Restaurant of the Week: The New Orleans Cafe

The New Orleans Cafe', located at one end of the popular Adams Morgan shopping community of Washington, is not only an excellent spot for a good meal, but also a comfortable place to take a breather after a day of browsing.

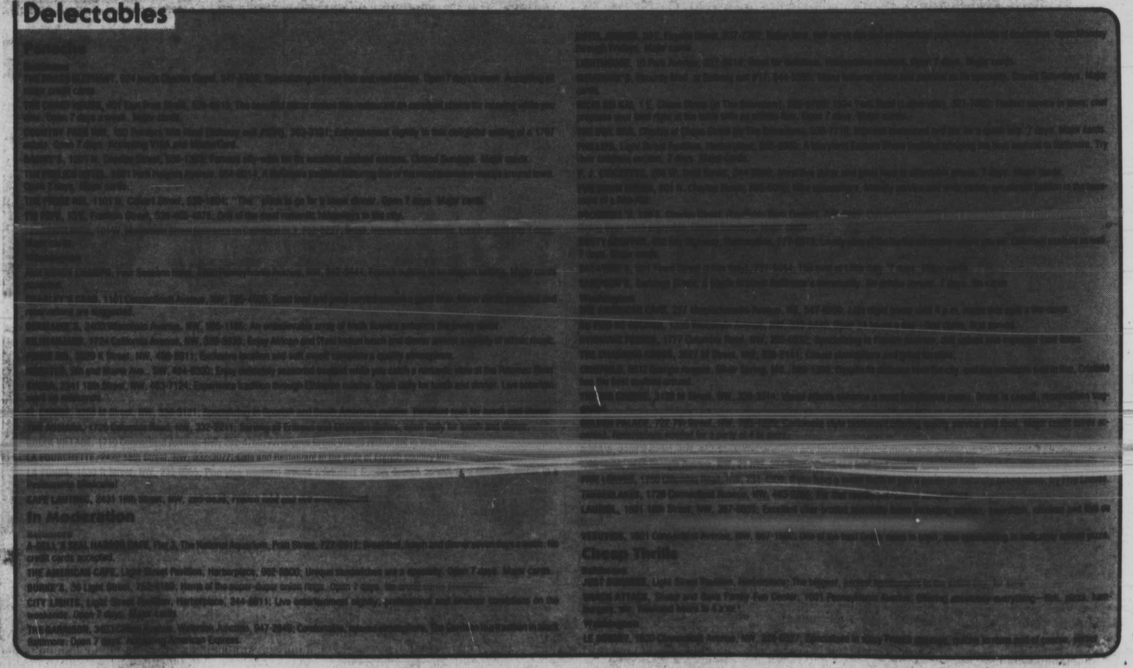

Offering breakfast, brunch, lunch and dinner, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, The New Orleans Cafe' caters to the needs of all patrons at all times. The restaurant's extensive menu is diverse enough to please the palates of the many nationalities of people that frequent the casual dining spot. Foods from the southern section of the United States are especially featured, such as jambalaya, gumbo, and calas, all at reasonable prices.

Although a small restaurant, the decor of The Cafe' lends to its casual comfort. A high ceiling, a large picture window, and constant rays of bright sunlight, create in this restaurant an easy, relaxing feeling that is certainly welcomed after rummaging through the many shops lining the Adams Morgan area. Personable service, although a bit slow at times, is a pleasurable addition, and the slightly less than ample portions are only a small disadvantage, in the scheme of things.

Nevertheless, The New Orleans Cafe' offers a pleasant place to stop and relax whenever you're in the area.

The New Orleans Cafe' is located at 1790 Columbia Road, NW, in the Adams Morgan section of Washington, D.C. (202)234-5111.

Musical Notes

Bob Scott, from radio station V103-FM, is the morning disc jockey in Baltimore who has gained great popularity recently with his quick wit and controversial behavior on his "Telephone Poll" radio program. In FRIDAY PLUS this week, Mr. Scott gives his personal opinions on some of the latest albums.

Adventures In The Land Of Groove/Niles Rodgers

You probably know the name from the dance - music group, Chic, that gained great popularity in the late 1970s; Niles Rodgers was producer and driving force behind their distinctive sound. Rodgers' talents, displayed by Chic, have been enjoyed by the world of dancers who boogied and freaked to "Dance, Dance, Dance," "Le Freak," and "Good Times," to name a few.

In this new album, Adventures In The Land Of Groove, Rodgers has single-handedly served up an adventure that young adults and dancers will enjoy. Especially fine cuts like, "Rock Bottom" and "Yum Yum" carry on the Niles Rodgers' tradition, one that continues to grow with every musical effort he submits.

The Leader/Fonzi Thornton

For those folks who buy an album to hear original tunes, it will be very easy to get into Fonzi Thornton's latest LP as seven selections out of the eight on the album are written by him. Young adults and dancers will like the movable beat of the single, "Beverly," and also the title cut — both of which are very hot! Those listeners who enjoy a mellower sound, the beautiful "Sha 'N 'Da" may be more to your liking.

The Chanting Dread Inna Fine Style/Big Youth

This album is currently being released in the United States for the first time. "The Chanting Dread Inna Fine Style" is a compilation of fourteen songs previously released in Jamaica. There is no sounding the same among these cuts as each maintains its own identity quite well. My favorites of Big Youth's musical endeavors: "Jah Jah Love Them," "Skyjuice," and "Dread Inna Babylon."
