THE LIVING CHURCH

Union Baptist minister of music honored

BY BETTYE MOSS

Family and friends sponsored an Appreciation and Birthday Banquet honoring Mrs. Lillian M. Johnson July 26, Monday evening.

She is the Minister of Music at Union Baptist Church, Turner Station, pastored by her son the Rev. William E. Johnson.

The banquet marked her 74th birthday and her 60 years of providing music at area churches, public meetings and funeral homes.

Present at the July 19 affair at La Fontaine Rouge, were rerepresentatives of groups she has served, as well as seven of her eight children and several of her 37 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Speakers told of Mrs. Johnson's courage in rearing her children during the Depression, of her love for people and her pride in their accomplishments.

Roscoe Herring, speaking for Mayor Schaefer, lauded her as a self-taught musician, who has been an inspiration. He presented her the Mayor's citation and a bracelet, and declared Monday her day in Baltimore.

Governor Hughes, speaking through Mrs. Cassandra H. Marshall, awarded her a framed citation.

The honoree's minister-son led family members in telling humorous stories about their childhood days, recalling his mom's firm hand. "With eight kids, you did one heck of a job. We love you dearly," he said.

Her other children, now adults, who joined in praising her, were Mrs. Elizabeth M. Brooks, Calvert L. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. Margaret C. Baker, Mrs. Carolyn H.J. Cole, George I. Johnson and Mrs. Danielle L. Distance. Another son, Capt. James P. Johnson in the Army in Texas, sent greetings.

Gifts to the honoree included cash of undisclosed amount from family and friends, which moved her minister-son to admonish her. "Don't lend any of it to us. Not even the grandchildren. Spend it on yourself, enjoy it, you deserve it." The audience applauded approval.

When her time came to acknowledge the tributes, Mrs. Johnson was modest, noting she was delighted to see her friends family present and proud of her children.

A native Baltimorean, Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Edward and Delia Dogan who took her to Sharon Baptist Church when she was six years old.

Sharon pastor, Rev. Elliott, baptized her when she was 11, and encouraged her to play the piano. She credits him with encouraging her to play for the organ and piano for church youth groups.

Later, she studied music under A. Jack Thomas at the old Morgan State College. In the 30's she worked as organist at the Royal Theatre, and in the 40's, it was her organ which provided the background music for the old silent movie.

In later years, she was much in demand at funeral homes to and or to sing for services. In addition, she has been organist at area churches, St. John AME, Trinity Baptist, Payne Memorial Baptist, Timothy Baptist, and Central Baptist.

Representatives of these churches, as well as funeral homes, were in attendance. So was the Rev. Alfred V. C. Vaughan, president of Clergy In Action and acting president of Va. Seminary and College. He presented a citation from the latter group. Mrs. Barbara C. Williams coordinated the banquet. Musical tributes were by Ruby Clover-penny, Marilyn Staham, Bertha Lyles, Daisy Harley and granddaughter, Deborah Johnson, who sang "I Asked The Lord."

Another granddaughter, Ernestine, Lomax, gave the family welcome. Grace was by a grandson, Rev. Raymond Johnson, pastor of High Rock Baptist.

Other participants included, Mrs. Ernestine Johnson, who presided; Mrs. Delores B. Johnson William E. JohnsonJohnson, Jr., and Sandra Dobson.

Grandchildren who were hosts and hostesses: Ricardo Brooks, Richard and Ronald Cole, W. Eric Johnson, Sameul Stokes, Margaret Brooks, Benita and Diane Johnson, Loretta Lomax and Vendetta Stokes.

Pleasant Hope 49th anniversary honors Mrs. Della Giddings

Pleasant Hope Baptist Church observed its 49th anniversary with a banquet on July 19.

Mrs. Delia Katherine Giddings, known as "Mother of the Church" because of her 44 years service, was the honoree of the evening.

Speakers praised her for her guidance, concern and help, recalling she lived for years next door to the church, then on Hutchins Avenue and now at 430 East Belvedere.

"We've all been her family, and she has been a great help to all of us," said the pastor, the Rev. Howard R. Queen, who is rounding out 19 years as minister.

Mrs. Giddings, a well-known beautician, said whatever she had done was in Christ's service, reflecting the evening's theme, "Forward With Christ."

Gifts to Mrs. Giddings included a citation from Mayor Schaefer, which was presented by his assistant, Roscoe Herring.

