Mertine Jermany

Among the problems which he must face is the situation in Maryland. The Prince Hall Shriners remain in suspension but Gray says that he will make the settlement of that situation his first order of business.

INPRESSIONIST ARTIST BECOMES BALTO'S NEWEST CELEBRITY

On Saturday past, the mayor's representative, Mrs. Hilda Ford, presented to Ms. Carolyn Pittman a Proclamation that declared August 23, 1986 as "CAROLYN PITTMAN DAY" in Baltimore! The occasion was at Ms. Pittman's public showing of her much-awarded Artworks. The exhibit was held at center court of the Reisterstown Plaza Shopping Center.

On display were portraits of the Hon. William Donald Schaefer (owned by him); one of Prime Minister Malcolm Began, of Israel; a single of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and one of Bill Cosby.

Also displayed were portraits of the recently lost Astronauts, Earl Weaver, of the Orioles, Clarence Mitchell, Sr., King-Fish and Andy, the old comedy team; Elvis Presley, and Muhammad Ali.

Historical paintings with titles were: Winnie Mandella and her husband, of South Africa - in a frame with Dr. King, entitled: "LET MY PEOPLE GO", and a collage of former President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, with Cabinet persons and other people who helped to shape history during that time, entitled: "LET FREEDOM RING". This particular picture depicts an actual historic event that has never been put to canvas.

Orders for some of these portraits, or for sittings are being taken at Carolyn Pittman's Character Arts Co. office. Please call: 783-0541 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Copies of the historical entitled paintings are being sold in the 12" x 36" size @ $24.95 each, to help launch Ms. Pittman's "Roots of Black History" text, to go into the public schools next year.

MEHARRY AWARDS DEGREE TO LOCAL STUDENT

Meharry Medical College graduated 183 health care professionals at the college's 110th Commencement exercises last spring.

Mertine Reece Jermany, a native of Baltimore, MD, received the M.D. degree. While a student at Meharry, Dr. Jermany received the Baltimore City Medical Society Scholarship, the National Medical Fellowship Scholarship and the Teagle Scholarship.

She was a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., the American Medical Association-Medical Student Section, the American Medical Student Association, the Student National Medical Association and the Meharry Pre Alumni Association.

The daughter of Mrs. Mertine V. Jermany of Baltimore, Dr. Jermany received her undergraduate degree in psychology from the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. She plans to practice family medicine.

Meharry Medical College is the oldest and largest private institution for the education of black health professionals in the nation. Founded in 1876, Meharry has provided health sciences education for 40 percent of the black physicians and dentists currently practicing in the United States.

In keeping with the mission of the college—excellence in education, service to the community and empathy for the disadvantaged, 75 percent of Meharry's graduates practice in medically underserved communities.

DHR concentrations on abuse reports

Gov. Hughes has directed the Department of Human Resources (DHR) to hire an additional 40 child protective services staff and to take every necessary action to respond to an increase in reports of child abuse throughout the state.

"We must ensure that every local Department of Social Services has the resources available to protect vulnerable children," the Governor said.

He said additional staff is essential because of an increase in investigations for child abuse and neglect, following a dramatic rise in child abuse reports.

He commended DHR Secretary Ruth Massinga for responding to the problem with a comprehensive program that includes:

— an independent, in-depth study of the methods used by the department to handle child protective services, to determine if Maryland's children are receiving adequate protection,

— development of a comprehensive services improvement plan by the Social Services Administration, and — special, concentrated attention to the Baltimore City Department.

The governor noted that Secretary Massinga is moving quickly to fill 60 new protective services positions he approved for this year's budget, which took effect July 1. But he pointed-out that even the new positions are inadequate for meeting the increased caseloads, prompting the emergency addition of 40 additional staff.

"My administration has been dedicated to doing everything possible to protect children and youth, and this need must be addressed without delay," Gov. Hughes said.

He noted that much of the increase n child abuse and neglect reporting has occurred during the last four months. He said he will closely monitor the reports as he prepares next year's budget, to ensure that the necessary resources are allocated to protect Maryland's children.

"If we continue to see an increase in these tragic reports, I will not hesitate to strengthen the department further to ensure that we are able to cope with the problem," the governor said.

TEACHER-PASTOR — Rev. Wallace L. Poole, Jr., missed, as Briscoe High opens.

willing to share his time with staff in all school activities. His name is probably on just about every program we have had. He will be remembered as a team member. Everyone is shocked and saddened by his death."

Carver grad

Rev. Poole, 57, was a native Baltimorean, graduate of Carver High, the University of Maryland, and the Lynchburg, Va. Seminary.

