Robert Hall, the retired D.C. government worker who once sold AFROs when he earned 1 cent a copy, was in the crowd. He and his wife, were there for graduation of family friend, Leslie Halsey, of Greenbelt. Also there, her mother, Geneva Halsey, also of Greenbelt.

• • •

Pleasant UMES employee witnessing the commencement was Mrs. Audrey Lane, on the housekeeping staff for 12 years (thanks to her and other employees, campus facilities are unusually neat and clean).

• • •

Mrs. Lane has Baltimore ties: son, Cornelius Lane is a correctional officer at City Jail. Her sister, Delores Long of Brighton St. is a Social Security employee.

• • •

Faculty emeritus rank was bestowed on Moses Vaughn, Agriculture Department professor, who retired last year after 38 years service.

• • •

A half dozen men and women in the class received citations from Army Major Thomas Hiter. Some were grads, others were undergrads.

This and that

Saturday's annual Preakness attracted a number of out-of-towners to our city. Dr. and Mrs. William Harris, (Jessie), were here from Philly, in the party with Dr. and Mrs. Sam Owings (Barbara). And, with them Francis Johnson, his sister-in-law, Hortense Johnson, and Annie Larmoni of Philly.

Philly's KYW-TV anchor, Malcolm Poindexter was here with his wife, Lottie, in the party with Bea and David Wright, Johnny Cawthorne and Katherine Russell. Also here, Chuck and Theora Johnson of D.C.

• • •

Baltimoreans Tom Hawkins and Elaine Swann have been in the D.C.-Baltimore area from Los Angeles, settling her aunt's estate and visiting friends.

They were in the crowd at the Monday evening (May 20), memorial service for 49-year AFRO employee, Medford B. Reynolds. He donated his body to science when he died May 13 of cancer at the age 78.

Relatives and friends gathered at St. James Episcopal Church for a 70-minute in memoriam mass.

His wife, Verniece, was joined in the family pew by their foster son, Robert Thompson, who flew from Germany, and by her cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Russell, (Alice), friends here Joel Flora Miller of Newark.

Lovely here: the musical numbers performed by a sextet of the choir directed by Maurice Murphy.

• • •

Mt. Hebron Church of Christ at Bentalou and North Aves., was crowded with well wishes on Preakness Day afternoon.

They were there to witness the wedding of Mrs. Daisy Gibson and John Peterson. Attorney Larry Gibson, who gave his mother away, was as excited as the bridegroom.

Coming next week: More on this event which united two large and interesting families.

Guests who were there are still talking about the lovely gathering hosted by Dr. and Mrs. James Priest, (Ponjola), a week back. It honored Dr. LaMoyne Matthews, former Morgan State U. prof. She was here from Mexico. Now in foreign service, she is on the consulate staff at Monterey.

And, how nice of friends and associates to surprise James B. Taylor Jr. on the occasion of his retirement from the Aquarium.

The event, a week back, at Martin's North Point, attracted a number of his associates who presented him with citations and gifts.

In new post: Orchids to Ms. Jacquelyn Hardy, named earlier this month to the coveted public relations officer for the Baltimore City schools. She brings to the position a wealth of experience.

She had been acting in the post since last fall. She joined the system as a music teacher in 1957, and has successfully executed a number of other assignments, giving her wide experience.

Ms. Hardy finds time in her leisure to direct music at St. John AME Church, and after a busy week at her post, she volunteers her time to confort shut-ins.

And More

More people being kind to others: Members of the Jerusalem Court No. 1 Daughters of Isis, Prince Hall Affiliation, cited Illustrious Commandress Wilhelminia T. Stewart at their gracious commandress ball a Saturday ago (May 11), at the Forum.

Nice keepsake: The glossy 30-page booklet with pictures and ads of congratulations. Alberta Gaither chaired the souvenir book.

Co-chairs of the salute were Olive Evans, Constance Ridgely. Hostess chair was Mary Sims.
