TINA
TINA RE-TURNER: After receiving her Grammy awards, Tina Turner tossed her award in the air. She said she was talking like she was at a ceremony. Turner said she was 50 and then becoming a B. "to be my message," said she was helping her through her periods. "That's why I'm on Morning, America" and age. "People threw the award at me but I just stuck to what I know. I am a person who can do it well. I am are down and out in their head rock 'n' roll — not a person who don't care how old I am and I am fresh enough with the time. I know."

HB 1372 drug push

By Valerie Smith-Madd
AFRO Staff Writer

My constituents have said that drugs, crime, education, and a lack of jobs are major problems within the community. One common denominator that is impeding our progress is drugs.

"...If we fail in removing the menace, crime will continue to increase. We won't have people who are job-ready to compete because drugs impair the ability to compete."

Delegate Clarence "Tom" Davis (D-45th), concerned about the ravages of drugs within the community and the state as a whole, has introduced a bill at drug suppliers.

House Bill 1372 increases the penalty for drug suppliers, imposing a minimum sentence of two years and up to $100,000 fine. Additionally, persons convicted under this statute could be imprisoned without parole.