He served in the Army during the Korean War, after which he returned home and opened his own cleaning establishment (the Manhattan Cleaners). Later, he taught tailoring at the New York Technical Institute in Baltimore.

In 1974, a year after he began teaching at Briscoe High, he received a call to preach. He was ordained by the Rev. Edgar L. Reid of Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church, and served as minister of First Missionary Baptist Church in Frederick, Md.

Funeral services were at Gospel Tabernacle on August 23. Eulogies came from fellow members of the Black Ministerial Alliance of Frederick, the United Missionary Baptist Convention of Md., the Baptist Ministers' Day Conference, the Baptist Ministers' Evening Conference, of which he was past president, and the American Legion Robert H. Brooks Post.

Survivors: His wife of 34 years, Mrs. Peggy Tilghman Poole, the city health nurse; son, David; daughter, Mrs. Patrice King; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Poole Sr. (Gladys), and brother, Theodore and sister, Mrs. Roxie M. Blackwell.

About people

Back at work and doing well: Henry (Briggie) Neal, the Mondawmin barbershop owner, who was hospitalized for a month.

Also on the mend and back at her post is Miss Pam Widgeon, para-legal in the State's Attorney's office. She had a heart attack.

Recuperating at home: Mrs. Florence Ringgold, the retired Longwood St. educator.

Also on the mend, Charles Tilghman, the Spinx Club owner.

On a flight from St. Paul, Minn. to Baltimore last month, we shared a seat with Baltimore's Rita Keets Selby, and that's how we learned that fellow Baltimoreans, the Iglehart Keetses, (Roberta) are great-grands.

Their daughter, Rita, is a grandma, too, a first. Her daughter, Michelle James, and hubby, Charles James, the D.C. attorney, welcomed a baby girl in July. Infant is named Kathryn Elizabeth.

Baby is also a first grand for Max and Marion Alston of Baltimore and for Rita and Keith Selby.

Cuff note: Mrs. Rita Selby was enroute home from Atlanta. She'd been there to enroll son, Roland R. Selby Jr., in Morehouse College.

His roommate is another Baltimore freshman, Michael Scott, son of Paul and Roberta Scott.

Other Baltimore freshmen there this year: Dr. and Mrs. John Maupin's daughter, Deanne Kengi.

Small world: Our trip a week back to St. Paul provided a chance to see former U. of Minnesota classmates who gathered at the home of Paul Thomason, hubby of our late chum, Shirley.

In the crowd, the James Griffins, (Edna). Their daughter and son-in-law and grands reside in Baltimore — the Calvin Andersons, (Helen), she's the teacher, he's at Social Security. Offspring are Marcus, 9; Michael, 7 and Antoine, 3. Small world!

Also about: Bob and Alberta Murray, who sent hellos to their close friends, Milton and Laura Brown of Baltimore and Mrs. Juanita Howell, the nurse, who has Baltimore ties.

NAACP-SRO

There was standing room only at the new National NAACP headquarters, on Thursday evening, Aug. 27, 4805 Mt. Hope Dr. in the Seton Industrial Park in northwest Baltimore. Approximately 400 persons filled the conference center, (the men stood to let the ladies sit), as plans were made for "a grand week-long celebration" of the association's first permanent headquarters, scheduled for Oct. 16-19.

In attendance were NAACP volunteers from Md., D.C. and other East Coast areas. They heard details of the celebration plans from dedication week chair, C. Delores Tucker of Philly. Before the evening was over, they pledged over $36,000 to support the fundraiser ("your support and leadership are needed to help mark the last milestone of our 'home at last' odyssey—the first permanent home of our organization in its 77 years. . . .").

Baltimore president, Mrs. Enolia McMillan, who also heads the NAACP national board of directors, welcomed the group.

Among those in the crowd, and giving their pledges: City Council President Clarence Du Burns, longtime NAACP and labor leader, State Senator Troy Brailey; veteran NAACP lawyer and volunteer, Mrs. Juanita Jackson-Mitchell.

More volunteers in the crowd: Marie Henderson, Thelma Daley, Ray Hayshert, Victor Frenkil, Del. Mary Adams, Mary Austin, Mary Robinson, Marjorie Green, were among Baltimoreans. Silas Craft, Silver Spring, national board member, was there. So was Ed Butler, Palladium owner. he pledged $5,000.

Cuff note: Baltimore branch NAACP's annual unity banquet is at the Palladium on Sept. 26. Black Enterprise publisher Earl Graves is speaker. Ticket reservations are being accepted at 366-3300.

More cuff: — Baltimore NAACP pioneer, Mrs. McMillan, was among the 100 top black women honored by Dollars and Sense Magazine last month.

