financial coverage if the term experimental is applied to a medical procedure.

The Turpins have no idea what their insurance company will cover until an itemized bill is prepared after the opeation is over.

With J. T. on the waiting list at the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, they are not really sure when the operation will take place, and until that time will not be aware of the coverage that can be offered.

Mrs. Turpin feels very confident that with the help of people like those at St. Bernadine's Catholic Church and others, the operation will be financed.

Approxiamtely $14,000 have been raised at present for the cause.

fact that Senator Broadwater will be "suspended" after sentencing and if the decision of the lower court is favorable, the 41-year-old Senator will be returned to office with payment of back pay allowances.

He also said the interim person will not hold the seat on a full time basis and will be required to apply as a candidate for the position within 30 days of the sentencing.

Broadwater has served as vice chairman of the Rules Committee and the Special Joint Committee on Transportation. He is also a member of Budget and Taxation; the Executive Nominating Committee; the Governor's Task Force; Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee to the Maryland Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, the Capital Budget Committee, a subcommittee of Budget and Taxation, and the subcommittee of Criminal Justice and Transportation.

According to Komenda's interpretation of the rules governing the Maryland General Assembly, if Senator Broadwater's appeal fails, the Governor will have the final say in his replacement.

Advertising for the position will begin and public hearings will be held. Interested individuals will be asked to submit resumes and supporting documents. Then the members of the State Central Committee will testify on behalf of the candidates during an executive session.

In the executive session, motions will be made and the Committee will vote on one candidate. A majority vote of the 22-member committee is required to forward the name of the candidate to the Governor.

According to Senate President Melvin Steinberg, "the Governor technically has the right to reject the decision of the State Central Committee and appoint someone himself. But in my 17 years here, he has always appointed from the recommendation."

Washington sources close to Senator Broadwater have reported that the Prince Georges County Democrat will have some input in selecting his successor.

Contrary to unpopular political reaction from some black leaders in Prince Georges County who feel Broadwater should not have an active role in the decision, State Senator Troy Brailey (D-40) fears the replacement will not be able to maintain the effective working relationship Broadwater had with Senator Clarence Blount (D-41) on the Budget and Taxation Committee.

Senator Brailey told the AFRO that Broadwater and Blount are a real team on the influential committee and that they have continuously fought for the "good of blacks and poor people" when other blacks shunned their roles.

Despite the havoc members of the Fairmount Heights Town Councilmen have created in the Maryland County, Senator Komenda, a legislator intimately familiar with Maryland law said, "Broadwater will have a voice in picking his successor."

have been staying at the downtown Y.W.C.A. shelter and have the support of that organization as long as they actively pursue housing.

Last week after the group demonstrated at City Hall, Smith told them the city would try to what it can for the families."

During the demonstration it was alleged that an unidentified white woman was given preferential treatment when she paid to have her name brought from the bottom of a housing list to the top.

H. Gary Bass, deputy states attorney, told the AFRO, his office is willing to cooperate with the women to get to the heart of the matter.

According to Bass none of the women came forward with specific information into the allegation and there is very little his office can do at this point in time.

Bass told the women if anyone would prefer to talk with him privately he would be available.

According to the deputy, if someone comes forward with the allegations, there may be something his office can do, otherwise the States Attorney's role is to prosecute only in situations where there is a violation of a housing law.

country for blacks is their minds. Blacks in America have been brainwashed. Each black reporter on daily papers must address the problem within the contex of their situation."

"There are certain restrictions in any racist society and these are the factors that each black person must take into consideration when dealing with this society and racism.

"It is a complex situation, where blacks reporters must satisfy the requirements of their jobs, but at the same time must hold up the banner for black progress. AFRAM is just that type of movement which improves the quality of life for blacks within this city as well as in the nation," Brown said.

"Blacks in any business can prosper if the black people within the communities would support them the same way that they support white businesses."

Blacks must learn that it is only through the positive self image that they can emerge from the yoke of oppression within this country. We must re-educate ourselves in order to achieve to the heights that our forefathers had worked and died for to accomplish.

"The theme of this year's AFRAM is the perfect example of what can be done to improve the quality of life for blacks in this country and more directly this city. Black business can survive and grow only if the people of this city will support them with their trust and support."
