Flair Dance Studio presents yearly recital

Flair Dance Studio will present its students in "Summer Classics" a ballet recital on Saturday, June 19, 1982 at 6:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Maryland Historical Society.

Flair Dance Studio is a component of Flair Studio. Since 1968 Flair Studio has worked to develop self awarness and improvement in Baltimore's Black Women. The work of the studio is directed by Willia and Andres Bland.

The dance director is Shawan Patterson. It was through Ms. Patterson's vision that the dance studio became an integral part of Flair's curriculum in 1975.

Since that time, Flair's Dance Studio has strived to develop minds and bodies through the discipline of dance. Young people are provided the opporutnity to dance. Under professional conditions while still in high school. Professional guidance and instructions are offered for the serious and dedicated student.

Beginners are carefully instructed in the development of ballet techniques and youngsters prepared in developing a feeling for rhythm and understanding of music and space relationship.

Flair Dance Studio specializes in classical ballet, with classes soon to be added in Modern Dance and Jazz. Classes for children and adults are held regularly during the fall and spring with special summer sessions for beginners and dance workshops for the more experienced.

Ms. Patterson was a ballet dancer with the Danny Diamond Dance Studio where she received her early training. A native of Baltimore, she studied also at the Maryland School of Ballet, (now the Baltimore Ballet School) where she is continuing her dance education.

In addition to her status as a professional dancer, she has taught dance at all levels, including Dance Director at Bay College of Maryland.

Miss Talented Teen

Mrs. Pinnie L. Ross, executive producer and coordinator of the pageant since its debut in Maryland 12 years ago, received a citation from Governor Hughes, in recognition of her untiring devotion and commitment in the support of young women in the state of Maryland and in acknowledgement of her being the only state pageant director of the Talented Teen International to have had two international winners.

Mrs. Penny Schwartz, representing the mayor's office, presented a proclamation to Mrs. Ross, proclaiming June 13 as 'Miss Talented Teen — Maryland Day.'

Mrs. Ross, owner and director of Pinnie's Charm Studio in Columbia, and Act I, Act II Boutique in Ellicott City, Md., also received a bouquet of flowers from her daughter, Rae C. Ross, who is the pageant's official choreographer, now in Stuttgart, Germany.

The contestants also presented a gift to Mrs. Ross, with Tracey Stafford, making the presentation.

Marti Franklin, associate director, received a plaque for her dedicated service of 12 years.

Mrs. Maggie Watkins received a large bouquet of pink carnations for services rendered on behalf of the pageant.

Judging the pageant were Attorney Georgia Goslee, candidate, for the Baltimore's Supreme Bench; E. Lee Lassiter, columnist, Baltimore News American; Dr. Sandra Noel Smith, professor, Howard University; Mrs. Claire Roker, producer, Hal Jackson's Talented Teen, St. Croix, Virgin Islands; Travis Winkey, owner, director, Travis Winkey Modeling Studio; Bob Matthews, executive editor, Dawn Magazine, AFRO - AMERICAN Newspapers; Mrs. Frances Rhymes, New York, national choreographer, Hal Jackson's Talented Teen International; Marvin Brown, singing artist, and lead singer of the Soft Tones; Mrs. Janet Coverington, Public Service Director, WMAR-TV, Mrs. Phyllis Shelton, Public Service Director for WJZ-TV and the Honorable Judge Robert Bell.

Sharon Warren did the makeup for the contestants; Art work was by Bill MacIntier, teacher at Lake Clifton High School.

DUNBAR'S 1982 SWEETHEART — Miss Tracy Jackson, 17-year-old June graduate of Dunbar Senior High School, who was recently crowned sweetheart of Dunbar High for 1982, will attend Frostburg State College in September. Miss Jackson received a future health professionals of America scholarship award. She also won two first place blue ribbons in the girls MSA track championships, a gold medal at Carver High relays and received two awards for outstanding journalism and English. She plans to major in psychology at Frostburg.
