STAN STOVALL

T.V. anchorman Stan Stovall, age 30, Pisces and single, is very much into physical fitness and competitive body building and enjoys spectator sports too.

In order to captivate the interest of this gorgeous 6'1" physical specimen, a woman must be compatible with his lifestyle, understanding, physically fit, have a sense of humor, an educational background similar to his and care about him for what he is rather than what he does.

His pet peeves are insincerity and people who don't stay in shape. Stan feels that the main problem with black male-female relationships is "Timing." He says, "I have met several young ladies I considered marriage eligible but for various career reasons the timing wasn't conducive to marriage."

GILBERT GREY

Maryland's first black State Trooper helicopter pilot Gilbert Grey likes ladies who have outgoing personalities, are attractive, well-groomed, well-dressed and who are intelligent.

This tall (6'2") and handsome single 31-year-old Libra man enjoyus flying, and tinkering with cars.

His pet peeves are women who engage in unladylike talk and actions, and who have an unkempt appearance.

Gilbert says the reason for the breakdown in black male-female relationships is the "Failure to compromise."

TED McCRAE

Ted McRae, a 5'9", 27-year-old Leo, is a Credit and Collection Manager whose hobbies include chess, pets, canoeing, camping, shark fishing, jet skiing, rock and roll concerts and other types of music.

On qualities he likes in women Ted looks for intelligience, a good sense of humor, broadmindedness. He says "They don't have to like all the things I like to do but should be able to accept them. Ted's pet peeve is overpossessiveness.

SELWYN RAY

Selwyn Ray, a Judical Law Clerk, is Capricorn, 5'11", single and 26. His hobbies are reading the Bible, writing prose, Kundalini, Yoga, Tai Chi and smiling.

He requires that his mate be spiritual, honest, physically fit, clean and well-groomed, self-confident, mildy assertive and supportive of her mate.

His pet peeves are nagging, narrow-mindedness, selfishness and unwillingness to listen to another's point of view.

He feels that the basic problem between black males and females in relationships is "Lack of knowledge of self."

LAURENCE MEANS

Account Executive and radio announcer Laurence Means is a 6'1", 26-year-old divorced Capricorn man.

He likes women who are intelligent, articulate, tall, black and beautiful.

He enjoys outdoor sports, listening to jazz, rhythm and blues and reading.

His pet peeves are women without high self-esteem and tardiness.

He says that the problem with black male-female relationships stems from the "influence of slavery."

GEORGE CHESTNUT

George Chestnut, a Taurus male, an accountant, is 5'10½", single and 26-years-old. He likes music, dancing, tennis, camping out and other outdoor activities.

In a mate he looks for women with outgoing personalities who are well-groomed.

His pet peeves are nagging and laziness.

On the problem with black male-female relationships he says, "failure to communicate."

ERNEST SANDERS

A Taurus man who is 5'11', 54 and divorced. Ernest Sanders loves bowling, swimming, reading, working crossword puzzles and traveling. Ernest, who is a Metro Rails System Operator, likes women who are considerate, and with whom he can share compatible interests. He also says he likes women who will spoil him but states "I'm also willing to spoil her in return."

His pet peeves are surprise decisions and tardiness.

Ernest attributes the problem with black male-female relationships to a "clash of personalities."

DR. ALBERT CONLEY

Dr. Albert Conley, a dentist and a resident in anesthesiology at Provident Hospital, is an Aries man, 6'1', 34 and single. His hobbies are flying airplanes, ice skating, swimming, fencing, hunting and other outdoor sports.

In seeking qualities in a mate, he looks for women who are intelligent, level-headed, sincere and affectionate.

His pet peeves are bossiness and women who are self-centered.

He says that the problem with black male-female relationships is "People not dealing with the reality of each other as individuals."

JAY L. BAKER

A photographer who is 5'10" and 24-years-old. Jay Baker is also an Acquarian man who likes women who are honest, sincere and have inner as well as physical beauty.

He enjoys travel and photography.

His pet peeves are lying, taking advantage of people and playing games with people.

He feels that the main reason for the failure of many black male-female relationships is an "unwillingness to compromise."
