Muslim calls AIDs punishment from God

By Alicia Benjamin
AFRO Staff Writer

Dr. Abdul Alim Muhammad, minister of the Nation of Islam's Mosque number four in Washington, D.C., told about 80 Muslims and other blacks recently that Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome in blacks is a death plague but it is also life's ultimate challenge.

"AIDS is aiding you to make up your mind as to what you're going to do," he said. "If you're going to live, you must live in the image of God," he continued.

Muhammad is a surgeon in the Washington area and he is also one of Minister Louis Farrakan's proteges. Farrakan is the leader of the NOI.

He said AIDS is a death plague which was brought on the U.S. and other countries for enslaving black people for 400 years.

The Muslim minister likened the history of U.S. blacks to that of Moses' people in Biblical times.

"When you look at the Bible and the Holy Koran, we are right to expect a death plague," he said.

He quoted both books which say that God made man in his image and therefore man must have dominion over the earth and everything that is in it.

But white people in the United States have violated one of God's laws because they have enslaved blacks and made them unable to have dominion over the earth and exist as full human beings, he said.

"God has placed within you, the power to command the heavens and the earth," he told the audience, who responded to his message with sounds of encouragement and claps.

He told the crowd that AIDS is the plague which is predicted in the Bible and the Koran. Just as Pharoah and his followers were plagued for ignoring Moses' command to "let my people go," so will whites be destroyed for enslaving blacks, he said.

The audience received his message with shouts of "amen," and "that's right," and they listened attentively for over two hours.

But blacks who do not listen to God's command to be full human beings who have command over the earth, will also be afflicted with the disease, Muhammad contends.

"God wants you to stand up and be the men and women he created you to be," Muhammad stated.

He said many black people may not have the AIDS virus but they have been diminished to a state that is similar to the bodies of AIDS victims.

"Look at yourselves and compare your lives to the divine image of man and tell me you don't already have AIDS," he said.

"He created you to do his will, not to serve a slave master," he continued.

"When you serve other gods, like white men, you are going against Gods will," he added.

Black people must stop being subservient people and develop to their full potential, he said.

But if many blacks are unwilling to change their present behavior of using drugs, drinking alcohol and being prostitutes, they will die from AIDS which he calls a death plague.

"God is not willing to allow you to live in your present condition. AIDS is here to take the Negroes and white folks away," he said, meaning black people who are less than God wants them to be, are Negroes and not black or African American people.

Muhammad, a former drug user and dealer, told the audience that the use of drugs is the cause of 43 percent of the AIDS cases among black males.

He said black women who get AIDS get it mostly from men who are intravenous drug users.

Black women are 13 times more likely to get the disease than white women and black men are three times more likely to get AIDS than white men, he stated.

FRANCHISE SUCCESS—Harlow and Elnora Fullwood accept awards from Kentucky Fried Chicken executive Bill Evans.

Fullwoods fashion franchise success

Harlow and Elnora Fullwood, both active members of the Concord Baptist Church and owners of two Baltimore based Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants, received three coveted awards during KFC's recent Annual International Franchisee Convention held in Las Vegas, Nevada recently.

The Fullwoods were the recipients of the STATE SALES AWARD, awarded to the franchisee who has the highest dollar volume restaurant in each state.

The Fullwoods were the 1987 winners for the state of Maryland, thus becoming the first blacks in the history of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Corporation to lead a whole state in gross sales.

They were also the recipient of the 1987 MILLION DOLLAR AWARD, awarded to the restaurant with gross sales of over one million dollars. There are only fifty-seven million dollar Kentucky Fried Chicken franchise operations within the Kentucky Fried Chicken Family.

Since starting their business in 1984, the Fullwoods' achievements have been highly recognized by Kentucky Fried Chicken. In their first year of operation, they were awarded Kentucky Fried Chicken's prestigious FIVE STAR AWARD, which recognizes those franchisees who adopt and use the greatest number of Kentucky Fried Chicken operating systems and programs. "This is the highest award we give franchisees," says Bill Evans, Senior Vice President of Franchising and Franchise Services for Kentucky Fried Chicken.

The Fullwoods' restaurants have also received the QSC EXCELLENCE AWARD and KFC's TRIPLE CROWN AWARD in recognition of providing excellence in quality products; fast friendly service and cleanliness of their restaurants.

Currently, the Fullwoods are negotiating for a third fast-food franchise. The new unit, scheduled for opening in late August or early September, 1988, will be at the northwest corner of North and Pennsylvania Avenues in Baltimore, Maryland.