The Rev. Baxter L. Matthews, pastor emeritus of Union Baptist Church, praised the church and Mrs. Giddings.

Other greetings were by Rev. Lorenzo Graves, president of the United Baptist Missionary Convention, Mrs. Hallie Jamison, cousin of the honoree; and Mrs. Queen Esther Coleman.

Mrs. Edith Hare presided at the celebration held at LaFontaine Bleu. Mrs. Rosetta M. Davis was coordinator.

Music was by the Voices of Pleasant Hope, Theodore Elliot, Mrs. Mary Conaway, Mrs. Alesse Moore and Deacon John M. Maynor Jr.

Other participaants, Rev. Frank Seivers, associate minister; Mrs. Hazel Reed and Mrs. Dorothy Crawford. Members of the anniversary committee were Queen E. Coleman, Ernest Cornish, Theodore Elliott, James Jones, Shirley McLaughlin, Ruth Nicholson, Marlene Weivers, Rev. Frank Seivers, Lucille Sharps, Margaret Yates and Gloria Harvey.

49TH ANNIVERSARY was observed by members of Pleasant Hope Baptist Church on July 18. The pastor, the Rev. Howard R. Queen, is pictured with Mrs. Della K. Giddings, who was honored as "Mother of the Church" for her 44 years service.

How to raise money for your church

Is your church in need of a new organ new hymn books or are you in the process of renovating or building a new church?

If you and members of your church join the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper's 90th anniversary special circulation promotion, you may earn as much as $4,500.

The AFRO is paying 40 percent ($8.00) commission on every $20 subscription sold by the church. If you church sells 100 subscriptions, the church received an extra bonus of $100 plus a plaque.

Orders may be taken for the Tuesday and Friday AFRO at the cost of $20 for six months or the Tuesday or Friday for one year at $20.

Any church selling 300 or more subscriptions will receive an additional bonous of a free full page in the AFRO. This page can be used for pictures and stories about the church, current events, special activities.

The young people of Central Baptist Church, 2035 West Baltimore St., where the Rev. Montaque Brackett is pastor, is one of the first churches to sell subscriptions.

Mrs. Jewel Kesler told the AFRO youth between 13 and 21 years old receive $5 for every subscription they have sold. The $3 balance goes to the fund for youth who are working this summer in the church and community doing odd jobs. Mrs. Kesler said the youth are also encouraging people in the area to register to vote.

Mrs. Kesler said the trustees, deacons, pastor and members of Central are in full support of the youth.

If you church sells 300 subscriptions, you commission is $1,800 and the AFRO will give you a $200 bonus. The total amount of money the church will receive is $1,800.

Just think, if all the organizations and members in the church try to get 500 subscriptions to the Tuesday and Friday or just the Tuesday or Friday AFRO, the church will receive $4,000 commission and the AFRO will give you a bonus of $500. You total amounut of money for the church will be $4,500.

For additional information, call the church promotion department at 728-8200 Monday through Friday between 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

If you ask me

Hats off!

Our salute this week goes to 13 - year - old James Emerson, a Garrison Junior High student.

A reader observed him assisting at a snowball stand on Garrison Blvd., near Liberty Heights on Friday afternoon.

"He was so businesslike as he made the snowballs and collected the money. No foolishness about him. I was so impressed that I bought a snowball myself," the reader writes.

Our reader adds: "We applaud you for your Hats Off section. I was so proud of this young man. Please mention him."

We have complied.

Cuff note: We are advised that young Emerson is known as "Tank" to his friends.

Please continue nominations to our Hats Off section. Help us identify young people who do well.

We seek here to single them out because too often we adults only notice our young people when they do poorly.

Who can vote

Twenty years ago, this newspaper and the NAACP were waging campaigns to make it easier for prospective voters to register.

Today, one can register to vote in every section of the city or pick up a mail application with a stamp - free envelope and mail in one's registration.

Here are some pertinent voter registration questions and answers:

Q — What if I was registered before and have not voted in 2 years?

A — You must register to vote again.

Q — Where can I get a registration form?

A - At all branches of the Enoch Pratt Library, from civic and political offices, from candidates offices, the Supervisor of Elections Office in the People's Court Building, Fayette and Gay Sts., and the Baltimore NAACP office at 26 W. 25th St., in Baltimore city.

