Tell it to Jan

Dear Jan:

I am married and have one child.

My husband has admitted that he loves another woman and wants a separation. He wants me to leave him.

The problem at issue is the furniture. He says since he bought it, I am not entitled to any of it except what he wants to give me.

He has even said that when I

In The Stars

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Thoughts of spirituality and high achievement, enable you to secure the trust of your peers as they seek you in the judgement of life's flow. Group endeavors to secure aid for your pet projects are high on your priority scale by Thursday. Self confinement and dreamlike introspection will end your week as you prepare for a new burst of leadership.

TAURUS (April 20-May 21): Your reserve, quiet and philosophical views on life are aided by searching which might include travel Early week sees friends coming to aid in the achievement of career goals in some large organization or corporation. Dreams of hopes and wishes for the future occupy your presence as your week ends. You deserve a pat on the back for remaining calm during a time of turmoil.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21): Thoughts centered around the realities of death, cause you to take another look at personal resources including taxes, wills and insurance. Futuristic thiking regarding religion and philosophy trigger a literary search of your ideal. Greater self knowledge may stimulate a desire to change professions or goals as you end your week.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Joy becomes you, as a powerful friend with great responsibility, makes overtures for your companionship. Psychic sensitivity increases early in the week as you find a need to reorient your thinking regarding sexual matters. High psychic dreams, astral travel and even physical travel may involve your presence as the week comes to a close.

LEO (July 23-August 22): The enthusiasm of a family outing spills over into the work ethic as you push hard to achieve honors and recognitian on the job. By Tuesday, romance becomes you as you try to find greater and more meaningful ways to express its presence. Your week ends in a more mystical presence as you show greater compassion for the less fortuntate.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Higher aspirations for lovers and children may cause you to incur their wrath as a result of pushing them too hard. Preparation for heavy organizational appeals are in the work as you labor to right the wrongs of society. Compassion flows into a personal relationship as your love flows to seemingly handicapped beings during later part of the week.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Your overzealous need to prove that you are in control in the home, will leave you with a few spheres of influence. Early in the week you try to balance the misgivings through a group or family creative recreation. Take care that your overzealous nature on the job, not lead to a nervous exhaustion. Follow your guidelines to avoid hypocritical in the eyes of others. Keep an open mind about a rapidly changing situation.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Intense study and literary seeking leads to greater enlightenment as you try to discover the nature of the being of humanity. — —

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Materialistic pursuits may cause you to make some major changes in your work ethic. Ideas for a better future for you and your family flow with little potential for activation. Heavy sacrifices are made by you for the stability of the family before the week ends. The support of loved ones is increasingly important as new physical demands are placed on you. Steer clear of the problems of others.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Your serious and reserve attitude to life puts you in a creative mode commanding all in your presence to serve your ideals. Strong appeals and novel means of making money increase your presence in your group early in the week. Deep subconscious searching, puts you in a semi-dream state as your week closes. A new endeavor brings about an increase in motivation. Happiness and romance hinges on ingenuity.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Lack of concern for others as you try to increase your position, may lead to your downfall. Leo or Libra may assist your return of confidence as you move to a more altruistic mode by Thursday. You may pick up another job to balance those fleeting funds as the weekend approaches. Be on the lookout for excitement and new adventures. The security of a routine is not important now. Carefully prioritize financial duties.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Older and more powerful friends boost your presence as they aid your desire for the future. Your humanitarian nature soars as you seek to free the downtrodden. Domestic arena takes precedence now. Focus on cleaning or remodeling efforts. Postpone new duties. A personality clash finally comes to a head. You may not come out on top, but honestly will work in your favor later. Smooth sailing follows.

leave, he intends to move this other woman into the apartment.

What can I do?

Jane

Dear Jane:

I would suggest that you see a lawyer immediately. Property settlements can be arranged if you decide on legal separation or divorce, but it will have to be handled by a lawyer.

Dear Jan:

I am 20 and my husband is 36. This is my first marriage, his second.

The problem is he has a six-year-old daughter by his previous marriage whom he loves very much. I love this little girl as if she were my own child, but my husband makes such a difference in us.

Unfortunately, I lost a child this year, but he said he was glad, because he didn't want another baby right now.

My husband's daughter was raised by his relatives. They don't like me and are trying to poison the child's mind against me. I am constantly being compared to the first wife.

I am now at my wit's end trying to make a go of this marriage. This relative has just about ruined my life.

What can I do?

J. C.

Dear J. C.:

If you believe that your husband loves you then you should be able to talk to him frankly and explain just how you feel.

It may be difficult for him to grasp just what you mean, but if you don't get too emotional over it, he'll get the idea.

The best thing for you to do is have the little girl live full-time with you and your husband. Let your husband understand that you want to and can be a good mother to the child, and you don't need any outside help.

Most important of all, keep an open mind as far as your in-laws are concerned.

It is to be expected that they possibly resent you, but they can be won over with love and kindness.

Dear Jan:

I am 16-years old and married to a man who loves me. I don't love him. I just found this out a couple of months ago.

Presently, I am in love with a married man and I know he loves me.

He is 27. I don't have any children. I would hate to tell my husband about this affair, because I know it would break his heart.

Can you help me with this problem?

J. T.

Dear J. T.:

I suppose you had a good reason for getting married at such a young age, although for the life of me, I can't think of one.

You have no more conception of the word "love" than the man in the moon.

Once you take on the responsibilities of a husband and home, you are no longer a child, despite your age.

Life is not a bowl of peaches and cream that you can run away from each time you find a few lumps - you marry for "better or worse" and that's the way it is.

If you are so conscience stricken about breaking your husband's heart, then cut out this adulterous behavior you are indulging in and try to be a good wife and homemaker.

You can still make a go of it and possibly finish your schooling, too.