The Fullwoods' other restaurants are located at 2542 W. Franklin Street and 7722 Harford Road in Parkville. The two outlets employ more than 60 workers.

Harlow and Elnora have been married for twenty-four years. They are highly regarded as persons who care about people and their community, as evidenced by their support of and participation in projects designed to enhance the quality of life of their fellow men.

Elnora, a native of New Kent, Virginia is currently a Department Head in Special Education for the Baltimore City Public Schools. She has B.S. and M.A. degrees from Coppin State College. For years she was Superintendent of Sunday School at Concord Baptist Church. For the last ten years, Elnora has been an instructor for the National Congress of Christian Education.

She is also President of the Maryland's Women's Committee of the United Negro College Fund and an active member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Baltimore Chapter.

Harlow, a native of Asheville, North Carolina and a graduate of Virginia Union University, served on the Baltimore Police Department for twenty-three years. During his tenure, Harlow was one of the most decorated police officers in the state of Maryland in terms of community service. According to the former Police Commissioner Bishop L. Robinson, "Harlow was credited with recruiting 1,600 officers." Upon resigning to devote more time to "Doing Chicken Right," the Baltimore Police Department presented him with the coveted DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD. This is the highest award given for service in the Department.

Just recently, the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International named Harlow a PAUL HARRIS FELLOW in appreciation of tangible and significant assistance given for the furtherance of better understanding and friendly relations between peoples of the world.

Harlow currently serves on the following boards: Concord Baptist Church, Virginia Union University, Girl Scouts of Central Maryland, NAACP Baltimore Branch, The Hub, Inc., Woodlawn Westview Rotary Club, Baltimore Delta Alumnae Foundation, Inc., Arena Players, Inc. and Signal 13 Foundation, Inc.

BALTIMORE, MD.—May 17, 1988—Baltimore city resident Matthew Robinson was honored at a volunteer recognition ceremony held recently at the Towson Club. His granddaughter, Kalyn, accompanied him. Robinson is founder and coordinator of the American Lung Association of Maryland (ALAM) Sarcoidosis Support Group which meets regularly at Liberty Medical Center on Liberty Heights Avenue.

For more information about the Sarcoidosis Support Group, or becoming a volunteer, call the American Lung Association of Maryland, the Christmas Seal People, at 494-1100.

The goal of the American Lung Association is the prevention, cure, and control of all lung diseases including asthma, lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and tuberculosis and some of their related causes including smoking, air pollution, and occupational lung hazards.

Louis Coney (right) was the recipient of Central Maryland Red Cross' Sign Language Instructor of the Year Award, at the Chapter's recent Health Services Awards banquet. In addition to teaching all levels of sign language from beginner through advanced, Mr. Coney has also contributed significantly to the curriculum of the program, developing and organizing a training manual for new instructors. Michael Johnson presented the award to Mr. Coney at Martin's Eudowood in Towson.

Juanita Myers-Harvey, at left, has been awarded a Minority Scholarship to the University of Maryland School of Nursing, which she will enter in the fall as a candidate for a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree. A 1978 graduate of Padua Academy in Wilmington, Delaware, Myers-Harvey attended Delaware Technical Community College. She lives in West Baltimore with her husband, Eric, and two children, Jennise and Eric, Jr. The scholarship award was presented by the UM School of Nursing's director of admissions, Dr. Judith Baillieul.

Mitchell feted at business gala

The Business League of Baltimore kicked off its annual new member campaign on Sunday, May 15 with an Old Fashioned Cocktail Sip Fund Raiser at The 32nd Street Plazha.

Joining the group during the evening of relaxation and fun was the Honorable Parren Mitchell who was a special guest in recognition of his efforts as a long time business advocate and founder of the Legal Defense Fund.

Baltimore League President, Frankie Taylor said the local chapter has been revitalizing its program efforts over the last several years and is currently involved in a number of projects in which business persons are making a meaningful contribution back to the community.

These include the recent development of an entrepreneural training module on desk top publishing for young people in conjunction with IBM Corporation and the SBA for the Project Computech, City Computer Camp for Baltimore City Public School students.

"At the same time, of course, we are concerned about the status of Black owned firms and finding alternative approaches to eliminating barriers to success. One approach that we support that has been highly affective in Maryland is the Control Data Business Development Services project directed by League member, Steve Ward," Taylor said.

This project works with 33 clients firms providing an individualized, direct involvement with business owners over a 12 month period who participate in workshops, seminars and hands on training in achievement oriented management and marketing skills.

