Fighting drugs in your community

During our CLEAN BLOCK meetings, a lot of you asked Officer Foote and Officer Thomas how to handle the problems of drugs in your communities so we are printing information from the Baltimore Police Department to help you with your questions.

Information supplied by citizens regarding suspected narcotics activity is essential to law enforcement officers in developing cases against drug dealers. With the involvement of every concerned person, the ongoing battle against illegal drugs will be much more effective.

If you can provide any information about suspected drug traffic in your community, we need your help. Here is what you can do.

Watch for:

— Groups "hanging out" around cars, telephone booths, etc. where persons come and go frequently.

— Numerous people going to a certain house and staying for a very short time.

— People hiding packages in telephone booths, under steps or behind bushes, etc.

— Children frequently leaving and returning to an older individual or group of older persons.

— A group passing around a cigarette or pipe to smoke.

These activities could be an indication of a person involved with illegal drugs.

Report:

— Your suspicions to the police if you believe the activity you have observed may be related to drugs.

Provide:

— Detailed descriptions of persons and vehicles involved including any license numbers or names if possible.

— Exact addresses or locations including apartment numbers or floor number.

— Time that the activity normally occurs.
