Morgan eleven ventures into Ivy League Saturday

Coach Jim Phillips and his undaunted Morgan State football team arrived in New Haven, Conn., Friday evening to await tomorrow's (Saturday) encounter with Yale.

It could be that Bears officials are trying to find a comfortable haven for this year's winless team, by invading the sacred precincts of the Ivy League.

The team lost to Texas Southern of the Southwestern Athletic Conference, to Boston University and Connecticut of the Yankee Conference, to Boston College, an independent, and last Saturday to Central State, formerly of the Midwestern.

Next year Morgan will resume full membership in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference.

As for the game itself, this may very well turn out to be another severe test for the Bears' defense.

The Eli's Rod Cyr has thrown only one interception in a 64 percent passing performance. And teammate running back Eric Kone is third in Ivy League rushing statistics.

Morgan, on the other hand, lost to Central State last week in a catastrophic offensive breakdown, victimized by five interceptions and three safeties.

O's to begin tour of Japan Oct. 25

TOKYO — The Baltimore Orioles, last year's World Series champions, will arrive in here Oct. 25 for a 15-game playing tour of Japan, sponsors announced Friday.

The Orioles will play five games against this year's Japanese champions in what the tour organizers called a "real World Series" in Tokyo, Yokohama and Osaka beginning Oct. 27.

Baltimore will also play 10 more games against the Yomiuri Giants, Japan's most popular team piloted by home-run king Sadaharu Oh, and other teams until Nov. 15.

The last game will be held in Kawasaki, Baltimore's sister city west of Tokyo.

It will be the Orioles' first Japan tour since they made a trip in 1972.

Rich versus poor centerpiece for Laurel's feature race

LAUREL, Md. — The 62nd edition of the Laurel Futurity, a race that has showcased five Triple Crown winners and 22 eventual 3-year-old champions dating back to 1921, shapes up Saturday as a confrontation between the prince and the pauper.

Saratoga Six, a $2.2 million yearling, who is undefeated with four West Coast victories, is the prince. He is a son of the great Alydar. Angel Cordero has the mount.

Judy Bujnicki's Doubly Clear, who was purchased for a paltry $1,500 at Timonium and is a son of the nondescript sire Two a Day, has risen from the pauper ranks. He has now won four stakes victories and nearly $250,000. The Maryland-bred juvenile has been ridden by J.R. Garcia.

While Trainer D. Wayne Lukas is mulling over the upcoming schedule of Saratoga Six, one of the 102 Laurel Futurity nominees, 28-year-old Bujnicki, who serves as Doubly Clear's groom, hot walker, van driver and sometimes exercise rider, has already committed her prized possession to the Futurity.

"I couldn't eat; I couldn't sleep," Bujnicki admitted shortly after she put up $10,000 to supplement Doubly Clear to the Grade II Sapling Stakes, Aug. 11. Doubly Clear won the $150,150 top prize by narrowly defeating another Wayne Lukas - trained filly, Tiltalating. So a $7,500 supplementary fee to make Doubly Clear eligible for the Laurel Futurity won't cause the Bethlehem, Pa. native to toss and turn nor miss a meal.

Knicks' Marvin Webster hospitalized for tests

NEW YORK — Marvin Webster, who was a 2 - time Little All - American at Morgan in his collegiate days and is now backup center for the NBA Knicks, was hospitalized Tuesday.

He was scheduled to undergo tests at Lenox Hill Hospital on his liver.

The 32 - year - old Webster had been working out with the Knicks at Hofstra University since the team opened training camp last Saturday morning.

"Routine laboratory tests revealed some abnormality in his blood chemistry," said Dr. Norman Scott, team physician. "In view of his past history of hepatitis, he is being admitted for further tests."

Webster had contracted hepatitis while at Morgan. It later recurred during his rookie year with the Denver Nuggets of the American Basketball Association.

Immediately prior to the opening of training camp, New York starting center Bill Cartwright was found to have suffered stress fracture in his left foot and was lost to the team for an estimated six to eight weeks.

Solomon injured, Nehemiah miffed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wide receiver Freddie Solomon of the San Francisco 49ers probably will miss Monday night's game against the New York Giants, the club said Tuesday.

A team spokesman said veteran Mike Wilson would probably start in his place.

Wide receiver Renaldo Nehemiah was puzzled by the move.

"During practice all year I play behind Freddie," he said. "So I would expect that if he were hurt I would replace him or at least share the duty."

Nehemiah, who was used in only two plays against Atlanta, has four catches this season. He said the 49ers seem to give him more playing time when games are on artificial turf.

"Speed is relative," the hurdle world record holder said. "I'm still faster than anybody when we're on grass, too."

Coach Bill Walsh said he chose Wilson because of "experience" but plans to use Nehemiah.
