AFRAM 1984

This year's AFRAM Expo was the result of a long labor of love and enlightenment. The AFRAM "Expo" and the luncheon were a big success. It was a collage of "Rain hours." Commissioner Bishop Robinson address the "Afram Luncheon." As soon as the commissioner stepped on the platform his audience was captured. He gave a memorable speech on his concerned inner qualities and how the future will be on crime and drugs.

Commissioner Robinson stood tall and strong and expressed thoughts on activity in which one exerts strength to performances and sustained physical and mental effort to overcome the drug problem.

Dee Dee came by the community swimming pool and shared with me and the gang there on her outstanding grades after the closing of school. The little lady scored in Math. Her average was 100. A Salute Fit for a Superwoman

Working and, Cheaply

You decided you're in no shape to try out for an Olympic Medal. In fact, you're in no shape at all - and its worrisome. You need to exercise. You think about it because you know you should be working out, but several things stop you.

Money, you can't afford year round membership in a spa-style club. Incentive: The thought of huffing and puffing deadens your incentive. Not to worry. There is always - Aerobics. They'll accomplish lots: Make you trimmer and slimmer.

Give you a superb sense of well-being. Increase your level of fitness, make muscles more efficient. Increase the capacity of the heart for work.

Now for the best news of all. You don't need to spend a cent. Aerobics are as simple as:

A. Walking. It's not exotic. It's what people did before the car, they walked. Walking is the perfect workout, the easier way to move into action.

B. Bicycling. It's a great conditioner. If you can't bicycle outdoors, think about a stationary bike and pedal away indoors while you watch TV.

C. Swimming. Hit the waves every chance you can in great weather. Strike out vigorously and cut through the water to make it a workout.

D. Dancing. No need to be Fred Astaire or Ginger Rogers. Be yourself. Dance solo. Turn on a lively record and do your thing. Kick up your heels.

I'm real serious because it is a must with me and it does help. Work out to music. For an exercise workout that's fun, join a dance group or later get a jumping exercise rope. Dancing to the tune of music is a good work to tone the muscles and tone the body and maintain it also.

It may not seem like exercise but it is. Guess what? A new you will happen.

OUT OF TOWN GUEST

Visiting Baltimore this summer was Taavon a 17 year old 11th grader majoring in food preparation. I talked with Taavon and he is one teenager who is sure of himself and his future. He wants to be a chef and loves to prepare and cook food. Upon finishing high schooi, he plans on attending Culinary Arts Institute in Providence, R.I. If the food institute doesn't pan out, then he says he would like to be a business manager for a good restaurant. His hobbies are football, weightlifting, and listening to jazz in his spare time.

HELLOS AND DOING GOOD

I'm talking about retired Sgt. George Allen of the Adjutant General Retired Activities Board. Retired Veteran Allen says sitting around doing just plain nothing isn't his thing. So we talked and George is working part-time at the Hauswald's Bakery on Edmondson Ave.

George Allen is the security officer there. We have become great friends in a pleasant atmosphere. The cashiers there are delightful also. They are Terry Carter and Angela Roberts. Terry and Angela have their own kind of character. When it comes to greeting the public these two ladies are good public servants and it makes one feel good to go there to spend their money. UP-COMING EVENTS

Baltimore Bombers take on the Washington Wallopers. Five young light and welterweight boxers from the Urban Services Agency's Health and Exercise Palace will take on their counterparts from Washington, D.C. Saturday, August 25.