At the chapter general meeting on Tuesday, May 17, at Control Data Center, Leonard Blackshear, a former Regional V.P. of NBL and current president of Associated Enterprises Development Corporation, will talk about his recent MBDA (Minority Business Development Agency) contract award including goals, plans for revamping the program and who will be eligible for services.

An individual membership or business membership in the Business League of Baltimore automatically plugs members into the national network of the National Business League, the nation's oldest business association founded by Booker T. Washington in 1900 and predating the U.S. Chamber of Commerce by 12 years.

The NBL recent theme exposed by national President Art Teele is "America's Newest Bank: The Black Family."

This is an effort to get Black Americans to consciously focus on the resources available within our own households, extended family, and community." We see this bank not as a place where money and other valuables are deposited purely for personal gain or safe keeping, but rather where money is invested for the use of the group in its effort to accumulate group wealth and increase the standard of living of the group."

Mfume

that Congress hold hearings to discuss possibly decriminalized drugs to take the profit out of selling illegal drugs.

"I support the mayor's call for a national dialogue that will make a dent in drug abuse," said Mfume.

Mfume also said that he remains unconvinced that legalizing drugs is the right thing to do, but he has an open mind about the proposal.

"When we talk about legalizing drugs, we have to talk about who is using drugs, who is selling drugs, and what to do about drugs," he said.

Rangel, who disagrees with Schmokes proposal to discuss decriminalizing drugs, has asked Mfume to serve as moderator between the two congressmen.

Although Mfume remains unconvinced that decriminalizaton is the solution to the nation's drug problem, he said he was "happy the mayor said what he said because if nothing else, people are starting to talk."

Rangel and Schmoke have agreed they want to hold hearings to discuss drug issues, including decriminalization, but disagree on where and when the hearings should be held, according to Mfume.

Mfume said he thinks one issue that needs to be considered when discussing holding hearings on drugs, is the supply side of the drug problem.

"The supply side is simple," he said. "Drugs are coming in and police are trying to control the borders. "I don't think we are able in this country to diminish the amount of drugs coming into this country."

"The supply side is a never ending circle," he continued. Drugs come into the country and people go to jail."

He said it is the demand side of the drug problem that needs more attention. He mentioned the efforts to rehabilitate the large number of people who have become addicted to narcotics.

"When we have the hearings, we have to talk about how we'll deal with the demand side of the drug problem," he said.

AFRO weddings and engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coleman

Wiggins-Coleman

One of the most elegant of weddings to ever take place in the Maryland area united Melvin Coleman, son of Edward and Annie Coleman of Birmingham, AL, and Ms. Allen Wiggins, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. William C. Jarrett of Baltimore. The nuptial knot was tied on Palm Sunday, March 27 at 5 p.m. at the Westminster Church, Fayette St., an historic landmark in Baltimore.

To commemorate the spiritual significance of the day each guest was given Palm, then escorted to assigned tables by ushers handsomely attired in white and black tuxedos.

The room was bedecked simplistically with Easter lillies which graced the steps and the areas where the ceremony, which more than 250 people attended, took place.

The ceremony was convened with the Prelude of "You and I" played by William Sydnor, pianist, organist and choir director at New Shiloh Baptist Church.

The groom, Best Man Claude Wiggins, Pirmasens, Germany waited at the altar, along with Dr. Vincent Thompson, Associate Minister of New Shiloh Baptist Church, who officiated the ceremony. Ms. Patricia Claxton, accompanied by Mr. Sydnor, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Bridesmaids Mrs. Doris Crawford and Mrs. Jacki Hall, Co-host of Channel 13's City Line were absolutely stunning in their black and white satin dresses. Each lady carried a simplistic bouquet of Palms sprayed silver, surrounded by baby's breath sprayed with silver sparkle. The Matron of Honor Mrs. Mary Warren also wore black and white satin which contrasted the dresses worn by the bridesmaids and carried bouquets identical to theirs.

The bridesmaids were escorted by groomsmen Reginald Coleman, Birmingham, AL, and Carl Johnson, Alexandria, VA, both handsomely attired in black and white tuxedos to the tune of "So Amazing" provided by the Punch Production.

Flower Girls Misses Tiera Houston and Shawnte Turner, both of Baltimore, wore lovely black and white satin dresses and were escorted by Ring Bearers Michael Coleman of Birmingham, AL, and Keon Joyner of Baltimore.

As the Punch Production's music changed to "The Closer I Get To You," the lovely bride, escorted by her son, Kevin Wiggins, entered.

