, a native of Brooklyn, set a Terrapin season point record with 674, field goals with 275 and consecutive free throws, 30, during the 1979-80 season. He had a 17-point career average and established a total school record for games, 118; points, 2,058, and field goals, 862.

Albert King multi-year $235G

Nets personnel director Al Menendez commented: "King has always been a phenomenal talent since junior high school. We're happy to get him on the 10th pick in the draft.

"We feel he's going to be an excellent scorer in the NBA, but he also has the ability to be an outstanding defensive player. Above all, he is a team player."

Colts go bananas

The struggling Baltimore Colts, ready to try anything to win a game, began eating large quantities of bananas Wednesday.

The team has dropped seven straight games and travels to play Miami, 5-2-1, Sunday.

Colts' strength coach Joe Vitt says the bananas will provide an extra supply of potassium to his players' diet and that will help the team handle the sticky Miami climate.

The Colts ate bananas last season and beat Miami 30-17 on a warm day in the Orange Bowl, scoring 20 points in the second half.

The Colts nearly upset the Dolphins in a game Sept. 27 in Baltimore, but lost 31-28. The only victory for Baltimore, 1-7, came in an opening day win over New England.

Bits o' briefs

Bay anniversary

The 55th anniversary of the first black swim of the Chesapeake Bay is marked this fall.

Dr. Charles L. Tarter, now of Teaneck, NJ, negotiated the 18-mile distance from Fort McHenry to Brown's Grove in seven hours, 40 minutes in 1926, outlasting the late Clarence Pendleton, then swim instructor at the Druid Hill YMCA and later swimming coach at Howard University.

Dr. Tarter is the brother of Mrs. Clarice Watts, whose husband, Reggie, is a well-known former athletic official and Baltimore tennis star.

Sympathetic boss

Any time a pitcher on the staff of the Los Angeles Dodgers is guilty of making a wild pitch, he has the unstinting sympathy of his manager.

Tommy LaSorda shares the National League record of making three in one inning (the first) in a May 5, 1955 Dodgers' game against the Cincinnati Reds.

It's no joke

DALLAS — Former Dallas linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson has been ordered to pay $1,226 in damages to a barber who said Henderson assaulted him in 1978.

State District Judge Charles Ben Howell entered the judgment after testimony by Henderson and George Anderson, who said he was struck on the head during an argument Dec. 6, 1978.

Anderson said Henderson hit him after the barber requested Henderson to stop telling an obscene joke in the presence of women customers.

Slower, faster

PITTSBURGH — World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes again reduced his workout schedule Tuesday while challenger Renaldo Snipes stepped up his pace in preparation for their title bout at the Civic Arena on Friday (6th).

Holmes, who said he has nearly reached his desired level of fitness and preparation, sparred three rounds at the arena with Jerry Williams.

Snipes, who began training Monday, boxed five rounds.

Willie must pay

LANSING, MI. — A Michigan Appeals Court Tuesday upheld a divorce judgment granting one-time Detroit Tiger great Willie Horton's ex-wife $250,000 plus $200 a week in alimony.

The appeals court, citing testimony that Horton's wife and children received only a fraction of the $1.3 million he earned during his professional career, rejected claims by Horton's attorneys that the award was excessive.

Patricia Horton filed for divorce in 1979.

Aptly named filly at Laurel Saturday

LAUREL, Md. — Because she liked to chase the snow plow on the farm in the state of Washington on which she was raised, the filly by Royal Ski was named Snow Plow by breeder J. H. Plemmons.

Consigned to the Keeneland Summer Yearling Sale last year, Snow Plow was purchased for $35,000 by Leon Blusiewicz, a Maryland owner - trainer, for his wife, Joanne.

On Saturday, Blusiewicz will run Snow Plow in the $200,000 expected gross Selima Stakes at Laurel Race Course. The one - mile and one - sixteenth Grade 1 test for two - year - old fillies will reward the winning owner about $110,000 and will boost the value of the filly as a future broodmare prospect tremendously.

Fourteen Selima winners, including the last four, were champions in their division.

Among other probables for the Selima are Newstead Farm's Larida, a daughter of Northern Dancer from Kittiwake who has won with "speed to spare" in her two starts; Mrs. Bertram Firestone's Chilling Thought, Crescent Stable's Casual and Immense and James F. Edwards' Talc Shaker.