Deadline

Q —What is the deadline for applying for a vote card?

A — Your application must be received in the Supervisors of Elections office by August 16, 1982, to qualify to vote in the Primary.

Q — When is the Primary Election and why should I register to vote in the Primary?

A — The Primary Election is September 14. Only voters who register Republican or Democrat can vote. The Primary is important, because in many instances candidates are unopposed and the Primary is tantamount to election plus you have a say in selecting the candidate of your choice.

Q — Who are the top candidates running in the Primary?

A — Voters will select candidates for Governor and Lt. Gov. of the State of Md., a U.S. Senator, and members of the U.S. House of Representatives from their districts.

Q — Who are the other candidates running?

A — Voters will select an Attorney General, State Comptroller, Circuit Court Judges, (Supreme Bench in Baltimore city), plus Senators and members of the House of Delegates to sit in the MD. General Assembly. These latter candidates run by districts and voters must live in and be registered in the districts to vote for candidates there.

Q — What are the offices other candidates are running for in Baltimore city?

Blacks run

A — The State's Attorney, Sheriff, Register of Wills and Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Q — As a black voter, do any of these candidates have special significance for me?

A — In a number of races, black candidates are seeking office for the first time.

Q — My friend told me she was going to register Independent. What should I do?

A — You must register Democrat or Republican or else you can NOT vote in the Primary, where the choices of candidates are made. MD. is a predominantly Democratic state.

Q — Where can I find out if I am still on the books, I think I voted three years ago?

A — Call or visit the Supervisors of Elections office in the People's Court Building, Fayette and Gay Sts. Phone 396 - 5580.

Absent ballot

Q — I will be away in school on Primary Election Day and my mother will be going in the hospital that week, can we still vote?

A — Yes. You can apply now for an Absentee Ballot simply by calling the Absentee Ballot section of the Supervisors of Elections Office and asking for Miss Blaney or Miss Mankins. Phone number is 396 - 5574. The office will take the information over the phone and send you an Absentee Ballot application. You should do this promptly, but the deadline for receiving Absentee Ballots is Sept. 7, 1982.

Q — I have a friend who is out of the country who will not be back in Baltimore until August 16. Can she still register?

A — Yes, the Supervisors of Elections office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. on August 16, the last day to register for the Primary. All mail applications postmarked by 9 p.m. August 16 will be processed.

Q — Where can I go to help register voters in my neighborhood?

A — The Baltimore NAACP office at 26 W. 25th St. will be glad to have your help. The phone number at the NAACP is 366 - 2300.

Cuff note: Baltimore NAACP holds its second annual Community Leadership Conference this weekend at Coppin State College.

On Friday, July 30, at 7 p.m., there will be a salute to youth and to branch president, Mrs. Enolia P. McMillan.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m., on Saturday, July 31, sessions will deal with voter registration, problems of aging jobs and related problems.

About people

Here from Pasadena, CA., are Joyce Parker Cox, the school administrator, and her hubby, Sylvester Cox, the architect.

They have been guesting with her mom, Mrs. Lois Parker, of Grantley Rd., and his mom, Mrs. Elizabeth Cox of Dolphin St.

Baltimore members of Guardsmen Inc., the nationally known men's club, are back from conclave held in Cherry Hill, NJ., with Philly chapter as host.

Members and mates there were, Messrs and Mesdames Walter Edmonds, Ed Williams, Robert Diggs, John Wood.

Drs. and Mesdames William Hall, Guy Bragg, Marcus Moore. Also, Judge David T. Mason, Steve Moore, Clint Murray, Harold Jennifer.

Visiting here en route home from the AKA Convention in Boston this week were, Mildred Allbouse of Omaha, NB., and Mubelle Knox, Kansas City, KS.

They stayed with childhood chum, Vernice Reynolds, who had reception for them on Monday evening.

Capt. and Mrs. Rodger Murphy Matthews (Victoria), were here from Ft. Sill, OK., with their five - week - old infant, Raina.

They guested with cousins, Ben and Ervene Phillips and joined reunion of the Robert W. Matthews family at home of his sister and brother - in - law, Betty and Hugh Dopson in Springfield, VA. on Sunday.

More people

Well - deserved testimonial coming up on Thursday, Sept. 9, at Blue Crest honors Nathan M. Carter, the dedicated director of the Morgan State University Choir.