Carrying a bouquet of long stemmed Calla Lillies, surrounded by baby's breath, sprayed with silver sparkle, Ms. Wiggins wore bejeweled shoes of white satin, a white tea leanth dress of sheer silk organza at the top with padded shoulders which extended out in a high fashioned peak, clustered with pearls and precious stones.

All over the bodice and the back were clusters of beautiful pearls with an intricately laced camisole that connected to the the sheer top. The sleeves were long with small clusters of pearls selectively placed throughout.

From the bodice to the hip the dress was gathered in a cumberbund style with a cluster of pearls and precious stones connecting the front. From the hip down there were four tiers of ruffles that had the fashion appeal of the 40's.

She wore simple small pearl earrings and a beautiful wide lace headband with her blond curls softly swept on top of the head.

As the couple stood at the altar, Mrs. Patricia Claxton serenaded them with "No One Can Love You More."

The double-ring ceremony resulted in the couple's sharing their vows as they had written them.

At the conclusion of the Ring ceremony, as the couple knelt at the altar, Kevin Wiggins, the bride's son, serenaded his mother and his new stepfather with "Jesus Is Love."

The recessional resulted in the wedding party receiving the guests on the third level of the hall, while the buffet for the reception was being set up on the first level. During the reception, just as elegant as the wedding, the couple cut a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake.

After returning from their honeymoon in Aruba, the new bride and groom received friends at the home in Columbia, MD.

Melvin Coleman is the President and CEO of Kars-Medics, a very successful auto-detailing business which refurbishes automobiles for commercial, government and private contracts.

His business, located in Newington, VA, services Northern Virginia and Washington, and extends through Prince Georges and Montgomery counties.

Mrs. Alleen Wiggins Coleman is the proprietress of Hair Focus Beauty salon and has opened a "total woman body shop" on Liberty Rd.

Ushers were all brothers of the groom — Darrell, Patrick and Marcus Coleman.

The wedding coordinator was Mrs. Evelyn Chatmon, the bride's sister.

Some of the guests and family who shared in that very special day were: Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Simpson of Baltimore. Ms. Roslyn Smith and guest; Ms. Betty Glascoe and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cann of Baltimore; Joseph Selby of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wooten, Elmer Moore, Mrs. Peggy Moore of Tennessee, Mrs. Regina Roundtree, Eugene Watkins, Ms. Esther Causer, Ms. Elizabeth Allen, Mrs. Geraldine Macer; Mrs. Pamela Scott, Anthony Scott, Mrs. Delores Lynch, Mark Lynch, Mrs. Silvene Jones, Mrs. Barbara Watson, Sam Wright, Mrs. Dee Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William Parrott, Mrs. Marzena Zarzecra, Mrs. Doris Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thompson, Mrs. Regina Black, Mrs. Mary L. Briscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Simms, Rufus Spain, Mrs. Carrie Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Harold and Barbara Hart, Mrs. and Mrs. John Lewis, Eddie and Anne Massey, Ms. Reba Henninghan, Ms. Cee Cee Stokes, Marlin Parrish, Robert and Gladys Rice, Mrs. Ella White Campbell; William and Camilla Parrott of Kent Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hein from Seaford, DE.

Guests came from Virginia, Washington, D.C., Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Alabama, Tennessee, Germany, and many other locations throughout the nation.

Bethrothed

The engagement of Sheila Dorren Scott, daughter of Mrs. Carrie M. Scott of Baltimore, MD, and the late Mr. Leonard B. Scott, Sr. to the Rev. Kenneth C. Thomas, son of Mrs. Estola Thomas, of Mound Bayou, MI and the late Rev. Richard W. Thomas has been announced.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Western Senior High School and holds a B.A. degree from Coppin State College. She is a Contract Specialist with the Social Security Administration.

Her fiance has a B.A. degree from Mississippi Valley State University, a Master of Divinity degree from The New York Thoelogical Seminary, and has pursued further studies at West Virginia University. He is currently pastor of the Bethel Community Church in Staten Island, NY.

A July wedding is planned.

Sheila Doreen Scott

Martin-Sims

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Sharon Lynne Martin, daughter of Mrs. Sandra Downs of Catonsville and S. Lee Martin of Randallstown to Craig Kip Sims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sims of Baltimore.

Both Miss Downs and Sims are graduates of Morgan State University. She is a manager 1 for Finlay Fine Jewelry and he is a programs analyst with the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company.

A June wedding is planned.