THE WINNER IS HERE — One of the high spots in the tennis career of Leslie Allen occurred last spring when she accepted congratulations from Hana Mandlikova (R), world's No. 3 ranked player after she upset the young Czechoslovakian at New York's Madison Square Garden. Allen joins a field of international stars, including Billie Jean King, Andrea Jaeger, Evonne Goolagong Cawley, Andrea Leand and Ann White at Towson Center Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The tourney is sponsored by the Junior League of Baltimore.

Bob Dandridge back to Bucks?

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Forward Bobby Dandridge may be on his way back to the Milwaukee Bucks, but coach Don Nelson is keeping mum about the possibility.

The Milwaukee Journal Wednesday reported that the Bucks are close to signing Dandridge, a former Buck who has been released by the Washington Bullets, but Nelson refused to comment on it.

Dandridge, once one of the top small forwards in the NBA, could help fill the void caused by the absence of star Marques Johnson, who is holding out for more pay and a new contract.

Blast signs Essex booter

Versatile John Abe, a former Northern High and Essex Community College midfielder, has been signed by the Baltimore Blast of the major Indoor Soccer League.

Abe, called by Essex Coach Pete Caringi "one of the best players in junior soccer," was selected in Tuesday's MISL draft of amateur prospects along with another local schoolboy, Steve Quaranta of Curley.

Abe is described by Caringi as a quick player who possesses a strong kick in either foot. "I'm sure he and Quaranta will adapt well to the indoor game and will prove assets to the Blast."

John, 20 years old, stands 5 - 11 and weighs 175 pounds. Quarants, 5 - 7 and a senior at Curley, is 17.

THREE OF ONE MIND — The dramatic World Series victory of the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Yankess, four games to two, produced three most valuable players. Pedro Guerrerro (L) and Steve Yeager (C) delivered two homers each. And Ron Cey (R) provided a tremendous inspirational lift when he returned to the field for the title game after sustaining a concussion when hit by a 91-mile-an-hour Rich Gossage fast ball on Sunday.

Va. Union—State game set for TV

RICHMOND — The annual Gold Bowl game, this time featuring league - leading Virginia Union against Virginia State will be televised Saturday on the ABC - TV network.

Originally scheduled for a 2 p.m. kickoff, the contest will get under way at 12:30 in order to fit the afternoon's television commitments.

Virginia Union, aside from leading the CIAA with a 6 - 0 record, will be playing on familiar grounds at City Stadium. As a consequence, the Panthers are favored.

According to Richmond AFRO editor John Templeton, the outcome of the game will hinge on mistakes. Union did not make any against Norfolk State last week. The result was a 43 - 13 homecoming win.

State had 180 yards in penalties, four interceptions and four lost fumbles in a generous trip to Morgan State last week that ended 25 - 0, Morgan's way.

But Trojan coach George Moody remains undaunted.

"We are still in the CIAA race (with a 3 - 1 conference record) and we are going to play championship ball. Mistakes and defeat are something of the past," he says.

Area cagers cut by pros

Two former collegiate stars from the Baltimore - Washington corridor felt the axe in Tuesday's final roster reductions by NBA clubs.

Ernie Graham, the Baltimore Dunbar High School product who starred at Maryland was cut by the Philadelphia 76ers.

And while Washington - developed "Hawkeye" Whitney was not released by the Kansas City Kings, the ex - N.C. State standout - was placed on injured reserve in deference to knee surgery he underwent.

Little Leaguers' field better W. Series site?

By Milton Richman

NEW YORK (UPI) — They should've played this year's World Series in Williamsport, Pa., except that maybe the little leaguers wouldn't give the Yankees and Dodgers the field.

I couldn't blame them a bit.

You have to go back more than 35 years, possibly to the war years, like when Chuck Hostetler nearly broke his neck tripping over third base in the 1945 series between the Tigers and Cubs, to find a more amateurishly played World Series than this one.

Such basics and fundamentals as bunting properly, backing up throws, sliding correctly and a runner holding on second base with less than two out when the ball was hit in front of him, were either completely ignored or forgotten.

Both teams in this World Series were guilty of sandlot-like, schoolboy lapses, the Yankees even more than the Dodgers. At times, the Yankees gave a remarkably good imitation of Ray Milland in "The Lost Weekend," and maybe that's why they kept getting their boss, George Steinbrenner, hotter and hotter under the collar.