She was cited for "66 years of fighting and lobbying to secure equal rights and opportunities for blacks in education and the social arena." She was called "one of the nation's foremost pioneers and spokespersons in black American history."

'Uncle Joe'

Joseph M. Toney, known to many as "Uncle Joe," was eulogized this morning (Friday) at St. Mary the Virgin Episcopal Church. He was the 77-year-old head custodian at Forest Park High School. He was beloved by students, parents, faculty, because he took a great interest in them, and was often considered their real uncle.

Mr. Toney, a native Baltimorean, was a graduate of Douglass High in the class with Cab Calloway, Mary West Griffin, Lucy Mason and James Mebane. For 40 years, he was employed by the Schoen and Russell apparel shop on Charles St.

Relatives recall he was an avid reader. ("He read every newspaper and magazine he could get. He was very methodical and loved to travel . . . .")

Mr. Toney is survived by his wife of 58 years, Mrs. Edith Toney. For years, they resided in the 500 block Bloom St., in West Baltimore. Recently, they lived in the Govans Manor Senior Citizens Home.

They had no children. Survivors are nieces and nephews who considered him father: — Mrs. Genevieve Roy, Mrs. Leona Abrams. Mrs. Lowena Wingfield and Mrs. Ada Carter; and nephews, Clarence and Kenneth Carer, Clarence Abrams and John Wingfield, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Goldie Davage.

Mrs. Gaskins

Mrs. Mamie Macklin Gaskins, 77, was eulogized on Thursday morning, Sept. 4, at St. Mark's Institutional Baptist Church.

She was the seamstress and wife of John T. Gaskins Sr., the retired Koppers Co. employee, who survives. They made their home in the 2500 block of Arunah Ave. in West Baltimore, and recently celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Gaskins was a native of Lawrenceville, Va., a graduate of St. Paul's College. For years she and her husband resided in the 1600 block N. Calhoun St., where they reared their family.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Saretha Greene, professor of economics at Coppin State College and Mrs. Marsha Carlisle, the Oakland, Calif. social worker and son, John T. Gaskins Jr., the Baltimore City health department inspector.

Other survivors: Five grandchildren, 3 great-grandchildren, and 3 brothers, George, Moses and John Macklin, all of Lawrenceville; four sisters, Mrs. Inaballe Owens, Mrs. Martha Walker and Thelma Dugger, all of Lawrenceville, and Mrs. Ophelia Jackson, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mrs. Parker

Mrs. Doris Ann Parker was given last rites on Tuesday, Sept. 2, at New Metropolitan Baptist Church, where she sang on several choirs.

Mrs. Parker, 53, suffered a massive heart attack on August 28, shortly after reporting to her job at the Social Security Administration in downtown Baltimore. She was rushed to Mercy Hospital.

In their eulogy, the family recalled Mrs. Parker had talked the evening before about retiring from her job as Section Chief, State Operations Branch, at Social Security, where she had been employed 29 years.

She was a native of Baltimore, the eighth of 13 children born to Grace and Norman Matthews. She was a 1950 graduate of Douglass High, and studied at Coppin State College.

Mrs. Parker was an avid sports fan, enjoyed bingo and travel here and abroad.

Survivors: Son, Earl H. Parker, 3rd; two brothers, Norman and William Matthews and seven sisters, Mrs. Lena Turner, Mrs. Evelyn Gallman, Mrs. Jeanne Matthews, Mrs. Shirley Pratt, Mrs. Delores Merritt, Mrs. Beverly Anderson and Mrs. Mattie Matthews.

Rev. Arter

Rev. James Arthur Arter, 85, retired pastor of Centennial-Caroline United Methodist Church, E. Monument and Sterling Sts., was eulogized there on Wednesday, Sept. 3.

The Rev. Mr. Arter, a Methodist minister for 43 years, followed in the footsteps of his father, the Rev. Jeremiah B. Arter, a member of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church for four decades.

Rev. Arter grew up in W. Va., studied at Storer College, and earned his degree in Greek English at Gammon Theological Seminary in 1921. After a brief teaching career, he assumed pastorates in Brownsburg and Lynchburg, Va. He retired in 1968, while pastor of Centennial in East Baltimore.

His two wives predeceased him, Mrs. Emma Winters Arter, and Mrs. Carrier Pennel Arter.

The Rev. Mamie A. Williams, Centennial pastor, officiated at the services which featured tributes from fellow clergymen, Revs. O' St. Clair Franklin and Irving A. Moye, representing the Baltimore Conference.

Survivors: Four daughters, Marion L. McCarter, Buffalo, N.Y.; Mrs. Alice M. Moore, Mrs. Florence Gaither and Mrs. Doretha Pogue, all of Washington; a son, Marshall H. Arter, Adelphia and two