Bailey-Jones

Recently Carla Lynn Bailey of Howard Park, daughter of Carlton and Patricia Bailey, was united in matrimony to Dean Carroll Jones, Lochearn, son of Mrs. Freida Jones and the late Williams Jones of Edmondson Village. The lovely, candlelit double ring ceremony took place at Heritage United Church of Christ at 4:30 p.m., with the Rev. Wendell Phillips officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length silk sheath with a chantilly lace overlay, a bateau neckline and modified puffs into straight lace sleeves. An eight foot watea train that detached from the shoulder at the back of the dress was secured with a row of self covered buttons. The gown and train were trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The bride wore a satin hat with a full length veil and blusher, and carried a bouquet of white roses and pink forget-me-nots. Her shoes of satin covered in chantilly lace matched her gown.

Maid of Honor Donna Richardson, Howard Park, wore a mauve floor length satin gown and mauve satin pumps. The dress, a straight sheath with a sweetheart neckline, was draped in front around the waist, boasted a keyhole back, a bow at the waist with long streamers, long sleeves and a slit up the back. A pearl necklace accessoried the dress. Her headdress consisted of pink roses with cascading seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of long-stemmed pink carnations, pink roses and pink forget-me-nots.

Bridesmaids Juernene Bass, Margaret Stewart and Cassandra DeNard, all of Baltimore, wore identical outfits in dusty rose. Flowers Girls, Teri Lynn Curtis of Baltimore, wore an evening-length dusty rose gown with close-fitting, shaped front bodice, long tie ends, flared skirt and short puffed sleeves, and a band of pink carnations in her hair. She carried a small white basket with pink roses, pink carnation, pink forget-me-nots and stardust gypsophilia attached with white satin lace ribbons.

The groom wore a dolphin grey tails with satin notched lapels, a white pleated front shirt with a grey cummerbund and a grey bowtie. Best Man Winfield Baker, Owings Mills, MD, Head groomsman Isiah Pearson, Ashburton; Lawrence Thomas, Clark Jones and Curtis Jones, all of Baltimore, wore grey tuxedos, white pleated shirts with pink cummerbunds and pink bowties. Ring Bearer was Samuel Ferrell, Baltimore.

Decorations at the church included flower arrangements of pink carnations and pink gladiola, and candelabra on the altar.

Musical Programs Organist was Katie Grove. Soloists were Robin Waters and Warren Dorsey.

A reception was hosted for the couple at Westminster Hall, Fayette and Greene Sts.

The bride is a Master's graduate of Towson State University, and is the Maternal Transport Coordinator at University Hospital.

The groom is a Maryland State Trooper-First Class at Waterloo Barracks.

The wedding was coordinated by Mrs. Kathy Rosborough. Junior coordinator was Patrice Blackwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean C. Jones

Thomas-Saulsby

The private family ceremony uniting Donna Patricia Thomas, Pasadena, CA, daughter of Atty. Joseph H. Thomas, Jr. and Mrs. Anna Madsen, to Harold Jerome Saulsby, Pasadena, CA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Saulsby, Rivera Beach, FL took place at the Center Club, Baltimore USF&G Building, Saturday, April 23 at high noon.

The double-ring nuptials were officiated by the Rev. Walter O. Granger of Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Rivera Beach, FL.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was adorned in a gown of shimmering white satin, tastefully designed at tea-length with a scalloped neckline, satin bow and a low dropped waist. The delicate lace applique embraced small ornate pearls throughout the gown, giving it elegance and sophistication.

Also incorporating the ornate pearl design of the gown was a long and flowing perfect transparency to make the ideal complement.

The Floral bouquet included white roses, white dendrobuium, white freesia and green ivy with a white lily in the center.

Maid of Honor Elaine Jones, Baltimore, wore a peach satin gown complimentary to the bride's in style and design with its lace overlay and shimmering satin bow. Her floral bouquet included sonia and white roses, and green ivy accented with baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs.
Harold J. Saulsby

Flower Girl Kell Thomas, Jacksonville, NC, daughter of Joseph H. Thomas, III, wore an angelic white dress complete with lace stockings and a delicate baby's breath headpiece. She carried a white basket of sonia and white roses with a touch of baby's breath.

Best Man was Kevin Saulsby (groom's brother) of Daytona Beach, FL. Ushers were Joseph H. III, Jacksonville, NC and Gordon Thomas, Rochester, NY, both brothers of the bride. Ring Bearer was Jonathan Goodwin, Rochester, NY. Hostesses were sisters of the bride Laura Ann Thomas and Susan Beth Thomas, Chicago, IL; Angela Thomas, bride's sister-in-law, Jacksonville, NC and Nina Goodwin, Rochester, NY, sister of the bride.