Announcements in the mail this week indicate that the $18.50 tab will go to benefit the choir. August 27 is deadline for reservations which are being accepted by the Committee for MSU Choir, c - o Donald Tynes, 6407 Laurel Drive, Baltimore, Md., 21207.

Baltimore area business and educational leaders had an opportunity to meet one of the nation's top economists on Wednesday evening.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker was guest of honor when U of MD. President and Mrs. John Toll held a reception at their College Park residence.

Volcker is the man who told the Senate Banking Committee a week back that economic recovery from the recession is "highly likely" in the second half of 1982.

Volcker is a tall man, (over 6 - 4), with a pleasant manner - easy to meet. Among our table companions, Martin Resnick of Martin's West, a pleasant fellow.

Baltimore city former School Board members spied in the crowd Robert Schaefer and Steve McSwirney - who asked to be remembered to former board members, Larry Gibson and Jim Griffin. U.M. regents, Paul Moss and Clarence Mitchell were there.

Hughes tours

Temperatures were in the 90's and it was HOT, but the uncomfortable weather did not prevent Gov. Harry Hughes from making a whirlwind tour of the 41st District in northwest Baltimore on Thursday.

The Guv discarded his jacket, rolled up his shirt sleeves and spent three hours greeting residents.

We watched one young woman approach the advance car of security men and ask, "Is the Governor really coming to visit here?"

A number of customers and residents in the area, appeared surprised that he would take time to visit them. They were gracious in receiving him.

The entourage included Senator Bloom and members of his 41st District Unity Ticket.

The entourage included Delegates Margaret Murphy and Wendell Phillips, and Nathaniel Oats, a candidate for delegate. Current delegate, Walter Dean, also joined the group as did Bert Dixon, also a candidate for delegate, and Mrs. Georgine Egerton, past president of the Walbrook Community Organization.

The three - hour tour began with an Open Forum at St. Bernadine's Church, in the 3800 block of Edmondson Ave. There, questions expressed their concern about Reagan's new Federalism.

After punch and donuts, the group went on to Edmondson Village, with the state's chief executive leading the way and shaking hands.

There followed a visit to the new Skills Center in the old Hecht Store on Edmondson and then to the Rosemont Community Center, directed by Agnes Welch.

Here, senior citizens told the governor they were hopeful that benefits for them would not be cut further.

In Walbrook

Hughes next stop at the new Walbrook Plaza, brought out owners, Drs. Shirley Clinton and H. Garland Chissell, who were quick to point out the magnitude of high unemployment and the need for further state support of minority businesses.

At Advance Federal's new drive - in office, located in this center, Advance president, D.R. W. O. Bryson, Jr., was present to greet the state's top man.

Gov. Hughes wound up his trip by visiting all business places in the Plaza, and then dropped in on Jim Parker's at Garrison and Liberty Heights.

Perhaps most surprised reaction of the day came from a bystander who looked up in astonishment, observed to no one in particular:

Hey, man, look who's coming, the Guv - er - nor!

Sad note

Seventy - six - year - old Mrs. Eleanor L. Smallwood, a hard worker in the Mt. Holly neighborhood, started out with the Hughes tour group.

She urged the Governor to take a special look at the Skills Center (financed by state funds), telling him, "we want you to see how well we used the money."

Mrs. Smallwood received his promise to do so, left the tour and went on to the center to be present when he arrived.

On Saturday, Mrs. Smallwood's heart gave out. Funeral services were Thursday at St. Bernardines Church, where she was a longtime member.

Marshall Jones, the mortician, said Mrs. Smallwood had been a neighbor for many years and was active in the Mt. Holly Improvement Association.

Del. Murphy recalls that she was a co - founder of the Vanguard Political Club with her late husband, Del. Arthur G. Murphy.

Survivors: 5 daughters, Louise Jackson, Dawn Sabater, Christine Smallwood, Carolyn Burton, Charlene Hawkins - granddchildren, 14 great grands.

Also, sister, Mrs. Rose Fisher, brother - in - law, Charles Fisher; and sister - in - law, Rhona Turner of Atlantic City.

