One man's garden of pure delight

OVERALL of garden that was formerly used by people as a dump site. Benny Joyner, and others. cleared refrigerators, stoves, mattresses, etc. from the lot and leveled the soil.

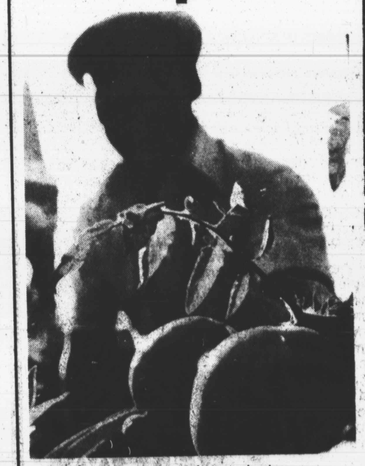
Ivy growing from driftwood

BENNY JOYNER, 47, is an employee of the International Paper Company Container Division by night. But, by day he is solely responsible for maintaining a beautiful park-like fruit, flower and vegetable garden at Gilmor and Baker Streets. The garden includes collards, tomatoes, cantaloupes, sunflowers, peaches. He likes to think of his gardens as a 'Floral and Vegetable Museum.'

Marigolds

Mr. Joyner prunes his flower bed.

Sunflowers brighten up the neighborhood.



Benny Joyner, 47, inspects ripening tomatoes on his tomato vine.

Benny Joyner waters the centerpiece of his ½ block garden.

Mr. Joyner's artistic ability is evident in his 'yard guard' painting on a tree trunk.