Jim Palmer, the Baltimore Orioles' three-time Cy Young winner, is a pretty perceptive fellow. He did color commentary for ABC-TV and before Sunday's fifth game in Los Angeles, he said to me, "Aesthetically, this hasn't been exactly the best World Series ever played."

The best? With all the bumbles and fumbles that were committed, it came closer to approaching the worst.

Couldn't you just hear old Casey Stengel, wherever he is, asking, "Can anybody here play this game?"

There was a time when the Yankees executed better than any club in baseball. They no longer do and that could be because some clubs with established stars have a tendency to overlook the basics.

Practice still makes perfect, though, but who bothers practicing anymore?

Remember when the coaches would hit balls to the outfield before the game and the outfielders would rifle the ball back into the plate? You have to go way back for that.

The last world series I can remember where both teams executed particularly well was the one in 1975 between the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox.

Some people rate that World Series' ever played and I have to agree. It was the most exciting one I've seen in the past 30 years. It had everything — including, of course, the necessary fundamentals.

Britons face apartheid rap

LONDON (UPI) — Every English County cricket player and every member of the European professional golf tour could be on the United Nations anti-apartheid blacklist within the next year, James Beho, Ghana's ambassador to Britain, said this week.

Beho, chairman of the UN's sub-committee on the implementation of resolutions against South Africa, said at a news conference, "I do not believe in going about this softly. Apartheid is evil, a crime against human rights. It must be rooted out and destroyed."

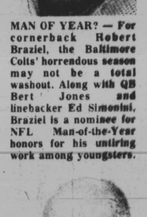
Beho said a new blacklist would be released next month, and that it would contain the names of sportsmen and women who had competed in South Africa during the last six months and those who had not renounced their contacts with apartheid since publication of the last blacklist in May.

He said that every English County cricketer and all those on the European golf tour could also find themselves blacklisted within the next year because they played with individual South Africans in other countries.

"Anybody playing county cricket in Britain against South Africans should also go on the blacklist — even West Indians, Pakistanis and Indians. Similarly with golfers playing the same tournaments as South Africans," he said.

Speaking about the threatened cancellation of England's cricket tour to India this winter because of Geoff Boycott and Geoff Cook's links with South Africa, Beho said, "If either of the players renounced their connections with South Africa that would be alright because their names would be taken off the blacklist."

It already seems likely that South African golfers will be banned for the opening tournament of next season's European golf tour, the Tunisian Open.



MAN OF YEAR? — For cornerback Hebert Braziel, the Baltimore Colts' horrendous season may not be a total washout. Along with QB Bert Jones and linebacker Ed Simonini, Braziel is a nominee for NFL Man-of-the-Year honors for his untiring work among youngsters.

Wysocki on record run at Md.

Charlie Wysocki broke a 54 yard touchdown run Duke Saturday, Oct. 24, and when he had completed the run he was the first Terrapin to ever gain over 3,000 yards in his career.

He added a 17 yard scoring run also in the first quarter and at the end of the first quarter had 87 yards rushing in his first full game at tailback since the Syracuse game.

Wysocki opened the season with 104 yards at Vanderbilt but suffered a ankle injury in the game. He missed the West Virginia and North Carolina State games but returned to pick up 172 yards against Syracuse.

He then suffered a shoulder injury in the first half of the Florida game and played only one play at Wake Forest. He returned to the starting lineup against Duke and had 143 yards rushing with two touchdowns.

He now has recorded 17 games of 100 plus yards, six games over 175 yards and three games over 200 yards in his career. He continues to add records to his collection. They include: MOST NET YARDS GAINED RUSHING IN CAREER: 3,045 (old mark 2,971 by Steve Atkins) MOST RUSHES IN CAREER: 705 (old mark 625 by Steve Atkins).

Wysocki has 709 plays rushing and the Maryland Total Offense Record (rushing and passing is 790 plays by Quarterback Dick Shiner

VICTORY RUN — The Quander of Maryland University is off on a 92-yard run after catching a Duke University punt. Quander, favored by some good downfield blocking, raced to the Dukes' 8-yard line to set up Maryland's first touchdown in the Terps' 24-21 victory over Duke at College Park, Saturday.
