AFRO SPORTS

Test awaits 'Hotbirds'

At the moment, they can be called Orioles or O's or Birds or whatever. But nothing sounds better to Baltimore fans than the AFRO's coinage of a new moniker: the "Hotbirds."

And that is what the local club represents. It is a month-early Fourth of July.

Winning as they have been doing lately—especially Wednesday in Oakland — the O's are acting like "a team of destiny," to borrow a worn cliche.

When your starting pitcher is bombed, you commit four errors and your hitters leave 11 men on base and still win, it must be designed.

But there's no mistaking the test that awaits the club beginning next Friday when the opposition for the succeeding 26 games will be the Yankees, Red Sox, Tigers and Brewers.

That's when it will be determined whether they're "Hotbirds" or just the ordinary breed of last year and the year before . . . . LACY.

Elder wins in Japan

Leading from the first tee to the final pin, Washington's Lee Elder claimed the Coca-Cola Grand Slam Senior golf tournament title Sunday in Japan.

Starting the final round with a seven-stroke lead, Elder carded a four-round total of 15-under-par 273.

It was his second title and first in two years in this annual tournament. He earned the winning prize of $50,000.

Defending champion Miller Barber, who trailed Elder by seven strokes after the third round, shot a two-under 70 Sunday to finish in second place with a total of 279.

Don January and Gene Littler shared third place with a total of 281 each.

A field of 28 players completed in the event played on the par-72, 6,660-yard Oak Hills Country Club course in Chiba, south of Tokyo.

The other two black regulars on the PGA senior circuit — Charlie Sifford and Charles Owens — did not make the trip.

Laker girl wins badminton title

Kendra Anderson, a 10th grade student at Lake Clifton High School, captured the Baltimore City high school badminton singles crown last week.

The tournament was played at Western High.

The Anderson victory came as a mind surprise in that she was not seeded in the tourney, and defeated the No. 1 seed from Poly in the opening round.

Lake Clifton officials describe the young sophomore as "a good student of outstanding personality."
