PhaseIII—Charm City neglect on Whatcoat St.

By Ida Peters

For the past three weeks we have been working with Clean Block Captain Carol Turner and Co-Captain William Curtis in the 1100 Block of Whatcoat St. in Northwest Baltimore.

They have rats walking the streets in broad daylight. Their complaint concerns houses that are vacant and unboarded full of trash.

Their complaints were given to Russell Cooper (396-0075) and Ms Mereida Goodman (396-1153) of the City Department of Housing and Community Development.

The entire block of 1400 Winchester St. is owned by the City of Baltimore. Mr. Cooper says that the Project Coordinator is thinking about tearing all six of these vacant houses down. At the present time, there is no money. However, the AFRO noted the houses are still full of trash, have no roofs and are full of trash and rats.

Ms Goodman and Mr. Cooper in their reports and inspection report that 1107, 116, 1119, 1161 and 1121, all owned by the City of Baltimore have been cleaned and closed.

Inspectors were in the block on June 3 and Work Orders to close city-owned properties at 1113, 1136, 1145 and 1163 have been issued to clean and board.

To 40 families, 175 persons and 35 children who live in this block thank all the concerned city officials who are helping make their block a decent place to live.

Residents in the 1900 blk of Fulton Avenue have been calling to try and get a tree replaced in their neighborhood. Many of the old trees in that block died and were never replaced.

New trees have been planted on North Avenue in front of Enoch Pratt Library and in front of the old Tichner Funeral Home.

A call to Nat Parks to whom we were referred at HCD, division of Construction and Building Inspection (396-3577) says that no trees are planted after April 15 until the fall of the year because the trees will not take root.

A call to the Forestry Division gives us the first information that Calvin Bukema is no longer the City Forester. Matthew F. Taylor is now acting head and calls about getting trees are being referred to Nat Parks.

Shelton Stewart is our good friend in the Rosemont area where he works with the Concerned Parents Program.

Stewart reports that his campaign to get "It's 11 p.m. Do You Know Where You Child Is" back on radio and TV. Ch. 13 has given his group a 30-minute spot program "Concerned Parent".

The first part of his program is the slogan. The next step is a city-wide conference to plan a strategy for survival of the family in the city.

Stewart hopes to deal with reminding parents to have a responsibility for their children.

Purpose

The purpose of this campaign is to get all residents in your block to keep a clean home this summer and beautify the block.

A Clean Block is one in which steps and sidewalks are washed once a day and the street kept free from trash. ubbed.

Windows are kept clean and curtains hung evenly.

Garbage and trash cans are removed as soon as on the porch.

Loud talking or any other disturbance which annoys others is not permitted.

A beautiful block must have flowers in it, and must be clean, both back and front.

Graduation joy and sadness

Once upon a time, in the City of Baltimore, there was a bright, hardworking little girl who studied far into the night for three years to graduate from Junior High School.

She made it! The irony of the whole thing is her mother was laid off her job as a CETA worker from the Department of Public Works and has been living off unemployment compensation.

When time came to pay $5 for a corsage and invitations, the poor mother did not have the money, and by the time she got the $5 it was too late, invitations had all been distributed.

Kindly relatives realizing the young student's situation provided a dress and shoes. And, last minute appeals were being made to the school's principal which allowed the student to walk across the stage with her class.

The AFRO believes that education and achievement is important, no dress, flowers, shoes and invitations. In the old days, poor kids never let on or complained. They just stayed home on graduation day because they couldn't afford the dress or gown. Today, we're all just one step away from poverty and we must have compassion for our struggling brothers and sisters.

Bishop Cedric Mills speaks at St. James 158th anniversary

Bishop Cederic C. Mills spoke of his return to St. James Episcopal Church on the occasion of the church's 158th anniversary as a journey back to friends and memories.

Bishop Mills, Bishop of the Virgin Isalnds, presently residing in Los Angeles, Calif., spoke with fondness of two particular families who had befriended the then Father Mills and his wife, Rebecca when they first arrived in Baltimore as rector of St. James 41 years ago.

The families were Paul and Elizabeth Henderson, with whom Father Mills lived and Tollie and Nellie Fax.

In his sermon he spoke of the need for a firmer financial base for the church in order to offer reasonable salaries to clergy and to eliminate funding drives.

He spoke warmly of Father Wilson, present rector of the church and the physical improvements in the church.

Bishop Mills feels strongly that improvements and reforms in the secular aspects of the service are still needed although he was a contributor to the revised edition of the Book of Common Prayer.

Bishop Mills also consecrated a crystal cruet set with silver tray in memory of Hawthorne and Hattie B. Smith and a Cope in memory of Vivian M. Hutchins and Gladys B. Jones, which were gifts to the church.

He assisted in the baptism of Matthew Foster Hopkins, Monica Camylle Naesea and Eric James Valentine, in addition to blessing plaques for Ralph W. Finney and Lucretia W. Evans, commenorating 50 years of holy confirmation.

Despite failing sight, Bishop Mills greeted individually the hundreds of communicants and well wishers at St. James.