GOV. HUGHES TOURS — State Senator Clarence Blount makes a point to Gov. Harry Hughes during his tour of Walbrook Plaza in Northwest Baltimore on Thursday. Pictured with governor, at right, Dr. W. O. Bryson Jr., president of Advance Federal Savings and Loan Association. Photo was made in Advance's new drive-in office in the Plaza. Others in photo, from left, Dr. Shirley Clinton (partially hidden); Mrs. Georgine Egerton, Walbrook Community Organization; John Ferrone, City Human Relations Commission; Nathaniel Oats, 41st D. candidate for delegate. At right in rear, Walter Dean, 41st D. delegate, and in front, Dr. H. Garland Chisseil. Dr. Chissell and Dr. Clinton own the Walbrook Plaza. For more about the hughes tour, see If You Ask Me.

At age 100

Mrs. Elizabeth Davis Fairfax, age 100, was known to hundreds as Aunt Lizzie.

At memorial services on July 14, at the Elizabeth Phillips chapel, relatives recalled she was a compassionate, kind and loving individual, and one who devoted her lifetime to helping others.

She opened her home to young people to help them get a start and found no task too hard to support newly located families migrating from the South.

Since most of us were not around in those hard times 70 years ago, it might be hard to imagine the importance of the sacrifices people like Aunt Lizzie made to keep families together.

It is to the credit of her relatives that they took time to put down on the funeral program their remembrances of her as a guiding force in their lives.

Although Mrs. Fairfax was the oldest child in her family but she lived to bury all of her immediate family. Her son, Clarence S. Fairfax Jr., the Recreation Department employee, died last year at the age of 75.

930 Harlem

For most of her life, Mrs. Fairfax lived in the 900 block Harlem Ave., in west Baltimore. Until her hospitalization three weeks ago, she was cared for at home by her granddaughter, Jacqueline Porter. (Miss Porter is the city teacher and onetime AFRO librarian).

Also surviving, son - in law, Edward Porter; nephews, John Cothorn and Delmar and Andrew Davis; niece, Leah Davis Patterson; great grand, Denise E. Powell and Charles E. Smith and two great - great - grandchildren Jacquelin and Michael Powell.

More cuff: The Fairfax family history records she was born Sept. 25, 1881, daughter of Hattie Brown Davis and Walter Thomas, in Portsmouth, VA. and that the family moved to Baltimore, when she was a child.

She attended the old St. Francis Academy, run by the Oblate Sisters of Providence.

Her dad owned and operated a livery stable.

A brother was Lee A. Davis - from many may remember as the influential arts teacher at Dunbar and later Douglass High School.

WOODLAWN HIGHLIGHTS

UMBC holds Love Feast at quarterly meeting

By Marjorie R. Green

The first quarterly meeting held under the leadership of the newly elected Reverend Lorenzo Graves, president of the United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland (UBMC) ended with a symbolic "Love Feast" conducted by the Reverend Herman Ford, pastor of Fountain Baptist Church in East Baltimore.

"The Church itself is perfect. It is we who are members who are imperfect" stated Reverend Ford as he prepared the officers and members of the Parent Body Women's Auxiliary, and Congress of Christian Education to participate in one of the church's most sacred services.

A quiet calm began to spread throughout the beautiful Friendship Baptist Church on Avondale Road in Turners Station as soon as the first soft piano notes were played by Mrs. Cecelia McLeod, a convention pianist.

Five deacons attired in dark suits, white gloves, white shirts and ties quickly and quietly began serving the symbol of Christ's broken Body. "A worthy symbol for any man to have" stated Reverend Ford as he continued to instruct the congregation of Baptist men and women to engage in the Love Feast exchange by placing that which was served to them in the mouth of another. The same procedure was followed with the serving of the wine, the "symbol of Christ's precious Blood."

The service was rendered and accepted in love by the crowded gathering of visitors who were enjoying the hospitality of the friendly Church pastored by the Reverend Dockery Thompson.

The Women's Auxiliary lead by President Bessie Mason presented a political awareness period with Delegate Troy Brailey as the lecturer.

His presentation was followed by "Moments with the Reverend Sis Imagene Stewart. Mrs. Stewart is the founder of the House of Imagene, a shelter for battered and homeless persons in Washington, D.C.

The regular meeting of the "Greater Baltimore Chapter of Blacks In Government (GBC - BIG will be held 6 p.m. on Thursday, August 12 at the Heritage United Church of Christ, 3106 Liberty Heights Avenue. New members are welcomed. Mrs. Barbara Motley is BIG president.
